EVENTS OF COMING YEARS TO CENTRE IN PACIFIC OCEAN IN OPINION OF GEN. M'BRIEN

Former Chief of Staff Terms It the Ocean of Tomorrow.

RECOUNTS PROBLEMS

Many Conflicting Interests Actuate Nations Bordering It—The Air Service.

"The Ocean of Tomorrow—the Pacific", was the subject of a most instructive talk to the Men of St. Paul's by Major-General J. H. McBrien, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., last night. The General dealt with the history of the various nations bordering on that ocean, which he said qualified for the title he gave it because it is not yet developed by trade and seems likely to be the centre of the next war.

General McBrien did not prophesy war. He pointed out the conflict of interests among the various races and nations, and their manoeuvrings of the past few years, but also showed where other influences act as balances at present.

The talk was made doubly interesting by the huge map which the speaker had hung on the wall, and to which he referred constantly. He told of his own interest in the Pacific having been aroused by his trip to Australia as an exchange officer in 1907 and his presence at the Japanese Army maneuvres in 1924.

There is in the East, the speaker pointed out, a conflict between eastern and western civilizations. Each group considers its culture better than the other. The two were first brought together after Marco Polo and others of his family made their visit to China. Trade sprang up as a result but was interrupted by the Mohammedan conquest of Asia Minor, which blocked the road. One object of the Crusades was to open this route again, but when they failed the traders of Europe sought new ways of reaching the east and North and South America were discovered, following which other discoveries were made.

Since that time the people of the west have been trying to force western civilizatio nand religion on the east. Whether it is a good thing or not the General was not prepared to state.

Britain Vitally Interested.

Four-fifths of the people of the world live in the countries abutting on the Pacific, continued General McBrien, who proceeded to outline the various nations. He discussed the interests of Canada first. Her trade is growing all the time and the people of Asia are buying more and more wheat. Australia has her policy of a "White Australia" and universal military service to help keep this ideal. These policies, which have also been adopted in New Zealand, the most British of the Dominions, are considered unfriendly by Japan.

At Singapore Great Britain is building a great naval base as the centre for her Pacific fleets, which must have a base if they are to be useful for the protection of the Dominions and Colonies. This is also considered unfriendly by the Japs, although 3,000 miles away from Yokohoma, their naval centre.

The United States Active.

The speaker then took up the expansion of the United States from the original 13 States. He referred to the formulation of the Munroe Doctrine, which says that any attempt by a European power to extend its interests in North and South America will be considered an unfriendly act. This was formulated by the United States about 1825 at the suggestion of George Canning, then British Foreign Secretary, as a counter weapon to the "Holy Alliance" of France and Spain.

The United States has huge naval bases at Bremerton and San Francisco and keeps her battle fleet in the Pacific. The Japanese think that the round the world trip of the United States planes a few years ago was really made to find out about flying conditions in Alaska and Japan in pursuance of the "Three A" policy, of America, Alaska and Asia, said the speaker.

The Japanese also think that the annexation of Hawaii was intended to provide more stepping stones to Asia and protested it strongly. The fortification of Pearl Harbor and the Holding of naval maneuvres there a few years ago, practicing the defence of this naval base against an enemy coming from the direction of Japan were also construed as unfriendly acts.

In the acquisition of the Phillippines, Guam, the Virgin Islands, and other groups, the United States is following the advice of Admiral Mahan, the great naval strategist who urged their use as positions rather than possessions", the speaker explained. The Panama Canal is another strongly fortified zone held by the United States.

Japan Extends Influence.

Japan is called the England of the

Sir Joseph said it was time to let some nations know how an empire could say "No."

"A strong man should be careful how he parades his strength but there are times when to say 'no' becomes an international duty," said Sir Joseph.

GERMAN PRESS REJECTS CLAIM

Say France and Belgium Should Take Guilt Question To Court.

WELCOME CONTROVERSY.

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (United Press).—Berlin newspapers unanimously reject the German war guilt statements of Minister Barthou of France and Minister Jasper of Belgium.

Editorials in the German press emphasize that if France and Belgium are so firmly convinced of Germany's responsibility for the war they should welcome instead of refusing an offer to submit the entire question to an impartial court.

The Nationalist papers openly welcome the war guilt controversy but the Democrat press expresses regret, fearing that discussion of the question will thwart efforts of an European understanding.

DRIVER GOES ON TRIAL.

Motorist Faces Manslaughter Charge For Death of Cyclist.

KITCHENER, Sept. 27. — (Canadian Press — The trial of Clayton Hannenburg of this city, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Alexander Sichewski, who was struck by Hannenburg's automobile while cycling, will probably commence to-day. A true bill in the case was returned yesterday.

Likely Set Reward For Escaped Convicts

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press).—It is very probable that a reward will be posted by the Attorney General's Department for the apprehension of Edward Harlton and Frank Martion, the two men who escaped from the local jail here a week ago. A Londoner claims to have seen Martion near the city Sunday and says that he will lead the officers to where he is if a reward of $1,000 forthcoming The official police record of Martion was received in the city yesterday morning and shows he is wanted for murder at Booneville, N.Y. Harlton was awaiting trial for the killing of a motor cycle policeman.

Australia Growing Faster Than Canada

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 27.—(United Press).—An official statement shows that between 1881 and 1921 Australia's population increased 141 per cent, as compared with an increase of 103 per cent in the population of Canada. Between 1921 and 1926 the increase in the two countries was 11 per cent and 8 per cent respectively.

DRIVE AGAINST CAR ACCIDENTS TO START SOON

Intensive Campaign Will Be Conducted First Week in October.

MANY SUGGESTIONS.

Another meeting of the Executive of the Highway Safety Committee was held in the office of Hon. George S. Henry Minister of Highways, yesterday when further arrangements were made for a concentrated drive for the prevention of motor accidents. It is the ntention to begin the drive during the first week in October if at all possible.

Instead of limiting the period to an intensive week or ten days and then ceasing to function, it was thought better to have a more or less standing advisory committee.

Many offers of co-operation have been received since the publication of the news of the committee's first meeting last week. Some of them came from motion picture concerns and radio broadcasting stations. Some of these offers will be taken advantage of.

One suggestion that was made but which was left over for a few days was the official publication of the name on every motor driver's license which had been cancelled. It was decided to go ahead with a portion of the educative campaign which was placed before the committee, a part of this to be in operation next week if possible. In the meantime municipal officials, police officials, boards of trade and public service bodies and newspapers all over the Province are being asked to work with the executive.

Hon. Mr. Henry impressed upon the committee that a still more rigid enforcement of the motoring laws and regulations would accompany the first efforts made next week looking to more care in preventing accidents.

"While our traffic of late has been unprecedented," said Mr. Henry, "The law has foreseen the present condition. One of the first things we are doing is to see, so far as lies in our power, that this law is more riddidly enforced. Because traffic covers so many miles of road, and is constantly moving rapidly, ordinary police methods are impossible. The Province could put a traffic officer on each mile of road, but even then there would be accidents because the officer could not be everywhere at once. The only man who is always present is the driver himself. Therefore if the rules of safety can be instilled into a driver a great step will have been taken.

"Drivers have not yet become 'traffic conscious.' Some old drivers do not realize the changed conditions on the highway. Many of them conduct themselves as they did five years ago when traffic was not one quarter so heavy.

"Some new drivers do not realize the necessity for care because the auto has become so common.

"Part of this campaign which we plan must essentially be one of education of old and new drivers and of pedestrians as well. By enlisting the co-operation of leading citizens occupying official positions we expect that a new and substantial step forward will be taken."

MRS. WILKINSON SOUGHT.

Mrs. Bryne Wishes To Locate Woman Missing Seven Years.

Chief Constable Samuel Newhall has received an inquiry asking the whereabouts of Mrs. Annie Wilkinson, who has not been heard from for seven years. Mrs. Bryne of Toronto, who is at present staying with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dobbin, North Monaghan, cared for Mrs. Wilkinson some years ago, and in payment for her kindness a small insurance policy was made over by Mrs. Wilkinson to Mrs. Bryne. The premiums have been kept paid by Mrs. Bryne, and now the policy is due and Mrs. Wilkinson cannot be found. It is known that she used to work in an hotel at Lakefield.

NO MORE CARDS WITHOUT TESTS

Those Asking for Operator's Licenses After Nov. 30 Must Pass Test.

5,255 ISSUED HERE

All car drivers who have not already procured operator's licenses must file applications before November 30. After this date it will be necessary for everyone, no matter how far or for what length of time he has driven, to pass an examination to procure a license.

To date there have been 5,255 operator's licenses issued in Peterboro while 5,091 car licenses, not including trucks, have been issued. In many cases more than one person drives the same car and there are, thus, approximately one thousand drivers who have not yet applied for an operator's license.

MacIntosh Abandons Plan For Ocean Hop

DUBLIN, Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press).—Captain Robert H. MacIntosh who on Sept. 16 made an unsuccessful attempt to fly across the Atlantic with Commandant James C. Fitzmaurice, has abandoned any intention of trying to fly to American until 1928.

He left Baldonnel aerodrome last evening in his plane, the Princess Xenia, for Bristol. From there he proposes to fly this year toward India. Later he will go to America by boat to discuss plans for his 1928 flight.

CHURCH DIVIDES ON SERMON BY BISHOP BARNES

OTHERS OPPOSED.

Supporters Say Evolution Not Consistent With Christ's Teachings.

LONDON, Sept. 27 (United Press).—The Church is divided on Dr. E. W. Barnes' sensational sermon last Sunday supporting Darwin's theory regarding the origin of man. Dean Inge, the "gloomy" rector of St Pauls Cathedral, says that "In general terms I agree with the Bishop of Birmingham."

Dr. Norwood, of the City Temple, declares, "I agree with Dr. Barnes' outspoken sermon. While I do not think that Darwin's triumph has in any way weakened the Christian Gospel, I do not think it has profoundly shaken the theological scheme and the devised time when men accepted the Genesis account as literal history."

On the other hand, Rev. Desmond Morse - Boycott, Senior Assistant Priest of St. Mary's, Somerstown, takes issue with Dr. Barnes, saying "If the Bishop of Birmingham is correct in declaring that Darwinism has destroyed the whole theological scheme, a corollary is that it has disproved the teaching of Christ. The Bishop, however, says that Christ's teaching is not affected. But he cannot have it both ways, for Christ clearly taught that man had fallen and that He came to redeem him.

Rev. E. L. Macassey of St. Andrew's, Stoke-Newington, gives his opinion as follows: "Darwin's theory might have destroyed Dr. Barnes' theological belief because he was brought up in a bad age. Genesis meant and taught religion and even if I am descended from chimpanzees, that is added proof of the existence of God, who has power to develop man as we know him from such an unpromising beginning."

The newspapers are inundated by letters on the subject.

ALEXANDRIA BISHOP MAY BE PROMOTED

Rt. Rev. Felix Couturier To Become Archbishop of Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 27 (Canadian Press).—The Ottawa Citizen, in a news page story, states that it learns on semi-official authority, that His Lordship Bishop Felix Couturier, O.B.E., M.C., D.D., of Alexandria, Ont., will be appointed Archbishop of the Archdiocese of Ottawa, and that the Bishopric of Alexandria will be filled by Rev. Father John J. Macdonald, rector of St. Finans' Cathedral, Alexandria.

Famous Tennis Trophy Ordered Released; Held For Duty By French Customs Officials

PARIS, September 27 (Canadian Press). — The Davis Cup, toward which Frenchmen have long looked with yearning, and which their racquets finally won, has vaulted, after some difficulty, the barrier of the new French tariff.

The cup, emblematic of international supremacy in tennis, arrived at Havre on Friday, and there its journey came to an unexpected halt. It had met the new tariff, and the customs department was, for the moment, the victor.

Sixty per cent. of the value is now the duty on silver articles, they said, and here was one of sterling silver imported from the United States with a value of several hundred thousand francs. Who will pay the duty? queried the customs officials.

The Welcoming Committee, Henri Cochet of the French team that wrested the cup from the United States, and Captain Gillou pleaded in vain. No money, no cup, was the answer. And so the Welcoming Committee and the players departed for Paris, and the cup went into the customs department safe.

Yesterday afternoon, however, the embargo was lifted. Director of Customs Chocarne simply ignored tariff rules, and ordered the cup admitted duty free. He telegraphed his subordinates at Havre to permit its entry, and the cup is expected to emerge from their safe to-day.

ENVOYS SEEK TO END DISPUTE OF WAR BLAME

END SESSION TO-DAY.

Use North American Library System in Proposed New Library.

GENEVA, Sept. 27. — (Canadian Press). — Recrimination between Germany and the Allies over responsibility for starting the great war will cease immediately if M. Briand and Dr. Gustav Stresemann have their way. The two foreign ministers meeting formally in the lobbies of the league of nations assembly have lengthily discussed the controversies carried on by the German and French press over President Von Hindenburgh's recent Tannenberg war guilt speech in which he denied Germany's responsibility and declared that Germany stood ready to prove her innocence.

"Let us glorify our war heroes all we like,"—this is said to epitomize the talks between M. Briand and Dr. Stresemann—"magnify their exploits, but do not reopen the question of who started the war in which they fell."

Will Not Interfere.

Indications from the Geneva stand point are that recent speeches made in Germany and France will not be permitted by the German and French leaders to interfere with the steady drawing together of the two nations so strikingly evidenced by the negotiations of a Franco-German commercial pact.

The North American library system, which is considered particularly efficient in cataloguing, will play an important part in the proposed new league of nations library, for which John D. Rockefeller, jr. recently donated $2,000,000. The assembly yesterday approved a report which authorizes Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general, to invite several literary experts, among them Americans, to visit Geneva for a consultation reative to the best possible use of the gift.

The assembly will probably finish its business to-day noon, with the council meeting in the afternoon.

PARALYSIS NEAR HAMILTON NOW

MENINGITIS FOUND.

HAMILTON, Sept. 27. — Infantile paralysis, dread scourge which has swept the Prairie Provinces and is said to be epidemic in Boston, has made its appearance in Glanford Township, over the mountain from here, with the result that a school in that district has been closed for 14 days by the health authorities. One girl, aged 13 died from the disease after being sick only two days.

Dr. James Roberts, M.O.H., of this city, said the appearance of the disease in this district made for depressing and grave intelligence, as the malady struck its victims in a strange and inexplicable way. Children apparently in robust health were seized, while others escaped. Moreover, while the disease was communicable, medical science knew little regarding it and had no preventive measures to check its progress, he said.

Must Keep Children Isolated.

When asked what parents could do to safeguard their children, Dr. Roberts said the most effective action was to prevent children from mingling with other children. He said he had hoped that this part of Ontario would escape the disease, but evidently it had been carried by some person from the infected areas either in Western Canada or the New England States.

Medical investigation had revealed that Henry Mellor, whose death occurred at the General Hospital on Saturday night, died from meningitis. He was found in an unconscious condition at one side of the Queenston Highway, near Stony Creek, and police had been uncertain whether or not he was struck by a motor vehicle.

AROUND THE CITY

Mark Pengelly, the official city dog catcher, has a fine police dog (female) in custody, and anyone wishing this dog, which is young and a good size, can have it by applying at 139 George Street.

China Waging War Against Communism

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press).—"China has been waging the Orient's war against Communism. If China is convinced of the justice of the Soviet's cause then all the East will follow her example." General T. Chang Sun, attached to the Peking general headquarters staff, made this assertion during an interview here yesterday. Travelling with Gen. Tching Wu, of the same post, Gen. Sun is at present on his way to the International Radio Conference to be held at Washington, D.C. The two Chinese soldiers arrived on the liner President Jefferson.

NO EPIDEMIC OF PARALYSIS IN PROVINCE

Provincial Health Authorities Say Cases Reported Are Isolated.

NO ALARM FELT.

Disease Is Usually More Prevalent At This Time of Year.

TORONTO, Sept. 27.— (Canadian Press.)—No alarm need be felt that reports of infantile paralysis in Ontario indicate an epidemic of this disease in the province. This assurance was given to-day by Dr. A. L. McKay of the Provincial Health Department.

Despite the death from this illness of a girl near Hamilton, and reports of cases in other centres, "there is no epidemic" Dr. McKay said. "It is important to let people know this so that needless fear will not be aroused. These are isolated cases and we have investigated every one of them."

Mr. McKay remarked that this was the time of the year for the disease to make its appearance, which accounted for simultaneous reports from different points. Usually at this time of the year there were more cases than at present, he added."

MISS TOMKINS CLUB PRESIDENT

Elected at Annual Meeting of Women's Canadian Club.

GENERAL McBRIEN SPEAKS.

The first meeting for this season of the Women's Canadian Club was held yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Public Library, with a good attendance. Officers whose names were presented by the nominating committee were unanimously endorsed by the meeting, and a feature was the lecture on "The Great Pacific Question," given later by Major-General J. H. MacBrien, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., of Ottawa, a Canadian representative to the 1926 Imperial Conference.

The annual reports were presented by the secretary, Miss A. Cameron, who recorded a total of one hundred and six members last year, and by the treasurer, Mrs. L. W. Scott, showing total receipts of $326.82, with disbursements of $319.06, leaving a balance of $7.76 in the ordinary account. The account for the float presented by the Club at the first of July celebration showed receipts of $39.10, and disbursements of $43.30, which brought the balance down to $3.56, with outstanding accounts unpaid of $24.01.

Mrs. J. F. Allan, retiring president, commented on the excellence of the float presented by the ladies, and spoke humorously of the trials encountered in its decoration, when the heat at the Armories was almost unbearable, and "they said they couldn't open the windows without an order from the Government."

Mrs. Allan went on to express her thanks to all who had helped her during her term of office, to Mrs P. D. Kerr, first vice-president; Miss L. Wilson, recording secretary; Miss A. Cameron, Mrs. L. W. Scott, Miss Belcher, who assisted with preparations for the float, Mr. F. M. DeiaFosse, and the janitor at the Library, and Miss McCarthy of The Examiner for excellent reports made of the meetings.

Miss M. Archer rose to express the hearty appreciation of the members to Mrs. Allan for her unfailing interest and splendid work done during her term as president, this being seconded by Mrs. Kerr and Miss Belcher.

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 27. —(Canadian Press). — For the first time in the history of the Upper Great Lakes, corn from the Argentine is passing through Owen Sound's grain elevator for distribution in Western Ontario. Forty thousand bushels have arrived from Montreal.

The low price of the South American grain in comparison with the United States product was the cause of its long haul.

ROSENEATH RURAL SCHOOL FAIR SURPASSES PREVIOUS RECORDS

Five Schools in District All Participated in the Event.

MANY EXHIBITS

First Aid Demonstration by Pupils Pleasing Feature of Programme.

ROSENEATH, Sept. 27.—The annual rural school Fair held at Roseneath on Thursday in the Agricultural ground, surpassing all previous efforts both in quality and quantity, proved a great success. The weather was exceptionally fine and the fact that five schools in the district all participated in the event probably accounted for the huge gathering.

A pleasing interlude in the day's proceedings was the presentation to Welhelmene Rusaw of the handsome silver cup awarded by the T. Eaton Company, she having the highest number of points, numbering 69, while Joy Morrison was a close second with 65 points.

First Aid Demonstration.

A new feature which caused considerable interest was the first aid demonstration. Each pupil who took part in the work deserves credit for cleverness. The first prize was awarded to S. S. No. 2 Alnwick, when Joy Morrison and Avis Towns rapidly displayed first aid to Billie Halstead, who was supposed to have broken his leg.

S.S. No. 21, Haldimand, received 2nd, S.S. Nos. 1 and 5 won 3rd prize, S.S. No. 3 Alnwick, 4th prize, and S. S. No. 2 Jr. Alnwick, 5th prize.

Roseneath senior room, S.S. No. 2, had an average winning of $1.20 per pupil, thus winning the shield for the sixth year in succesSsion, with Mr. M. Davey as teacher.

Mr. B. J. Philip, Brighton, judged the poultry, Mr. Robert Armstrong judged the fruit and vegetables, Mr. Quail, Guelph, and Mr. K. Crews, Brighton, judged the live stock, parade, sports, etc.

BARNS BURNED WITH CONTENTS

CROPS DESTROYED.

MADOC, September 27. — The barn belonging to William Demille, on the old Henderson property, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin on Sunday evening. The fire engine was called out, but could not accomplish much, the fire having gained too much headway. Several hogs, two stacks of stray, and ten bags of grain, besides several loads of hay, were lost with the barn. There was no insurance.

The alarm, coming just at church time, was the cadse of considerable excitement.

FINE BARN DESTROYED.

KEENE, September 27. — The modern dairy barn owned by Herbert McKay, near Bethel, four miles from here, was burned to the ground last night about 6.30 o'clock. A thoroughbred bull and a young calf were burned, with the season's crop and one waggon. Insurance was carried on the barn, but not on the contents.

The fire was noticed by a neighbour ,who telephoned Mr. McKay. A large number of men gathered and succeeded in saving most of the implements. Spontaneous combustion is thought to have been the cause.

MARMORA, Sept. 27. — On Thursday last several residents of this district attended Bancroft fair. Two car loads at least decided to stay for the evening dance. SCHOOL FAIR HELD AT KEENE

NEEDLE WORK GOOD

The Otonabee school fair was held yesterday afternoon in the agricultural park at Keene with school sections, 2, 4, 5, 7 and 14, taking part. The entries as a whole were small but in many classes there was an extra fine quality found in the exhibits.

The classes of garden vegetables were very large with 25 entries in carrots and 22 in beets. There was 12 collections of apples with Sinclair Cormic of S. S. No. 4 carrying off the first prize. The flowers were one of the best in the Peterborough rural schools fairs there being 36 entries in the bouquet from the home garden class with Norma Kennie of No. 4 carrying off first.

Douglas Archibald of Keene won first in the class of 13 entries of home made candy. The needle work of the girls was good and the wood work of the boys showed that they had taken a great deal of time in making the milking stools, airships, ladders and hammer handles.

There was no school parade or public speaking but there were five in the sining contest with Harold Donaldson coming first, Cecil Montgomery second and Isabel Nelson third.

There were twelve barred rock cockerels on exhibit all hatched from eggs which were furnished by the department of agriculture. In the cockerel class John Henderson took first money. Donald Duisdale came first with his exhibit in the pullet class and Roy Richardson won first for the best pen composed of one cockerel and two pullets.

There was more live stock on the grounds than at some of the fairs but in the classes appeared brothers showing against each other. Donald Henderson won first in the draft colt class and John Henderson was second. The prizes in the best beef class went to Lloyd Carl, and Scott Miller of No. 2. There were five entries in the market lamb class with Harold Donaldson carrying off first.

Many dainty little school lunches were shown, the prize won which was put up by Thelma Henderson No. 14 composed of salmon sandwiches, 1 pear, 1 peach, 1 tomato, 1 huckleberry tart, 1 piece of sponge cake and half a pint of milk.

BISHOP UPHOLDS DARWIN THEORY

Dr. Barnes of Birmingham Preaches in Westminster Abbey.

GENESIS FOLKLORE

LONDON, Sept. 27—(United Press) Dr. Ernest William Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham and militant modernist, has created another sensation by declaring in a sermon at Westminster Abbey on Sunday that he himself sided with Darwin regarding the origin of man.

He attacked religious people and their leaders for their "timid and most obscure attitude" towards science and even asserted that it was "obvious God used evil in his plan."

Darwin's triumph, he declared, had destroyed the whole theological scene, adding:

"Man is not a being who has fallen from the ideal state of perfect innocence, he is an animal who slowly gained spiritual understanding." It was quite impossible, Dr. Barnes said, to harmonize this conclusion of the scientific inquiry into the story of creation as set forth in the Book of Genesis, with the traditional theology of any branch of the Christian church.

"If then," he continued, "opinions widely and even universally held turn out to be wrong let us declare the fact, and we need not blush as we make the confession.

"If God is behind nature, he can show creative activity through the press of emergent evolution just as definitely as by special creation. In the belief that God's creation has a purpose we postulate immortality of the soul."

The speaker urged everybody to seek the truth and he insisted that this was consistent with Christ's teaching.

"Darwin's assertion", said Dr. Barnes, "that man sprung from apes has stood the test of more than half a century of critical examination and the truth of it has been confirmed."

As a result the stories of Adam and Eve and the Garden of Eden have become folklore.

"Man's special creation is one of the primary assumptions of the Catholic system.

"Darwin has triumphed and many of us should rejoice, for the assertion that any church is infallible is impudent and dangerous.

"When so much Catholic theology has been dissolved the church which accepted can hardly claim to be free from error.

"Some are suggesting that while man is physicologically a descendant from apes, his mind is due to a special divine act of creation. Such a contention cannot be upheld.

Human minds have been derived by evolution from the intelligence of the lower animals just as the human body has been evolved from the body of some primitive vertebrate.

Dr. Barnes is thus supporting the contention of Bishop Gore, who recently said that the folklore of the Old Testament must not be accepted as a literal fact.

His courage in preaching as he did is generally admired.

JUDGE REVERSES FINDING OF COURT

In the county court of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham the appeal of Scriver vs. Fewtrell was heard and the following decision given.

This is an appeal from a conviction dated 12th August 1927, by the Police Magistrate for Northumberland and Durham. Scriver was convicted for having sold liquor contrary to section 72, cap. 70, 1927, known as the "Liquor Control Act," to one Sharpe and was sentenced to two months in goal. Sharpe had been convicted of being drunk just prior to this conviction: he seems to have been convicted on many occasions and for various offences, and would appear to be a more or less disreputable character. In addition to this there is evidence of ill will on his part towards Scriver, and it is suggested that this accounted for the information given by him.

Sharpe swears that on a day in July, 1927, the exact day being not fixed by him, he bought some beer from Scriver at Scriver's place of residence. This is contradicted by Scriver himself and by his wife and in addition by one West who was at the Scriver home when Sharpe was there, and was present throughout the entire interview. We have thus the evidence of the three witneses against the unsupported statement of Sharpe, and they are in direct contradiction. In addition to this there is the evidence of Trueman Tatttrie indicating a threat on the part of Sharpe against Scriver. Scriver and his wife are apparently reputable citizens, no charge of any kind ever having been laid against them.

In the face of this evidence and of the attending circumstances I think the conviction made by the Police Magistrate was wrong and should be set aside. The conviction will therefore be set-aside with costs.

E. C. Huycke, Judge.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K. C., appeared for the defendant and W. F. Kerr K. C. of Cobourg, appeared for the co plaintant.

PRINCIPALITY OF LICHTENSTEIN THREATENED BY RHINE FLOODS

Many Lives Lost When River Bursts Great Common Dam.

TOWNS SUBMERGED.

INNSBROOK, Austria, Sept. 27.—(A.P.) — Lichtenstein, the smallest principality in the world, was almost obliterated yesterday by the mightiest inundation the country has known since its foundation.

Unable to withstand the titanic pressure of the swollen, rushing River Rhine, which borders the tiny principality, a five thousand foot concrete dam dividing Lichtenstein from Switzerland, collapsed during the night, the torrent spreading destruction in every direction.

The inhabitants fled in panic to the housettops and hills, and although details are lacking concerning the loss of life, it is said the number of victims will be great. The government has sent frantic appeals for help to the neighboring countries, but railroads, telegraphic and telephone communications are utterly crippled.

Property Damage Heavy.

In the town of Schaan, the entire fire brigade were drowned while attempting to stem the roaring waters. The property damage throughout Lichtenstein runs into millions. Tens of thousands of cattle were drowned.

To add to the horrors, Lake Constance has risen 15 feet, threatening to engulf the entire neighboring territory. The gas and electric lighting systems are paralyzed and the terrified people are attempting vainly to fight the floods in darkness. At Innsbruck where the river has risen 10 feet, two of the principal bridges have been washed away. Every road leading to Innsbruck is strewn with huge boulders, making traffic impossible. Every bridge from Steinach to Gschnitz is demolished. The town of Ramsberh is entirely submerged and the populace has taken refuge in the hills.

OLD MASTERS

There! little girl, don't cry!
They have broken your doll, I know;
And your tea-set blue,
And your playhouse, too,
Are things of the long ago;
But childish troubles will soon pass by.
There! little girl, don't . y!

There! little girl, don't cry!
They have broken your slate, I know;
And the glad, wild ways
Of your school-girl days
Are things of the long ago;
But life and love will soon come by.
There! little girl, don't cry!

There! little girl, don't cry!
They have broken your heart, I know;
And the rainbow gleams
Of your youthful dreams
Are things of the long ago;
But heaven holds all for which you sigh.
There! little girl, don't cry!

OBITUARY

RICHARD BLODGETT.

ROSENEATH, Sept. 27. — Rarely has such a gloom passed over the community as when it became known that Richard, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blodgett entered into rest at the Cobourg General Hospital on Thursday morning, September 22nd. His death came as a shock to his many friends as it was not known that his illness had assumed such a serious nature. Deceased was a young man of upright christian character and his passing leaves a vacancy, not only in his home circle, but in the community life that never can be filled, in evidence from the large number of friends who gathered at his home on Saturday afternoon to participate in the funeral service and also by the many floral tributes which banked the beautiful casket.

The services at the house and graveside were conducted by the pastor, Rev. M. R. Brown of the United church.

There are left to mourn his loss, besides his sorrowing parents, one brother Willis of Colborne and two sisters Mrs. A. Ivatt of Haldimand and Gladys at home.

FARM HAND HURT

MADOC, Sept. 27.—A very serious accident occurred at Cooper on Monday when P. Canniff was caught by the foot in the feeder of the threshing machine owned by John Peck. The machine was at once stopped, and Dr. Nickle was summoned. No bones were broken, but it required about seventy-five stitches to close the wounds.

Mr. Canniff is employed by A. Graham of Cooper.

TWO OF FAMILY HURT SAME DAY

L. W. Smith Strains Ankle in Barn—Daughter Thrown From Buggy.

NO BONES BROKEN.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 27.—While L. W. Smith was working about his barn on Monday morning he had the misfortune to turn over on his right ankle causing considerable suffering, and making it impossible for him to continue looking after his farm duties throughout the afternoon, and probably for some days following.

Mr. Smith's youngest daughter Dorothy had a narrow escape from a serious accident while coming from school on Monday afternoon; she had accepted a drive home with Sadie Rowland, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowland, Fourth Line, Cavan, and the horse took fright at a piece of paper blown along the road. Before the animal was again under control, Dorothy was thrown from the buggy, lighting on her shoulder and being badly shaken and bruised. Fortunately no bones were broken but both girls were suffering from fright when Mr. Smith's home was reached.

CAVAN FARMER FINDS BORERS

Pest Has Appeared in the Corn Fields Near Centreville.

CAVAN NEWS.

CAVAN, September 27. — W. T. Donaldson, Centreville, has discovered the cornborer at work in his corn patch. No serious damage has been done to the corn, but every person is sorry to hear of the cornborer starting its ravages in Cavan. Heretofore it has been heard of at a distance, but now vigilance will need to be exercised to prevent it from becoming prevalent.

On Thursday afternoon, Cavan Women's Institute met at Mrs. R. S. Staples' home. There were twelve ladies present. In the absence of the president, Mrs. D. J. Hunter, the vice-president, Mrs. E. Syer, conducted the meeting. Miss B. McNeil was accompanist for the singing of the opening ode. Business discussion included the continuance of the choral class. It was decided to continue it through September and possibly October. Miss L. Syer gave an interesting reading, "Farmers, Do We Hate Ourselves?" It contained many profitable thoughts and suggestions. Mrs. R .S. Staples read "A Desirable Disposition," by Jean Blewett.

After the meeting adjourned, the Lunch Committee, Mrs. L. McNeil, Mrs. E. Syer, Miss E. Pritchard, and Mrs. F. M. Staples assisted the hostess to serve lunch. Among those present were: Miss B. McNeil, Miss K. Sutton, Mrs. M. Sutton, Mrs. A. Kennedy, Miss E. Pritchard, Mrs. E. Syer, Mrs. Leonard McNeil, Mrs. J. W. Perrin, Miss Helen Staples, Miss L. Syer, Miss H. Kennedy, Mrs. F. M. Staples, and the Misses Mary and Barbara Staples.

EX-MAGISTRATE ANSWERS PRICE

Open Letter From Lindsay Official Suggests Interference Dangerous.

COURT SHOULD DECIDE.

LINDSAY, Sept. 27. — Suggesting that Attorney-General Price's intervention in the perjury case at Lindsay last winter was a "dangerous innovation," and that if an error of judgment was made by the Magistrate the case should have been carried to the Court of Appeal former Magistrate Jesse Bradford of Lindsay has sent an open letter to the Attorney-General giving his version of the incident.

Mr. Bradford maintains that the cause of his dismissal is a matter in which the public is vitally concerned, and that people will not willingly let go the chief corner-stone of constitutional liberty—the independence and security in office of Judges and Magistrates.

FRENCH CUSTOMS HOLDS UP TROPHY

But Director Orders Davis Cup Admntted Free—Tariff on Silver 60 Per Cent.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The Davis Cup, toward which Frenchmen have long looked with yearning, and which their racquets finally won, has vaulted, after some difficulty, the barrier of the new French tariff.

The cup, emblematic of international supremacy in tennis, arrived at Havre Friday, and there its journey came to an unexpected halt. It had met the new tariff, and the Customs Department was, for the moment, the victor.

Sixty per cent. of value is now the duty on silver articles, they said, and here was one of sterling silver imported from the United States, with a value of several hundred thousand francs. Who will pay the duty? queried the Customs officials.

The Welcoming Committee, Henri Cochet of the French team that wrested the cup from the United States, and Captain Gillou, pleaded in vain. No money, no cup, was the answer. And so the Welcoming Committee and the players departed for Paris and the cup went into the Customs Department safe.

Yesterday afternoon, however, the embargo was lifted. Director of Customs Chocarne simply ignored tariff rules and ordered the cup admitted duty free. He telegraphed his subordinates at Havre to permit its entry, and the cup is expected to emerge from their safe to-day.

ITALIANS PRAISE ENGLISH AVIATORS

Papers Generous in Comments on Schneider Cup Victory.

ROME, Sept. 27 (United Press).—Italian newspapers were generous today in their praise of the English victory in the Schneider Cup race at Ledo.

"We present our arm to the winners admiringly and ungrudgingly," said the newspaper Giornale D'Italia. "Their victory probably was due to longer training of their pilots. Anyhow, we raise our arm in Roman fashion, saluting the English victory and shout loudly, 'Long Live England' and 'Au revoir until the next meet'."

TRIP TO 'ROYAL' FOR FARM BOYS

Ten From Each County to Attend Big Fair at Toronto.

COMPETE FOR PLACES

Ten fortunate young farmers from this county will spend three days in Toronto at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair this coming November as the guests of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. According to the Government's plan, which has just been announced in its final form, the boys will be provided, free of charge, with railway fare from the home station to Toronto and return, with sleeper, berth and meals on the train for those from a distance of 200 miles or more, and any further transportation involved in the tour of the stock yards, abattoirs, factories and other commercial concerns and public institutions which has been planned as part of the programme during their visit to the Fair. They will also be free of any expense for lodging accommodation ofr four nights, or for their meals while in Toronto. It is the sort of thing that most boys dream about and seldom realize, and in this case the Department of Agriculture is playing the part of the fairy godmother.

It is felt that a visit to the Royal Winter Fair, which has in its show ring the finest live stock, poultry, and horses that the stables and herds of nine Provinces and many States can offer, will be an education in progressive agriculture. The boys will be able to see for themselves what the master breeders of the country have accomplished with their animals, and they will have new ideals of live stock perfection to take away with them. They will also be able to make comparisons between fruit, grains, and dairy products from different parts of the Dominion. Normal country boys have a keen interest in all live things, and the foxes, rabbits, pet stock and dogs exhibits will show them the commercial possibilities of these specialties on Canadian farms. They will also have the thrill of seeing the finest amateur horsemen and women on the continent taking the jumps in the Royal Horse Show under the eyes of Lord Willingdon, the Governor-General, and many other visitors prominent in Canadian public life.

The boys are to be selected by means of special "Royal" junior farmer judging competitions to be held during October. Conditions governing these competitions (high mark boys to be selected) are as follows:

Contestants shall judge five rings of live stock and five classes of crop products, such as grain, small seeds, potatoes, roots, fruit and vegetables. Special crops may be included where production is general over the county.

The competition shall be open to all farmers and farmers' sons living on the farm, between the ages of 16 and 23 on October 1, 1927 (must not have reached twenty-third birthday) and who have not previously represented the county as a member of a stock-judging team at the Royal Winter Fair, or are not graduates of an agricultural college or agricultural school.

Prizes shall be awarded on aggregate scores only. 50 per cent. will be allowed for placing, and 50 per cent. for oral reasons on each class. When computing aggregate scores, live stock and crop products shall have a ratio of 2 to 1. The possible score, therefore, will be live stock, 500, crop products, 250.

The contest for Peterborough County will be held on the Norwood Fair Grounds at 8 o'clock on October 12. The prizes offered are valuable ones, and every eligible boy in the county should take part. Particulars may be obtained from J. B. Nelson, local representative of the Department of Agriculture, George Street.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27.—Sam. Flint, who has been employed for the past few months as a truck driver for the Trent Valley Creameries, is carrying his right arm in a sling as the result of being kicked by his truck when cranking it. The truck had been giving trouble for some time, and as Flint drove away from the Creamery oil house after filling his tank, his engine stalled. He got out to crank it, and the result is a badly sprained wrist.

Leslie Clegg has returned to Toronto to resume his studies at the University, in the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering.

Among other items of business transacted at the regular meeting of the Loch Lomond Lodge of the Order of Rebekah, was a decision to hold a weiner roast at Bradley Bay on Thursday, October 6. This will be for the entertainment of members and also their friends, and should prove an enjoyable evening. It is understood that the Lodge's series of euchre parties will begin about November 3rd.

PETERBOROUGH'S OPPORTUNITY.

Peterborough, by reason of the activities of the Canadian Air Services here, has an excellent chance of being the first city in Canada to take advantage of the offer of the Federal Government to supply two light aeroplanes to properly organized aero clubs.

The fact that such a club is being formed here, that many citizens are qualified for membership in the organization, that Canadian Air Services have the necessary flying instructors and mechanics, and that the local field, already a registered air port, puts Peterborough in a position to easily qualify under the terms of the Government offer.

The honour of being the pioneer city in the Dominion to receive such a recognition is well worth striving for, and The Examiner is sure that the aero club that is being formed here will have the support of the whole community in putting Peterborough firmly on the aviation map.

Gratifying, too, is the fact that Canadian Air Services plan to train at least one hundred commercial aviators here next year, and that the local manufacture of aeroplanes is being contemplated.

RULES ARE RULES.

The public is beginning to get tired of the controversy over the length of the count when Gene Tunney was floored in the seventh round of last Thursday's fight.

Rules are rules, and the good sportsman accepts them without complaint.

It seems obvious that if Tunney received the benefit of four or five extra seconds in which to recover from the effects of the knockdown the fault was nobody's but the ex-champion's.

It is almost as sure that Dempsey's failure to obey the rules and go immediately to the furthest corner was the result of his refusal to live up to the rules in other fights, and to laxity on the part of referees in those fights.

Dempsey's conduct in his fight with Firpo when he stood over his opponent and floored him almost before Firpo drew himself up has not been forgotten, and it may be considered poetic justice that his tactics on that occasion have now arisen like Banquo's ghost to cheat him of an opportunity to regain the coveted heavyweight crown.

By the rules under which he fought Dempsey was fairly beaten, and all the protests in the world cannot alter that fact.

AN OSHAWA TRIBUTE.

In another column of The Examiner today appears a letter from Fred. Bailes, well-known Oshawa sportsman, warmly congratulating the members of the Peterborough Baseball Club upon their success in their series with St. George's.

Mr. Bailes' letter is published with a good deal of satisfaction for two reasons.

In the first place, it is a splendid tribute to the good playing and fine conduct of the Peterborough team that is doubly pleasing because it comes from an outside source.

And secondly, it indicates a very fine sporting spirit on the part of Mr. Bailes and Oshawa fans generally in supporting the Peterborough team in its quest for the Ontario championship after that team had defeated Oshawa in the preliminary play-offs.

Such friendly relations between two cities that are rivals in sport are most gratifying, and will tend to put athletics in this district upon a sound footing.

Between Oshawa and Peterborough teams, although games have been keenly fought, there has always been an entente cordiale that will be strengthened by the support given Peterborough by Oshawa fans in the series with St. George's and by Mr. Bailes' very much appreciated letter.

DECLARING WAR ON SPEEDERS.

In Police Court yesterday morning two drivers, guilty of speeding on George street, were fined $50 and $40, respectively, while a third motorist, who pleaded guilty to being intoxicated while driving a car, was sentenced to jail for seven days.

Magistrate Langley made it clear that speeders and reckless drivers can expect no leniency from the bench.

These penalties and the warning given by the Magistrate, The Examiner feels sure, will have a very beneficial effect upon other reckless drivers in this district.

We have no desire to see people get into trouble, but the traffic situation has so developed that it is clear that only drastic punishment will have any effect upon a certain type of driver, all efforts to reach whom by campaigns of safety education have had no success whatever.

Any of these drivers who were sentenced yesterday might easily have killed somebody by their recklessness, and, unfortunately, there are many other motorists whose handling of their machines is almost as menacing.

The local court has issued an edict that such drivers should not fail to notice.

Speeders and reckless drivers will henceforth look in vain for leniency, and an aroused public opinion will be behind the Magistrate in dealing strictly with all those who by their carelessness threaten the lives of others.

A TRIBUTE TO EX-SERVICE MEN.

(From The Ottawa Journal.)

Enquiring into the possible reasons for the spread of crime on this Continent since the close of the war, a contemporary refers to a truth which has not been given the publicity which it deserves. "In the latter days of the Great War," says this paper, "a number of people were rather outspoken with regard to the effect that the struggle would have on the morals of the soldiers when they returned to civil life. Some predicted that the life in the trenches with the disregard for human life and the fairly plentiful supply of money, would have a tendency to make criminals of many who would find difficulty in adapting themselves again to humdrum civilian existence. This, however, has not been the case. The great majority of returned men speedily returned to the methods of earning a living that they had adopted prior to going overseas. It is but rarely one hears of a returned soldier being brought before a magistrate to answer for a criminal act."

In Canada after the close of the struggle there was a proportion of returned men who fell foul of the law, but when it is remembered that nearly half a million men from all classes of the community enlisted, including not a few who had previous criminal records, this proportion was remarkably small. In the past six years the number of veterans appearing in the criminal courts has been almost negligible.

The truth is that generally speaking our fighting men faced, despite very serious handicaps, the struggle for re-establishment with the same cheerful gallantry that won them world renown on the battlefields of France. In every line of endeavor they have brought new credit to themselves and their country. In the learned professions, in science, industry and the trades these volunteer fighting men have demonstrated in civil life the same loyalty, energy and courage which were our shining shield when the menace of war threatened the very existence of the state.

CHIEF THOMPSON.

The Border Cities Star has the following editorial reference that will be of interest to local citizens:

"At the Police Commission meeting yesterday and at the 'farce' meeting of last week, Chief Thompson laid great stress on his 34 years' record in police work. The citizens of Windsor are not much interested in what Chief Thompson did 30 years ago, or even 10 years ago. What they are anxious about is what the chief is doing today and has done since he came to Windsor. That is the part of the chief's activities that means something to OUR OWN PEOPLE. One hears much criticism of Chief Thompson. No doubt a considerable amount of it is not justified, and on the other hand, some of the criticism is justified.

"To illustrate what The Star has in mind, let it relate the particulars of one case of recent date. In the city of Detroit less than a month ago was held a convention of the veterans of the Spanish-American War. During the convention many of the delegates came across the river and apparently without any effort (presumably guided by 'touts') found their way to a place on Pitt street. In the crowd were many women. For days a continual flow of these people went in and out of the blind pig referred to (or should we call it the keen-eyed pig?). Many Windsorites, passing, would stop and look with amazement at the brazenness with which patrons entered and left the building. Beer wagons stood at the door. Ice trucks drove up now and then, and stopped. Police patrolled the street frequently. Even after this newspaper launched its campaign for better conditions in the Border Cities, the Pitt street place kept on doing business. After a while the pig became a little more cautious. When a customer arrived at the door he would ring a bell and immediately a head popped out of the upstairs window to scrutinize the would-be entrant. Then the door would be opened and the patron admitted. Two nights ago the place was raided. The police found nothing or what amounted to nothing.

"Now, what The Star would like to ask Chief Thompson is this: What is the reason that during all the days that this place was doing a rushing business (and 'rushing' is the right word to use here) the police allowed this joint to keep on defying the law? Ignorance of what was transpiring cannot be pleaded, because the men running the place made no effort to conceal what was going on.

"Perhaps the chief can give a satisfactory answer to this question. Certainly it would make citizens who are interested in law enforcement feel better if they knew Chief Thompson and his men acted in the only way they could in this particular instance.

Another question: Five or six weeks ago the police raided a joint on Sandwich street. Entrance was apparently made at the rear of the building; at least the officers departed that way. Several kegs or barrels of beer were seized by the police. Within five or ten minutes of the departure of the officers, inmates of the joint were rolling a fresh supply back into the place. Did the police know that immediately after they had raided the house it was doing business? If they did not know, then why? Others knew; the whole transaction was an open one. No effort at secrecy was made.

"These are some of the incidents that citizens notice, incidents that make them wonder. There may be good reasons Chief Thompson can give for such happenings. It would certainly be pleasing to law-abiding citizens to have an explanation.

"Then there are complaints coming to this paper that the chief is just not as 'friendly' to complainants as he might be. He doesn't make them 'feel at home,' so to speak, when they are telling him about events coming under their observation. Now, The Star doesn't for a moment think that a chief of police can stage any pink tea affair while performing his duties. His position, in the very nature of things, is a difficult one, and he cannot afford to indulge in maudlin sentimentality. He can, however, make citizens feel that in him they have a friend, when they call on him on a law enforcement mission.

"The Border Cities Star has had a kindly feeling toward Chief Thompson. In making these observations and asking these questions, The Star has no malice or ill-will. It believes that this discussion is in the public interest, and the chief must view it in the same way."

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Anyway, Gene Tunney got a "long count" when his share of the gate receipts was being paid.

Let us be the first to remark that the Baby Show feature of the Kiwanis Exhibition is likely to be a howling success.

Hooper's of Peterborough won the cup donated by the Bakers' Journal for the best slab cake. Local firms, it is to be said, usually do take the cake.

The only complaint we have against Western Canada is that it usually fails to keep its cold weather to itself.

Great Britain has won the famous Schneider Cup for supremacy in speed among seaplanes. The winner travelled at the rate of 281.50 miles an hour. Those Britishers are not so slow after all.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., September 27 (Canadian Press). — Owing to the majority of foreign bids being out of line with local exporters' views, the local export trade in grain was of a limited character yesterday. There was a demand for spot ocean room to the Continent, and engagements were made at 16 cents per hundred pounds for heavy grain.

Trading in cash grain was also slow, but the tone of the market for oats was stronger and spot values were marked up one cent per bushel.

Prices for all grades of spring and winter wheat flour were well maintained under a moderate demand from all sources.

The millfeed market continued active and firm. The demand for the standard grades of rolled oats was quiet, but prices were steady.

The exports of baled hay to the United Kingdom from the Port of Montreal for the week ending September 24, 1927, were 38,739 bales. The trade yesterday was quiet.

The undertone to the market for fresh extra eggs continued firm under a good demand. Other grades were inclined to be easier, but there was no change in values. The receipts were 1,173 cases.

The feature of the butter trade was the stronger feeling that developed, and prices scored a further advance of ½c per pound. This was attributed to the small receipts and the good demand.

The receipts were 1,262 packages.

In sympathy with the higher prices paid in the country for cheese at the close of last week, a stronger feeling prevailed in the local market yesterday, and prices were marked up ½c to ½c per pound. The receipts were 4,486 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. — (Canadian Press). — Predictions of fair and warmer weather north-west brought about an all day decline in wheat values yesterday and nearly wiped out a sharp advance of corn. Wheat finished 1 5-8 to 2 1-4 a net lower, corn 1-4 to 3-4 up, oats varying from 1-4 decline to 5-8 advance and provisions at seven cents off to 25c gain. With prospects better for Canadian threshing and for the movement of new wheat in the north-west, both Canadian and Domestic, the wheat market here tended downward from the beginning. Hedging pressure developed on the rallies, Liverpool quotations were relatively weak; beneficial rains were reported in Argentine, and the amount of wheat on ocean passage was to be larger compared with last week and also a year ago.

Increase of 5,357,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply and 950,000 bushels in Canadian stocks, were additional bear factors in the wheat market. Moreover, export demand for North American wheat was laggard, final sales to Europe yesterday totalling but 400,000 bushels. Under such circumstances the wheat trade here gave little heed to word of wintry conditions at numerous points and the market closed near to the day's bottom level.

Corn prices reacted from an early steep upturn that was associated with weather reports which at first give rise to apprehension of severe crop damage in a large part of the corn belt. Later, however a more reassuring forecast put a stop to buying and brought about a general disposition to await developments. Oats were chiefly governed by the action of corn.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to strength in corn and in cotton as well.

Dr CHASE'S OINTMENT

JOLLY JINGLES By Graham Hunter

DAILY EDITORIAL BY DR. FRANK CRANE

JUST ANOTHER SUCKER

By Dr. Frank Crane.

A young man by the name of Orrell, who was cashier for a brokerage firm, has recently been arrested on a charge of swindling his employers out of some $244,000.

He took this money a little at a time and always hoped to pay it back by making favorable plays in the stock market. He pinned his hopes on the advance in prices of breakfast foods and steam locomotive stocks. They didn't lead him to the hill of prosperity as he imagined they would, but they dumped him in the ditch.

He now says to himself, according to the newspapers, that he is "just another sucker."

There have doubtless been many great fortunes made by lucky chances and many people have struck oil wells or gold veins or diamond pockets. Others have had rich uncles die and leave them a lot of money.

There is no discounting this and no attempt to prove that it is not so. Gambling does not always lead to misfortune. Some players at Monte Carlo come away with a pile.

But the point is, the chances are all against them. For every one man who succeeds and who you hear about, there are thousands who fail and whom are never noted.

The shrewd man bases his acts of life upon averages. He recognizes that there is much luck in human affairs. But there are certain laws of averages and life is a balance of probabilities.

The difference between a clever man and a fool is that the former pins his hope upon general laws and the chances are in his favor, while the latter fatuously believes in the exception and usually gets stung.

If life means anything to you, don't unnecessarily risk it.

If you want fame and fortune, don't pit them on the turn of a card.

Study to find out what the law of averages is and follow that law.

The wicked sometimes prosper and unjust and tyrannical people are successful, but the average is against them, and in the end they usually suffer.

The man who minds his own business and never takes chances unless he has to is running along with the laws of the universe. He is trusting to the co-operation of events and they do not fail him in the end.

FORMER DRY AGENT IS UNDER ARREST

Charged With Illegal Participation in Liquor Raid.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (Canadian Press).—The likelihood of a new international complication arising out of the United States sea patrol against rum-runners has developed in the Bahamas Islands as a result of the arrest of Charles Nestle, a former United States prohibition agent, for alleged unauthorized participation in the seizure of a rum smuggler by the United States coastguard in British waters. Nestle, who is accused of not having been a member of the coastguard crew at the time of the capture, was charged by the rum-runner vessel's crew with having appropriated a portion of the liquor cargo and of having had some of it in his possession at the time of his arrest. The rum-runner is said to be a United States vessel.

Where Air Drill Hose Means PROFIT

GOODYEAR MADE IN CANADA

Dominates

AIR drill and pneumatic tool hose are important anywhere: but they are vital in mining. Vital to continued operation; vital to profits. And in the mines, particularly in the biggest, most profitable mines, Goodyear Hose is most used.

Individual orders for 12,000 to 15,000 feet are not uncommon with Goodyear. Mine managers do not order Goodyear Hose hesitatingly. They know that here is hose specially designed to meet every condition of the job it has to do—cover designed to stand abuse, lining designed to withstand oil, carcass designed for great strength. You will find these same qualities in the curb line hose which supplies air for your tires.

The same thing applies to the other types of Goodyear Hose, such as—Steam, Water, Suction, Garden, Vinegar, Brewers', etc. For any hose need, therefore, you may safely specify Goodyear.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

Gratitude to Almighty God for His fulfilment of the promise made so long ago, "Seed time and harvest—shall not cease," was the keynote of the largely attended Harvest Thanksgiving services held at the Salvation Army Temple on Sunday last. The blessings of the day were large and the helpful music, so splendidly rendered by the Temple Band and Songsters, created the right attitude of mind in harmony with the spirit of the day.

Commandant Frank Ham, who preached in the morning service, drew spiritual lessons from the work of sowing and reaping.

Lieutenant James Clark, of Georgetown, preached at the evening service, from the text, "Whosoever breaketh a hedge, a serpent shall bite him." The barriers of God's erecting are for the purpose of warning and prevention, averred the speaker.

Commandant Ham announced that Sunday next would be Young People's Rally Day, with a special programme for the afternoon service at 3 o'clock. The star feature will be a demonstration of sand tray work for the primary classes, under the direction of Mrs. Stanley Richardson and her co-workers. The Boys' Band and Y. P. Singing Company will also take part.

ST. JAMES UNITED.

St. James United Church was beautifully decorated with flowers and fruits, for the Rally Day Services Sunday. In the morning, Sabbath School was present in goodly numbers and occupied the centre seats, hymns suitable for such a service were sung and everyone joined heartily.

The pastor, the Rev. J. H. Dudgeon, had charge of service and his subject for the morning was "Lads." Taking for his text, John 6:9, "There is a lad here," in connection with that wonderful, miracle, the feeding of the five thousand.

The lad provided the stuff that fed the multitude, when the apostles failed the boy had the wherewithal and the boy is providing the stuff to-day that Jesus can use for the World's Salvation.

Three things about the boy, the pastor said, were noticeable, not only in this incident but in all ages.

1. The boy is here and he is going to be here.

2. He is always looking after his appetite.

3. What a boy has, he will, if you come at him in the right way give to Jesus.

The boy has been and is the most neglected problem of the age. True, there has been advancement both in church and State, along certain lines, improvement in his educational advantages and in some places for his social advantages. "Let a Province legislate for his education and provide parks and playground. Why should they open the sluce gates of Intemperance and put within his reach that which will destroy him physically, morally, and eternally, to satisfy a gang of old toppers and money grabbers?" The Church has been slow. We build great cathedrals, fine auditoriums, install great organs and for an hour or two we sit and sing ourselves away to everlasting bliss. Then we shut up our $100,000 church for 163 hours out of the 168 per week. We bolt it fast lest a boy gets in while his nose may be in some penny horrible or Jesse James story that is moulding his young life for action in future days.

Home is much to blame for many of the shipwrecks of life, parents shirk and throw the great task that should be theirs on the school teacher and some times the Sunday School. In many a home a boy never hears the name of God except in blasphemy and never hears father pray. The church is not spoken of except in criticism and the boy is sure to imitate his hero.

But the encourageing part for sunday school workers and anxious parents is this. That the boy, every boy, can be won for Jesus and he will give all he has to Jesus if you come at him the right way.

God has so made him he will take to religion quicker than any one else. This boy parted with his supper and give it to the Master. That is what every boy will do. He will give everything he has to Jesus if he is approached the right way.

In the afternoon their was an open session of school held in the church led by the Superintendant, A. E. Prest, when the Rally Day programme was carried out.

A recitation entitled, "We would see Jesus" was given by Kenneth Meredith and a beautiful story of the Call of Peter, to Discipleship was told by Ashton Fife.

In the evening, the pastors subject was "Starting in Life" and the largest congregation of young folks seen in St. James' for some time, listened to a message, especially for young people.

Taking his sermon from the younger son, known as the Prodigal, the pastor said, That what causes so much failure on the part of young men is a false conception of Life on the start.

There is a crazy disposition on their part to get away from home and home influence. This boy wanted to get away from home, his father's prayers and influence. He wanted to enjoy life his own way. He wanted liberty. Institutions are full of young men who wanted liberty.

Their false conception of life is seen in the extravagant manner in which young men spend what they get. Improper conception of value of money and extravagance are curses of the age.

What a young man is at 25 he is for life usually. A young man's habits are usually established by the time he is 25.

There was no thought of good he might do with it. The first thing after he gets away, he got in with the wrong gang. As long as he had lots of money and was willing to spend it he had plenty of friends to help him.

Ther is a wrong conception of nature of Sin. The Prodigal, no doubt, said, "After he had seen life, he would make good." Samson thought the same "I will go out and shake myself." But alas, the power was gone.

The Prodigal lost, his home, friends, food, his testimony ,no one believed him, health, good name, and time. What did he get? Jeers of companions rags and filth, a growing hunger a depraved appetite and a sad experience.

One thing he did not lose. He never lost his father's love. That was always warm. Day and night he thought of his boy and when the boy came to himself and started home, he ran to meet him and everything was in readiness for a reception. Robes were there with shoes and a ring and the calf was fatted.

So God, the Father is waiting to welcome every man and woman who may have made a shipwreck of life. His Love is ever warm. He longs for their return. Provision is made for their reception. The Robe of Righteousness can be theirs. They may not have gone as low as the Prodigal, but again they may.

It matters not. The Father waits to welcome penitent men and women who are tired of a life of sin and there will be joy in the presence of the angels as He puts on the ring of adoption and owns them again as His Sons.

Music by the choir under the leadership of Frank Stephens was exceptionally good. In the evening, George Cuff took the solo part with a quartette rendered by himself, Mrs. Turner Miss May Ritchie and Mr. Monk.

A Duet by Mrs. E. Kitney and Mrs. Monk entitled "I want to see Jesus Don't You?" made a fitting appeal after the sermon and was much appreciated.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, speaking at the Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, based his address particularly on the functions of the priesthood of the church.

"Almighty God," said His Lordship, "produces effects either primarily by Himself or through the instrumentality of secondary agents. In the Old Testament times, He chose patriarchs and prophets to make known to the people His will. Even angels were sometimes used for this purpose, as in the delivery of the message to the Blessed Virgin Mary."

In these days, supernatural powers are bestowed on the priests of the church. Although they are possessed of the same frailties and weaknesses as ordinary human beings, still when they are engaged in His work they are endowed with superhuman attributes. "Every high priest is taken from among men," said St. Paul in his Epistle to the Ephesians, but it is the knowledge he possesses as to the range of human frailty, as well as his attributes of compassion for, and comprehension of, the needs of those about him that makes him able to enter, in spirit and mind, into the trials and tribulations of his flock. Holy writers call the priest "another Christ" when he exercises the divine powers given him by God.

His Lordship closed with an admonition to the congregation to remember their priests in their prayers and to do all in their power, especially the parents, to encourage vocations to the priesthood and to the sisterhood of the church.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN.

(Contributed.)

Pre-summer attendances are now the rule at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, with Sunday evening's congregation large and interested.

The introductory "prelude" questions, three in number, were dealt with by Rev. Mr. Allan in his usual careful and thoughtful manner, with the general feeling of Christian charity to the down-fallen.

The subject of the sermon was "Our Looks," the text being found in the Book of Isaiah, 45: 22. Mr. Allan, at the outset, deemed it well to enlighten his hearers that "personal looks" were to be out of the question as some might judge from the text. It meant something far greater—our looking to God at all times. Many times in the Scriptures was this term used, "Lot's wife, the brazen serpent, the Psalmist looking unto God, etc. "Look unto Me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else." These words carried a world of meaning and hope to all who would hearken unto them.

Nations Seeking Destiny.

This might be considered in a national sense, continued Mr. Allan. Nations today were seeking to realize a great destiny, and were looking to various things to give it! First they were looking to idols, philosophies, politics and alliances, and ritual (Israel was looking to this form for her destiny). All were leading to disappointment and disaster—they must look to God! "And what nation today, might I ask, is doing this?" he said. "They are looking to their armies and navies, air forces and poison gas, and to diplomacy. Because of human nature they are bound to fail, sincere in their efforts though they may be.

"But let us consider," said Mr. Allan, "the personal and individual sense."

The Greatest Possible Blessing.

Salvation! Multitudes do not believe this today. For proof of this, see how they live. The whole trend of human thought today was to defy man. The looking away from God was rampant in many forms—people have such petty conceptions of salvation and how to receive it. An illustration to show how shallow is the idea of salvation was given. A negro, with a few twigs built round a worm, set fire to the twigs. Ere it was scorched, he lifted the worm from the burning circle, and said, "Dat am salvation." Salvation is better illustrated by a ship being cast upon the shore, rusting and falling to pieces, and ere a complete break-up takes place, the ship is re-built, re-loaded, sails set, and sent on its voyage, making good for its owner. This is salvation.

"Our feet may falter as we tread the thorny path towards the future unknown, but with salvation in our lives we can go forward looking to God, who will guide us safely through the vale to the beautiful land on high," said the speaker.

The Largest Possible Number.

"All ends of the earth! God does not confine Himself to one place or one sect or people. His love and care are for the whole world, no matter of what race or color. God hath made of one blood all nations, and His love is unto everlasting. God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son. No one," said Mr. Allan, "can shut you out of His love but yourself."

The Best Possible Security.

"'I am God!' says the Lord. God's word and power were ever to be relied upon. God's honor is always the same to all who believe—the best security one has to do and live right. Trusting in Him sincerely, no one is ever disappointed or turned away. His grace is sufficient.

The Easiest Possible Terms.

"Look! We complicate matters and make it hard for ourselves to come to a decision. We have the idea our lives will be dull and dreary by following and looking to Jesus. We say so much and take so long to decide; yet how easy if we would only turn our vision towards Him, and live new lives. The injunction of the Holy Scriptures is the one word, 'Look.'"

Concluding his forceful and appealing sermon, Mr. Allan urged his hearers to look to the cross for deliverance from sin; to look up to the throne, and be saved from sin's power; the throne where Jesus sat at the right hand of the majesty on high, pleading the cause of the guilty, for all sinners. Lastly, look unto the morning, and see morning break in shining glory, looking for the wonderful dawn. What is wanted in the churches today is real Christians who own Christ as Saviour and Lord—not a mere mooting of religious "campaigns," as in the United States, (with a Canadian church body invited to join with them) for the purpose of gathering in one million members, irrespective of their qualifications as true members of Christ's church. This kind of religion is empty and fatal to true Christianity.

"I looked to Him, He looked to me,
And we were one forever."

Pop Corn Balls

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

"MOTHER," says Joan a little too eagerly, "Isn't there something you want me to do for you?" "Ah, ha," I think, "now I'm being 'worked'" and I settle back to enjoy six-year-old's dark diplomacy. "Yes, Joan, I'd like to have the chairs in this room dusted." While dusting Joan carefully remarks, "Dorothy was sucking a sucker, a green sucker. They're a penny at Lurie's." A pause; "Mother wouldn't you like to see a little girl, who helps you, sucking a nice green sucker?" I know I'm being "worked" and enjoy it. Joan knows I know it and yet she feels she is being diplomatic and has a better chance of winning. Wise little head, and yet she is so perfectly obvious in her carefully laid plan! It is an experiment in the philosophy that if one is nice to folks, folks are more than apt to be nice to you. Not a bad philosophy either!

WHEN pop corn wagons tinkle by
They make me starved! I don't know why.
I stop and tell my Granny Gray:
"I didn't eat much lunch today."
Then Granny Gray looks sharp at me
And says, "Good gracious, let me see,
What was I planning for to do
When I got all my mending through?"
I look real careful at the walls
And ask, "Perhaps 'twas pop corn balls?"
"Well, I declare, how did you know!"
Cries Granny with her eyes aglow.
We pop the corn and boil up things,
And watch the syrup till it strings.
Then roll the balls up nice and neat
And when they're done we sit and EAT.
Then Granny says to Tiggie Bird,
As though I didn't hear a word,
"How fortunate when Robbie calls
I happen to plan pop corn balls!"

If I Were a Kite

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

THERE is hardly a one of us but who has at times the impulse to soar away from the environment and everyday things that hold us. If the impulse is not granted some sort of expression it shows itself in irritability. I read a charming poem of a little woman whose soul longed to go gypsying, whose spirit rode away on the little white clouds. All the neighbors cried, "She is a good mother and a fine housekeeper," but they couldn't understand why she wore such frivolous little shoes with red heels!

IF I were a kite I would sail way up high
As far as I could to the roof of the sky.
I'd jump all the trees and the telephone poles
So I wouldn't get caught, or get torn full o' holes.
Then when I got up I should undo my string
And tie it secure to a star or something,
And sail as I wished through the whole universe,
Past the sun and the moon and the places on earth,
Past Saturn and Norwich and Bangor and Perth
Until I got back to my string.

If I were a kite I would ride every storm
And wrap in a cloud so to surely keep warm
I'd slide on the lightning, and ride on the hail,
And a meteor ship down the milky way sail;
I'd leap over mountains and jump over seas
And eat cocoanuts from the highest up trees.
I'd watch all the ocean ships plow through the foam
And laugh at the lions and tigers that roam,
Then when I got ready to quit and come home
I'd simply slide down on my string!

OMEMEE A.Y.P.A. PLANS FOR YEAR

First Meeting Will Be Held On October 2nd.

OMEMEE, Sept. 27.—Preparations are under way for the opening of the A.Y.P.A. for the coming season. Already a good program has been drafted by those in charge. It is hoped that the season upon which the Association is about to enter will eclipse all former years by way of activities. Something of an innovation will be the novel contest that has been designed to stimulate membership and also to keep the attendance at a maximum figure. The first meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 2, when the branch will commence activities in true A.Y.P.A. style.

The choir of Trinity United church with a number of friends, met in the church parlor on Wednesday evening, September 21, to honor one of their number and her husband, namely, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McKee (nee Vera Lowe) with their gifts and good wishes.

A brief program preceded the shower, consisting of humorous advice to the bride on "How to cook a husband," a piano duet, with a much appreciated encore, "Solo-Island of Dreams; Reading: "Japanese Weddings" and a musical contest.

Following this interesting program, the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. E. Rowland brought all present to attention. A miniature bridal party emerged from a class-room and slowly marched around the room. Mr. and Mrs. McKee were then asked to come forward and the supposed bride and groom drew in a decorated wagon containing a shower of gifts, including a Coleman lamp, the gift of the choir.

Following the opening and inspection of the gifts, Mr. McKee made a neat speech on behalf of the bride, thanking the friends for their varied and beautiful gifts.

The serving of dainty refreshments brought to a close a pleasant evening enjoyed by all.

SPANKS HER SOVEREIGN

Here is the only woman who may spank a king. Princess Helen of Rumania is a believer of the old adage, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." Her royal son King Michael I. of Rumania, accordingly knows what it means to get a spanking. Thus the other day when the boy monarch was teasing the dog shown in the illustration by pulling its tail he was threatened with both a good smack and the punishment of being sent to bed without supper if he did not stop tormenting the animal. Who won the debate may be surmised from the smiles upon the features of the princess mother and the shepherd dog.

FORMER PASTOR VISITS MILLBROOK

Rev. Dr. Lee Preaches in United Church—Prizes Presented.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 27.—"I am speaking to you as a body of Christian people, irrespective of concurring or non-concurring; Unionists or non-Unionists; having a common belief in one Father, one Saviour, one inspired Word; and one hope of a home in heaven."

With these words Rev. Dr. W. H. Lee, now of Mount Forest, but formerly for six years pastor of Grace Presbyterian church here, began his impressive discourse at morning worship in the United church, on Sunday, speaking on the theme "Eternal Life," from the text 1 John 5: 11-12; "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in His Son; he that hath the Son hath life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life."

"John regarded eternal life, which is the gladdest of all messages and the greatest of all gifts, as a present possession; he speaks of it as 'the' life, as if there were no other worthy of the name. It is the highest grade of life, containing within it love, joy, peace, power, service; it is the most tremendous argument for immortality.

"Duration is not eternal life, for not length but kind and quality are its characteristics. The only true and complete answer as to what it is lies in the statement, 'It is the life of Jesus Christ.' His was a life of goodness, and goodness is equivalent to holiness which springs from divinity, and belongs to Him alone.

"How shall we receive this greatest of all gifts—this mighty current of Divine life, which has no beginning and will never have an ending, flowing through our lives? Faith is the point of contact; just where and as you are 'believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.'

"A confession of helplessness, of a real need of cleansing, and a looking unto the Saviour, and you will know 'he that believeth on the Son hath life,' for He has promised 'him that cometh unto Me I will in no wise cast out.'"

A large number of communicants remained for the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at the close of the service, Rev. Dr. Lee, Rev. F. H. Howard, and Rev. Joseph Wilks officiating, the elders assisting being Messrs. J. Whitfield, A. J. Brown, H. A. Earle, H. W. Johnston, W. E. Ball, T. H. Aiken, and J. W. Hamilton.

A special feature of the morning service was the closing of the year for the Young Worshippers' League, which now has a membership of over sixty, awards being given those who had attended 25 Sundays and over in the twelve months. There were 28 this year as compared with 20 last year, and but 14 in 1924.

The League has been continuously in operation here for more than nine years, and has for its object the forming of the habit of regular church attendance at the morning worship among the boys and girls, the age limit being set at 15 years. Last year the highest record of attendance was 46 Sundays, while in the year just closed one boy, Marshal Fallis, was present every Sunday, and another, Arthur Howard, had 50 Sundays to his credit.

A special prize was donated by Rev. Joseph Wilks to the boy who attended 52 Sundays, and next year Mr. Wilks will again give this special award to any members who are at the church service every Sunday morning in the twelve months. The list for 1926-27 was: Marshal Fallis 52 Sundays; Arthur Howard 50 Sundays; Mary Burnham, 48 Sundays; Bryer Edmunds, 46 Sundays, Helen Mitchell 46, Elinor Ferrin 43, Esther and Gordon Might 39, Ida Lunn 39, Dorothy McDowell and Bernice Smith 38, Reg. Edmunds 38, Allen Earle and Elwood Fallis 37, Audrey Carside 36, Marian Earle 35, Freddie Garside 34, Madeline McDowell 34, Marjorie McDowell 34, David Hatherly 34, Martha Earle 33, Mary Ball 32, Orval Bonner 30, Eric Fallis 29, Beatrice McDowell 29, Margaret, Kathleen and Dorothy Smith, 27 Sundays.

The special number by the choir was the anthem, "Come unto Me," with duet by Messrs. H. W. Johnston and V. C. Lambert.

It is expected that the Rev. Mr. Lougheed, of Central China, will address the congregation next Sunday morning.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

Friends of Mrs. Herbert White Gather at Bonar Law.

BONAR LAW, Sept. 27.—A very pleasant event took place on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Percy Bateman, when a number of the friends and neighbors gathered in honor of Mrs. Herbert White, formerly Miss Mary Fenn, who was married on Sept. 10th, in Oshawa.

Although ten years have passed since Miss Fenn left this vicinity for Oshawa, where she was employed with the Pedlar Co., she still retains her many friends here, who wish her success in her matrimonial career.

About eleven o'clock Mr. and Mrs. White opened the parcels which had been given them, which were very beautiful as well as useful. Very delightful speeches were made by both bride and bridegroom, after which a dainty lunch was served. The evening was spent in music and cards. Mr. and Mrs. White invited all to visit them in their new home in Oshawa.

EDWARD JOHNSON A GREAT ARTIST

Large Audience in Armories Was Loath To Let Him Cease.

Edward Johnson is not only one of the world's greatest artists, but he is also completely unspoiled by his many and continuous triumphs. Next to his magnificent voice must be ranked his entire unaffectednes, and the whole souled enjoyment which he manifestly derives from the interpretation of his various numbers. It is the last named quality which so speedily places him en rapport with his audiences everywhere, and adds still further to the enjoyment of his marvellous vocal gifts. Superlative singers are usually supposed to be very temperamental, and it has been contended that this element is essential to their achievements. However this may be, the even and unspoiled nature of this Guelph boy who has attained to such great heights in the realm of song, must be accredited as one of his greatest and most lovable assets. His joyousness in his work has an almost boyish quality and becomes transmitted to his hearers in a most infectious manner.

It has been the privilege of the writer to hear Mr. Johnson on many occasions, including the memorable events in Brantford, not so long ago, when in the Brant theatre he thrilled a delighted assemblage, but it is to be doubted whether he has ever appeared to better advantage than in the program which he rendered in the Dufferin Rifles armories last evening.

The very large audience thoroughly befitted the occasion. Not only the music lovers of Brantford, Paris and Brant county, but also many others from a surrounding area occupied the large floor area aid balconies, and the enthusiasm was as spontaneous as it was intense. A large and suitably decorated platform had been placed in the centre of the east side of the building, and the location did much to make up for the acoustic lack of the structure. In fact the artist of the evening surmounted that drawback with the consummate ease characteristic of his all round achievement.

The Programme.

The opening number was the aria "Che Gelida Manina," from La Boheme, the opera by which the Italian composer Puccini achieved his greatest fame. In this selection of varying moods, the exquisite tonal quality and even register of Mr. Johnson's voice was beautifully exemplified as it was indeed in every subsequent interpretation. Schumann's "Lotus Flower,"

KINGSTON REFUSES FIREMEN DAY OFF

Council Will Rescind Recent Increase if Daw is Enforced.

KINGSTON, Sept. 27.—(Special to the Examiner).—A real fight is on here over the legislation passed last session by the Ontario Legislature, granting the members of the fire department one day off in seven.

The fire and light committee considered the matter, but in view of the fact that it will mean an additional four men for the staff, with an estimated expenditure of $5,000 or more the committee made a recommendation to Council that no action be taken and the City Council adopted the recommendation of the committee.

On Saturday Mayor Price received a letter from Nickle and Farrell, barristers, asking what action the Council proposed to take on the matter, the firemen having asked that the law granting the firefighters one day off in seven be put in force, adding:

"Local firemen are not getting this day, and we have instructions to notify you that if they are not given this day we are to apply to the court for an order directing that the men be given that which they are entitled to by law."

Mayor Price has referred the matter to the fire and light committee.

Members of the fire department were given an increase of five per cent in wages this year, and there is a rumor to the effect that if the men are given the one day off in seven, that a reduction will be made in their wages, in order to meet the needs of the new law. There is a feeling that the firemen cannot have the increase in wages and the day off too. The new legislation is regarded as more for the larger cities, Kingston firemen are working under the double platoon system, and it is felt that they have plenty of time off duty.

Miss Marion Robertson presented the report on Summer school work at Knox College. Eight bands reported a membership of 156, and 87 meetings.

The banner was presented to the Little Missionaries of Picton.

Mrs. Graham of Grimsby gave a very inspiring address. Miss Ruth Gibson of Stirling gave a pleasing solo.

Few Mishaps Bother Insured Legionaries

PARIS, Sept. 26 (Canadian Press).—Those provident Legionaires who took out insurance against mishaps during their trip to France have thus far put in only small claims at the Paris offices of the insurance companies.

Boils on the ear were compensated for by the payment of $1.95; a tooth broken by biting on hard celery brought $3.95; a severe cold on shipboard was worth $10; strained leg ligaments, causing a woman delegate to miss the big parade, brought her $1.13; and a real war time experience, a surprise attack by "cooties," was rewarded with $2.36 indemnity.

Glass flowers, already popular as table decorations, are now to appear as trimmings for hats and in chaplets for brides.

EVENTS OF COMING YEARS TO, ETC.

East, and models her navy on Great Britain. Her development has all been of recent years and she is most concerned with the advances of Russia in Asia, although a few years ago relations between Japan and the United States were at a crisis. Japan has Korea as a buffer state and is extending her influence in Manchuria. In 1896 she fought China and took Korea and Port Arthur. This did not suit Russia, Germany, and France, who forced the return of the latter. Russia then forced China to give a long lease and built a railway. Japan secured an alliance with Britain, ordered Russia out, and when she refused to go put her out.

The great problem of the Japanese is to find space for their people. In an area one third the size of Ontario there are seventy million people, yet only 17 per cent. of the land is arable. There are three alternatives: first, to get territory for expansion, second to change to a manufacturing nation, and third to let the people go to other countries. As love of country is part of the Japanese religion this last course does not appeal to them.

Troubles in China.

The principal centre of interest in China is the Nationalist movement. Owing to Russian influence it is anti-foreign but especially anti-British. The Russians are trying to break up the British Empire because they consider it the chief obstacle to the spread of Communism, and are working first to get Britain out of China, with the loss of her subjects' property, which is worth three hundred million pounds.

The relations between countries are such in these days that one country cannot order the nationals of another country to get out, continued the speaker, so Britain refused to get out, preferring to defend her possessions and her subjects. At the same time the British decline to take any side in the internal disputes, leaving them for the Chinese to settle.

Russian Imperialistic.

Russia has interests around the Pacific and the Soviet government is just as actively Imperialistic as the Tzarist regime. While the Russians consider the British their enemies, their interests in Asia clash most with Japan, which is undoubtedly supporting Marshal Chang in Manchuria as a buffer state, while a clash between Japan and the United States is improbable for the same reason.

An Asiatic League of Nations is proposed, remarked the speaker. If China gets stable government and adopts western methods of hygiene her population will increase very rapidly. Then, if the yellow races become reconciled to each other there will be a "Yellow Peril." With a Pan American League of Nations in existence, supposedly economic, but whose real purpose may be different, and the European League, it is possible that the battle of Armageddon may be coming. At least, certain people claim that the Pyramids of Egypt show that there will be a great war started next year, which will last eight years.

General McBrien closed his talk on the Pacific with an appeal to his hearers to study Canada and the Empire and visit the Pacific Coast. They would then, he said, become enthusiastic about the Empire.

The Future of the Air.

Turning to a matter which has engaged his attention since he left the post of Chief of Staff of the Department of National Defence, the speaker referred to the formation of the Canadian Air League and the future of aviation. He had been agreeably surprised, he said, to learn that Peterborough has citizens progressive enough to have an airdrome. He could not say what the government will do, but thinks that cities having such facilities will be the first to get airmail service. The provision of such facilities will likely have to be made by private or municipal enterprise, as the government could hardly bear the great burden involved.

General McBrien referred to the progress made in other countries and to the interest shown in Canada when the formation of the Air League and Aero Clubs were begun. He referred to the experience of the City of Buffalo, whose airport is now too small, as showing that the traffic will come to the places having facilities, and warned that United States capitalists would likely develop the air service in Canada unless forestalled by Canadians.

The General's speech was punctuated with stories illustrative of the traits of the various races, and he concluded the program by asking the Rev. William Allan, who had made a short address on his impressions of the address, if he know how to make old Scotchmen happy. To the Minister's reply that it was hard enough to keep young Scots happy, General McBrien countered with the advice "Tell them funny stories while they're young."

Hurrie Dodds, President of the Men of St. Paul's, presided. The address was preceded by a dinner served by the ladies of the congregation, while Mrs. Hazel Davidson McClelland contributed two humorous readings and Greta LeBarr sang twice. A male quartette consisting of Messrs. Anderson, Snelgrove, C. Sedgwick, and J. Sedgwick sang two numbers.

E. F. Mason and J. W. Anderson expressed the thanks of the men to the speaker of the evening, while J. H. Sedgwick and D. H. Moore thanked the entertainers.

Martin B. Chenhall was the accompanist for the evening.

ROSE GARDEN IS BEAUTIFUL

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nadoo Still Have Some Fine Blooms.

MANY VARIETIES

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 27. — In spite of the late season and the cool weather which promotes little if any plant growth, the rose garden of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nadoo is still a wealth of the most gorgeous blossoms which the flower world has to offer. Nor are these blooms of the common "garden' variety. With very few exceptions they are hybrids imported direct from the British Isles and the continent of Europe, through the agency of Herbert Walter, Toronto. In all, there are about thirty-five varieties and upwards of two hundred blooms remain to grace the scene at this late season. It is pleasant to recline at ease on the rustic bench beneath a fruit tree and allow the gaze to wander from the bright crimson J. D. Glassford roses of such monstrous size to the trellis which supports several climbing varieties, Dorothy Perkins among them.

The Grus and Teplitz separated from the deep crimson Captain Hayward by lovely pink Killarney roses is but an introduction to more beauty as the eye skips lightly over the Gladioli to the tall pink Los Angeles blooms and the deep crimson Padre blushing beside the lemon yellow Claudia Pernet. The British Queen, a large, pure white bloom which flowers only twice a year, is a rare specimen and stands proudly between the Mrs. Araan Ward, which resembles the Ophelia rose, and the crimson Courtney Page. The soft white Etta Edell, the Juliette which is of a golden hue shading to a rich carmine, the Frau Druskie, pure white, all stand guard behind the Baron de bon Stetten, a beautiful crimson flower which shades to jet black. In a little polt by themselves are the yellow blooms of the Mrs. Charles Lampleough and the velvety crimson of the rose known as Kitchener of Kartum, and American Beauties. Perhaps the most curious specimen is a single bush which bears four distinct varieties of rose. The bush was supposed to be an Edith Cavell, but through successful experiment, Mrs. Nadoo has grafted the other three varieties on to it.

The Indian Yellow rose, with its bronze shade, the Sunstar, whose beauty is found when it is unfolding to its star shape at full bloom, and the Madame Leon Payne almost complete the list of the rarer varieties that are yet in bloom.

But the garden plot is not merely a rose garden, though their cultivation is certainly the central idea of the owner. Tuber Begonias, Foliage plants, Snap Dragon, Phlox, Baby's Breath, Asters Zelias, Nasturtiums, several shades of Rose Peonies and a multitude of potted plants all combine to make a complete collection and bower of beauty.

In a few days the garden will be prepared for the winter cold. It is Mrs. Nadoo's practice to have the bushes banked with earth to a height of between six and eight inches. She uses no straw or other material so often employed for the purpose. And anyone who knows roses will agree that she has met with remarkable success in following her hobby. A visitor to the garden, impressed though he may be by the beauty of the scene, is prone to attempt to picture how much more entrancing would be the scene when the full bloom of spring lends its exchantment.

Though a fair sized fortune awaits her should she care to exploit her flowers, Mrs. Nadoo refuses to spoil her pleasude by selling what might so easily be sold. It is but a hobby, and she refuses to treat it otherwise. But she does not allow the flowers to die as they bloom. Her multitude of friends are constantly receiving priceless bouquets of these rare flowers.

Generous to almost the point of extravagance, Mrs. Nadoo derives the double pleasure of seeing the beauty of her own garden and knowing the gratitude and pleasure which its blooms bring to those with whom she shares them.

KIWANIS CONVENTION TO HEAR SPLENDID REPORT FOR YEAR

Governor W. R. Cockburn Will Tell of Work Done in District.

CHILDREN HELPED

Organization is Close to the Heart of the Community.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 27.—When a thousand Kiwanians from thirty clubs in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario gather here on October 3 and 4 for their annual District Convention, they will hear reports from Governor W. R. Cockburn and his officers of the most successful year in the history of the organization in Canada. Among the outstanding activities is the handing over of $5,000 to the Provincial Treasurer of Ontario for additions to the Boys' School at Bowmanville, the formal presentation of the extension to be made by Governor Cockburn to the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, representing the people of the Province, next Saturday.

Kiwanis is very close to the heart of every community in which it exists, the reports to be presented show. Fifteen thousand needy children have been aided by eastern Canada clubs in the past year, the work ranging from picnics in the country to long months of hospital treatment needed to restore some under-privileged or deformed child. Educational facilities have been provided for many deserving boys and girls, eye-glasses have been supplied; thousands of quarts of milk have been distributed; public nursing and health associations have been generously supported; and, in all, seventy or more different ways were taken to make lighter the burdens of those to whose service Kiwanis is dedicated.

Past International President Ralph A. Amerman and International Secretary Fred C. W. Parker are announced as the speakers on Kiwanis topics, while Rev. Tom Roy, of Brocton, Mass., will deliver an inspirational address. The program includes a formal dinner, followed by the Governor's Ball, on the first night, and on Tuesday a banquet at which the Governor-elect will preside. Entertainment is arranged by the host club, under President Dr. Percy C. Banghart.

BORIS WOULD WED ITALIAN PRINESS

Religion May Be Bar To Giovanna Marrying Bulgarian.

FLORENCE, Sept. 27.—Czar Boris of Bulgaria has managed to stay here eight days without being recognized.

It has been rumored that Boris, whose Royal bachelorhood has made him particularly the subject of matrimonial gossip, intends to ask for the hand of Princess Giovanna, daughter of the Italian Sovereigns. It is doubtful that the marriage could be arranged because Boris' queen will have to become orthodox, and it is not likely an Italian princess would be encouraged to renounce Catholicism.

For years Boris has mourned the Grand Duchess Anastasia, murdered daughter of the Russian Czar. But his subjects have so often urged him to seek a wife that it is said he has been obliged to lay aside personal feelings.

GUESTS INSPECT NEW BUILDING

George Street Sunday School Opening Ceremonies Continue.

CONCERT AND TEA.

Members of George Street United Church made a memorable occasion yesterday of the official opening and inspection of their splendid new Memorial Sunday School building. The total in attendance for the supper served by the ladies of the church, with Mrs. George Robertson as general convenor, was nearly eight hundred. The arrangements were carried out with careful attention to every detail, the menu was all that could be desired and the decorations of the hall and tables, with a profusion of flowers, made a cheerful and decorative setting for the meal, which was followed by a very enjoyable evening of music, with brief addresses by those interested in the building of the new hall.

Directly after supper concluded, Rev J. E. and Mrs. Todd, with Rev. A. J. and Mrs. Thomas, the latter a pastor of George Street Church in recent years, received the congregation in the Board room, while the building was inspected by the supper guests. During this interval, music was played by the Misses Addie Batten and Alda Bartlett, in piano selections, and Arnold Spencer, playing the violin, with accompaniment by Miss Gwen Donley.

Later, an excellent programme given in the auditorium included brief addresses by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Todd, by Rev. D. Wren, pastor of Trinity Church, by Rev. A. J. Thomas M. A., B. D., by Mr. B. F. Ackerman, chairman of the Building Committee, by Mr. G. Robertson, superintendent of the Sunday School and by Dr. J. E. Middleton, who gave a few statistics with regard to the building of the new addition. Vocal solo numbers were rendered by Mrs. G. F. Liddle, Miss Daisy Murray and Mr. Wilson, with a mixed vocal quartette in Mrs. Little, Miss Murray, Mr. W. H. Cunningham and Mr. A. Lillow. The Sunday School orchestra also played some well-received selections.

Rev. Mr. Todd read a letter of regret at his inability to be present, received from Rev. J. W. Gordon of St. Andrew's Church, at present absent from the city.

CAT CLUB FORMED BY LOCAL OWNERS

Enthusiasm Shown at Meeting of Cat Lovers Held Last Night.

Not feeling quite satisfied with the result of the first attempt to organize a Cat Club, the promoters tried again, and last night there was quite an enthusiastic gathering at the Chamber of Commerce, called together by phone. The club was formed, and the following officers elected:

President—W. S. Merrell.

1st Vice-President—D. C. Grant.

Secretary-Treasurer — Mrs. J. S. Chandler.

The affiliation with the Cat Fanciers' Association and fee required, was wired to the secretary and further telephone arrangements made to-day, so that the Peterboro Cat Club is now an established fact, and the cat show at the "Made-in-Canada" Exhibition October 11 and 12, the Tuesday and Wednesday of the great week, is bound to be one of the big attractions.

The premium list is already being prepared, and any owner of a good cat will receive a copy by telephoning their name and address to the secretary.

Now then! everybody that has a cat they are proud of, get a prize-list, make your entry, join the club and help make Peterboro's first cat show a rousing success. Peterboro is making good in every other way, our Jubilee celebration, our Industrial Exhibition, our Dog Show, and it's up to the cat lovers to give us a real Cat Show.

Another meeting will be held at 5.15 Friday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce, when further arrangements will be made, and would earnestly request any others who are interested in this new association to be present.

A committee was formed, composed of Miss Garside, Miss Spofford and Miss Martin, for the purpose of soliciting prizes from anyone who would like to help the newly organized association along and incidentally help underprivileged child work.

BASRA, Irak, Sept. 27 (Canadian Press).—Anxiety is increasing here over the fate of Lieut. Otto Koennecke, German aviator, and his two companions who were due to arrive here on Saturday night from Angora, Turkey. Inquiries for news of the fliers have been sent out in all directions.

BRITISH MAKE THREE RECORDS

Schneider Cup Winner and Train 'Royal Scot' Set Speed Marks.

DANCER'S ODD CLAIM.

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 27 (Canadian Press).—Englishmen, reading their newspapers to-day found three new world marks achieved for their country. The foremost, of course, was the Schneider Cup seaplane victory at Venice, but while Lieutenant Webster was streaking through the air over Lido to defeat the Italians, another speed record was made which has almost as much appeal to the average Briton.

This mark was made by the railway train "Royal Scot," which steamed from Carlisle to London, a distance of three hundred miles, in five hours and forty-five minutes, establishing what is claimed as a world record.

The third world record, a very odd one, was made at the London Coliseum Theatre yesterday by Mme. Vera Nemchinova, ballet dancer. Unassisted, she spun around forty times on one toe without touching the other foot to the floor, thus beating her own previous mark of 38. No other ballerina, she avers, ever accomplished more than 32 such spins.

THREE MEN DIE IN MOTOR CRASH

Automobile Turns Upside Down in Ditch After Two Collisions.

NEAR CORNWALL.

CORNWALL, Ont., September 27.—Three men were instantly killed in a motor collision just east of here early yesterday evening. They were C. M. Cabana and Oscar Branchaud, of Montreal, formerly of Cornwall, and Albert Marsalers of Cornwall.

The men were driving to Montreal at the time. On a sharp curve on the East Front Road they crashed into an east-bound car, containing a Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Asbestos Mines, Que., and then sideswiped another owned by P. E. Campbell of Cornwall, and driven by W. A. Gadbers. Their car finished its career upside down in the ditch, and all three were dead when they were taken out a few minutes later. Occupants of the other cars escaped injury.

Cabana's neck was broken; Branchaud had a fracture at the base of the skull, a broken right leg, and a badly lacerated right arm, while Marsalers was horribly cut about the head.

Branchaud leaves a wife and two children, and Marsalers a wife and three small children. Marsalers, who was about 30 years of age, was a son of the late Octave Marsalers of Cornwall, and was a veteran of the Great War. He also leaves his mother, seven brothers, and four sisters.

An inquest has been ordered. The remains were taken to Bert Jardine's undertaking parlours. This triple tragedy makes seven fatalities here in four days—two killed in railway accidents, two drownings, and three deaths by automobile collision.

MISS TOMPKINS CLUB PRESIDENT

Officers for the coming year will be: Miss S. A. Tomkins, president; Mrs. J. F. Allan, first vice-president; Mrs. F. D. Kerr, second vice-president; Mrs. G. S. Cameron, third vice-president; Miss M. Moir, corresponding secretary; Mrs. D. Drummond, recording secretary; Miss N. Davidson, treasurer. Executive: Mrs. R. Harstone, Miss A. Lancaster, Mrs. H. A. Morrow, Mrs. R. C. Blagrave, Mrs. F. M. Somerville, Miss M. Denne, Miss A. Howson, Miss M. Hatton.

The nominating committee for next year will consist of the following members: Mrs. A. E. Sherwood, Mrs. J. C. Smith and Miss Belcher. The representative of the Club to the Local Council of Women will be Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner.

A vote of thanks was passed to the nominating committee.

The newly-elected president, Miss Tomkins, in a brief, aptly worded speech, thanked the ladies for the honor conferred upon her and asked for their co-operation during the coming season.

General MacBrien.

Major-General MacBrien was then introduced and gave an illuminating, concisely worded address on "The Great Pacific Question," speaking in the fashion that listeners to men of military stamp have come to associate with their utterances, an attractive, clear-cut, straight from the shoulder manner of address that sells itself immediately to any audience. As General MacBrien spoke on the same subject later at St. Paul's Church, and his address there has been fully covered in other columns of this edition, it is necessary only to summarize his discourse, which dealt with the outstanding, salient features of the question of the Far East and its relationship to the British Empire, with Canada as an especial concern of residents of the Dominion, also its relationship to the United States and European lands.

Quoting statistics of population and growth, the speaker showed just how the United States had consolidated a very strong position in the Pacific, as well as Great Britain, and referred briefly to the present efforts of the Russian Government to undermine British influence in the Far East and set Oriental lands at loggerheads for its own purposes.

FIREMEN CEMENT YARD BEHIND HALL

Time Between Fires Used in Constructive Effort.

Anyone going through the hall might think it practically deserted until his attention was attracted to a faint chugging from the rear of the premises. Upon investigation he would find the squad getting "lots of fun" out of a miniature cement mixer operated by a small gas engine. But work is in progress. At the back and along the north side the land is being levelled off and a court is being cemented. Few seem to be in on the whole secret of what is being done and only conjectures can be hazarded on what metamorphosis will finaly be wrought on the premises.

Read this grateful letter:

"I write to thank you on behalf of my wife. Radox Bath Salts has ended her corns. The Chiropodist said one on the small toe was on the nerve. It cost $20 in various treatments, beside the pain of probing and acids, etc., but a package of Radox removed the corns painlessly.—E.P."

When you dip your feet into a footbath containing Radox Bath Salts, the dead skin of the corn combines with the Radox Salts to form a protein salt of the actual corn itself. This protein salt dissolves in the water, and so softens the corn that after a few baths it may be lifted out bodily. Radox does not affect the living skin, but dissolves the corn.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

During minutes that seemed like eternities Faith's ears strained for sounds that would tell her what her husband was doing. She was fully aware by this time of the unworthy motive which had driven her to desert the room she shared with him. She knew, flushing with shame, that it had been an instinctive gesture, made with the sole purpose of forcing him to come to her, to beg her forgiveness. Had she been so childish also as to wish to frighten him with the sight of that empty bed of hers? She groaned, throwing an arm over her eyes, but her ears were still straining for news of him. She heard him moving about in the bathroom, caught the faint sounds of the vigorous brushing of his teeth. He had already been in the bedroom then, knew that she was not there—

She wanted to spring out of this strange bed, tear open the bathroom door and fling herself into his arms, sobbing out a plea of forgiveness. But something held her back—pride, or stubbornness or fear that she would be repulsed. She heard him, a little later, moving through the silent house; once she was sure he had called her impatiently. She could picture him switching on lights in the living room, expecting to see her curled up, weeping, in a corner of the big couch. What was that terrible thing he had said to her—"I never in my life saw a woman who could cry as much as you can!" She had half risen, to go to him, but at the remembrance of his cruel words—which she feared she had only too well deserved—she sank back upon her pillows again.

Very faintly from the kitchen came the sound of the slamming of the ice box door. He could eat, then! Not knowing where she was, what agony she was going through, he could cheerfully rummage for cold roast, chocolate meringue pie and rolls, as if the end of the world, so far as their love was concerned, had not come. Anger poured over her in hot waves, drying the tears to which he had so harshly objected. And because her love for him was such a terrible thing, the hate that she felt then was equally violent. She had a sudden, suffocating desire to hurt him physically, to break up the ice in his cold eyes—eyes that had once been so warmly brilliant with love for her. Oh, why hadn't she let George Pruitt kiss her, as he had so evidently ached to do? That would have punished Bob, even if he had never known of it. But of course she would have told him, to make sure of his punishment!

She was still glowing with anger and the tortured hate which is the natural revulsion of love when, at last, there came a low knock on the door of the room in which she lay. She did not answer, but hunched lower in bed, pulling the covers up about her face, turning on her side as if she were asleep. When the knock was repeated and still she did not answer she heard the soft turning of the knob, then the click of the light switch beside the door. She was glad then that she had turned aside, feigning sleep.

"Faith!" There was relief in his voice, but no warmth; annoyance, rather, "Are you asleep?"

She turned, opened her eyes and yawned, wondering as she did so at her ability to play a part so well.

"What is it? I was asleep," she made her voice come thickly, drowsily.

"Oh! Sorry! Good night!"

The light clicked off, the door closed after him. He was gone; he had made no effort to affect a reconciliation. Again she started to spring from the bed, to go to him, humbly, imploringly, explanations tumbling off her frantic tongue. But a thought jerked her body flat again: what if—oh, dear God!—what if he was glad that she had completed their estrangement by leaving their room? If he did not love her any longer, wouldn't he be glad, relieved?

Although he hated tears, she cried for hours until sleep came at last.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SAND PUDDING

(Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Once upon a time, when he was hopping through the woods, not far from the little brook that bubbled over green, mossy stones, Uncle Wiggily saw a flat stump. Now of course the rabbit gentleman often saw flat stumps, or stumps with flat tops, but he had never seen one just like this.

For it was covered with some pieces of white, birch bark that looked just like a fairy tablecloth, and on this bark cloth were set clam shell dishes, some filled with bright colored pebbles, some with green leaves and in one large shell was something brown.

himself as he hopped closer to the table stump, "and if there is one thing more than another that I am fond of, it is chocolate pudding. I am going to have a very jolly time, I can see that right now."

The more the rabbit gentleman looked at the stump table the more his pink nose twinkled. He hopped still nearer and said:

"Some good fairies must have set this little table here in the woods for me. Of course I can't eat the colored stones, and I have had enough green leaf food, but that chocolate pudding! Ah!"

Mr. Longears reached over and was about to help himself to the brown stuff in the large clam shell when, all of a sudden, there was a loud rustling in the bushes and two voices cried:

"Don't take that!"

"Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily, before he knew who had spoken. And then he turned in time to see his two little rabbit girls, Jingle and Jangle hopping toward him.

"Why shouldn't I take some of this chocolate pudding that the fairies set on the stump table for me?" asked Uncle Wiggily of Jingle and Jangle. "There is enough for you, also."

"Oh, Daddicums!" laughed Jingle. "No fairies set this table at all!"

"Didn't they?" asked the bunny gentleman in surprise.

"No," said Jangle. "We set this little stump table to make a play party for our dolls," and she held up her little make believe baby while her sister did the same.

"And that isn't chocolate pudding, either," went on Jingle pointing to the brown stuff in the large clam shell.

"What is it?" asked Mr. Longears.

"It is sand pudding," his little rabbit girl said. "You see we wanted to make our dolls' table look as if it had lots to eat on it, so we took some sand and mixed it up with water and put it in the shell and it looks pretty, doesn't it."

"Indeed it does," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "Just like chocolate."

"Well," said Jangle with a laugh, "if you had eaten any of that pudding you would have found your mouth and teeth filled with gritty sand.

"Oh, my dear! Don't talk of it!" begged her father, twinkling his pink nose backward. "I can't bear it!"

"But of course our dolls only pretend to eat it so it's all right you see," added Jingle.

She and her sister and Uncle Wiggily were laughing and listening to the tinkling brook, when, all of a sudden a voice growled:

"Everything is all right with me, too, for now I see my dinner!" And with that the Bushy Bear popped out and started toward Uncle Wiggily. But right in front of the Bear was the stump table. To bet at the rabbit the bad chap has to pass the stump, and when he looked at it he growled:

"Ah! Chocolate pudding! If there is one thing more than another that I am fond of, it is chocolate pudding. I'll eat this and then I'll eat a rabbit. This is my lucky day!"

He picked up the big clam shell filled with the sand pudding and popped it into his mouth, chewing hard. But the next moment such a funny look came over the face of that Bear.

"Oh, Scowzie!" he roared. "What have I eaten? My mouth, teeth and tongue are all sand. Pah! Bah! Wuff!" And away he ran to the brook to wash the queer pudding out of his throat.

"I guess we had better go some where else to have your dolls' party," whispered Uncle Wiggily to Jingle and Jangle so they hopped away before the Bear had finished washing the sand out of his mouth.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

More yards of material than you would imagine are needed to make this printed chiffon frock with a full gathered skirt.

I heard the other day of a dress just made by one of the smart French dressmakers that contained twelve yards of material—it is even rumored that another is to contain twenty yards! Strange news that, to modern ears. Of one thing you may be sure—that where much material is used it is material of the lightest sort. There must be nothing bulky or massive about the finished frock.

From the present point of view such frocks may be considered voluminous. But, of course, they really are not, when we recall that in 1859 no less than 1,100 yards of tulle were used in the making of a single dress!

Much as you may like the scant, short frocks that have been in fashion for the past few years you must be prepared for a gradual swinging of the fashion pendulum in the other direction. For the present there has really been only a slight lengthening of skirts, save for the occasional period frock for evening or afternoon. With most of the dressmakers there has been only an inch of lengthening to the skirts of most frocks—but this is a most significant inch!

Occasionally wedding frocks are very long. When the Hon. Ursula Mary Lawley, for several years maid of honor to the Queen of England, was married a few weeks ago, she wore a gown of gold and velvet brocade that actually reached below the ankles.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1927

Astrologers read this as a fortunate day. Benefic aspects rule mildly in the early hours, becoming definitely helpful later.

For agriculture there is a promising sign that indicates better profits from the soil.

While there will be speculation in grain, the farmer will benefit, it is forecast.

Counsel of older men is likely to be sought, while this configuration prevails. Political sages will command attention.

Bankers and financiers should profit at this time when they will be called upon to assume big responsibilities.

Astrologers warn that there will be many crooked schemes launched and despite exposures of fraudulent methods many investors will suffer.

Advice from men of large affairs and high standing in the world of finance should be sought constantly at this time.

Writers are subject to the most stimulating planetary influences today and they should profit in the coming months.

This is a most auspicious day for newspapers and favorable for the signing of big advertising contracts.

Personal publicity is well directed today, but the stars presage an avalanche of it for the next twelve months.

Both politicians and threatrical stars will seek the limelight and unusually large numbers of persons will compete for notice in the public press, it is foretold.

Fame for a new writer is indicated, for there is to be a voice crying in the wilderness of printer's ink and compelling serious thought.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a profitable year in which they should make real progress.

Children born on this day have the possibilities of success along practical lines of work.

Statistics prove that while, on an average, women are now marrying at an earlier age than formerly, the age of the bridegrooms is proportionately older.

POROUS PLASTERS RUIN HIS BUSINESS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (By NEA Service).—Frederick Knauff is, or was, a tattooed man in a circus. He still would be following his easy and lucrative profession if he had not caught cold.

William Glauber was Frederick's best friend. He still would be if he hadn't hadn't put porous plasters on Frederick's chest, back and abdomen when he caught cold. When he pulled off the plasters, the skin came with them; and with the skin came tatooed pictures of bathing girls, ships, anchors, Uncle Sam, landscapes and portraits.

Frederick, howling with pain, shouted that his business had been ruined and socked William in the eye. Pried apart, they were taken to police court and fined.

Promoter Announces Plans For Next Tourney

RICKARD PLANS ELIMINATIONS FOR NEXT BOUT

Sharkey and Uzcudum Among Leading Contenders, He Says.

ALL COUNTRIES IN

Phil Scott, British Heavyweight Champion, Will Participate in Tourney.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (U.P.).—Tex Rickard, fight promoter, arrived in New York yesterday, after staging the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago, and announced his plans for the next "battle of the century."

Rickard said plans were under way for a new heavyweight elimination tournament to find the best man to meet Gene Tunney in a title bout next September. The tournament will be an international affair, he said, and every country in which boxing is a popular sport will be represented.

Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, will sail from England to participate in the elimination tourney, he said.

Campolo, an Argentine, will take part, Rickard said.

Tom Heeney will meet Jimmy Maloney at the Garden, Friday. He will represent Australia.

Jack Sharkey of Boston, and Paulino Uscudun, the Basque, will be the other leading contenders, the promoter said.

Rickard has not definitely decided where the championship bout will take place, but mentioned New York, Chicago or "another western city." He said he had not abandoned entirely the idea of staging the big battle in England.

When questioned about Georoge Godfrey, the new "black menace," Rickard said he had not definitely decided whether he would include the colored boxer or not.

Financial Triumph

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (Canadian Press). — Now that Tex Rickard's dream of the first $3,000,000 fight gate in ring history has faded in the light of financial returns from the Chicago battlefront, the promoter is considering a new record attempt with the third match of the Tunney-Dempsey series.

"Very tired," but happy that the champion's successful title defence in Soldiers' Field was the greatest of his own financial triumphs to date, Rickard arrived in New York yesterday with his promotorial teammate, George F. Getz, nominal head of the fistic extravaganza on the shore of Lake Michigan last Thursday night. Getz will sail for Africa today to hunt big game.

"Dempsey is still the greatest drawing card in the ring,' Rickard said, "and is far from 'through' if he wishes to continue fighting. I haven't heard a word from Jack directly on the subject, but I certainly would match Tunney and Dempsey again if the former champion is willing to fight his way through the winter or spring campaign to prove his fitness above all other contenders."

Rickard announced the Madison Square Garden profit on the big match as "roughly $500,000." The gate of $2,658,660 was whittled to that figure of profit by payment of $1,425,000 to the principal combatants, $470,000 in taxes, and $250,000 for rent of the stadium and general expenses, he said.

Financial gymnastics with the meagre figures disclosed by the promoter yesterday brought to light the possibility that the gate totalled much less than the figures announced and that Rickard's estimated attendance of 140,000 was rather optimistic.

The governmental taxes amounting to $470,000 comprised twenty per cent of the gate. Based on that figure, the total paid attendance would have been but $2,350,000. The total seat sale at four of the seven listed prices—$40, $30, $10, and $5—amounted to 86,330, leaving the customers in the $15, $20 and $25 seats to boost the attendance to original estimates of 140,000.

Ringside admissions amounted to 40,623, Rickard said, while only 16,896 cash customers squinted at the fight from the distant $5 section; 12,300 from the $10 seats, and 26,511 from the comparatively choice $30 benches. Approximately 29,000 ringside seats, at $25 top, were sold at Philadelphia.

In pointing out that the sale of $40 seats nearly totalled that of the $30, $10 and $5 pasteboards combined, Rickard declared that wholesale broadcasting of the fight by radio had hindered the disposal of the cheaper tickets. Although the promoter would make no definite statement he indicated that in future "battles of the centuries," an attempt would be made to derive some financial return from radio listeners or else eliminate broadcasting of the fight particulars entirely.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press).—Washington won a doubleheader at Boston yesterday, 4-2 and 11 to 1. Lisenbee held the Sox to 6 hits in the first game and his single in the sixth drove in two runs. Boston made a triple play in this game. Boston made ten errors in the second game behind John Wilson, young pitcher recently recalled from the Waterbury club of the Eastern League. Five of the errors were made in the first inning when the Senators scored four runs.

Billings, collegiate rookie pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, held Cleveland to three hits and won his game, 2 to 1. One of the hits was a home run by Myatt thus saving the home team from a shutout. Miller was effective in the pinches.

STERN BATTLE

WESTBURY, N.Y., Sept. 27 (A.P.).—The British army-in-India four, unsuccessful challengers for the International Cup, went down to defeat before the Sands Point team, 11 goals to 7, yesterday in the final match for the American open polo championship.

After a stern battle through the opening periods, the British team play was disrupted in the third chukker, when Capt. Richard George was caught in his pony's tail and suffered a broken collar bone. Lieut. Col. George de La Poer Beresford replaced the British leader in the lineup, but the invaders could not regain their strides. Riding hard behind the leadership of Tommy Hitchcock, star of the American Cup defence four, the Sands Point quartet hammered out 10 goals in the final five chukkers.

W. H. Harriman at No. 1 for Sands Point led the scorers with four goals. Hitchcock and Crowdin, the latter an international substitute each scored three times. L. E. P. Guinness tallied three goals for Army-in-India.

PIRATES GAIN ANOTHER NOTCH IN LEAGUE RACE

Defeat Cubs 1-0 in Six Innings —Called on Account of Rain.

SCORE IN SECOND

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press).—Pittsburgh gained another notch in the National League pennant race yesterday by shutting out the Cubs at Chicago 1 to 0, in a game cut short after the sixth inning because of rain. The Pirates scored the only run of the game in the second inning. Wright led off with a single to left and after Traynor popped out, Grant Hamsin singled to centre. Harris singled over second, sending Wright home. The Cubs' only scoring chance came in the fifth when Stephenson and Wilson led off with singles. Stephenson was nailed at the plate when he attempted to score on Hartnett's fly to Barnhart. There was a slight drizzle when the game began and only 5,000 fans were in the stands.

Orsatti's double with two out followed by Toporcer's and Schultze's singles gave the world champion Cardinals a victory over the Reds at Cincinnati in 13 innings. The score was 3 to 1.

Luque's resistance fell away in the 13th after a series of airtight innings. Following Orsatti's score Maranville beat out a bunt to fill the bases and Toporcer scored the third run when Ford booted Haine's grounder.

The Reds rallied in their half of the 13th to place two men on base, but neither of them were able to score.

Scored On Error.

Schuble, Cardinal shortstop, gave the Reds their only run in the second inning when he threw the ball into the grandstand trying to catch a runner at first base. The Cards protested vigorously but the umpires stood pat, allowing the run.

Luque had held the Cardinals to seven scattered hits up to the 13th inning, while the Reds had taken 12 from Haines. The Cardinals gathered four hits in the 13th.

The lowly tail-end Phillies, practicaly ruined the New York Giants' pennant chances yesterday by beating them, 9 to 3, whacking out 17 hits against three opposing pitchers at Philadelphia. As the Pirates won from the Cubs, New York was relegated to three and one half games from first place.

Grimes was pounded out of the box during a four run attack by the Phillies in the third, and his successor, Plitt, was banged for three more in the fifth. Lefty Faulkner finished for the Giants after Plitt was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

Says Protest Nothing But Propaganda

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press).—John O. Ringheimer, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, last night declared the moves of Leo P. Flynn, manager of Jack Dempsey, in protesting the victory of Gene Tunney were "nothing more than propaganda to keep another Dempsey-Tunney fight alive."

As to Dempsey's letter formally asking the commission to reverse Referee Barry's decision and declare Tunney knocked out in the seventh round, Chairman Ringheimer said that soo far as the commission was concerned, it was a closed incident.

Dempsey's telegram informing the commission that he intended to appeal was received today. The letter is expected tomorrow.

"All Dempsey and Flynn are doing is making it disagreeable for a lot of people," Chairman Ringheimer said. "It is all a part of what the newspapers call a ballyhoo for another fight."

A FINE TRIBUTE

Oshawa Sportsman Says They Upheld Best Traditions of Sport.

Gordon Matthews, President of the Peterborough Ball Club, has received the following letter from Fred. Bailes, well-known Oshawa sportsman:

Oshawa, Ont., Sept. 24, 1927.

Dear Sir,—

Kindly extend to the officers and players of the Peterborough Baseball Club the hearty congratulations of the Oshawa fans on their victory today in Toronto.

I had the pleasure of seeing today's game, and also the one of a week ago, and enjoyed both games immensely.

Today's game was particularly enjoyable. (Ray Rose may not say so, but you tell Ray that he got all the bad stuff off his system today, and I'm picking him to star in the final.) One of our crowd voiced the unanimous opinion of all of us, namely, that it was the most interesting game of ball we had ever seen—and we have seen a few.

I want to congratulate personally all the boys on your team. They were gentlemen all the while, and upheld in the best possible manner the traditions of one of the best sports in the world.

Heckman showed wonderful self-possession under fire, and "Swannie" was just himself—as usual, there with the smile and the punch. "Hap" wouldn't come across with a home run, which I asked him for several times. You might ask him whyinell he bats all his round trips against Oshawa. "Ray" was rather unlucky, except at bat, but his batting punched in quite a number of runs, and he atoned to a great extent for his bad luck in the field.

"Tommy" played his usual good game and made some very nice "pegs" to first.

Your outfield—the Hall boys and Ash looked pretty. "Jimmy" was spectacular on one occasion, and Ash also. Their batting was dandy, too.

Now I left "Shiner" till the last. I'll say the old boy was there all the time, and his one-handed catch in the 9th inning was a "pippin." I once caught a fairly big lunge with a silk line and steel rod, and had a long and hard battle before I finally landed him. I remarked afterward that if I never caught another fish I could die happy. And so I think if "Shiner" never catches another ball, he can be content with the fact that he added the final touch to the honors gathered by the Peterborough Baseball Club in today's game.

Now you're going into the finals. May we wish you the best of luck, and I am sure that every fan in Oshawa will be pulling for Peterborough to win the Ontario championship.

We were glad to see you beat Toronto. We know some good sports in Toronto, but unfortunately not many connected with baseball. Peterborough, from the writer's personal knowledge, have real sportsmen in all sports, and I have had many pleasant hours among them.

I am sure that you are proud of your baseball team—and you should be—for they are gentlemen and good sports. They are good losers and good winners, and we will be much pleased if they are successful in the final games.

Sincerely yours,
F. J. BAILES.

POTATO CROP POOR

PONTYPOOL, September 27. — W. L. Rayfield, V.C., while unloading a load of grain in his barn, had the misfortune to fall off his waggon, fracturing his arm at the elbow. He now has his arm in a plaster of paris cast and will not be able to use the member for several weeks.

BRITISH TRADE SHOWS INCREASE

TRADE INFORMATION

Imports into the United Kingdom for the first six months of 1927, writes Trade Commissioner Harrison Watson of London, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal, were valued at £617,366,861 against £602,656,024 in the corresponding period of 1926; exports at £342,341,111 against £338,214,247, and re-exports at £66,220,371 against £66,598,983. A noticeable feature under the heading of imports is an increase of £8,342,051, in the value of iron and steel manufactures. With regard to exports, the position would be much less satisfactory were it not for the partial recovery in the export trade of coal, which is valued at £24,798,383 or £7,569,177 more than the first six months of 1926.

Imports from Canada were disappointing in certain commodities. In the case of wheat, however, the real results are probably more satisfactory than is shown (£9,195,115 against £11,258,952), because a considerable proportion of Canadian-grown wheat goes through American ports. Canada still retains the first position as a shipper of flour to Great Britain—£2,306,000 for the first six months out of a total of £4,530,948. In the bacon import trade, Denmark seems to be securing an ever-increasing hold on this market.

Canadian imports were cut in half (£1,134,740 against £2,732,588). A particularly unfavourable item is the drastic decrease in the imports of Canadian live cattle (£211,085 against £1,268,726). Receipts of Canadian cheese were small (£551,978 against £896,141), and transactions almost ceased in butter and eggs. Imports of Canadian non-agricultural products have been well maintained and exhibit considerable expansion in some important items; salmon from £201,384 to £295,366; asbestos from £67,366 to £89,333; printing and writing paper from £63,015 to £183,422; and copper ore from £584,480 to £721,319.

Hay Crop in England.

The outlook for the hay crop is very uncertain, writes Trade Commissioner Harrison Watson, London. Unfavourable weather, combined with a late start, is expected to result in a yield of hay of about 5 cwt. per acre below the average. Everything points to the need of imported hay at present. Canadian exporters, however, are warned that no hay should be shipped except under definite instructions from reliable importers.

Trade with East Indies.

In the Netherlands East Indies during 1926, both import and export trade were steady, writes Trade Commissioner R. S. O'Meara, Batavia, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Competition was so keen, however, on imported goods, that only the barest margin of profit resulted. The Netherlands East Indies for the year showed a gain over the preceding twelve months, contributed to mainly by the outer possessions.

The high prices for rubber in 1925 were reflected in 1926 by an increased native buying power. Coffee and sugar production showed a decrease compared with 1925, but tea and rubber production are expected to exceed the figures for that year. Imports for the year ending March 31, 1927, amounted to $3,651,511 against $3,881,957 for the fiscal year 1926. The most important items to show increases from Canada are rubber and manufactures of ($876,288 against $664,482); fish, canned ($61,385 against $36,406); aluminium and manufactures of ($49,094 against $3,984); soda and compounds ($37,632 against $16,170). Canada is making good progress in the exports of such commodities as meats, milk powder, soft goods and calcium carbide.

The Straits Settlements.

In the Straits Settlements total exports show a falling off ($2,460,430 against $3,568,498), writes Trade Commissioner R. S. O'Meara, Batavia, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Automobiles account for most of the decrease ($1,187,932 against $2,499,022). In general, however, the position is satisfactory, with Canadian exports showing an increase in a number of main headings. The most important of these are rubber boots and shoes, with exports of $29,117 against $3,868; shooks $26,934 (no exports in the previous year) and rubber tires $651,391 against $517,538.

Dutch Import from Canada.

For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1927, the Netherlands was Canada's fifth best customer, writes Trade Commissioner A. B. Muddiman, Rotterdam, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. The exports from Canada show an increase of nearly three million dollars over the previous year (and were double those of 1925).

The bulk of the so-called Dutch imports from Canada landed at Rotterdam, however, go up the Rhine to Germany and Switzerland. Some 65 per cent of the Canadian grain imported (valued at $19,601,233 in 1927) is re-exported and the largest part goes up the river. About 70 per cent of the Canadian wheat, 40 per cent of the barley, 50 per cent of the oats and 30 per cent of the rye, also go up the Rhine. The whole imports of Canadian asbestos are re-exported to the Rhine, with a part to Switzerland.

Market in Chile.

There is a good demand in Chile for binder twine, all of which is imported, writes Trade Commissioner E. L. McColl, Buenos Aires, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. At present Dutch and United States manufacturers divide the business, and the former have been obtaining this trade in competition with many other foreign firms at £54 c.i.f. per ton of 2,240 pounds. Canadian twine is quoted from time to time through New York houses, but with little success from this source.

Exports from Canada to Chile for the fiscal year 1925 were valued at $17,220 and in 1926 at $5,500. No exports appear to have been made during the last fiscal year. Representation should be by means of an exclusive agency. Experience has shown this to be the only sure method of securing the maximum of business, if the product is competitive in price and quality. Owing to the high customs duties in sisal twine—about 80 per cent of the c.i.f. value—and the long term credits given, few importers handle it. Sales are made in Chile from June to September for shipment during July to October.

Czechoslovakia as a market.

In considering opportunities for trade with Cechoslovakia it must be remembered it is an inland country and one of the most self-supporting countries of Europe, writes Trade Commissioner L. D. Wilgress, Hamburg, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. The recently concluded Canadian-Czechoslovakian Trade Agreement, however, ought to now make it possible for Canadian exporters to secure a foothold in this market.

The import trade of Czechoslovakia is chiefly comprised of raw materials for manufacturing industries and such foods as coffee, tea and edible fats, while principal exports are sugar, textiles, glassware, lumber, earthenware, paper, iron products and coal. The agricultural production of Czechoslovakia is more than sufficient for domestic requirements. There is normally a large surplus available for export of barley, oats, potatoes, hops, and also sugar, beer and alcohol.

OLD TIME DRIVER AGAIN AT THROTTLE

When "The Confederation," the largest locomotive, not only in Canada, but in the British Empire, left the Canadian National Railways terminal at Toronto, to take part in the "Pageant of the Iron Horse," at Baltimore, Maryland, John Ryburn McIntyre, a pensioned engineer, who commenced his railway career 62 years ago, emerged from his retirement to take the throttle of "The Trevithick," the oldest wood burner in the Dominion, which was also brought from honorable retirement for the event. Together the two "pensioners" escorted "The Confederation" out of the yards to take the rails for its trip to the big pageant which is intended to depict the evolution of rail transportation.

"The first locomotives I fired weighed 22½ tons," Mr. McIntyre remarked, as he looked over the old timer and compared it with the modern Canadian product, "and when I retired on pension the Grand Trunk system was putting in service locomotives weighing 227½ tons." By comparison, "The Confederation" type weighs 329 tons. Again, Mr. McIntyre noted that when he commenced his railroad career some of the freight cars had a capacity of eight tons. To-day many of the cars in service have a capacity of 40 tons.

Mr. McIntyre was born in Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, Scotland, in 1852. The family, like many other Scottish families, was attracted to Canada to share in the railway building of that period, and in December, 1863, at the age of 13 years, Mr. McIntyre began service with the Grand Trunk as a cleaner at Sarnia, continuing, except for a short interval, until he retired at the age of 65 years. Mr. McIntyre became fireman and then driver and saw some service with the militia during the second Fenian Raid.—Canadian National Railways Photographs.

MOUNTIE'S RECORD BEAT

Sergt. A. H. Joy of the Mounties has just returned to Ottawa from a 1,300-mile patrol from Bache Peninsula to King Christian Island in the Arctic Circle. The mountie's trip is an epic of privation and determination, for he fought against snowstorms, snow blindness, fogs, starvation and darkness which lasted for months. He found records left by MacMillan in 1916. The map above illustrates the course of his long patrol with the little place he called home before the trek and where he lived with one R. C. M. P. constable and three Eskimo families.

TRAIL RIDERS HOLD POW-WOW IN ROCKIES

Through mountain paths unseen by train, the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies held their annual pow-wow recently. It lasted for six days, and the objective was Mount Assiniboine. From Banff the riders traversed wild mountain scenery through thick forests, over canyons and passes where no white man had trodden, pitching their tents each night until their goal was reached. Above is the objective, Mount Assiniboine, with the camp pitched in the foreground.—(C.P.R. photo).

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., Sept. 27. — Mrs. Paul Naylor, Jr., playing golf, stepped across a tiny stream and was startled when a 26-inch buffalo fish leaped into the air beside her. She swung with her wooden driver and buried it three inches in the fish's head. Then she worried for fear she had violated a law by killing fish out of season.

USE FRUITS NOW

Fresh fruits in season constitute one of the most valuable parts of our dietary. All of the common varieties are plentiful this month and consequently very reasonably priced in the markets. There is, therefore, no reason why you should not eat an abundance of fruits at this time, if you will only believe in their value and learn how to use them to get the best results. Many are afraid to use fruits, as they have had the experience of having violent digestive disturbances which they have blamed on the fruit rather than upon bad mixtures of food.

Fruits are of a much different composition than most of the other common foods. They always contain a large amount of water and, in addition, wholesome fruit acids, a small amount of protein, and valuable amounts of organic salts and vitamins. Their use stimulates the flow of digestive juices and encourages a cleansing of the whole alimentary canal. If starches are used at the same time, most people will suffer from an excessive amount of intestinal gas, due to the incompatible mixture of acids and starches.

The best way to use fruit is to use only one fruit at a time and make an entire meal of that particular fruit. No better luncheon can be found in the summertime than the choice, of all desired, of one of the following fruits: apples, apricots, peaches, pears, grapes, oranges, grapefruit, plums, cherries, pineapples, tomatoes and melons. If one is especially fond of any one of these fruits, it is all right to use that fruit day after day, but many will find it more interesting to try a different fruit each day.

Those who are inclined to be anemic, or those underweight, may think that fruit does not furnish enough food value for their needs, but the fact is that those who suffer from any of the deficiency diseases need foods of better quality and not those of high caloric value. The natural vitamins and organic minerals of fruits are easily assimilated, and a blood stream starved for these vital elements will seize upon them, while the heavier foods only cause more toxemia and biliousness.

During the wintertime one should use as many fruits as possible, but in certain sections these are not available or too expensive for common use, so advantage should be taken of the fact that the summer is the one season when the richest or the poorest can use fruits to their hearts' desire and their bodies' betterment.

Questions and Answers.

Question: Helen V. writes: "I am unable to do the exercises you recommend, that is, the one lying on the back, as my entire weight seems to rest on the end of my spine and it is very painful."

Answer: It is a good plan to place a quilt on the floor and take your exercises on that, or put a small pillow under your hips to furnish additional padding if you do not have enough of your own.

Question: Mrs. B. J. K. writes: "I missed the issue of the paper in which you explained how to prepare Salisbury steak. Will you please give it again?"

Answer: This steak is prepared by grinding through a meat grinder only the red, lean part of round steak from which all gristle and fat have been removed. This may seem similar to "Hamburger" steak, but it is really more palatable and more easily digested, and has an entirely different flavor when the fat is left out. Press the ground meat into a dry cake pan to a depth of about one inch, place in hot oven and turn fire down. Meat will look through in about five minutes. A tasty addition may be made by grinding spinach or parsley with the meat.

Question: Perplexed asks: "Is the only way to cure mouth breathing by removing the tonsils and adenoids? When I wake in the morning my teeth and tongue are coated with a hard dark substance which washes off like blood. What is the cause, and how can it be stopped?

Answer: Surgical removal of adenoids, or reducing them by dieting, are the only cures for mouth breathing, but I consider the treatment by diet to be the best and of more lasting benefit in every way. Enlarged tonsils can be reduced to their normal size by diet treatment alone, and operations are not necessary. The dark substance may be caused by bleeding from the gums. Consult your dentist.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

JUST FLY OVER

The bees are always flying over
To pay a visit to the clover,
And in the town in wintry weather
The houses stand so close together,
The big one and its little brother,
The houses seem to warm each other.

The hills run down to meet the valleys,
The streets run up to touch the alleys,
From tree to tree the birds go winging
And set the other birds to singing.
The things outdoors all have their labors
And yet they seem the best of neighbors.

The waves run up and kiss the beaches,
And for the roof the ivy reaches,
The oaktree shades the church's steeple,
I wish it were that way with people.
The sunshine smiles on all the roses,
And only folks stick up their noses.

The men downtown call Daddy "Mister,"
And people pass, and people let them,
Because we never really met them.
The bees are visiting the clover—
I wish that folks would just fly over!

SHORT STORY

HELPING JEREMY OUT OF TROUBLE

By H. Louis Raybold.

Christopher Hastings looked up from his book at his friend who stood gazing into the smouldering fire, his hands in his pockets and a droop to his usually squared shoulders.

"What's wrong, Jeremy? You look as if your favorite uncle had died and left his all to charity."

"Worse than that," groaned Jerry. "That would involve only yours truly. As it is, I'm in the deuce of a mess. I'm engaged to two girls at once."

"My boy, there couldn't be anything worse."

"Couldn't there? Just listen to me, then. I'm in love with a third. With the dearest, best-looking——"

"Aw, Jerry, there's only one such and she's going to be mine. Hadn't broken the news as yet, that's all. But you're in deep, my lad. But before I know how I can help you, you must tell me more of the people concerned. Who, if I may so designate her, is Exhibit A?"

Christopher sighed. "She's a girl I met last summer that took me seriously. We've written back and forth more or less all winter and now she's throwing out subtle hints about announcing our engagement. Her name is Martha."

"It would be," nodded Chris. "Well and Exhibit B?"

"Oh, she's a little poppin in the office." Jerry spoke with enthusiasm. Dotty Cranshaw is her name."

"Hm! Dotty! Well, now, restrain yourself and disclose, not the charms, but the name of the third Lorelei. Really, Jerry, a person so susceptible as yourself should go through life with blinders on."

There was a moment's silence. Then, "Evelyn Elizabeth Blaine," repeated Chris, as if he too liked the sound of it. Then he sprang to his feet. "I'll see what I can do for you, Jerry. By gosh, I will. But first of all, you must sit right down and write this Martha girl the facts of the case. How you realize you don't love her, and it is better to correct such a mistake before too late. Make a clean break, and a permanent one."

Three days later, Jeremy burst into his friend's room. "Haven't you thought up any way out for me yet?" he wanted to know. "I'm fairly getting sick about it. You see, Dotty expects me to take her around all the time and I don't get a chance to see Evelyn and when I'm with Dotty she's always talking about rings and bridesmaids and weddings."

"Just leave it to me," said Christopher calmly. "I'm working on a process that just fits your case."

So Jerry continued to see a great deal of Dotty and because he felt sorry for her he tried to be unusually nice to her with results that appalled him. Each time that he took her home, she lifted her lips to his and Jerry, knowing she was not the sort of girl who approved of petting, bent and kissed her contritely, knowing she regarded those kisses as altogether proper salutations between fiances.

He had written Martha according to Christopher's suggestion, but it was with fear and trembling that he opened her letter when it came.

"Dear Jerry,

I admire your honesty, but don't you think perhaps you just imagine you don't love me. Maybe, if we could see each other the feeling would return. Anyhow, I expect to be in your city next week on Thursday. Please meet the seven-fifteen.

As ever,

Martha."

He flung the letter to the floor with a groan. Thursday night was the night he was going to call on Evelyn, who so far had been decidedly standoffish.

He had long ago lost all faith in Christopher, as all he could get out of him was the statement that it took time for his process to work.

The train pulled in. Yes, there was Martha. Not alone, either. Was that her brother? But he had no time for speculation as Martha came right over to him. "Jerry, I want you to know Albert, my fiance. Albert, won't you see if you can get me the Times?" Then, hurriedly, as Albert obediently walked away, she explained to Jerry. "Albert is seeing me to my aunt's. I couldn't resist the opportunity for punishing you just a little. You see, I might have been broken-hearted. As it was—well, I had been trying to sound you out, in the hope of finding you didn't care either."

Jerry walked on air to Evelyn's home, rang the bell, and waited with bated breath. As he stepped inside, he heard a voice that sounded familiar and it wasn't Evelyn's.

The next moment he saw Christopher. "Congratulate me, my boy. Evelyn has just named our wedding day."

It was late that night when Christopher heard somebody coming up the stairs to his room and presently found Jerry looking at him reproachfully. "You're a nice sort of a friend," said Jerry. "Pretending you're helping a fellow out while really you're stealing his girl."

"Keep cool," advised Chris slowly. "As a matter of fact, Evelyn was the girl I was talking about when I said she was going to be mine. She had already promised me that much, but we weren't ready to tell the world."

"And just what process, may I ask, were you employing to help me?"

"The process of elimination, old top. Eliminate Martha and Evelyn——"

"And it leaves Dotty," finished Jerry with a grin. "And I've just put the ring on her finger that makes her mine!"

"THE PRINCE OF HEADWAITERS."

An impassive actor or actress usually has a distinct appeal for the theatre-goer. The strong man who suffers silently and who is able to give a creditable presentation of his mute anguish always gets the crowd's interest and sympathy. That is, when the anguish isn't overdone. Lewis Stone has the faculty of portraying such roles with genuine effect. As "The Prince of Headwaiters" he gives a convincing picture of such a personage. There is something peculiar about the dignity of a man who has such a servile position and yet is able to dominate the scene. The hint of snobbishness that the author strove so hard to vanquish in his main characters probably lived triumphant in his own bosom, for the wealthy and powerful have their innings to the last minute. The maker of Pierre Duroc, the New York captain of waiters in a smart night club, was unable, apparently, to bring his creation to any other conclusion than the rather sad ending which finishes the picture.

Pierre Duroc is a student of Paris and Faith Cable (Priscilla Bonner) is the girl he falls in love with there and marries. Her stern mob of a father comes from Boston and compels her to return to America with him. Later, she dies, and Pierre, without knowing that a son has been born to them, lives for twenty years companioned alone by her memory, and acting as head waiter in a New York night club. There his own son, unknown to him, comes for a Christmas revel, and becomes involved with an adventuress, played admirably by Lilyan Tashman, who, as Mae Morin, does a great deal of hard work in the gold-digging line.

Pierre, to whom the truth about his son is made known through a newspaper item, interferes in time to save the boy from a fake marriage with his blonde friend, and Beth Aldrich, the childhood sweetheart part which is played by the innocent-eyed Ann Rork, arrives in time to salvage the youngest and take him home to a safe harbor. The unknown father is left with his memories.

An extremely ludicrous comedy featuring Lupino Lane accompanies the big picture presentation, with plenty of laughs in its extraordinary situations, and there are some very good travel pictures.—Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT.

HER BEST ROLE IN "VALENCIA"

Mae Murray Surpasses Her Previous Work in This Spectacular Film.

Mae Murray triumphs once more in "Valencia."

The famous heroine of "The Merry Widow" has one of the best roles of her career in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacle now playing at the Regent Theatre. It has thrills laughs, romance galore, and gorgeous spectacle and pageantry.

But, most important, it has Mae Murray. A beautiful creature in kaleidoscopic gowns, she also reaches the heights of emotional intensity in acting, under the masterly direction of Dimitri Buchowetzki.

In fact, the combination is hard to beat, dramatically speaking. Buchowetzki's unique ability, at spectacular romance so well exemplified in his Pola Negri success, seems to fit Mae Murray as one of her exquisitely tailored gowns. And Mae's gowns are always perfection—no less.

It is a story laid in Spain in which Miss Murray plays a fiery circus gypsy of Barcelona enmeshed through a colorful set of circumstances in an intrigue with the governor that places the life of her lover in dire peril, and results in a dramatic climax as sensational as that of "Tosca."

FLY-TOX NOW USED IN NINETY SIX FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

People throughout the world have welcomed Fly-Tox to relieve the danger and torment from insects. It kills the damaging "silver fish" of the South Sea Islands; the treacherous tsetse fly that causes sleeping sickness in Africa; and the devastating bubonic flea of India. In nearly every civilized country Fly-Tox is in use, protecting mankind from the ravages of insects. Fly-Tox is safe, stainless, fragrant, sure. —Adv.

VIMY TRENCHES ARE PRESERVED WITH CONCRETE

Appear the Same as When the Canadians Fought at Vimy Ridge.

WELL LOOKED AFTER.

Winnipeg War Veteran Is In Charge of Monument and Cemeteries There.

Splendid care is being taken of the graves of the Canadian soldiers who fell in France during the Great War. This is the testimony of Dr. W. A. Young, of Toronto, who has just returned from an extensive tour of England, Scotland and France. In France Dr. Young spent much time about the Vimy Ridge district, where the French have deeded to Canada some 2,000 acres, which, at great expense, is being converted into a perpetual memorial to those Canadians who made the supreme sacrifice.

Leaving Toronto in May, in company with his wife, the doctor started from Paris, going to Amiens, where they visited the Somme area. There they saw some of the original dugouts and trenches, and a number of Canadian cemeteries. It was, however, at Vimy Ridge that Dr. Young says he realized fully what the Canadians did in helping win the war. Describing his visit, the doctor said: "On our way we passed through Albert, on the Somme, in which was located the famous cathedral, now a mass of debris, from the steeple of which for three years there suspended in midair the Statue of the Virgin and Child, before it was finally brought down by a shell."

Little Bit of Canada.

"Leaving the main road and travelling down about a mile and a quarter of the property, which seems like a little bit of Canada, with a maple tree planted at every few feet of the well-paved road, we finally arrived at Vimy Ridge, the summit of which overlooks 40 or 50 miles of surrounding country—the "lookout," during the war, from which the boys worked so hard and fought until they died.

"On the edge of the Ridge now stands the base of the Canadian War Memorial being designed by Allward, the well-known Canadian sculptor, which, however, will not be completed for another four years.

"This truly symbolic monument shows the Defenders at the base—one group depicting the Breaking of the Sword, the other Sympathy of Canadians for the Helpless, while on its walls a heroic figure of Canada brooding over her valiant Dead. Between two pylons symbolizing the two forces—Canadians and French—is the Spirit of Sacrifice throwing the torch to his comrades, and above are shown the figures of Peace, Justice, Truth and Knowledge chanting a hymn of peace. Surrounding them are the shields of Britain, Canada and France with the Cross on the outside.

"Under this monument," continued Dr. Young, "is a large excavation which, when finished, is going to be used as a reception-room and offices for parents and friends of the boys visiting the battle area. In the office will be a full record of all Canadians who fought at Vimy, their regiments, etc. At the entrance to 'Maple Avenue' it is intended to erect gateways, on which will appear the words 'To the Glory of Canada.'

Graves Well Cared For.

"If Canadian mothers only knew how well their sons' graves are being tended they would feel surely that this part of France is Canada to them," remarked the doctor, as he described minutely one of the cemeteries, that at Adanac, where a large number of Canadians are buried. "Seldom have I seen such a cemetery. We have nothing like it here," he remarked. "The air breathes lavender and pansies!

"This great burial ground is located just a few miles from the Ridge. At the entrance to the cemetery stands, as in every British cemetery in France, the Cross of Sacrifice, each grave being marked with a tombstone cross of white marble. On each is carved the Maple Leaf, together with the soldier's name, regimental number, etc., the plot being planted with white pansies."

On one cross, Dr. Young says, he noticed there was no name—identification had evidently been impossible—and the cross of this unknown soldier was sculptured "Known Only to God." "So complete is their system of registration that it is the easiest thing in the world to locate any particular grave," he added. Full records are kept in an office near-by in addition to which a book of weather-defying vellum is to be found in a stone, and in it are recorded the names of those buried.

"The work of the Imperial Graves Commission," Dr. Young remarked, "was a revelation to me, and what the Canadian Government is doing there in perpetuating the memory of those who sacrificed all is a credit to it."

Canadian Is Superintendent.

"The Superintendent of the work at Vimy is a Canadian—a Winnipeg man, who served during the war, he could not do enough for us, and when we expressed interest in the actual cene of action at Vimy he volunteered to show us everything.

"We walked to some concrete steps down about 20 feet to huge bronze gates upon which was inscribed the words: 'They shall live for evermore.' Down through the dark he conducted us by lantern to the bottom of the dugouts, which during wartime were supported by wooden beams like railway ties, but which have been replaced in recent construction work by cement supports calculated to last for all time I saw where the officers used to sleep—the beds are still there, though badly rusted. On the wall here and there are perhaps a hundred or more names of the boys—I noticed some from Toronto, Hamilton, Cobourg, Montreal—all parts of Canada, and many names of the 'Princess Pats.'

"The Government is taking such care of everything sacred to the boys that they have even covered these names, picked out as they are in the walls, with a sort of liquid cement in order to preserve them."

High Explosives Discovered.

Speaking of the danger, Dr. Young remarked that "only the day before they had discovered a shell with a still unexploded cap protruding through the wall which it had penetrated some ten or fifteen feet."

"And from where we stood they had just removed about a week before five tons of high explosive from a dark corner where it had been stored. The dugouts are being strung with wires at present, and this underground district will soon be lighted with electricity," remarked the doctor.

"After we came out of the dugouts," Dr. Young continued, "our guide remarked, 'Come and we will see the original Canadian trenches.'

"Replacing the 'duck walk' are slabs of cement placed in the same positions. The original sandbags of the war days are now replaced with bags of cement. Up at the 'lookout' they have some of the original rifles and helmets and other instruments of war. Where the boys went over the top even the original ladders which they used are replaced in concrete. A thousand years from now the Canadian trenches of the Great War will still be there.

"After having been through the Canadian trenches we visited some of the German, and in one of these I came upon the skeleton of a German who had not been found in all these years."

MORE THAN ONE GERMAN U-BOAT WAS LURED TO ITS DESTRUCTION BY ALLIED SHIPS WITH HIDDEN GUNS. IT WAS LATE IN NOVEMBER, 1916, THAT THE PENSHURST, A BRITISH SHOOP, WAS FIRED ON BY A SUBMARINE. WHEN THE PENSHURST SHOT ITS CONCEALED CANNON THE U-BOAT FLED.

CAPTAIN GRENFELL OF THE PENSHURST WAS AWARE THAT THE U-BOAT WOULDN'T KNOWINGLY TAKE A CHANCE OF BEING HIT BY THE HIDDEN GUNS. CONSEQUENTLY HE SAILED INTO PORT AND ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT THE CREW REPAINTED THE PENSHURST UNTIL IT DIDN'T LOOK LIKE THE SAME BOAT.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

THE NEXT MORNING THE PENSHURST SAILED OUT INTO THE PATH OF THE SAME U-BOAT. CONTINUING THE DISGUISE, CAPTAIN GRENFELL SENT AWAY MOST OF THE CREW IN LIFEBOATS WHEN THE U-BOAT FIRED

THE TRICK WORKED. THE UB-19 STOPPED SHOOTING AND MOVED CLOSER TO SINK THE PENSHURST LEISURELY. THEN CAME THE SURPRISE. THE PENSHURST'S HIDDEN GUNS, MANNED BY A FEW MEN WHO HAD STAYED OUT OF SIGHT, FIRED ON THE U-BOAT AND THE UB-19 WENT TO THE BOTTOM.

COAL PRODUCTION IS ABOUT AVERAGE

Output of British Mines 61 Million Tons in Three Months.

The estimated tonnage of saleable coal raised in the principal colliery districts of Great Britain during the second quarter of 1927 totalled 61,859,800 tons, as compared with 66,258,800 tons for the first quarter of the year and with 58,100,000 tons and 65,800,000 tons in the second quarters of 1925 and 1924 respectively. According to advices just received by Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British Information Service the lower tonnage produced in the second quarter of this year is partly accounted for by the fact that there were seven fewer working days in the second quarter than in the first quarter.

At the end of June 1927 there were 101,400 fewer work people on colliery books than at the commencement of the dispute in 1926, and employment at the pits was more irregular than during the first quarter of this year. At the end of June there were 1,022,700 workers employed as compared with 1,005,400 at the end of the first quarter of this year. As compared with the second quarter of 1925, there was a reduction of 71,600 wage earners in employment.

During the second quarter of this year coal was mined on 58.09 days, or an average of 4.47 days a week, as compared with 5 days in the previous quarter. About .39 of a day per week was accounted for by holidays, and nearly a fortnight was lost through want of trade and transport difficulties.

During the period 277 persons were killed and 1,152 seriously injured by accidents in and about coal and metalliferous mines. These figures compare with 325 persons killed and 1,325 injured in the previous quarter ended March, 1927.

Altogether 18,100,000 tons of coal, including the coal equivalent of coke and manufactured fuel, were exported from Great Britain in the quarter year under review or were shipped for the use of steamers engaged in foreign trade. This is about 333,000 tons more than exported and shipped in the quarter ended March, notwithstanding the incidence of holidays in the June quarter, and is equal to 29.3% of the tonnage of coal raised in the entire second quarter of the year. In the first quarter the corresponding figure was 26.8%. Calculated on the tonnage of coal produced and imported, less the tonnage shipped abroad, the quantity of coal available for consumption in Great Britain amounted to 43,250,000 tons during the first quarter of 1927, and to 93,500,000 tons for the half year. Some part at least of the tonnage available in 1927 was required for the replenishment of stocks exhausted in 1926, but other circumstances point to the fact that the consumption of coal at home reached a high level during the first six months of 1927 owing to the accumulation of work caused by the coal mining dispute in 1926.

CLEANLINESS MOST URGENT

SUCCESS ASSURED

OTTAWA, Ont. (CP)—Sanitation and disease control are probably greater factors in successful early care of baby chicks, than feeding and general management. This was the conclusion outlined to the breeding section of the world poultry congress today by Prof. Roy Jones, of the Connecticut Agricultural College.

"Poultry disease is without question the greatest present-day poultry problem," he said. "Given a healthy flock poultry success is almost assured, while with disease present the best breeding and management practices are of little avail.

"Effective disease control must start with the chicks when hatched and follow them through to maturity and production," Prof. Jones went on. He dealt at length with the necessity for cleanliness at every step—clean chicks from accredited stock, clean incubators, clean brooder-houses, clean grounds, clean litter, clean feed, clean management and clean laying-houses.

SMUTTY FEED NOT WHOLESOME

Farmers Are Advised Not to Give Animals Smut-Infected Food.

Although smut-spore-infected grain or feed is not so injurious to livestock as is sometimes believed, there is no doubt that feed contaminated with smut is unwholesome. Although the matter is not altogether cleared up, farmers are advised, in a Dominion Department of Agriculture bulletin on Smut Diseases of Cultivated Plants, not to run risks by giving animals such feed. In an extensive investigation with all the ordinary farm animals there were no instances of definite sickness brought about by the eating of smut contaminated food, but the frequent occurrences of minor disturbances showed that such food should not be generally used. When oat smut is abundant in a crop which is cut for green feed it may cause irritation and congestion, and a number of fatalities among cattle from this cause have been reported.

Cross Game With Leghorns With Satisfying Results

OTTAWA, Ont.—Results obtained in crossing a handsome Indian Game-cock with two white leghorn hens (English type) which had good trapnest records, were detailed to the breeding section of the world poultry congress today by Prof. A. Ghizi and Dr. A. Jaibell of the Rovigo poultry experiment station. The object of this cross was to combine the masses of muscle found in the Indian gamecock with the extreme fecundity of the leghorn, while preserving the form of the Italian fowl.

Neither the large size and corresponding heavy weight of the game breed, nor the medium size and bodily weight of the leghorn had predominated. The two characteristics combined to produce subjects intermediate in appearance and weight.

FISHERMEN SUFFER TORTURES AFLOAT

Drifted 11 Days in an Open Boat Without Water.

(By Milton Bronner, NEA Service Correspondent.)

LONDON, Sept. 27.—"Hell—it was just hell—eleven long days and eleven longer nights of it!

"The preachers tell us about hell—fire and brimstone and great thirst and sharp hunger and pain and agony. Well, my mate and I, we know something of what the preacher means.

"We did not have the fire and the brimstone, but there was sun that peeled our faces—seas that soaked us to the pores—icy winds that set us to shivering till our teeth clacked. After a while, nothing to eat, and thirst—raging, tearing, maddening thirst—until we came across a whole ice-box—an iceberg. Yes, we know what hell is like."

They're Mates.

Charles Williams spoke. He's fifty, a fisherman from Newfoundland. His mate, George May, forty-nine, is also from Newfoundland.

They were working aboard the fishing schooner Donald A. Creaser off the Grand Banks of Nova Scotia, 150 miles at sea. The boat was lying to and the two men left in a twelve-foot dory in the afternoon to haul in fishing nets.

That was the last seen of them until eleven days later when the Canadian steamer, Albuera, en voyage to England, rescued them by some miracle, more dead than alive.

Slowly they convalesced on the boat and when it landed in London they were taken the big hospital in Tilbury docks.

Weak and Tired.

There they didn't talk glibly. They were too weak and too tired.

"Yes," said May thoughtfully. "Charlie has told you we know what hell is. We also know a little bit about heaven. It's to go through all we did and then find ourselves alive here, warm and snug and fed—food to eat, cool things to drink, no sun burning you, no waves wetting you, no winds freezing you."

Then Williams took up the epic again:

"We had only left our ship a short time when we were cut off by the densest of fogs. It was like letting down a blanket. We lost our bearings. We did not know what to do. We used our oars and pulled in the direction we thought the ship should be. We yelled, but got no answer from out the thickening murk. Nothing to do but to wait and hope. Maybe the fog would rise by evening. If not, by next morning. Then we would be found. They would miss us on the ship and hunt for us.

Drift and Fog.

"But the fog stuck. And all the time we were drifting. We prepared for a long stay out, we had no drinking water and only twelve ship's biscuits. We ate these, bit by bit. That only made us hungrier and ever so much thirstier. We had a little tobacco which we smoked and that was some comfort. Then that gave out. Nothing to eat, to drink, to smoke. We tried our oars at times, but we did not make much progress. We were getting weak.

"She fifth day we ran close to an iceberg. I chipped off chunks that we sucked. The thirst problem was settled for a little while. We had two pairs of oars, but the seas washed one pair away the very second night and later we lost the others.

"We were helpless now in the high seas. One day was like another. We hated the day with its hot sun. We hated the night with its cold winds. And always we hated the seas the dory shipped and which kept us like shivering wet dogs.

Silence.

"We talked to each other at first. Then we stopped. There was nothing more to say. Hope was gone, so we couldn't talk about that. We each have a wife and children back home. We didn't like to talk about them. It meant despair. Silence fell upon us, terrible silence, broken only by the wash of the waves, except when we prayed. Yes, we prayed and we hardly dared hope for an answer. Prayers are not always answered so promptly.

"Then we fell into a long semi-doze. I suppose we were that way when the Albuera's crew found us and got us aboard.

"I thought I was dreaming at first. So did May. Then we found it was blessed reality. We were alive. We were being cared for. We were saved—to go back to our homes and loved ones."

JAMAICAN ARTIST.

Miss Stella Shaw of Jamaica whose ability as an artist was recognized by her own government when they sent her to Canada to the C.N.E. to decorate "Jamaica Court." This is the first time Miss Shaw has ever been off the island.

SAVED, DEMANDS HAT

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—While a cutter was taking several deportees to a liner about to sail for Italy, one Giuseppi Sacco, seeking either escape, a bath or suicide, jumped overboard. Anyway, he was seized by the swift tide and was nearly drowned when a seaman finally pulled him ashore. Sacco turned on his panting rescuer and demanded, "Where's my hat?"

Mrs. Florence Mole, expounder of the new era psychology and authorized representative of the late Mr. Coue, now lecturing in Canada. She says a mother's devotion to her children is just selfishness; self sacrifice is expansion of the ego and that women were made for men, but they neglect their husbands and expend their energies on business and clubs.

IN POLICE COURT.

Centre Dummer was again heard from in Police Court this morning, when William Hill was arraigned on a serious charge against a girl under 14 years of age. The Crown, which was represented by Crown Attorney Hatton was not ready to go on with the preliminary hearing so the case was adjourned until Thursday morning. Mr. Hill did not make application for bail.

Mr. Hatton wished to have the case tried at the next Assizes which commence on the eleventh of October, but J. A. O'Brien, for Mr. Hill, said that he was going to move for a transfer of place for the trial and then he charged the Crown with a frame-up, saying the authorities knew they had nothing against Davis Hill, who is also waiting trial at the Assizes on a charge of an offence against the sister of the girl against whom William Hill is alleged to have committed the offence.

In all probability the case will come up at the Fall Assizes

RUGBY NOTES.

The Junior Rugby team had a good work out last night. After some kicking, running and tackling practice, two scrimmage lines were formed and the new members of the squad were initiated into the art of opening up holes, and in opposing line, for the ball carrier and of clipping on the offensive while the opposing line tried to break through and get the runner before the play got under way. Following this, two teams were passed and a short scrimmage, followed by a run concluded the practice.

There will be a full uniform practice to-night at 5.15, Confederation Square.

THE MARKETS

Wheat Prices Firm While Corn Declines

CHICAGO, September 27 (Canadian Press). — Much lower prices for corn resulted early to-day from the failure of frost to develop in the corn belt. Wheat values were relatively firm, owing laregly to the continued dry weather in Australia. Starting at ½c to 1⅝ cents decline, corn later underwent a material further setback. Wheat opened ¼c off to ⅜c up, and then sagged a little all around. Oats were easy. Provisions tended downward.

Opening prices were: Wheat, September, 127¾, December 130¼. Corn, September 97¼, December 99⅝. Oats September 47, December 48⅝.

Toronto Trading Featured By Fall In Page Hersey

TORONTO, Ont., September 27 (Canadian Press). — Leaders on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning held remarkably close to former price levels despite huge turnovers, in an exceedingly active session. The largest price change was in Page Hersey Preferred, which lost three at 167. The common moved upward more than two points at 84¾. The oils, led by British-American, showed few changes. British-American gained a quarter at 33¼, but Imperial was steady and International Petroleum 33 and McColl 49 were both fractionally lower. Liquor stocks also moved in a narrow range, Walker gaining slightly at 53¼, Gooderham improving at 49¾, and Carlings easing a little. International Nickel gained slightly at 68, but a good many fractional declines were registered in the regular list.

Mine Trading Heavy But Weaker To-day

TORONTO, Sept. 27 (Canadian Press).—Most stocks lost ground in heavy trading on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, which made Lake Shore's sharp advance conspicuous in the broad list. Lake Shore touched 26.80, and at noon at 26.70, was 45 cents better than yesterday. Barry Hollinger, on a huge turnover, also gained sharply, advancing 3½ at 83. Amulet lost twelve at 651, and Area eased a point and a half at 60½, while Dome softened 15 at 10.90. Hollinger, Kirkland Lake, Teck Hughes, Wright Hargreaves, and Noranda all dropped somewhat.

Frequent Shifts To-day In New York Exchange

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (Canadian Press).—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment took place in to-day's Stock Market with reactionary tendencies predominant. Occasional rallies in some of the recent pool favorites were met with large offerings of stock, although about a dozen issues, nearly half of them public utilities, were lifted to new high records for the year. Trading was only moderate in volume, due, in part, to the absence of many operators over the Jewish holidays.

An attempt to rally the general list shortly after midday by marking up U.S. Steel Common, following the announcement of a slight increase in the Corporation's mill operations, met with little success. Although no change in the credit situation is expected for a month or so, talk of a huge increase in brokers' loans on Thursday, as a result of the General Motors settlement, had a bearish effect. Mack Truck was heavily bought, rising more than three points, General Motors (old stock) rallied from a low of 260¾ to 264½, but failed to maintain all its gain. Renewed discussion of Ford competition tended to chill bullish enthusiasm for the motors. Expanding earnings and talk of new combinations continued to provide the background for the advance in the public utilities issues, American and Foreign Power and American Waterworks reaching new high ground while People's Gas and Commonwealth Power were each bid up about three points. American Chicle, William Wrigley, and U.S. Leather Class A stock also attained new maximum prices.

Strength of the Van Sweringen issues featured the rail group, Chesapeak and Ohio Common touching a record high for all time at 198 7-8.

TO BE READY IN JUNE.

KAPUSKASING, Ont., Sept. 27.—(Canadian Press) — Marking the consummation of long-standing plans for the development of this region, Premier G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario yesterday laid the corner-stone of the 550 ton paper mill of the Spruce Falls Pulp and Paper Company. Officials of the company and citizens of Kapuskasing witnessed the ceremony.

The mill, the largest of its kind in the Province, will be completed about July of next year, according to F. J. Sensennbrenner, the President, speaking at the subsequent banquet. He declared the industry would eventually result in an annual pay roll of two and a half million dollars.

Dr. John H. Findley, editor of the New York Times, representing Adolph Gochs, remarked that if it were possible to put a watermark on every roll of Canadian paper, the words "Made-in-Canada" would be found in every home in the United States.

SCHOONER MYSTERY IS PARTLY CLEARED

LUNENBURG, N.S., Sept. 27 (Canadian Press)—The mystery surrounding the fate of one of the four Lunenburg fishing vessels lost this season with their combined crew of approximately eighty men was lifted when the steamer Arras towed into this port schooner wreckage identified as being off the schooner Una E. Corkum. The schooner sailed with a crew of twenty-one in command of Capt. W. Andrews.

The wreckage was found in the vicinity known as the "Fifteen Fathom Spot" at the middle bank. A spar was also sighted under water near there and may provide a clue to the fate of one of the three other missing vessels.

MIKEL TO TRY PICTON PASTOR

Investigation By C. I. D. Results In Another Charge Being Laid.

HEARING THURSDAY.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Magistrate Mikel of this city received official notification from the Attorney General, Col. W. H. Price, to-day, that he had been appointed to preside on the bench when Rev. J. J. Mellor appears for trial on Thursday at two o'clock at Picton on a charge of a serious offence against a young girl. Col. J. Keiller McKay will be the prosecuting attorney and F. L. Ward, of Picton, will act in defence of the minister.

This second charge was the result of an exhaustive investigation by Inspector Miller of the C. I. D. at Toronto. It is alleged by the Attorney-Generals Department that Mellor was not given sufficient punishment for the crime that he committed. By the investigation it is understood that Mellor had committed some of these offences while the girl was under the age of sixteen.

Magistrate Mikel was prominently brought before the public soon after his appointment to the bench by sending Henry Ward Gould of this city to penitentiary for life.

PSYCHIC RESEARCH PROVES SURVIVAL OF MENTAL POWERS ASSERTS ENGLISH VISITOR

Frederick Bligh Bond Is Author of Three Books on Psychic Research.

TALKS WITH UNSEEN WORLD.

Between psychic science and revealed religion there is absolutely no variance. The progress of research has continued to bring the two more and more into line.

This opinion was expressed yesterday in an interview by Frederick Bligh Bond, whose address on psychic science to the Kiwanis Club last Friday has created a great deal of discussion. Mr. Bligh Bond left this morning for Albany, N.Y., where he will give the first of a series of lectures to be delivered in the United States.

Mr. Bligh Bond has long enjoyed an enviable reputation among British ecclesiastical architects and archeologists. He is a Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects and was for many years Diocesan Architect for Bath and Wells, and is a member of the Medieval Academy of America.

The son of a former Headmaster of King Edward Grammar School of Marlborough, he is connected with a family well-known in London society. His eldest brother, Major-General Sir Francis Bond, K.B.E., served with distinction in India, and occupied a high position on Lord Kitchener's staff during the South African War. Another brother, Lt.-Col. Reginald C. Bond, D.S.O., served three years and a half in France during the Great War. A third brother, A. G. Bond also a Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects is well known in professional circles in London.

Mr. Bligh Bond is the author of three books on psychic science, "The Gate of Remembrance," "The Hill of Vision" and "The Company of Avalon." He was editor of Psychic Science from 1923 till last year.

Not a Spiritualist.

"I am not a spiritualist, although I accept the 'spiritist' hypothesis," emphasized Mr. Bligh Bond. "I am simply making an appeal to educated people generally to "recognize the importance of studying the powers of the human mind in its control over natural forces, and the training of those latent forces which are beginning to show themselves. As an illustration of the increasing power of mind over matter, we have the modern phenomenon of spiritual or mental healing now playing so large a part in the work of the churches. We observe in this the presence of a power of a collective nature which is much greater than that of the individual mind. There is no doubt that when a large company is assembled, the people in it are moved by a strong sympathetic emotion or united faith in the possibility of healing, resulting in what we may term "miraculous motion" and removal of cases of chronic or long-standing disease will take place. Here we have an example of the power of the human soul to affect physical or bodily conditions.

Powers Remain.

"My own line of research," continued Mr. Bligh Bond, reverting to more personal experiences "has been directed in greater measure toward the study of the survival and permanent powers of the mind, memory, personality or character. I have in abundant cases proved that the knowledge and experience acquired by individuals during the earthly life is most certainly not lost, but recalled in the next world. This is more especially the case where there is a large and sympathetic body of memories united in the furtherance of some great ideal.

"This illustrates the extraordinary spiritual influence exerted by certain localities like sacred places, or cities or temples that have been associated

STORES OPPOSE SUNDAY SELLING

Retailers Asks the British Parliament To Impose Restrictions.

CHURCHES SUPPORT MOVE.

LONDON, Sept. 28. — (Canadian Press Cable) — Several large organizations in the retail trade are promoting a bill to be submitted to parliament calling for the restriction of Sunday shopping, which in the past few years has grown enormously, particularly in London. The proposed bill is meeting with general support from the Free Churches. It will make no attempt to restrict the sale of refreshments on Sunday in places licensed for the same or to restrict the sale of drugs or medicine in cases of illness or accident.

The proposed measure provides that local authorities shall be vested with powers to issue licenses for the sale of certain articles on Sunday, but only when the authorities are satisfied that there exists a special demand in their neighbourhood for such articles.

AVIATION CLUB TO BE FORMED

Advantage Will Be Taken of Government's Offer of Two Planes.

MEETING NEXT WEEK.

Formation of a Peterborough Air Club, the first to qualify for the two light airplanes promised by the Dominion Government to all approved organizations, is foreshadowed by the announcement or a meeting to be held next Tuesday, October 4, at 7.30 in the ante-room of the Chamber of Commerce in order to establish an institution on a recognized basis. The Mayor and members of the City Council have been invited and are expected to attend.

Peterborough has everything except the organization essential to the procuring of the airplanes. The depot of the Canadian Air Services is registered as a commercial air port and complies with all government requirements. Registration as a customs air port is pending.

Official regulations prescribe that the airport must have the approval of the city in which it is located; it must have available the services of registered and qualified flying instructors and registered air engineers; and it must have housing and maintenance facilities.

The initial step of organization will be followed by the incorporation of the club on a non-profit basis. Such clubs are intended to be a reserve of the Canadian Air Force.

Major-General J. H. McBrien, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., is the organizing head of the Air League of Canada, which is the North American branch of the Air League of the British Empire.

All interested in aviation are invited to attend.

THREE WEEKS REQUIRED TO FINISH REPORT

Will Recommend Adoption of System For Transferring of Customs Officers.

WOULD BE PROMOTED.

Deal With 200 Specific Cases in Addition to General Recommendations.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Thee more weeks will be required to complete the report which the Royal Commission on Customs will present to the Governor-in-Council. The three commissioners are hard at work on the report, which will, it is expected, be voluminous. In addition to general recommendations, the report will deal with approximately 200 specific cases which were drawn to the attention of the commission during the ten months of its existence.

It is considered probable that the commissioners will recommend the adoption of some system for transferring customs officers from time to time. During the sittings of the commission it was brought out that officers stationed in small towns over a long period of years become so well acquainted with the people of the community in which they live that there is a tendency to laxity in the work of enforcing the customs laws. The commissioners may recommend the adoption of a transfer system similar to that in effect among the Canadain banks. Under this, customs officers would not remain too long in one locality, but would be promoted from time to time, if qualified, to posts in larger and more important offices.

Duty On Liquors.

An important matter which will doubtless be touched on in the report is that of the duty in imported liquors. It was represented to the commission by customs officials at different points that one way to reduce the liquor smuggling into Canada was to cut the duty. At present there is an import duty of ten dollars a gallon on imported liquor. In the Maritime provinces it was suggested that this be cut to five dollars. It was thought that with an increased and efficient land and water preventive service and a reduced duty on imported liquor smuggling in this commodity could be decreased materially. It was brought out at Halifax that Demerara rum which was sold in the West Indies at 46 cents a gallon was purchased at $4.00 a gallon and smuggled into the Province of Nova Scotia.

Supplied False Invoices.

Another matter which will probably receive attention from the commission when it reports concerns the supplying of false and fraudulent invoices by foreign houses sending goods into Canada. Evidence was furnished to the commission that certain firms located in the United States and also in Scotland made a practice of supplying false invoices to their Canadian customers. By using the false invoices the Canadian customer was enabled to enter goods at a lower valuation than the actual purchase price. Counsel for the commission suggested that firms found furnishing these false and fraudulent invoices should be forbidden the right of entry for their goods into Canada. It is possible that some recommendation along these lines may be made.

The commission's sittings emphasized the need for preservation of adequate books and records by importing firms, breweries, distilleries and other organizations which contribute to the revenue etther by customs duties, excise or sales tax. It was found, in a number of cases, that books and records had been destroyed, making it extremely difficult to arrive at the exact position of the firm concerned. The commission, it seems likely, will have something to say about this, and may emphasize the need for keeping records at least until the Department of National Revenue authorizes their destruction.

BRANTFORD, September 28 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Emmet Talley, Delhi, was remanded for a week in Simcoe Police Court to-day when she appeared before Magistrate Dunton. Mrs. Talley was removed at once to the county jail for a week. Her husband, who was a tobacco planter, died in great agony and examination showed that he died of strychnine poisoning.

Despatch States Departure Delayed as Engine Was Working Badly.

CLEARS UP MYSTERY.

Leave Taking Announced On Saturday Morning Was an Error.

PARIS, Sept. 28. —(A.P.). — A sensational development in the case of the reported "missing" Lieutenant Otto Koennecke, the German aviator came in a dispatch from Angora, yesterday quoting the Anatolia News Agency as declaring that Koennecke had not left the Turkish capital last Sunday morning, as his engine was working badly.

The departure was announced Saturday morning, says the Angora advices was an error in reality this was another plane which hopped off for Eskihissar, Anatolic.

The message to Paris stating that Lieut. Koennecke had not left Angora up to that time came from the semi-official Anatolian agency, which originally reported his hop off on Saturday. Its explanation of mistaken identity is taken here as a conceivably acceptable explanation of the whole mysterious "disappearance" of the aviators.

Lieut. Koennicke, with two companions, landed at Angora last Wednesday on th first leg of his proposed flight from Germany to America. He made a non-stop flight from Cologne in something less than 18 hours, a distance of 1,875 miles. He planned to make his next stop at Basra, Irak, and was reported to have taken off at Angora early Saturday. Since then nothing has been heard of him.

Believed Lost.

Because of lack of news of the German ace and two men with him, Count George Cedric Solmes-Daubach, his financial backer, and Johannes Hermann, radio operator, anxiety has been felt at Berlin and various other capitals over the possible fate of the men. It was known, however, that in the trip from Angora to Baara, the aviators would have a dangerous country to traverse, and if it would have been necessary to make a landing, it would be difficult for them to communicate with the outside world.

Y. M. C. A. Teams Show Enthusiasm at Opening Meeting.

OFFICIAL OPENING.

The organization meeting of the Y.M.C.A. membership Campaign was held at a supper in the "Y" last night.

J. R. Marshall, chairman of the Membership Committee in charge of the campaign, gave a short talk on the benefits of the Association and urged the canvassers to put every possible effort into the campaign to "line up" new members.

The teams working on the canvass were well represented at the supper although a few members were unable to be present on account of the pressure of work. There are ten teams, consisting of four men each, working on an objective of two hundred members for the men's division, which addition will make an aggregate of three hundred and fifty in this division.

There will be a Report Supper this Friday at 6.15 p.m., and the leaders hope that all canvassers will be on hand and remain for the big opening night and social evening which will mark the commencement of the new season's activities.

A spirit of enthusiasm and optimism pervaded last night's meeting and all seemed confident that the objective would be not only reached but passed by October 7.

Says That Human Race Danger of Extinction

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press)—Prof. Ludwig Mehely, widely known researcher in racial biology, made somewhat of a sensation in scientific circles yesterday by declaring that the human race was in danger of extinction by interracial marriages which, he said, were increasing throughout the world.

Prof. Mehely, who has just been elected Dean of the philosophical faculty of the University of Budapest, made his remarks in the course of his inaugural address before an audience largely made up of distinguished scientists.

He startled the audience by declaring that parents belonging to heterogeneous races produce degenerate progeny, adding, "The best marriages are those where the contracting parties show blood group affinity."

PLACES BLAME FOR RUM TRADE ON AUTHORITIES

Port Colborne Pastor Says Liquor Running Can Be Stopped.

OTTAWA RESPONSIBLE.

Government Making Millions Out of Export Trade, He Charges.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., September 28 (Canadian Press). — The authorities can stop the illicit rum-running within ten minutes by refusing clearance papers to rum-runners, declared Rev. I. M. Moyer, of Port Colborne, speaking regarding the Liquor Control Act at the annual session of the Presbytery of Niagara, United Church of Canada.

"There was never a time within my knowledge in the history of Port Colborne when rum-runners were busier than now," the clergyman stated. He said there were twenty or thirty runners operating. He had been told by one woman to let them alone, that King would clean it up "He has had plenty of time to clean it up," was the remark of Mr. Moyer. "No action has been taken to stop the export of liquor to the United States, and it has come to the time when we should express ourselves. The Government is making millions out of the liquor exports. They stamp clearance papers at Port Colborne for Buffalo when they know the boats cannot land. It is time that the responsibility be placed where it belongs, and that is Ottawa."

A committee was formed to frame a resolution at the conference later and to draft a resolution which will be sent to Ottawa, and later to the press.

PETERBOROUGH SCHOOL FAIR IS SUCCESSFUL

Many Fine Exhibits On Display Yesterday in Manufacturers' Building.

PRIZE WINNERS.

S. S. 16 of Otonabee Wins First Prize For Parade.

Children's exhibits of a generally high quality were on display yesterday in the Manufacturers' Building of the Exhibition Grounds where a goodly sized crowd attended the Peterborough District School Fair.

For the first time, a parade was held in connection with the Fair. The honors of the parade went to S.S. No. 16 of Otonabee which appeared on the scene accompanied by a 6-piece band—the musicians all being pupils of the school. J. B. Nelson in announcing the awards on behalf of the judges said that No. 16 school was hardly so good in the physical drill as the second school, S.S. No. 10, Otonabee, but it had so many other excellent features that it gained first place by a margin of points.

The judges were: J. B. Nelson, local representative of the Department of Agriculture, Percy Gardiner, Frank Dench, J. A. Cox, and Miss Edith Hopkins.

The exhibits, said Mr. Nelson, were of excellent quality. For more than an hour after the building was open, the crowd inspected the fine flower and vegetable shows, the other products of the workmanship of the boys and the needle craft of the girls.

Discussing the vegetable exhibits, Mr. Nelson said the quality, not quantity was what was sought for. This, he said, would explain why larger vegetables were in some instances passed over and smaller exhibits secured the award. In carrots and beets, the small, smooth well-colored exhibits were always to be preferred above the large vegetable Parsnips were different, and in this case size was a factor to be sought for.

Great interest was taken in the oratorical an singing contests, held outside the entrance to the Manufacturers' Building. Despite the raw weather prevailing, the crowd stood patiently and applauded the efforts of all the competitors. The judges' decisions were genarlly concurred in by the audience.

The showing of livestock was also an attraction of interest, and included poultry, calves, sheep and mare and foal.

FREE TRADERS SEE ADVANCE

Think Conference Step Towards European Free Trade.

INDUSTRIALISTS MEET.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (United Press). —British Free Traders see as a further offensive directed toward general European Free Trade, in the impending conferences in London between experts of the Federation of British Industries and the corresponding federations in Germany, France, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Sweden, Italy, Austria, and Czecho-Slovakia.

The object of the conferences is to consider closer trade relations on the technical side, including uniform classifications, exchange of trade information and statistics, and consideration of the development of the economic activities of the League of Nations.

Development of the idea of international co-operation in cartels and trade combines receives notable support from Philip Snowden, ex-chancellor of the exchequer, who points out that national cartels and combines give a monoppoly to the home market and a certain guarantee to the export trade. On the other hand tariffs, while intended to give a monopoly to the home market and strengthen a nation's competitive efforts in world markets, never achieve this purpose.

If carteis achieve this purpose then the necessity for tariffs disappears, Snowden insists, adding "the ultimate justification for combines will be the extent to which they serve public ends and not private interests."

United States exports to Chile during the fiscal year of 1925-26 were more than 30 per cent greater than during the preceding twelve months, rising to a value of $46,400,000.

River and Stream Named After Fliers

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 28 (Canadian Press). — Nungesser and Coli, who sought to fly the Atlantic, and failed, will live forever in the place names of Canada. The Topographical Survey Department of the Interior, yesterday issued a new map of the new gold-bearing areas in the vicinity of Noman, Narrow and Birch Lakes in North-Western Ontario. On the map, the name of Nungesser has been given to a lake and to the river flowing from it into Little Vermilion. The name of Coli, too, has been given to a lake.

As Nungesser and Coli were linked in death, so Lakes Nungesser and Coli are linked by the highway of river and stream.

FRENCH URGED TO CO-OPERATE

Educational Association Thinks Adoption of Report Good Thing.

BENEFICENT EFFECTS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28. — (Canadian Press). — In a statement to the French speaking population of Ontario, the French Canadian Educational Association of this province to-day expressed appreciation of the report submitted to the government by the committee inquiring into Bilingual schools. It endorsed the action of Premier Ferguson in accepting the report. It asked French Canadians to co-operate in application of sane pedagogical principles contained in the report."

Referring to the proposed governing body for Bilingual Schools composed of the chief inspector of the Province, two directors and a local inspector, the statement said the board of inquiry had placed in the hands of this committee the fate of these schools. It was probably the best thing that could be done under the circumstances. "According to the interpretation given from it may result the most beneficent or the most evil effects" the statement added. "Hence, before giving final judgment, we must wait and see how the govering committee will interpret and apply those principles laid down by the board of inquiry. We hasten to add that the general trend of the report enables us to hope that nothing in the interpretation and application of the pedagogical principles expressed therein will hinder its good effects."

The statement is signed by E. Cloutier, secretary. The president of the association is Senator N. A. Belcourt, who is at present in England.

MALE VOICE CHOIR ATTENDANCE LARGE

The Male Voice Choir has just started on its career for the winter, and last night the first rehearsal was held, there being a record attendance for the opening practice.

The music selected by the executive committee was of a veried character, and met with the heartiest approval of the members. The practice was conducted by Martin B. Chenhall.

Up to the present time over seventy members have joined the Choir, and no new members will be admitted after October 11.

The rehearsals are held weekly and the committee is keen upon getting every member out to each practice, so that the first concert early in December may be up to the usual high standard of the Male Voice Choir.

Dealing with the British project alter the size of capital ships at the calibre of guns, Admiral Sai said if this plan was pressed it mus be agreed upon at the earliest possible date, as it would call for at least two years of naval experiments, and Japan's replacement programme is due to begin in 1931.

Admiral Saito stated that Japan will not commence competitive naval building, but will only carry out plans already authorized.

Viscount Admiral Saito, as head of the Tokio delegation at the naval disarmament conference between the United States, Great Britain and Japan, called by President Coolidge, was considered as having from his Government greater powers for freedom of action at the conference than were possessed by the chief American and British representatives. Ambassador Hugh Gibson and First Lord of the Admiralty Fisher. At various times, before the conference ended in an "agreement to disagree" on the issue of cruiser strength and gun sizes, the Japanese delegate formulated compromise proposals with the Americans or the British in an effort to break the deadlock.

Had Open Mind.

With reference to the suggestion early made by the British that the conference also take up the question of further limiting capital ship construction, Japan was reported at the time as having an "open mind" on the matter. The subject was ruled out then by the United States as covered by the Washington treaties and not open to consideration until 1931, when the renewal period of the treaties expires.

Captain Dingle To Quit Life On Ocean Believed Lonely For Sister Lost At Sea

NANTUCKET, Mass., Sept. 28.—Aylward Egbert Dingle, better known as Captain Dingle to the tens of thousands who read his sea stories, is planning to become a landsman.

After almost forty years of ocean wandering, by sail and steam, the veteran author-adventurer declares that he is about to drop anchor in some sung Nova Scotian harbor and tote his scant dunnage and battered typwriter ashore forever.

The sea, which Captain Dingle has loved and battled and served so long, has dealt him a blow at last, which he cannot forgive. His sister, Mrs. Mary Manning, his crew, shipmate and sole companion for the past five years, was swept off the deck of the Dingle schooner, Gauntlet, as the little vessel was scudding into Nantucket Harbor a fortnight ago.

"I've always liked to work here," Captain Dingle said yesterday aboard the Gauntlet. "Nobody can ring your door bell. I've never been able to sleep in a house, let alone try to write there. But I'm going to try it—living ashore, I mean. I am going to quit the sea—for a while anyway.

I think I'm all through. I've had enough. Not that I am grieving for Mary. She always wanted to be buried at sea. It is just that the sailing is losing its glamor. It'll get me now, if I keep it up. Not that I care so much. I don't think I'm afraid. I'm just . . .'

He did not finish the sentence, but "lonesome" was most unmistakably the word that would have filled out his thought.

VICTORY CHEERS BRITISH AIRMEN

Have Been Criticized Recently Because Foreigners Held Records.

HOPE FOR REAL RACE.

LONDON, September 27 (Canadian Press). — The foremost hope expressed by the officials of the Air Ministry to-day was that next year's Schneider Cup race, which will be staged in England as a result of yesterday's British victory, will find teams from American and European countries entered so that the classic event will again assume a truly international aspect.

Lieut. Webster's victory has greatly cheered the Air Ministry, and all aviation authorities in the country. Recently, they have been submitted to considerable criticism because until yesterday Great Britain held none of the world's records of importance in aviation.

BEACH SOUGHT IN MURDER CASE

HAMMONTON, N.J., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Willis Beach, South Vineland poultry raiser, last night was sought as a fugitive from justice on a warrant charging him with aiding and abetting in the murder of Dr. A. William Lilliendhal, on a little used road north of here on September 15.

The warrant was sworn out by Frank J. Harrold, Chief of Atlantic County detectives, when authorities were unable to find Beach, who is free under $5,000 bail as a material witness.

Three men who saw a blue coupe automobile answering the description of Beach's car pull out of a road near where the physician's body was found and speed toward Hammonton the day of the slaying, came to State police headquarters yesterday. The investigators intended to have them attempt to determine if the car was Beach's and if Beach was the man who was driving.

Beach had not been notified that he would be brought to the barracks and he had left his home in the blue coupe early yesterday before State troopers arrived at the house.

DROWNED BOY LAID TO REST

POPULAR IN VILLAGE.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 28—The funeral of Thomas Chappell took place on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 from St. John's Church and was very largely attended, old and young uniting in paying a tribute of respect to the fourteen-year-old boy whose life was lost on Thursday in the Otonabee River. "Tommy" was a manly lad, industrious, thrifty and honest, and made friends all over the village, and the village mourned him deeply and sincerely.

Preceded by the vested choir, the procession passed up the aisle of the church, already filled to capacity, and Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., rector of the parish, read the beautiful Burial Service. Two favorite hymns were sung: "Loving Shepherd of Thy Sheep," and "There's a Friend for Little Children," and the "Nunc Dimittis as the coffin was taken from the church.

Mr. Creighton spoke briefly, giving a message of hope to the bereaved. The boys life, cut off in its beginning, will go on in that place which God has prepared, and the God "Who so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son" for the salvation of the world, deals lovingly with His children.

Our Lord said "Suffer little children to come unto Me," and our children are brought to Christ even as the Prophet Samuel was brought to receive God's blessing. Tom was brought by his parents to be received by his baptism into the family of God, and less than a year ago he renewed the vows then made for him when he was confirmed by the Bishop. God cares for His children and Tom's life will go on beyond the veil.

The pall-bearers were fellow-members with Tom of the High School Cadet Corps; they were: Ducie Chads, Ronald Kemp, Gerald Kennedy, Tead Leonard, Robert Stenner and Dominic White.

There was an exceptionally large number of floral tributes sent by organizations and friends. Tom was a member of the High School Cadet Corps and of St. John's Sunday School and was Deputy Master of the Juvenile Orange Lodge.

There was a large deputation of the local branch of the Canadian Legion of which the boy's father and uncle are members, and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion attended in a body.

Following the service, the cortege proceeded to Hillside Cemetery, where the interment took place.

This solemn service was the last act in a tragedy which stirred the village to its very depths, casting a gloom over everything and leaving a happy home desolate and sad.

"Tommy" was a general favorite and several of the men engaged in the dam jumped to his assistance, but all in vain. "Scotty" McNeish particularly made a most heroic effort but without any success. Scores of willing workers offered themselves for the task of locating the boy's body, and no effort was spared. The Canada Cement Co. arranged search lights to aid the searchers when darkness fell. A little more than three hours after the tragedy the river gave up its dead and the body was tenderly carried to one of the waiting cars, Chief of Police Webster having secured from the Coroner, Dr Smith, a warrant for its removal. Scores of men and women lined the river bank, eager to do what was possible to help the workers, and a silent thanksgiving went up to the throne of God when the body was found.

To prevent further accidents a boat has been moored below the power dam, and a length of stout rope and a pike pole are conveniently placed.

EIGHTH ASSEMBLY CONCLUDES WORK

Council of League Still in Session—Address From President.

GENEVA, Sept. 28 (A.P.). — The eighth assembly of the League of Nations was able to conclude its work yesterday after an inspiring address by Senor Guani of Uruguay, its president, but the council of the League, which has inherited many new questions from the assembly, did not succeed in adjourning.

The exact make-up of the special committee which will study arbitration and security conjointly with the disarmament commission caused divergent views in the council. Some desired that a limited number of experts be invited on a footing of equality with full fledged members. This question will be settled later.

The council decided to add Canada and Cuba to the disarmament commission, who now has as members representing the American continents: Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Canada, Uruguay and the United States.

In the course of his closing address, Senor Guani contended that the wish to reduce armaments continued to inspire the league assembly.

The work by the assembly at the present session in the direction of disarmament, he declared, indicated that the first reduction of armaments would not be long delayed and a better definition of the guarantees of security would be formulated. He believed that the nations would soon reap "a fair harvest from their sowing."

The white race, embracing 550,000,000 people, is the largest, with the yellow race second, with 500,000,000.

Residents of Yale Fishing For Silk

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 28 (Canadian Press). — Approximately 3,500 parcels of raw silk have been recovered from the Fraser River and another thousand bales are still missing but will be recovered, according to Canadian Pacific Railway officials. Five cars of an eastbound silk train went into the river a week ago when a silk special train was derailed.

Many citizens of Yale, near the scene of the accident, have turned to "silk fishing," and are enjoying the sport and all manner of bait is being used. As an incentive the railway company is paying $5.00 per parcel recovered.

Two women residents of Yale have "fished out" twenty-odd parcels.

CLUE FOUND OF MISSING HEIR

HAD COMPANION.

CAIRO, Ills., September 28 (Associated Press). — A young man, about 21 years old, and giving the impression of being a business man, registered at a hotel here on Friday night as "I. O. Reynolds," of Kansas City, it was learned yesterday after Richard J. Reynolds, son of a late wealthy New York tobacco manufacturer was reported to have passed through Cairo and disappeared.

The man was accompanied by a companion about 60 years of age, giving the name of Wm. Doolittle, also of Kansas City, and who told the hotel management that Reynolds had picked him up on the road and that they were going to return to Kansas City together.

During his stay here, Reynolds was said to have written many letters and gave the impression of being a business man, but received no mail and left no forwarding address. The pair left the hotel early on Monday morning and drove to a ferry landing, where they were joined by a young woman. The woman was said to have registered at another Cairo hotel as Miss M. Hoston, of St. Louis.

Use Plane For Mail Delivery In Yukon

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—The monoplane "Queen of the Yukon," a sister of Col. Charles Lindberg's famous 'plane, arrived in Vancouver yesterday morning after a flight from Los Angeles, which included numerous stops en route.

The machine, piloted by A. B. Cruickshanks, former Royal Air Force Lieutenant and former member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, carried four passengers, including one woman and an infant.

The machine will be shipped north to be used in air mail and passenger service to link up Whitehorse Mayo, Dawson and other Yukon points during the winter.

The machine will be fitted with skiis.

At the present time it takes 12 to 14 days to carry mail between Whitehorse and Dawson during the winter, and with the use of the 'plane this will be cut to five hours.

FOURTH CHILD BORNE TO DUCE

Third Son of Italian Premier Will Be Baptized Romano To-day.

IN GOOD HEALTH.

ROME, September 28 (Associated Press).) — There is a new member of the Mussolini family—another son to whom Donna Rachele Mussolini, wife of the Italian Premier, gave birth at an early hour yesterday morning at her home, the Villa Carpena, near Forli.

The first question in the minds of virtually the entire feminine population of Italy was "What is he like?"

But this is destined to remain unanswered for a considerable time as far as the general populace is concerned.

Despite Il Duce's iron will, however, some few details are already filtering out to the outside world through indiscretions—intentional or otherwise—of the privileged few who have seen the infant. The boy will bear the name of Romano, and will be baptized to-day in the little church around the corner. He was characterized by his father prior to his birth as "not the fourth child, but the first of a new series." It is said that his features are "exactly like those of his illustrious father," or as much so as a mite of humanity can resemble Benito.

Thanks to Signora Mussolini's excellent health and the care which she had been exercising iduring the last few months, both she and her child are in perfect condition.

LIQUOR BOARD STAFF TRAINED

Commissioners Will Have More Time To Devote To Law Enforcement.

TO BE SEVERE.

TORONTO, Ont., September 28 (Canadian Press). — With the staff of the Ontario Liquor Control Commission now accustomed to their duties, the Board will be in a position to devote its energies to the absolute enforcement of the Act, Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General said to-day in commenting on the work of the Board.

The Board, entering an entirely new business in the Province, had to train its employees, but with the organization completed, Mr. Price believes that the Board will in future deal severely with infractions of the regulations by brewers and distillers. The cancellation of the license of the Reinhardt Brewery of Toronto was pointed out by the Attorney-General as a step in this direction.

"It was natural that much of the time in the first instance must be devoted to completing the organization," Mr. Price said. "Now that that has been done, there will be more time to see that the Liquor Control Act is properly observed."

G. Howard Ferguson, Premier and Minister of Education of Ontario, of the conclusions contained in the report.

And the rooster's hallylooyer as he tiptoes on the fence;
O, it's then's the times a feller is a-feelin' at his best,
With the risin' sun to greet him from a night of peaceful rest,
As he leaves the house, bareheaded, and goes out to feed the stock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

The husky, rusty russel of the tossels of the corn,
And the raspin' of the tangled leaves, as golden as the morn;
The stubble in the furries—kindo' lonesome-like, but still
A-preachin' sermuns to us of the barns they growed to fill;
The strawstack in the medder, and the reaper in the shed;
The hosses in their stalls below—the clover overhead!—
O, it sets my hart a clickin' like the tickin' of a clock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

DISTRICT CHURCHES

BETHANY UNITED CHURCH

BETHANY, Sept. 28.—The Rally service in connection with the United Sunday school was held on Sunday night with a good attendance.

The church was tastefully decorated around the altar with large bowls of asters and ferns.

The Junior portion of the school marched to the choir loft and led the singing.

Mr. A. H. Monk, superintendent of the school, led the responsive reading. A recitation, "We Would See Jesus", was given by Margaret Jackson. A special musical number was given by a group of teen age girls, and Beatrice Darroch recited the story of "The Two Searchers." A duet was sung by Mrs. Poulter and Miss V. B. Lee entitled "Abide With Me."

Rev. A. Poulter then spoke on the words which were the theme of the program, "We Would See Jesus". Mr. Poulter spoke chiefly to the children of the school and their teachers. Stanley Whiteside and Bertrand Monk were the ushers.

CAVAN UNITED CHURCH.

CAVAN, Sept. 28. — Rally Day service was held in Cavan United Church on Sunday afternoon. There was a good attendance.

Cavan Centre Sunday School joined with Cavan Sunday School.

The regular Rally Day programme was used. Mr. Downer of Peterborough gave a very interesting address.

LONDON, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wales and Prince George called on Premier Stanley Baldwin at No. 10 Downing Street today and had a friendly chat with the Premier on their joint experiences during their recent visit to Canada. Prince George returned yesterday from a short visit on the Continent.

FORMER CHAMPIONS WIN FIRST ROUNDS

Ladies' Canadian Golf Tourney Begins at Toronto.

TORONTO, Sept. 28 — (Canadian Press). — Three previous winners of the title were all successful in their first round matches in the Canadian Ladies Close Golf Tournament to-day. Miss Ada Mackenzie, the defending champion, defeated Miss Effie Nesbitt of Hamilton, four and three, while Miss Helen Paget of Ottawa won by default and Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, defeated Mrs. W. K. Fraser, also of Toronto, seven and five.

GERMAN ENVOY LAID TO REST

Baron Von Maltzan Laid Beside Forefathers Near Cross-Lukow.

COUNTRYSIDE MOURNS.

FROM VOLLRATHSRUHE, Mecklenburg, Germany, September 28 (Associated Press). — Baron Von Maltzan, German Ambassador to the United States, who was killed in an aeroplane accident last week, was laid to rest beside his forefathers on a pine-clad hill near Gross-Luchow Castle amid the sorrow of the entire countryside.

Despite the family's desire for privacy in these last rites, hundreds gathered and watched the funeral procession from a respectful distance as it passed from the castle over a road strewn with the branches of fir trees.

A memorial sermon was delivered in the hall of the castle by the local pastor, who spoke on the text: "The Lord hath given, the Lord hath taken away; praised be the name of the Lord." The pastor spoke with feeling on the good works of the late Baron and how he had faithfully served his country in difficult times. Then those present sang a hymn.

This service concluded, members of the local Veterans' Society carried the coffin to the hearse while others lined the route with banners.

Pancakes of fluffy lightness

Aunt Jemima's is an old recipe—now the most famous recipe in the world. It has stood the test of years. You could not readily buy all the rare flours it contains nor could you mix them so deftly.

It's the simplest matter to make these light, delicious food-morsels. Mix equal parts of the flour and milk. Stir to a smooth batter. Pour on a moderately hot griddle or waffle iron.* If milk isn't handy water will do. Small pancakes are easiest to cook.

Treat the family often—pancakes with syrup, with butter and brown sugar, with cooked fruits, or with bacon or fresh sausage. See how appetites are quickened.

Autumn time is pancake time. Fine for supper as for breakfast. Pancakes always win their way when made with Aunt Jemima. Order Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour from your grocer today.

*Note: Use a thick, cast iron or aluminum griddle when making pancakes as a thin frying pan of steel conducts the heat too rapidly for the best results. Cook with a moderate rather than a hot fire.

"I'se in Town, Honey."

Some like the Buckwheat best

Aunt Jemima prepared Buckwheat Flour is the Pancake Flour with Buckwheat Flour added. Nothing is so pleasing as the appetizing buckwheat aroma and the delightful buckwheat flavor. No other buckwheat pancakes can be so light. Keep both kinds on hand and have variety

CANADA'S SMALLEST MOTHER

VETERAN CONSERVATIVE.

Acton Burrows, Toronto, Ontario, will be an interesting delegate at the Dominion Conservative party convention in Winnipeg in October. He was one of the secretaries at the Conservative convention in 1878 — nearly half a century ago—when Sir John A. Macdonald's famous national policy was launched and he has the original of the resolution that was passed on that historic convention.

AVIATION PARTY PLANNED

At the UPPER LEFT is Miss Dorothy Ross, hostess at Canada's first "aviation party" for girls in Toronto, Ont., to which she has invited some 40 girls. In the RIGHT is Mrs. F. J. Wilding, who will chaperone them and who enjoyed an airplane trip, as did most, if not all, of the guests. At the CENTRE is Capt. Chris Evans, who piloted the plane. The LOWER picture shows the plane, with Capt. Evans and two fair passengers.

CANADA'S PRIZE WOLF HOUND

ART AT EXHIBITION

Among the many fine bronze displayed at the Canadian National Exhibition are those of Prime Minister the Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin and George Bernard Shaw shown above. They are the work of Mrs. Scott, widow of the heroic Captain Scott, Antarctic explorer, and have already attracted favorable attention.

FORCED DOWN.

Charles Levine, who after continued bad weather, had balked him in his intended transatlantic flight, took off from Cranwell, England, Thursday, in an endeavor to beat the long distance, non-stop flight record in an easterly direction by reaching Delhi, India, a distance of 4,750 miles, or Calcutta, 800 miles farther. His plane was forced down in Austria, however, and he has given up the attempt.

RIVALS OF PARIS STAGE

The two Janes of the Paris stage—Mlle. Marnac and Mlle. Renouardt—have never been content to confine their rivalry to the region lying behind the footlights. Recently Jane Renouardt slightingly remarked that Jane Marnac had many admirers, but that she hadn't heard of any of them proposing marriage. This was a jibe which she felt safe in making, for she herself had been recently honored with the proposal of matrimony from the Duc de Lorge. But Mlle. Marnac promptly countered by offering to bet 100,000 francs that she would be a wife before her rival was a duchess, and she won. Mlle. Marnac is seen on the LEFT and Mlle. Renouardt on the RIGHT.

BROKER UNDER ARREST

Henry W. Fields, alleged manager of Worthington & Co., brokers, and Mencey Seconder were among seven alleged brokers who face charges of false pretenses and conspiracy in connection with mining stock deals in Ontario. Fields, who is shown on the LEFT, is held under $20,000 bail, and Seconder and his companions under $10,000. Dr. Cotnam, M.P., North Renfrew, as a result of the case, will demand an investigation into stock acceptances on mining exchanges. He invested $37,000, he said, in the deal and now believes the stocks he bought are worthless and charges they were placed on an exchange list as something on which the exchange had passed.

TROUBLES IN BUNCHES

When Lady Terrington recently sued for a divorce from her husband, the well-known politician, financier and publisher, she revealed the existence of an affair which has subsequently meant nothing but trouble for him. While a voluntary exile in France, Lord Terrington's legal business fell to pieces, other of his interests became involved in the bankruptcy court, and he himself, while on his way back to England to endeavor to bring some order out of the chaos of his affairs, was placed under arrest by an overzealous French policeman and suffered a nervous collapse, which still prevents him from returning to England.

BEAUTY CONTEST BRIDES

Two charming winners of Canadian beauty contests are among the September brides. Miss Elizabeth Murray on the LEFT became the bride of Mr. C. Vern Waldorf of Toronto. Miss Murray was winner of the Parkdale Business Men's popularity contest in 1923. On the RIGHT is Mrs. Charles Okum, who won fame in 1923 as winner of the international beauty contest in Massey Hall, Toronto. Mrs. Okum was formerly Miss Jeannette Gibbole.

ELECTED TO COMMONS.

George Spotton, Conservative, who won the North Huron, Ontario, by-election with 4,531 votes. His Liberal opponent, Archibald Hislop, polled 4,333 and Sheldon Bricker, United Farmers of Ontario, 2,725.

GERMAN PRINCESS PLOTS FOR SON

Princess Cecile, wife of the ex-Crown Prince of Germany, is shown above with her eldest son, Wilhelm, whom she is scheming to place on a restored German throne. Against her is Hermine, wife of the ex-kaiser, who cherishes the hope that her husband may rule again. In this dissension German politicians see the chief cause of failure for royalist plots.

THE CAMPAIGN ENDORSED.

The campaign against diphtheria which began this week has been endorsed, it will be noticed, by the Board of Health, the Medical Association, the Board of Education, the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs and by other local organizations.

These bodies accept the immunization of young children against this dread disease as a safe and effective protection that will do much to stamp out diphtheria in Peterborough, and they have given the campaign their support.

Parents of children below the school age who have not been innoculated are urged to take advantage of the present opportunity.

Even if the innoculation at the school in their own particular neighborhood has been completed, the children may be brought to one of the other schools and given the toxoid there.

Transportation to and from school is being furnished by the Rotary Club, the innoculation is done without any charge to the parents, and there is no reason why every child in Peterborough below the school age should not receive the benefit of this effective shield against a disease that strikes with its greatest vigour at children of tender years.

GLARING HEADLIGHTS.

The importance of a systematic inspection of automobile headlights is shown by the results of a check-up made by a traffic officer at Stratford when in one evening twenty-five motorists were ordered to have glaring lights fixed immediately.

Inspection of the lights showed them to be in almost every conceivable state of focus, and the conditions revealed by this test could be duplicated on any highway in the Province any night the authorities decide to make a check-up.

No section of the Traffic Act is more constantly violated than that dealing with glaring headlights, and, on the other hand, the number of prosecutions under this particular section has been trifling.

It is high time that teeth were put in this legislation.

Blinding headlights are not only a constant nuisance on Ontario's roads, but they are also a source of grave danger, causing a large proportion of the accidents that supply the newspapers with so much copy these days.

If check-ups such as is reported from Stratford are generally adopted there will soon be a decided improvement in this respect.

YOU'LL HAVE TO KILL YOUR OWN.

The new regulations in regard to the sale of venison passed at the last session of the Legislature will mean that those people who like to sit down to a dinner of roast venison will have to go out and shoot a deer on their own account this fall, or establish friendly relationships with a generous hunter.

No longer will the butcher shops be adorned during the hunting season with the carcasses of slaughtered deer; no longer will the restaurants be able to put venison steak in a prominent place upon their menus.

While this change in the game laws will deprive some people of a chance to eat venison and many hunters of an opportunity to finance their holiday in the woods through the sale of the deer they shoot, it should work out to the betterment of hunting conditions.

The sale of venison had assumed considerable proportions, and there is reason to believe that in some cases butchers paid the license of hunters and sent them out to kill deer for commercial purposes.

Traffic of that kind will be effectively stopped by the new regulations.

ANOTHER BATTLE OF THE AGES.

Tex Rickard has not yet cornered all the fighters, and a battle is looming up with Miss Agnes MacPhail and ex-Premier Drury as the contestants that promises to be as full of action in its own way as any combat promoted by the wizard of Madison Square Garden.

Hostilities commenced during the North Huron by-election, and the probabilities are that the two will fight it out to a decision at the U.F.O. convention in December.

Already they are sparring.

Mr. Drury, according to the member from South East Grey, will not find the same courtesy, sympathy and support at the convention.

The former Premier comes back with an intimation that he does not propose to be put out of the U.F.O. by Miss MacPhail or her supporters.

The affair has all the earmarks of developing into a major action, and the convention will be looked forward to with more than the usual amount of interest.

Incidentally, it has given Miss MacPhail a chance to explain the difference between the Progressive party and the U.F.O., and her definition is not without its value.

"The Progressives," she explains, "are people who believe in forming a new party to capture enough seats in the House to form a new Government. But the U. F. O. believe it is the party system that is evil and not the individuals composing the parties."

So that is that.

GOOD TIMES IN CANADA.

The people of Canada ought to be gratified that the famous business statistician and student of economics, Roger Babson, has spoken recently in such glowing terms of the progress and prosperity that await Canada in the development of its natural resources. He is, perhaps, the keenest observer of the trend of economic currents on the North American Continent, and the most highly accredited forecaster of business conditions. The fact that he has spoken so glowingly of Canada's potentialities without feeling the necessity of uttering any warnings, means that the business enterprises of the Dominion are safe in going ahead. On the other hand, at the recent conference of United States national business interests he very strongly advised moderation both in business and in investments in that country during the coming year. He is reported to have said:

"A condition exists in the business world today that has never before existed since statistics on business conditions have been available. I refer to the fact that we are in a period of declining interest rates, which heretofore has never been followed by a panic; and at the same time we are in a period of declining commodity prices, which heretofore has never been followed by good times. That is, economic history shows that it has always needed high interest rates to bring on a panic, that it has always needed increasing prices to bring on prosperity, and that the two factors have never before existed simultaneously. Yet today we have the apparent paradox of low interest rates and declining commodity prices.

"The reason for this unusual situation is that there is today in the United States an excess of everything except religion. There is an excess of gold, which is the basic cause of the present dangerous inflation; there is an excess of manufacturing capacity, which is the cause of present severe competition; there is an excess of copper, lumber, oil, coal, rubber and other raw materials, which is upsetting commodity markets."

It is generally considered that the business interests of Canada are very closely related to those of the United States, yet at the present time the developments in Canada are so varied, and the demands of the country so great, that, apparently, in the opinion of even so great a financial expert as Mr. Babson, there is little probability that for some considerable time there will be any substantial curtailment of progress and prosperity in agriculture, mining, lumbering, fishing or in manufactures and commerce. It is to be hoped that this forecast, which is supported by those of many able financial experts in Canada, may prove to be true.—Brantford Expositor.

THE SMALL BUSINESS.

Big business is growing bigger. The tendency to consolidations, so apparent just before the war, is with us again. Merger follows merger. Particularly is this noticeable in the field of distribution, where the chain store idea has become a fetish. It is a sound enough idea and most of the chains are doing very well or have prospects of doing well. The independent retail merchant, who does not want to go into a chain or can not go into a chain, is naturally somewhat nervous. The movement is sudden and ominous; merchandising executives large and small have not fully adapted themselves to the new competition.

But "big business" in the retail field does not mean an end to all independent retailers. If one will calmly sort out the complex factors in the situation, give to each one its respective weight and attempt to forecast the probable trend of the different influences at work, he will see that to prophesy the elimination of the small retailer is as foolish as, on the other hand, to condemn the chain store as a menace.

Every big business was small one day. The soundest industries have grown from the smallest beginnings. Similarly the most successful stores are those that began in a small way and have built up a reputation for quality and service that has led to their inevitable but gradual expansion. Eventually they have become large organizations, either by internal growth or merger with similar units, but always after the hard work of building good-will had been done. The store chain or larger merchandising establishment that can start as a big concern is a rarity. There are some exceptions, of course, chiefly in the pure food field, but in each case these concerns are providing what is after all only a partial service to the housewife in the relation and handling of the foodstuffs for the family table.

There will always be new ventures into retailing and therefore always small stores. Every time a consolidation is effected, some enterprising executive of one of the stores in the group will feel the urge to become his own boss instead of remaining as a cog in a large machine. He will go across the road from his former store, open a shop, give a unique touch to its service or stock and lay the foundation for what many years hence may be a big business or part of a big business. He will draw business to his store, if he knows how to run it, and may do so without any permanent effect upon the institution he left.

Population and wealth are both growing. Continuously the demand of the country for merchandise is increasing. Every year more goods are bought. The larger units are in a strong position to gain much of the new business. But the increasing consumption provides openings for new retail units.

The independent retail merchant is not doomed to disappear. He is too vital a factor in distribution service. Individual stores may disappear as their owners grow old and find it profitable to sell out to the chains. Unprogressive and inefficient merchants will be swamped as they prove themselves incapable of stemming new tides. But many thousands of the old stores, well run, up-to-date, giving personalized service, will remain and their numbers will be augmented by the constant addition of new stores opened by ambitious young men with mental or monetary capital.—Financial Post.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The campaign against diphtheria is under way. It should have general support.

Paris and Berlin are still worried about which country was responsible for starting the Great War. There is not much to be gained in that kind of a discussion.

Jack Dempsey may be an ex-champion in the ring, but he still holds the box-office title.

Broadcasting of the next big prize fight may be barred. If Paulo Upcudun is one of the battlers it will be perhaps just as well for the announcer's sake.

After October 1 a red triangle will be displayed by all motorists whose cars have four-wheel brakes, but, as The Border Cities Star points out, drivers who have no brakes will be distinguished, as usual, by the hooting of the ambulance siren.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—Extreme dullness marked the export trade in Canadian grain yesterday owing to the fact that foreign buyers failed to respond to the offers made by local exporters.

There was some demand for Canadian scalping oats in the local market and sales of some round lots were made at 43c per bushel, c.i.f. Buffalo, and at 50c per bushel, c.i.f. Montreal. The trade in car lots of grain was quiet and prices were steady.

The local and foreign demand for Spring wheat flour showed a decrease and only a moderate amount of business was done. The Winter wheat trade was quiet and firm.

The market for millfeed was fairly active and steady. There was no improvement in the volume of business in standard grades of rolled oats and prices were unchanged.

The movement of baled hay for export account continued of a fair volume. The spot trade was quiet and values were firm.

Egg Trade Weak

A feature of the egg trade yesterday was the weaker feeling that developed for fresh firsts and seconds and prices were reduced one to two cents per dozen. This was attributed to the large supplies available and the small demand. The tone of the market for fresh extras was firm on account of the continued good demand and the somewhat limited offerings. Storage grades were unchanged. The receipts were 3,515 cases.

The cheese trade was in a somewhat unsettled condition yesterday and prices in consequence were irregular. This was attributed by some to the fact that English importers were not responding to higher figures asked over the week-end. It was reported that Western September make was offered on spot at 21⅞ to 22c per pound, while in other cases as high as 22¼c to 22½c per pound was quoted, with Eastern top grades at 21⅝c to 21¾c per pound. The receipts were 9,500 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—Corn prices underwent a severe tumble yesterday, the corn crop having again escaped an expected widespread frost. Heavy selling of corn futures deliveries took place and the day's lowest quotations were reached in the final hour. The corn market closed unsettled, 3¾ to 4¼c net lower; wheat unchanged to 1¼c up; oats at ½c decline to ¼c advance, and provisions 10c to 27c down.

Wheat values displayed a stubborn upward trend in the face of corn weakness. One of the reasons was better export demand for wheat from North America, European purchases yesterday aggregating about 1,000,000 bushels, largely wheat grown in the United States. Besides reports were current that a British trade authority anticipated raising his estimate of European breadstuff requirements, lateness of the trans-Atlantic harvest, together with drought in Australia, having reduced the prospective surplus. Oats were easy, sympathizing with corn.

A Thought For To-day

TROUBLE TEACHES HOW TO BE HAPPY

They were driving through the country and the wife of the rich man was finding fault with the trip when suddenly the driver discovered that it was necessary to detour, and Oh, My! what a rough road they had for five miles!

At last the dirt road led the expensive touring car back to the main highway and then everything was perfect sailing again.

It took five miles of dirt road to close the complaining countenance of that fault-finding lady.

It sometimes requires rough treatment to make folks appreciate the advantages they are able to enjoy.

If everything would always go our way, this life that we are living would be absolutely unbearable. Without a little trouble, some occasional pain, a few financial problems, or a disappointment now and then, we would not recognize happiness when we meet it.

JOLLY JINGLES By Graham Hunter

DAILY EDITORIAL BY DR. FRANK CRANE

RAILROADS AND AIR TRAFFIC
By Dr. Frank Crane.

At a meeting of railroad superintendents in San Francisco, E. H. Harmon said: "While there has been no definite move by any of the railroad systems as yet to launch a supplementary air service, we are giving study to the subject and must be prepared to take the necessary step, as in the case of motor transportation."

Lindbergh, when he flew direct from New York to Paris, and Chamberlin and Levine, when they flew from New York to Germany, gave an immense impetus to American air traffic.

That traffic must be advanced by Government subsidies or by private enterprise.

Mr. Clapp, a financial writer, has called attention to the fact that the railroads of the country, being in the transportation business, are the logical concerns to take up air traffic.

The railroads in many cases are fostering motor bus transportation, and there is no reason why they should not go into air transportation.

It is their business to carry passengers and they have abundant capital.

Air transportation is coming. The principle of the people of the United States is to advance this as much as possible by private initiative, and the railroads are the logical ones to take up this matter.

Mr. Ford has already directed his attention to air transportation, and when once the business has been gotten upon a profitable basis many other capitalists will be glad to engage in it.

Lindbergh always referred to himself and his plane as "we". This means that the machinery is quite as essential a factor in flying as the man.

We must have men of courage and daring, but we must also have machines of dependability.

The railroads are in the machine business. They have already brought the locomotive up to a high degree of efficiency and they are the logical ones to take hold of and improve the airplane until it becomes a commercial essential.

Brazilian's Record High Features Toronto Market

TORONTO, Sept. 28.— (Canadian Press.)—Climbing to a new record high for all time at 200, Brazilian was the feature of a remarkably active session of the Toronto stock exchange to-day. The dominant leaded in activity was Northern Bakeries, which had a turnover of ten thousand shares, but Brazilian's display of strength was foremost in interest. Bakeries climbed 3 at 41, and Brazilian's noon close of 199¾ was four points higher. Canadian Canners common jumped two at 67, International Nickel three-quarters at 71¼, and Steel of Canada four points at 185½ in the upturn.

Liquors were strong, Walkers climbing 1¼ at 55¾, and Gooderham gaining three at 52, but Seagram declined a little. The Oils were easier, Imperial at 62¼ and Petrol and McColl all losing fractionally. Imperial Bank had a three point rise at 243, but Commerce and Dominion weakened.

Wheat Prices Advance After Starting Weak

CHICAGO, September 28 (Canadian Press).—Wheat prices scored an early advance to-day after a hesitating start that was associated with better weather in Canada. Selling, though, lacked volume, and in some quarters there was an evident disposition to regard all bear factors as having been well discounted. Opening at ¼ cent decline to a shade advance, wheat soon rose all around. Corn started ½ cent to 1 1-8 cent off, weakened a little more and then recovered. Oats were firm. Provisions also tended higher.

Opening prices were: Wheat, September 128⅜, December 130 3-8. Corn, September 93 7-8, December 95½. Oats September 47¼, December 48 5-8.

New York Market Is Active and Strong

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—The stock market gave an impressive demonstration of strength today under the leadership of the investment rails and public utilities, several of which attained record high prices. Chesapeake and Ohio, which recently published a favorable August earnings statement, assumed the leadership of the rail group by climbing nearly six points to a new high record for all time at 204⅛. Nashville, Chattanooga, and St. Louis recorded a similar gain, while Bangor and Aroostook, Norfolk and Western, Texas and Pacific, Atchison, Delaware and Hudson, New Haven, and Pittsburgh and West Virginia advanced two to nearly four points.

Abitibi Power and American Waterworks (new), with gains of about 4 points each, led the advance in the public utilities.

INTEREST SHOWN BY CAT OWNERS

Many Wish To Join Club and Enter Pets In Show.

MEETING ON FRIDAY.

Now that the cat fanciers have got their club formed, the interest has awakened all over the city. Cat owners are telephoning their desire to become identified with the Club, and to show their Cats. Everyone who has not already done so, and is interested in the movement, is invited to let the secretary, Mrs. Chandler, or the President, W. S. Merrell know by letter or phone so that there will be a good strong membership before the date of the show, October 11 and 12. They are also asked to attend the meeting of the club at 5.15 on Friday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce.

Premium lists are almost complete and will be out in a day or so. There is a large classification, and sure to be a section for everybodys cat to compete in, no matter what its color may be.

Comfortable, clean stalls, pans, and feed will be provided with some member of the committee always in charge to look after the pets.

Regulation ribbons and rosettes will be used for the winners, the colors being: Blue for 1st; Red for 2nd; Yellow for 3rd; and Green for 4th or V.H.C. It is expected that the same judge who placed the awards at Toronto Exhibition will be here to officiate in the same capacity.

Nobody knows how good her cat is until the judge has passed on it, and every cat owner is surely anxious to prove that her secret opinion about her house pet is not a mistaken one.

The classes are not by any means confined to long-haired felines. There are many classes for the old-fashioned short-haired puss. So "get the comb and brush going and have your cat all slicked up for Tuesday, October 11th," is the advice of the officers.

SCOTCH BEAUTY HELD AT BORDER

WRONG FORM USED.

PRESCOTT, Ont., September 28. (Canadian Press). — The American consular authorities here expect early notification from Washington for permission to allow the entry into the United States of Mrs. William A. Logan, 19-year-old Scottish bride of a few weeks, who has been detained here for two weeks awaiting the requirements of the United States immigration laws being fulfilled.

Mr. Logan has been required to file a petition for the admission of his wife as a non-quota immigrant. This petition has to be passed upon by the United States Department of Labour and the Department of State.

Mrs. Logan, formerly Miss Jean Rutherford, of Dalkeith, Scotland, and winner of a beauty title as "Miss Great Britain," met Mr. Logan, aged 25, at a dance in Scotland four months ago. Following a brief courtship they became engaged. Mr. Logan, a prominent Louisville, Kentucky, business man, had to return home on business, but met his fiancee on her arrival at Quebec. They were married there on September 3, but were held up by red tape when they attempted to cross into the United States at Ogdensburg, N.Y.

PAPERS NOT CORRECT.

WASHINGTON, September 28 (Canadian Press).) — The failure of William A. Logan, of Louisville, Ky., properly to fill out a petition for the entry of his wife, formerly Miss Jean Rutherford of Dalkeith, Scotland, is all that is delaying her admission to the United States, it was said to-day at the Labour Department.

The question had arisen why Mrs. Logan, a British beauty contest winner, had not been granted immediate permission to come to this country, since her husband is an American citizen.

Assistant Secretary Husband explained to-day that the young woman's difficulty, illustrative of the technical problems incurred by many Americans who marry aliens, would only be temporary, as instructions would be issued to give her a passport as soon as her husband files a corrected application. The original petition was returned to Mr. Logan on September 17. Mrs Logan is not at Prescott, Ont., having been married at Quebec on September 3.

Y.P.L. CORN ROAST IS JOLLY AFFAIR

Fraserville United Circuit Observes Rally and Flower Sundays.

The season for corn roasts is here again. The Fraserville Y.P.L. had a jolly outing, with lots of corn, down by the river side on Friday night of last week. Also about a dozen young people from Fraserville League journeyed to Bailieboro on Monday evening of this week and took part with Bailieboro in their corn roast at Hibbard's Landing on Rice Lake.

The rally day services of the Sunday schools last Sunday were combined with Flower Sunday, when beautiful and well attended services were held in each of the three churches on the Fraserville circuit. At Bensfort the Rev. L. C. and Mrs. Smith, of the Baptist Church Mission in South India, spoke at the rally service, Mrs. Smith in native Indian costume. Mr. Joseph Wearing, of Peterborough, gave the address at Fraserville in the afternoon, while the Rev. H. W. Foley gave the address at Bailieboro.

The Rev. H. W. Foley attended the rally day service at Fairmount on Sunday afternoon and gave an address.

The Bailieboro church anniversary services and Thank offering will be held on Sunday, Oct. 16th, morning and evening, when the Rev. J. F. Lane, of Couton, will preach the sermons.

The Sunday following, Oct. 23rd, is Bensfort anniversary day, when the Rev. A. E. Thornley, M.A., of Mark Street, Peterborough, will have charge of the services morning and evening.

In spite of recent frost the flowers were abundant and very beautiful in the church decorations on Flower Sunday last week end.

The best wishes of a host of friends in South Monaghan will go with the Rev. L. C. and Mrs. Smith as they leave this week via Toronto and New York for their missionary work in India after two years' furlough in America. Mr. Smith's health is quite restored.

WINDSOR CHIEF STAYS IN OFFICE

Commission Refuses Suspension Demanded By Alderman.

WARNS OF INQUIRY.

WINDSOR, Ont., September 28. — Windsor Police Commissioners, at a special meeting yesterday afternoon refused to suspend Police Chief Daniel Thompson as demanded by Alderman Clyde Curry at Monday night's session of the City Council.

Ald. Curry has charged that Thompson and certain of his aids had collected fees for the issuance of immigration character certificates to persons leaving for the United States, and had not turned the money over to the city treasurer as required by the municipal statute. Ald. Curry said he had further charges to air, but he refused to show his hand as requested by Judge J. J. Coughlin. The Judge counselled against suspension of the Chief until Curry preferred a more specific charge.

A warning that he would present his charges before a Royal Commission regardless of what the Police Commission did, was delivered by Ald. Curry. Mayor Cecil Jackson asked Mr. Curry and Chairman, Garnet Edwards, of the Board of Works, to repeat other charges they had made in the City Council against Chief Thompson. The aldermen complied with this request, asserting again that the Chief had warned them he would "put them out of business if they did not lay off of him, as he had been there for a long time and would be there after they had left the City Council."

Magistrate Gundy suggested that an apology from the Chief would clear up that phase of the situation. Edwards said an apology would satisfy him. Judge Coughlin said, however, that these charges of discourtesy should be properly investigated. He said an apology may suit Edwards, but it may not suit the Commission.

Although the Commission, as requested by the City Council ordered a special report on all supposed fees collected since the Chief took office six years ago, Curry said this would not halt his proposed investigation by a Board other than the Police Commission. He said he had other charges which could not be covered by this report; involving the alleged payment to police officials of hundreds, perhaps thousands, of dollars, of which he could find no trace in Police Department records.

WATCH FOR ANNOUNCEMENT!

SAINT and SINNER

Although Faith had planned, in those long, sleepless hours of the night, to slip out of Joy's bed before her little sister had awakened, she had not counted on the fact that at camp Joy had been accustomed to rise at half past six. And in spite of her dismay at being caught, Faith could not be wholly sorry, for there was a flash of incredulous delight in the child's eyes when they flew open upon her adored big sister.

"You stayed all night with me, didn't you, Faith?" she cried, hugging Faith ecstatically. "You thought I'd be lonesome without my mama, didn't you, Faith? Oh, I do love you so much!"

"Yes, darling, but go back to sleep now for an hour," Faith whispered. "It's awfully early. We mustn't wake up the others."

At half past seven promptly she heard Bob enter the bathroom; then above the rush of water into the tub she heard him whistling cheerfully, the tune he always whistled while shaving—"I wander today o'er the hills Maggie"—and again anger and bitterness swept over her in a hot tide. He could eat; he could sleep; he could whistle as if nothing whatever had happened! When at last she heard their bedroom door slam and she knew he had gone to get the morning paper from the front porch, she darted into the room and secured the pretty printed percale housedress that she had decided to wear. Not that she wanted to look pretty for him! But, back in Joy's room, into which she had determined to move her clothes as soon as Bob had left the house, she took extra pains with her hair and her face, even going so far as to use a little rouge to hide the pallor which a night's sleeplessness had laid heavily upon her cheeks.

She did not see Bob until he entered the dining room, where she was calmly presiding over the breakfast table, serving Joy and Cherry, on time for once, with blueberries and cream.

"Morning, everybody!" Bob called out cheerfully, not lifting his eyes from the paper he held in his hands. "I see that another brace of fliers is taking off for France today. Pretty soon they'll have to have air traffic cops over the ocean, to keep the trans-Atlantic fliers from bumping into each other."

"Bob, you oughta seen me this morning!" Joy bubbled. "When I woke up and found Faith in bed with me, I nearly jumped outa my skin, I was so tickled. Will you let her stay all night with me lotsa times, Bob?"

When the child had begun to speak, Faith had tried desperately to attract her attention and give her a signal of silence, but she had not succeeded.

Cherry's golden eyes, as sunny as if she had not left the living room the night before in a fury because of George Pruitt's too-evident preference for Faith, flew wide with astonishment, darted, gleamingly, from Bob's face to Faith's.

"How awfully sweet of you, Faith!" she sang out in her high, musical voice, rippled with malicious amusement. "I don't suppose by any chance that that model couple, the Robert Hathaways, have quarreled? Did Bob arrive at the psychological moment last night when the doughty George was bidding you a fond good-bye, darling? I thought those things only happened in the movies."

"Quarreled, Cherry?" he drawled. "Sorry to disappoint you, but there has been no quarrel and—there won't be."

But Faith knew that the last words were meant for her, not for Cherry.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND KATY DIDN'T

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the rabbit gentleman's wife one afternoon as she saw him hop on his tip toes down off the front steps of his hollow stump bungalow. "Why so secret like?"

"Hush!" begged Mr. Longears, putting his paw up to his lips. "I am going off in the woods and look for Baby Bunty's green hair ribbon that she lost yesterday. I don't want her to know it. I am going to try to find it so I can surprise her."

But a moment later Uncle Wiggily

"Please take me with you!"

himself was given a surprise, for around the corner of the stump bungalow came hopping Bunty herself with a piece of carrot bread, covered with turnip jam in her paws, and she cried:

"I heard you! I heard you, Uncle Wiggily. Please take me with you to help find my lost green hair ribbon. And I won't talk baby talk—not once!"

"Dear me! I didn't know you were around!" said Mr. Longears, scratching his pink, twinkling nose with the brim of his tall, silk hat. "I thought I could slip off quietly by myself."

"Well, I fooled you; aren't I—I mean didn't I?" asked Bunty with a laugh. "And will you please take me?"

"Yes, you did and I will," said Uncle Wiggily, whereat Bunty clapped her paws in delight, and also to knock off some of the jam that stuck to them and she chuckled.

"Oh, Unkie Wig—I mean Uncle Wiggily, for I promised I wouldn't say baby talk any more—you sound like the green bug."

"What green bug?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Like Katy Did," explained Bunty. "When you said I did fool you; don't you remember; it sounded like the green bug."

"Oh, yes, the green Katy Did bug you thought was your hair ribbon," went on Mr. Longears. "Well, come along, Bunty, we'll see if we have any luck in the woods today."

After Nurse Jaen Fuzzy Wuzzy had made Baby Bunty wash her sticky jam paws the little rabbit girl hopped along with the rabbit gentleman and soon they were in the deep woods. They looked all around for a sight of the lost hair ribbon, but could not find it and Bunty said:

"I wonder who took it?"

"Katy didn't! Katy didn't!" suddenly answered a voice.

"Oh, I know you didn't," went on Bunty, peering about for a sight of the green bug which she had followed yesterday. "I know you didn't, Katy, so don't worry."

Then as the green insect crawled on a log Bunty added:

"But you aren't the one I saw yesterday; are you?"

"No, I'm another Katy," was the answer. "I'm Katy Didn't."

"Didn't what?" asked Bunty, looking at the green insect which was larger than the Katy Did of yesterday. "What didn't you do?"

"I didn't do anything," was the answer. "And, most especially I didn't take your hair ribbon."

And then from another log a voice called:

"Katy did! Katy did!"

"Oh, dear!" signed Bunty. "This is very confusing! One Katy says she did and another Katy says she didn't. But where is my nice, new green hair ribbon? That's what I want to know. It is the same pretty color as you two Katy bugs," went on the little orphan rabbit girl. "I wish I had it back."

"I'll go look for it," chirped Katy Did.

Away flew the two pretty, light green bugs and Uncle Wiggily explained to Bunty that they were something like grasshoppers. They made the sounds which seemed to say "Katy did," and "Katy didn't," with their fluttering, rasping wings and never harmed any one.

"Do you think they'll find my hair ribbon?" asked Bunty. And just then the smaller green bug came flying back, saying:

"Katy did! Katy did! But Katy didn't help! Katy did!"

"Oh, did you? Where is it?" Bunty wanted to know. Then Katy Did told how she and her sister Katy Didn't flew amid the trees until, not far away, they saw Bunty's hair ribbon caught on a bramble bush.

"I knew it because it is just my color!" sang Katy Did. Then Bunty and Uncle Wiggily hopped to the bramble bush and there they found the lost ribbon, so everything was all right. Thanking the two Katies, Mr. Longears and Bunty hopped home to the bungalow.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, McClure Syndicate.)

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1927

This is rather an unfavorable day, according to astrologers who find malefic aspects dominant.

Early in the morning the planetary influences are stimulating and helpful, making for vigorous effort.

Constructive activities are well directed. Engineers should benefit, although delays for those interested in foreign contracts are indicated.

This is not a lucky day for beginning ocean voyages for delays are forecast. Early autumn storms may be extraordinarily severe.

Agitation regarding oil and oil production is prognosticated. Prices for by-products including gasoline appear to be likely to rise, if the stars are to be believed.

Under this planetary government wily schemes of many sorts are supposed to flourish.

Both men and women may be tempted to indulge in small deceptions and decided departures from the truth, while this rule prevails.

The aspects are not auspicious for new ventures in business and it is well to be conservative in using credit.

The evening is read as not favorable for making new friendships and persons of opposite sex may be disappointed in first meetings.

Much misapprehension regarding public issues is presaged by the stars, which may encourage severe and unjust criticism of public men, especially candidates for office.

London astrologers are foretelling inventions that will revolutionize steamships.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of rather an unimportant year in which they will, however, have much happiness in their friendships.

Children born on this day probably will be strong mentally and physically, the subjects of this sign are likely to be agressive and able to lead.

Collegiate Girls Exercise In Park

On days when the weather is fine, observers in Confederation Square are entertained by two score or more of be-middied High school girls with their instructor, spending their "cal. periods" in the park, where two diamonds are marked out and four teams are chosen for soft ball.

The games are played with a great deal of enthusiasm, and it is with reluctance that the summons of the bell, calling them back to studies, is obeyed.

The father of the marquis was a famous diplomatist, viceroy of India and governor-general of Canada. The present Lord Dufferin is honorary colonel of the Dufferin Rifles of Canada. He served in the Boer War and the Great War. The family seat is at Clandeboye, Ulster, and when the Northern Ireland Parliament was created he was appointed speaker of the Senate, vice-admiral of Ulster and deputy lieutenant of County Down. The marquis was born in Ottawa when his father was in office there. He is visiting at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, for a few days.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Brown bear fur gives the touch of newness to this sport coat of heavy brown cloth. The skirt is of brown and tan wool mixture with a wool jersey sweater and a brown and tan checked scarf.

Jean Patou, the famous dressmaker, was recently quoted as saying that he "could no more use those fancy furs of the rabbit and hare family." He doesn't like imitation furs any more than he likes imitation jewelry, and he would like to think that it is contrary to the instincts of a true French woman ever to content herself with second rate furs or jewelry.

There is, of course, much to be said on both sides of the question. If a fur is effective and looks all right what difference does it make if it is rabbit plucked and sheered and dyed to look like something else? Very few furs come to us in anything at all like their natural state.

But, for my own part, since I cannot afford Russian sable or many diamonds I would rather wear some good fur or jewelry that was as good as it could be had of its sort than rabbit dyed to look like sable or brilliants mal paste. But that is merely a persons prejudice. I know plenty of very well-dressed women, women of the best possible taste, who can hardly understand such a prejudice—in fact, there are plenty of women who, while perfectly able to afford sable and all sorts of diamonds, wear the imitations just because they are cheap and may be easily replaced.

The tendency right now really does seem to be against the cheap imitations. Chains of real aqua-marines, topazes or amethysts are suggested by Patou instead of those of imitation pearls—and such really good but not high-priced furs as bear have been chosen by some of the coatmakers for collars and other decorations.

WARSAW NEWS

WARSAW, Sept 28.—Rally Day was observed in the local Sunday Schools last Sunday.

A record attendance of nearly eighty at the Presbyterian school was most encouraging. Dr. Munroe's orchestra assisted and provided special music. Mr. Currie delivered the address on "How to be Christlike."

Special harvest home services were held in the Anglican church on Sunday afternoon with an attendance of over ninety. Rev. Mr. Creighton of Lakefield, assisted by Mr. Ferton conducted the service. The church was tastefully and suitably decorated. A tribute was paid to Dummer corn by the minister when he said: "It is said a three-inch nail will hold a man, but it apparently fails to hold this corn."

Evelyn Hawthorne is holidaying at her home.

4 out of 5 start too late

Among the people you see today, four out of five past forty (and many younger) are victims of Pyorrhea—simply because they started too late to protect teeth and gums.

Pyorrhea starts with tender, bleeding gums. Unchecked, it undermines youth and health and often results in loss of teeth, neuritis, ulcers, rheumatism or other serious diseases.

But have no fear. If you start in time, you can prevent or check the inroads of Pyorrhea. See your dentist at least twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the Gums.

This dentifrice prevents Pyorrhea or checks it. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., a recognized specialist in Pyorrhea.

Forhan's firms the gums, keeps them healthy. It protects teeth from decay-breeding acids and keeps them white.

Don't gamble with health! Start the Forhan morning-and-night habit, now. Teach your children to use it, too, as health-insurance. Play safe. Get a tube today. At all druggists', 35c and 60c.

SPORTS DAY AT ROSENEATH

Athletic Association Arranges Program of Track and Field Events.

BALL GAME FEATURE

ROSENEATH, Sept. 28.—One of the best social evenings in some time was spent on Tuesday evening when the Young People's League gave a corn roast.

The regular meeting was conducted in the church. After the devotional period, a short time was taken up with a debate—"Resolved that education can do more for the interest of temperance than legislation. Rev. M. R. Brown and Mr. Howard H. Lapp taking the affirmative and Messrs. Orra Robins and Andrew Brown the negative. Both were very interesting. The auditors were to be the judges and voted by ballot, the vote resulting in a tie.

After the meeting, while the pine stumps were burning brightly and the corn was cooking, the young and old people sang the old time songs that everybody knows, chatted and laughed together, getting themselves ready for a good feed of corn, sandwiches and many other appetizing edibles. Even though the weather was somewhat cool it did not prevent many from staying home to miss the treat.

Sports Day Arranged.

The largest future event is the big sports day on Saturday, October 1st, at the Exhibition Park.

The Roseneath Amateur Athletic Association have arranged a sports programme which will start at 1.30 p.m., consisting of races, including the 100 yard dash, half-mile race, one mile walk, high jump, pole vault, broad jump, etc. The two chief events which are attracting most atetntion are the three mile race and the baseball game.

Several are training for the three mile race and when the gun goes off it is hoped the track will be covered with Marathon aspirants, who are just starting on their upward trend toward the Olympics.

The baseball game between the married men and single men has created excitement and the interest taken as to the outcome of the game is rapidly increasing.

The married men are relying on Leach and Shearer to pitch their team to victory, while the single men have their clever south paw, Dunnett, and the right hander, Davey, to put across a win.

This is the first Sports Day put on by the newly organized Athletic Association and the members hope to see a large gathering help the Association along to promote clean sport for Roseneath and the community.

WEDDING BELLS.

NELSON—BARNUM.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Sept. 28.—A very interesting event to the people of this locality took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barnum, 9th concession of Seymour, on Wednesday afternoon, when their youngest daughter, Verna Grace, was united in marriage with Robert Stewart Nelson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, West Seymour. The ceremony was performed at the hour of three o'clock by the bride's pastor, Rev. Charles Daniel in the presence of over forty relatives and intimate frineds.

The bride, looking lovely in her wedding gown and veil of purest white, entered the room on the arm of her father to the tune of the time-honoured wedding march, played by her cousin, Evelyn Barnum. The young couple were assisted by Miss Mabel Ross of Madoc and Mr. Clarence Barnum.

After the usual round of congratulations, confetti decorating and filming of the bridal party and visitors, a dainty buffet luncheon was served by a number of the bride's girl friends.

The young couple left by motor on Thursday morning for Toronto and other western points, and on their return they will reside on Centre street, Campbellford.

Among the relatives and friends from a distance were Mrs. Sloggett and son of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. P. Morgan, Peterborough; Miss Hazel Ross, Madoc; Miss Regena Tamblyn, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. E. McKeown, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Johnston and Mrs. Charles Nelson, of Campbellford.

Among the many interesting snapshots taken of the event was one of the bridal pair with Mrs. Charles Nelson the oldest member of the party, eighty-three years of age, and the youngest member, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson.

OBITUARY.

J. B. WELDON.

LINDSAY, Ont., September 28 (Canadian Press). — The death occurred at Oakwood yesterday of J. B. Weldon, aged 71, who for 25 years past has been clerk and treasurer of Mariposa Township. Heart failure was the cause. His public offices included secretary of Oakwood Fair for 25 years, treasurer of the Methodist Church for 25 years, and insurance agent for 30 years. He at one time taught school in Mariposa Township, and kept store at Little Britain.

MRS. SARAH CARTER.

HASTINGS, September 28.—There passed away on Saturday, September 24, a highly respected resident of Hastings, Mrs. Sarah Carter, widow of Joseph Carter (who predeceased her 21 years ago), in her ninetieth year. She enjoyed the best of health until about six weeks ago, when she fell and broke her leg. She bore her suffering with patient fortitude, and was ready for the call and passed peacefully away. She was held in high esteem by all who knew her, and her passing will bring sorrow to many hearts. She will be greatly missed in the village, especially in the United Church, where she was a constant and devoted member.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. C. Hie, assisted by Rev. M. L. Hinton of Bobcaygeon, and Rev. D. A. Thomson, of the Presbyterian Church, Hastings. The pastor spoke from II. Timothy, 4th chapter, verses 6, 7, 8. He compared the deceased to Paul, who was ready for his departure, and who was sure of his heavenly inheritance. Mr. J. C. Wilson sang "Face to Face" at the close of the service. A striking feature of the service was the kindness and sympathy shown to her by the ladies of the church, by the draping of her pew in black and purple.

The pall-bearers were her four sons, Mr. Alex. Wilson, and Mr. Albert Brooks. The funeral cortege was followed by a large number of friends to the Trent Valley Cemetery, where interment took place.

LEGION THANKS AUTO OWNERS

Motion Carried at Meeting in Campbellford—No Honorary Members Yet.

NEW MEMBER RECEIVED.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 28. —The meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, held in the Legion Club Rooms of the Armouries last night, opened with the application for another membership which was accepted. The new member is C. Dawes. A few business items which had been left over from the previous meeting were dealt with, among them being the matter of decorations for the Legion Booth at the Campbellford Fair, and an account of $1.40 for canvas which was ordered paid. A committee to arrange for supplies for the booth was also appointed.

The general business of the present meeting was entered upon with a motion by Long and Cuditt that inquiries be made at the Department of Customs, Ottawa, regarding any vacancies in that department which might be taken by an ex-service man.

Comrades Free and Morgan put a motion expressing the gratitude of the Legion to those who had given the use of their cars to the Legion for transportation of members to Alderville on Sunday last, on the occasion of the unveiling of the memorial there. The motion was carried, and many of the members spoke very highly of others who had assisted in other ways.

The matter of appointing honorary members was discussed at some length. As there was some difference of opinion as to who should be the first to receive the honour, the matter was laid on the table. It would be an absolute impossibility to elect as many as were suggested, in the opinion of the members.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 4, at 7.30 instead of the usual hour of 8 o'clock.

LOVING GREETING

The custom of a triple kiss between two men startled Toronto, Ont., theatre patrons recently, when Prince Serge Volkonsky, famous Russian swordsman, met Philip Pelz, a friend of 18 years ago, by chance in a theatre lobby. They were both patrons of the Czar and at one time the Prince was a violin pupil of Pelz. ABOVE the pair are shown greeting each other after an 18-year absence. Pelz being the larger man facing the camera.

ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED

Bethany United Church Arranges Services and Fowl Supper.

BETHANY NEWS

BETHANY, Sept. 27.—At a meeting of the church session of the United church here, held on Tuesday afternoon and evening, it was decided to hold the anniversary services on October 9th. The Rev. Archer Wallace, M.A., of Toronto, has been secured as preacher for that day. Dr. Wallace is widely known as an orator and author, and the people will receive a rare treat on this occasion.

The evening following, Monday, October 10, the ladies of the congregation have decided to serve one of their well-known fowl dinners in the basement of the church.

Dr. Wallace will again give one of his lectures. There will also be a good programme by local talent.

The committee is sparing no pains to make this anniversary a red-letter day. Miss Isabel Black, of Peterborough, who is always a favorite with a Bethany audience, has consented to assist with the service of song on Sunday.

The Women's Missionary Society of the United church held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Weatherilt on Thursday afternoon.

Ten members and two visitors were present. Miss Richardson presided. The Rev. A. Poulter, who was present gave a very interesting address on the new Canadians, soliciting the help of all Christian people in making a good example to have these people become good and loyal citizens of Canada. These people, Mr. Poulter said, needed Christian teaching and training to become citizens worthy of Canada.

Miss Hazel Jackson sang as a solo, "There's a beautiful land on High." At the conclusion of the meeting a social half hour was enjoyed and Miss Lily Weatherilt served a dainty lunch which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The society packed a bale of new and good second hand clothing, also some new quilts and had it shipped to an Indian Girls' school at Coqualitza, B.C. The bale was valued at $80.00.

Hazel and Dorothy Fallis and Bruce Smith were the winners of the cash prizes offered by the Women's Institute of the village to the pupils of the village school who took the largest number of prizes at the recent school fair which was held at Ballyduff on Friday, September 16th. The prizes were 1st, $3.00; 2nd, $2.00 and 3rd, $1.00. These prizes were offered at the beginning of the season to stimulate the failing interest in the school fair which the children were beginning to show.

Grandstand Finished.

At last the long looked for grand stand on the athletic park has been completed. It is not, however, as pretentious as some grand stands, on some ball parks, for it hasn't as yet a roof, but that is to be expected some day, but it is a strong and commodious-looking affair and looks as though it were large enough to hold a thousand, so that no one need remain at home from a ball game in the fear of not getting a seat.

This grandstand has long been needed and so will be all the more appreciated by baseball fans and others who attended the various activities held on the park.

WESTWOOD W.M.S. HEARS GOOD REPORT

WESTWOOD, Sept. 28.—The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church was held on Wednesday afternoon in the church. There was a good attendance. A splendid report of the work at Whitby summer school was given by Mrs. Clegg, a delegate of Knox Church, Peterborough.

Light refreshments were served at the close of the meeting and a social half-hour spent.

Miss Gwen Renwick is attending Campbellford High School in preparation for training as a nurse.

Mr. Gordon Douglas, who has spent the summer in Baltimore, has returned to his home here.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, September 28. — Lower quotations in Liverpool and Buenos Aires and fine weather all over the Canadian West led to a lower opening in the Winnipeg market and a somewhat restricted market all day. Though all months opened lower, the final prices showed that only October closed below Monday, or ¾c down. November advanced ⅛c, December ⅛c, and May ⅛c. October oats advanced 1⅛c, December ⅞c, and May ⅝c.

Speculators seem to shy a bit at the report of a further depression moving from East to West that might portend further unsettled weather in the West. At the moment weather conditions are generally fine. Exporters were doing a little more business. Country deliveries for Monday ran more than three million bushels, and inspections were markedly increased.

Argentina is getting abundant rain in time to be of the maximum benefit.

There was a limited demand from Canadian millers for cash wheat and spreads remained unchanged to 1⅛c lower on higher grades. In the coarse grain market demand continued good for barley and rye.

BEAR WRECKS SEDAN.

ASHFORD, Wash., Sept. 28. — A picnic party in Rainier National Park returned to their parked car after a short hike and found a large bear clambering onto the top. The top of the sedan gave way under the animal's weight and let it down into the tonneau, where it smashed its way to freedom. All of the car except the chassis was demolished.

MRS. DEWART WINS TROPHY

Defeats Mrs. Hewett in Finals on the Y.M.C.A. Courts.

THREE SETS NEEDED.

Mrs. J. A. Dewart was the winner of the finals for the Kerr Cup in the Y.M.C.A. tennis tournament, when she defeated Mrs. Hewett 2—6, 6—4, 6—2.

It looked like an upset when Mrs Hewett took the first set at 6—2 and continuing her clever placements went on to even the second set at 4-all

At this point Mrs. Dewart steadied while Mrs. Hewett was losing her accuracy and Mrs. Dewart took the two odd games for the set.

In the third, while Mrs. Hewett tried hard all the way, she did not have quite enough left to keep the ball away from a fast travelling opponent, and Mrs. Dewart literally romped home a winner for the second year in succession

FINES IMPOSED IN ASSAULT CASE

Belmont Young Men Have Made Settlement With Injured Man.

HAVELOCK, Sept. 28.—The adjourned court case of J. J. Brethour vs. Elmer Sanders and J. Hiscock was reopened yesterday afternoon and Sanders and Hiscock, who were charged on Thursday of last week before County Magistrate O. A. Langley with assault, were each fined $5.00 and costs. The costs in each case amounting to $11.75.

F. D. Kerr, who appeared for the defendants, addressed the court and said that during the time which had elapsed since the case last week, the parties so far as they were concerned had come to an amiable settlement and that the defendants were willing to make substantial compensation to the claimant for the pain and suffering which they had caused him. Also that they wished to withdraw the plea of "not guilty," and plead "guilty." Mr. Kerr requested the court to deal leniently with them. They were respectable young people who had learned a lesson and received substantial financial punishment, and it was the first time they had appeared in court.

W. Huycke, counsel for the plaintiff, stated that he had told the situation to the Crown Attorney, and that the Crown was willing to acquiesce to the request of Mr. Kerr, the case to be disposed of as a common assault charge.

After imposing the fines, Magistrate Langley addressed the guilty parties. "You know," he said, "what I think of your conduct from what I said last week, so I do not want to say a word today that might have a tendency to destroy the friendly relations which I trust will exist in the future between you and this young man. You have had a good lesson. It has cost you a lot of money and I hope there will not be any need of a further lesson. I hope you will never be guilty of such conduct again. It isn't manly. The finest athletes do not go in for anything like that. I think you have done wise to make a settlement and in making up the friedly relations," he concluded.

WOMAN HELD FOR POISONING

Mrs. Bessie Talley Under Arrest in Connection With Husband's Death.

ARRAIGNED TO-DAY.

SIMCOE, Sept. 28. — Charged with poisoning her husband, Emmet Talley, 48-year-old tobacco grower, Mrs. Bessie Talley was arrested on her read husband's farm near the Village of Delhi, late yesterday afternoon, by Inspector Ward of the Criminal Investigation Department, Toronto, and is now lodged in the Norfolk County Jail at Simcoe. Crown Attorney Kelly last evening stated that the woman would be arraigned in Police Court at Simcoe in the morning, and that he will ask for a week's remand in order that witnesses may be summoned.

He also stated that Mrs. Talley's arrest would have followed sooner after the inquest which was held at Delhi about two weeks ago, had she not been ill. Dr. Ernest Zumstein the family doctor at the inquest reported that he had attended Mrs. Talley the previous day and that she was too ill to attend the probe. She is the mother of three children, the eldest being about 10 years old. Mrs. Talley is a good-looking woman about 32 years old, and came to Delhi with her husband from Leamington early last spring. She is a native of North Carolina, while Talley was a Virginian.

The husband died in agony early on the morning of Aug. 1, and both Dr. Zumstein, who attended him, and Dr. Hare, of Simcoe, who was consulted told at the inquest that they suspected strychnine poisoning from the outset. The analysis of the contents of the stomach made by the Provincial Analyst, confirmed their suspicions.

Henry Mauthe, the hired man at the Talley home, testified that two pigs died in convulsions after he had fed them the contents of a pail of swill given to him later on the morning of Talley's death by Mrs. Talley.

Mrs. Talley's mother, Mrs. Tillotson, at the inquest, at first denied having purchased strychnine in Canada but upon the sales records from Willoughby's drug store, in Leamington being produced for Feb. 12 last, showing the woman's signature, she said did did recall having bought strychnine there. She swore that she made the purchase at Talley's request for the purpose of poisoning a dog that was robbing setting hens' nests.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 28.— The friends of Mrs. John Maynard will be pleased to know that her condition is slowly improving, although it is still very grave. Mrs. Maynard was suddenly taken violently ill early Monday morning.

Through an error on the part of some of the baseball officials, Ted Blute's name was not included on the list of those who were to receive miniature cups. This is more easily understood when it is recalled that Ted did not feature in the games after the first part of the season. He was employed out of town, and his employment was of such a nature that he was unable to be at leisure whenever required. It is understood that all possible haste is being employed in rectifying this mistake, and that Ted will receive a cup as well as the other players.

At the local Lawn Bowling Club, Mrs. Jack Linton and Mrs. H. O. Richardson were hostesses to five tables of bridge yesterday afternoon, Mrs. W. S. Wiggins won the prize for having the highest score and tea was poured by Mrs. E. C. Dolman and Mrs. A. Haig.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Young People's Society will be at home to the young people of the congregation and any others who wish to be in any way associated with the society, on Monday evening, October 3rd. The evening will be of a social nature and an interesting time is assured any who attend. While this meeting is not for re-organization purposes, it will be something of that nature since it is early in the season's work. It is to be, in fact, a young people's rally.

PAPERS BUY EGGS

RAPID CITY, S.D., Sept. 28.—An engineer and his wife returned here after three years in the Belgian Congo, report that only with newspapers and magazines could they obtain fresh eggs from the natives. Money means nothing to them, but they would trade nine eggs for a Sunday newspaper that had comics and picture sections. Illustrated magazines bring from three to five eggs.

Belmonts Lose First Game of Softball Finals

ERRORS COSTLY FOR CLUB BOYS IN 10-5 DEFEAT

Belmonts Lose Game Owing To Failure to Bunch Hits.

LACK OF PRACTICE.

Fielding of Harrison at Shortstop Feature of Game.

Hamilton Linkerts, winners of Western Ontario, defeated the Belmonts yesterday afternoon by 10 runs to 5 at the Jamie Stevenson Park, in the first game of the Ontario softball finals.

The Peterborough team showed lack of practice, as they have been idle for almost six weeks since they won the Eastern Ontario section. On the whole, the Hamilton team played a brand of ball that has not been seen in Peterborough for some years.

The Belmonts got the hits, but they failed to bunch them, and this, along with seven errors, cost them the game. Seven of the nine Hamilton players broke into the hitting column, while six of Peterborough's men got there.

The Peterborough errors were mostly around first and third, as Hall and Frick got three each. Haskill was the run-getter for the Belmonts when he crossed the plate with three of their runs. Doc. Green ogt three of the ten hits.

The fielding of Harrison at shortstop was the most spectacular playing of the game. McLean was replaced by Carruther in the seventh, and held the winners to two runs. Ash played a wonderful game in the right field.

Had Fast Ball.

Webb, who pitched for Hamilton had a very fast ball, with all kinds of stuff in it. Eight players went by the strike-out route. The Hamilton boys had the team play down to a science, and caught the Belmont runners several times off their base.

Each team scored one in the first, but in the second the Belmonts got off to a poor start when Frick dropped a sure out from Hall. Over anxiousness added another error at first, and before the side was retired, two runners had crossed the plate. In this frame the Belmonts all went out by the strike-out route, but in the third they came back with another tally.

Hamilton scored one in the third, three in the fourth, and one in the fifth. Their three in the fourth was the result of several bad throws. In the eighth they scored twice again, while in the ninth the three batters went out by grounding to shortstop.

The Belmonts staged a ninth inning rally, when after two out, Green was given first base on interference by the catcher. Haskill lifted one into middle field which was dropped in the scramble after the fly. Delahaye walked and the next three batters singled, scoring three runs. Holyman batted for Frick in this inning.

DEFEAT ATHLETICS 7-4.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—The Yankees handed the Athletics a 7 to 4 drubbing yesterday before 12,000 fans, while Ruth and Gehrig each contributed a homer, the Babe poling out his 57th. with the bases full in the sixth, and Lou his 46th. with none on in the fourth. Ruth needs a home run in each of the three remaining games to break his 1921 record of 59. Hitting for the circuit with all the sacks occupied, has been a rare feat for Ruth. He had accomplished the performance six times previously but this was his third as a Yankee.

A scheduled double-header, Washington at Boston, was postponed because of wet grounds.

JUNIOR SERIES OPENS TO-DAY

Jess Barnes and Leo Mangum Will Be the Opposing Moundsmen.

TOLEDO-BUFFALO.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Jess Barnes, veteran of many major league campaigns and Leo Mangum, one of the leading pitchers of the International League this season, will be the opposing moundsmen when Toledo and Buffalo meet in the first game of the junior world's series here this afternoon.

Manager Casey Stengel selected Barnes to do the hurling for the Mudhens even before Toledo clinched the bunting. Manager Bill Clymer's choice of Mangum followed a snappy practice session at Swayne Field yesterday morning.

Eligible players of both teams are all in excellent condition with the exception of Pitcher Walter Huntzinger of Toledo. Huntzinger is out of the series with a broken hand. He suffered the injury two weeks ago but pitched and won a game for the Mens during the Toledo team's sensational drive through the stretch.

Ruth Clouts Out Homer Number 57

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press). — Babe Ruth propelled his 57th circuit drive off Pitcher Grove of the Athletics yesterday with the bases full and two out, bringing him within two of his record mark. As an off-day faces the Yankees to-day, Ruth will swing into action in the three remaining games with the Senators, starting to-morrow. Gehrig slammed his 46th homer off Pitcher Quinn.

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP GIVEN BIG WELCOME BY RING FANS

Mob Greets Tunney On His Arrival From Cleveland.

TELLS OF FIGHT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — (Canadian Press). — The crisp Gene Tunney expected to face sooner or later in his ring career—coming up from the floor dazed and wobbly at the count of nine—taught the heavy weight champion something new about psychology.

On his home coming yesterday from the Soldiers Field battleground, Gene told how for half a dozen years he had planned to meet the situation that confronted him when Jack Dempsey crashed him to the floor in the seventh round of the spectacle on the Chicago Lake front.

Outside of 42nd street a mob of over 1,000 fans yelled for a sight of the champion who rose from the resin dust to pound Dempsey into submission for the second time. They had met Tunney as he came into Grand Central station from Cleveland, rushed the guards, closed in to shake his hand, and had pursued the big marine through an underground passage to a hotel lobby and thence to the front of manager Billy Gibson's office. They wanted a speech.

Planned Reaction.

Unmindful of the racket outside Gene sat on the top of the same desk in the same position in which he greeted friends and scribes after stripping Dempsey of the title at Philadelphia last fall. His mind was full of psychology and the reaction he had planned for the crisis— a reaction that never came.

"Ever since I entered the professional ring in 1919 I have known that sooner or later I must be knocked down," he said. "I also know that when that happened, I must get up, come on, and win my fight despite the handicap.

"I had worked out two lines of action. The first was to get up and camouflage my real condition by letting go a right hand punch with everything behind it—including a prayer that it landed. The second was to get up and dive into a clinch, holding on desperately no matter how the referee tried to break us, and if necessary to go down again for another count from whatever punch came next. If my head then was not clear, I planned to take still another count, and so on until I regained my senses.

"But when I actually found myself down I realized my plans were foolish. I could not gamble with my title. My best chance was to make Dempsey follow me and I thought he can't catch me."

"Dempsey always has had trouble hitting a man who was going away from him. His greatest successes have been scored against men who carried the fight to him, trying to outslam the master slammer at his own game.

"They say that I ran away from Dempsey. You don't realize that I could have travelled twice as fast if I had wanted and if I had been hurt just a bit more. Instead I regulated my pace, putting steam on when I thought it necessary and slowing enough to let Jack catch up whenever I thought he could come close enough for a stiff counter wallop.

"My head was clearer right then than at any moment from the time I reached Chicago three weeks earlier. All the cobwebs left in my brain by the heat at Lake Villa and the excitement of the day, were swept away by that serics of punches to the head in the seventh round.

"Those counters slowed Dempsey up even in the seventh. Two in particular I remember both solid smashes to the chin. As they landed I could almost see Dempsey losing his advantage and thinking to himself 'I'd better watch out myself or this fellow will knock me out.'

"Then Dempsey beckoned 'come on and fight,' admitting his own inability to control the situation. It certainly was gratifying to think that again I was master even though I had been on the floor only seconds before.

Gene smiled at the recollection and then went on to explain how the first principles of "situation mastery" had been pounded into him by one of his early fistic tutors.

"I've forgotten his name". Gene said, "but his teaching was this:

"If you can be master of every situation even when you are being licked you'll be great. Know when to box, when to slug, when to protect yourself at all costs, and then box enough and slug enough to keep things under control even when you are being outboxed and outslugged."

Reserves Sold Out For World Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—Secretary Edward G. Barrow of the New York Yankees yesterday announced that all the boxes and reserved seats for the world series games to be played at the Yankee Stadium have been allotted. The only seats now available for the contents here are those in the bleachers and that portion of the grandstand unreserved. These, numbering 20,000 in the bleachers and 15,000 in the grandstand, will be placed on sale daily a few hours before game time.

PIRATES RETAIN 2-GAME MARGIN

GIANTS WIN 6-1.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—Pittsburgh retained its two-game margin over the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday by taking the final game of the Chicago series from the Cubs, 2 to 1, making a clean sweep of the four-game series.

It was the final game of the National League season in Chicago.

George Grantham's home run smash in the fifth inning, following a single by Traynor, gave the League leaders the victory.

Chicago jumped into the lead in the third inning when Adams walked, a single by English and Heathcote's sacrifice fly produced a run.

Carlson held the visitors to seven hits, only three of which came in one frame. The Cubs touched Meadows for four hits, while Hill, who succeeded him, yielded only one. Kremer, the third Pirate hurler, was invincible.

Grover Alexander held the Reds to two paltry singles and a three-base hit at Cincinnati, while his teammates plyed the willow to defeat the Reds, 4 to 1, and make the Cardinals' wins two straight in the series.

A three-base hit by Kritz with none out in the sixth gave the Reds their only run when Kritz scored under the protection of Hargraves' long fly.

Broke 1-1 Tie.

Bottomley's double to right in the fourth with Frisch on second scored the Red Birds' first run and Schulte broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh with a double that scored Toporser.

Rafey made sure of things in the eighth when he poled the long one after Douthit had singled. Donohue got in a worse jam in the eighth but pulled through safely. Bottomley singled and Orsatti forced him. Orsatti stole second and Toporser singled. They tried a double steal and Orsatti was safe back at third when Dressen dropped Donohue's throw and Toporser made second. Schulte walked to fill the bases. There were two down and Maranville's fly finished the inning.

The Cardinals took 11 hits from Donohue.

Before the game, the Cardinals, optimistic over the results of the season, held a meeting and cut their season's baseball money based upon two ifs—if they win the pennant and if they finish second.

The New York Giants found the Phillies easy yesterday at Philadelphia, winning by 6 to 2, thereby retaining their mathematical chance to continue in the pennant fight. The McGraw men drove Jack Scott, their old team-mate, out of the box in the second inning when they clubbed him for five hits and three runs. Fitzsimmons held the Phillies to seven hits, one a homer by Fred Leach.

HUMERY KNOCKED OUT.

PARIS, Sept. 28—(Canadian Press) Johnny Cuthbert, featherweight champion of Great Britain, knocked out Humery, the French contender, in the fifth round of their scheduled 12 round bout last night.

Fugazy In the Bad Graces of Commission

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Humbert Fugazy, metropolitan boxing promoter, rival of Tex Rickard, was suspended indefinitely by the State Athletic Commission yesterday, but hoped to get back in its good graces within a week.

The suspension was imposed because of Fugazy's alleged failure to return to Charles Cadio, manager of Red Chapman, Boston featherweight, $2,500 forfeit money for a fight which never materialized, minus $1,200 to $1,400 Fugazy claims Cadio owed him. Fugazy said he was willing to meet these terms and would so inform the commission at its meeting Thursday.

PSYCHIC RESEARCH PROVES SURVIVAL

with some great spiritual effort. Clustering around such spots are the memories of all their past associations and these constitute a living force which can inspire those individuals of later days, who may happen to be attuned to the ideas for which the memories stand. This" declared Mr. Bligh Bond emphatically, "is a scientific fact—this collective mind and memory—this inheritance of the SOUL of the RACE—and it lies at the root of the teaching of the Church as to the communion and fellowship of the saints in both spheres."

Reaffirming his belief as to the inter-relation of Christianity and Psychic Science, Mr. Bligh Bond asserted confidently, "Already, in the higher aspects of study, this has become very clear. Among the best of the automatic writings which I can personally vouch for, there has come quite unexpectedly a complete body of Catholic philosophy which is found to agree perfectly with the best of the medieval Scholastic philosophy of the Church. In addition there has been offered and received a complete lost Gospel, which, it is claimed, is that written by Philly the Deacon, the original script of which was burned in Athens. This is a document of amazing beauty and it seems most desirable that it should be published ere long. A small portion of it has been submitted to an eminent English Churchman and he regarded it so highly that he publicly eulogized its merits. Another document received in the same way, through the hand of an automatic writer, turned out to be a very fine record of the period covered by the first twelve chapters of the Acts of the Apostles, and in this writing there occurs a great many instances of peculiar knowledge of the history and institutions of the times which could be known only to the most highly qualified expert. There is no doubt in my mind that we have here a method of getting into living touch and union, with the mind of the past—a Mind which has not only collected, but has preserved perfectly the individual and personal memories, and the characters speak as living people—people in fact very much more alive than ourselves, since they are able to survey the whole field of their earthly memories and to build upon their past experience a more perfect expression of individual character.

Communion of Minds.

"I cannot too strongly emphasize the importance of this higher communion between the mind of the living and those who have passed on. I would merely suggest that greatly improved balanced views upon all human affairs, social political and religious would be ours if we had the privilege of the whole fruit of past experience to guide us. In politics matters alone, there is nothing more dangerous than ignorance of history, which, in a manner, repeats itself in recurring circles. With a knowledge of historic events and tendencies in past ages, we can surely avoid all those pitfalls into which human ignorance and rashness have fallen, thereby bringing about the destruction of many of the flowers of civilization.

"How did it come about, Mr. Bligh Bond, that you an architect and archeologist became interested in psychic research?"

"I am often asked that question," answered Mr. Bligh Bond, readily. "Undoubtedly, there was a pre-disposition to inquire into these matters. This led me many years ago to become a member of the London Society of Psychic Research. I had always felt within myself that in the great economy of things, the knowledge and experience gained by individuals, although it may not bear fruit in this life cannot be lost or wasted, but must surely be preserved in the great treasury of the racial mind. I see plainly that in the new generation is born the aptitude for understanding and acquiring knowledge of those truths for which our forefathers so painfully struggled and that the young folks of today can intuitively grasp what we had to thresh out with great labor, so that they really do inherit this racial experience.

"I was anxious to demonstrate the reality of the surviving knowledge of the past in connection with a particular work of today and I did this in connection with the study of ancient monuments. The value of the work at Glastonbury stands firm and can no longer be successfully challenged. I have shown it is possible to recover the lost knowledge of buried foundations and this fact has sunk deeply into the minds of thinking people of England, both in antiquarian and religious circles. It has now become quite a familiar idea with many hitherto skeptical people that we can attune our minds to receive the inspiration of the knowledge from the mind of the past very much in the same way that we attune our radios to receive the infinitely delicate and attenuated vibrations from far distant space, only our mental aerial receives vibrations over the abyss of Time rather than Space.

Space and Time.

Here comes the mystery which is confronting our most recent philosophic thinkers, namely, that SPACE and TIME are correlated and are merely aspects of one and the same thing.

"Just as Space and Time are correlated, so substance seems to be intimately associated with force, and force again with intelligent direction and will. What may then have its origin in the power of human will may translate itself into matter and in certain individuals there is a force which is capable of laying hold of the particles of matter and manifesting itself in various strange and wonderful ways.

Startling Statement.

"I have personally known and can vouch for the possibility of impressing by the thought consciously directed, a mark of a definite pattern and this experiment has been repeated by others. The records may be found in the periodical known as Psychic Science.

Mr. Bligh Bond was frank in his admission that his beliefs are yet a long way from enjoying popular acceptance. "There is, of course," he admitted, "a great deal that we have to overcome in the establishment of this new science, especially setting it free from the foolish extravagances of enthusiastic, but ignorant experimenters. We have also to free it from the extraordinary amount of self-delusion existing on every hand. Those who devote themselves to the scienficit side of the subject and have become qualified by experience are few in number and some of the popular leaders in the movement do more harm than good through indiscriminate adoption of records of happenings which they have never tested and which break down on further investigation. There is also very grave danger among the emotional of these advocates who try to make a religion of what is in reality only a science or a philosophy, and at present in England there are many societies, which are spiritualistic in nature and, claiming to be churches, try to create little creeds of their own.

Doyle and Lodge.

On the philosophic side, Sir Oliver Lodge's work is sound and admirable and I consider that he, more than any other, has succeeded in guidinfg the thought of his time towards true knowledge of this subject.

"I have often been asked my opinion of the works of Conan Doyle, who, with great assurance carries on a propaganda of Spiritualism, which he speaks of as a new revelation. According to his published views, he would appear to regard Spiritualism as the root of all religion and Christianity as merely one branch of the tree." Mr. Bligh Bond repudiates this view altogether.

Old Legends Tested.

To the question that naturally arises in the mind of the yet unconvinced listener—Can psychic science be used to determine the truth or falsehood of traditional beliefs? Can it be used in uncovering the real facts concerning matters of historic contention, such as the Donation of Constantine, the identity of Homer, of Ossian or King Arthur? Mr. Bligh Bond unhesitatingly says "yes".

Personally, he declares, he had at first taken little interest in tradition and legend, but the revelations received practically forced him to take up their study. King Arthur, he says, has been definitely spoken of in these writings received by him, which confirm the tradition that he was a British hero who led the forces against the invading, conquering Saxon. Even more wonderful, he declares, were revelations which told the story of the Holy Grail, confirming much that is related in the works of Tennyson and Malory. The reading of the Idylls, of the King had not been included in Mr. Bligh Bond's previous studies Mr. Bligh Bond states that when he submitted the writings to a famous Irish Celtic scholar, the latter declared that the account embodied the story of the Sangreal, with the Pagan accretions entirely deleted. The Holy Grail, it is repeatedly affirmed, is still secreted around Glastonbury and one day when faith has almost entirely disappeared from among men will be discovered as a visible sign of the reality of Christ's life and influence.

TIGERS LOSE GRAND STAND

PLAYERS LOSE CLOTHING.

HAMILTON, Ont., September 28. —Tragedy and ill-fortune seem to be dogging the steps of the famous Hamilton Tiger Football Club this season. Last night one of the most spectacular blazes ever seen here, and one which might easily have resulted in a more serious fire and possible loss of lives, razed the old grand stand at the historic H.A.A.A. field into a smouldering mass of twisted iron and cinders. In addition eleven private dwellings on Reginald Street, directly behind the grand stand, were gutted by fire and water.

Loss May Reach $100,000.

The damage was estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000, largely covered by insurance. Officials of the H.A.A.A. stated that the damage to their property would be about $50,000, of which $35,000 was covered by insurance. Home owners on Reginald Street, who were the real sufferers in the fire placed their collective losses at $40,000.

When the fire broke out Hamilton Tigers, Interprovincial and Ontario Union football seniors, were practicing. In fact, only a near-miracle prevented a worse disaster. Coach Mike Rodden of Toronto, had intended calling off the workout at 7.30, but when one of the players made a mistake the tutor insisted that another five minutes be spent in perfecting the play. Had he not done so, 35 players and about ten officials would have been caught in the blazing structure, because it was only three minutes after this new order that players noticed that the building was on fire at the north end of the stand.

The players rushed to the vicinity, but it was quickly seen that the grand stand was doomed.

Players Run Gauntlet.

The "gridders," having among their number five Hamilton firemen, made a heroic effort to stop the blaze with only a garden hose at their command, but they never had a chance. Others entered the dressing-rooms and tried to salvage their clothing and some of the office records, but, despite the fact that they dragged a trunk, containing the records and the season's tickets to the door, they were forced to abandon it and flee for their lives through a blazing door, the last of three exits. The trunk was burned and with it most of the contents.

A hurry-up call brought the firefighters, but they could do nothing to save the main structure and devoted their efforts to extinguishing blazes on near-by houses. The water pressure was said to be weak, and the firemen had to take desperate chances in the terrific heat to put out these fires.

Furniture Piled on Street.

In the meantime owners of houses on Reginald Street removed their furniture and placed it to the west side of the street. In the panic that prevailed much of the furniture was damaged beyond repair. Cumbersome pianos were taken out with remarkable speed, and Reginald Street looked like the Ghetto in New York, with furniture, estables, and almost everything imaginable piled up for almost a block.

Soccer Notes

Saturday's soccer bill is the first round of the Phelan Charity Cup between the Quaker Oats and the De Laval who have entered into the scientific code on behalf of charity which benefitted financially last year through the efforts of the players who participated. Next Saturday, the Masseys meet the Thistle.

After hearing the report relative to the Toronto Scottish visiting the city next Saturday, the association felt that it was not sufficient notice to proceed with the suggestion at the present time but recommended that the proposition be left open for future reference and consideration.

It is the intention of the local Massey team to hold a banquet in the near future, so as to terminate a successful season and celebrate the occasion when the players are presented with their club bags as souvenirs of the league championship.

In many interviews with past and present Presidents of the local association on the question of government of local soccer activities, they are very explicit in their opinion by the recommendation of a commission or neutral Board of Directors that would be composed of five members and three to form a quorum with no club representation.

TIM M'COY'S NEW FILM DEALS WITH ROMANTIC PERIOD

The most romantic period in the history of the United States is depicted in Tim McCoy's "California," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new historical Western film drama coming tomorrow to the Capitol Theatre.

Tim McCoy, who was starred in "Winners of the Wilderness" and "War Paint," is seen in the stellar role of this powerful story of romance, drama and action which Peter B. Kyne wrote especially for this production.

Many of the most celebrated characters of American history at that period have been characterized in the story. There are: Captain Gillespie, U.S.M.C., President Polk, Captain Fremont, Kit Carson, General Kearney, Pio Pico and others.

The story deals with the American conquest of California at the time there were several other pairs of hands prepared to grab the rich territory bordering on the Pacific Ocean.

It is the romantic tale of a dashing American captain of Marines who not only helped conquer California but at the same time won the heart and hand of a most beautiful Spanish senorita, whose father opposed the coming of the Americans.

The famous battle of San Pascual, in which Kearney's troops and a number of marines from San Diego were halted and put under siege by the native Californians, is one of the high lights of this vivid historical romance.

The story embraces all the vividness and color of the period when California was a series of great baronial estates granted by the kings of Spain to their favorites. It was the period just before the discovery of gold—the time when Americans were flowing into the country from around the Horn or across the overland trails.

McCoy is seen as Captain Gillespie, who carried the President's message to seize California. The role of the exquisite senorita is played by Dorothy Sebastian. Frank Currier is seen as the proud old don and Marc MacDermott as the foreign envoy plotting against the Americans. The picture was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, who directed "Winners of the Wilderness" and "War Paint."

THE START OF TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis of the lungs rarely occurs in an acute form. Quick consumption, or galloping consumption, is the name given acute tuberculosis, but this form is rare and is almost the same as an attack of pneumonia. It is difficult to tell the difference until the eighth or tenth day, when the condition becomes more aggravated, with sweating and expectoration of greenish, muco-purulent sputum.

Most cases of acute tuberculosis do not get well, but die between the first and third months. If proper treatment were started at the beginning of the attack the death rate could be materially cut down. A few cases that do recover generally settle into cases of chronic tuberculosis.

The majority of cases of pulmonary tuberculosis are of the ulcerative type and begin in one of the lungs, usually in the apex or top lobe. Outside of the cases which have developed from galloping consumption, the onset of tuberculosis is generally quite gradual. There will be months, and even years of noticeable enervation.

The one who finally develops tuberculosis always has a tight, almost immovable diaphragm. The chest is small and extremely anrrow at the lower ribs. Night sweats often begin quite early in this disease, and the patient will feel as tired in the morning as when he went to bed. A slight cough will develop, but usually only after months of weakness and increasing depression. The patient has plenty of warning, even before tuberculosis can be said to have developed into its incipient stage.

The steady decrease in the number of deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis is probably due mostly to the fact that widespread publicity has been given in recent years to the dissemination of information about this disease. The anti-tuberculosis societies have helped a great deal by warning people to avoid becoming over-tired. The good work of these societies could be multiplied many times if they would also start teaching every man, woman and child to take deep breathing exercises and this develop strong diaphragms.

Much harm is being done by those who advocate "stuffing" for the cure of tuberculosis.

In to-morrow's article I will explain the proper method of treatment for incipient tuberculosis.

Questions and Answers.

Question.—C. W. writes: "I have what the doctors call a gastric stomach. Was all right till two months ago. Was told to eat soft foods. Have been doing that but I still suffer from the gas which comes up about two hours after eating. No pain, except that it bothers my heart. The gas will move up and down, and I have to sip hot water to get relief."

Answer.—The word "gastric" means stomach, so you were apparently mistaken about what the doctor said. He doubtless said you were suffering from gastritis, which means inflammation of the stomach, as your symptoms seem to indicate that this is your trouble. Nothing could be worse for you than to take the "soft foods." The irritation in your stomach is not produced by foods which are too coarse, but rather by an over-amount of hydrochloric acid in the gastric juice. The "soft" diet given for gastritis actually produces more trouble and is exactly the wrong diet for you to take. Leave out sugars and starches and balance your meals properly if you wish to get ride of excessive gas and stomach irritation. Drink a large amount of water between meals to keep the digestive fluids diluted until they naturally reduce in quantity because of your change to a correct diet.

Question.—Mrs. R. P. J. asks: "Will you please explain through the health column what is meant by "dextrinized" food?"

Answer.—Dextrinized food is that which has been thoroughly toasted or browned all the way through, thus changing any starch that particular food may have into what is called dextrose. In this form the digestive organs are saved much work, as the dextrinizing process prepares the food for immediate assimilation. When the starch, itself, is eaten it must be converted into a substance similar to dextrose before it can be assimilated.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE BUMPS

I've had my bumps
The same as you,
The same as other
People do.
Yet when we do,
And when it's done,
We think that we're
The only one.

But folks before
Have had that bump,
And other cars
Have hit that stump;
Yet, if we lived
Like fellowmen,
No car would hit
That stump again.

What you and I
And all should do
Is not complain
And just boo-boo,
But get right down,
When bumps we hit,
And smooth the road
A little bit.

Yes, if we didn't
Cry about
The bumps, but stopped
And smoothed them out,
Life's hardest road
Would soon be free
Of bumps for them
And you and me.

AT THE REGENT.

LANGDON SMASHES LAUGH RECORD, "THE STRONG MAN" HIT OF SEASON.

Harry Langdon's latest laugh riot, "The Strong Man," is a hit the whole family will like.

Coming to the Regent Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

If you like to laugh—"The Strong Man" will knock you for a joyful loop, give you a ticklish somersault, and catch you with a chest-gurgle on the rebound.

If you like to cry—"The Strong man will stop your breath with a hoarse catch, will send the tears rolling down your cheeks, and quicken your pulse with pathetic sympathy for the wistful, moon-faced, lonesome boy who strolls across the screen in the appealing personality of Harry Langdon.

Peculiar, this comedy is. If it had been an actor who considers himself an emotional dramatist playing the role of the ex-Belgian soldier searching for his American guardian angel, "The Strong Man" would have been hailed as one of the most poignant and heart-catching of the year's films.

As it is, with the inimitable Harry Langdon in the title role, we have a curious yet remarkably attractive mixture of the shrillest laughter and the softest sobbing. Chaplin has a rival at last for pathos-humor.

with some great spiritual effort. Clustering around such spots are the memories of all their past associations and these constitute a living force which can inspire those individuals of later days, who may happen to be attuned to the ideas for which the memories stand. This" declared Mr. Bligh Bond emphatically, "is a scientific fact—this collective mind and memory—this inheritance of the SOUL of the RACE—and it lies at the root of the teaching of the Church as to the communion and fellowship of the saints in both spheres."

Reaffirming his belief as to the inter-relation of Christianity and Psychic Science, Mr. Bligh Bond asserted confidently, "Already, in the higher aspects of study, this has become very clear. Among the best of the automatic writings which I can personally vouch for, there has come quite unexpectedly a complete body of Catholic philosophy which is found to agree perfectly with the best of the medieval Scholastic philosophy of the Church. In addition there has been offered and received a complete lost Gospel, which, it is claimed, is that written by Philly the Deacon, the original script of which was burned in Athens. This is a document of amazing beauty and it seems most desirable that it should be published ere long. A small portion of it has been submitted to an eminent English Churchman and he regarded it so highly that he publicly eulogized its merits. Another document received in the same way, through the hand of an automatic writer, turned out to be a very fine record of the period covered by the first twelve chapters of the Acts of the Apostles, and in this writing there occurs a great many instances of peculiar knowledge of the history and institutions of the times which could be known only to the most highly qualified expert. There is no doubt in my mind that we have here a method of getting into living touch and union, with the mind of the past—a Mind which has not only collected, but has preserved perfectly the individual and personal memories, and the characters speak as living people—people in fact very much more alive than ourselves, since they are able to survey the whole field of their earthly memories and to build upon their past experience a more perfect expression of individual character.

Communion of Minds.

"I cannot too strongly emphasize the importance of this higher communion between the mind of the living and those who have passed on. I would merely suggest that greatly improved balanced views upon all human affairs, social political and religious would be ours if we had the privilege of the whole fruit of past experience to guide us. In politica matters alone, there is nothing more dangerous than ignorance of history, which, in a manner, repeats itself in recurring circles. With a knowledge of historic events and tendencies in past ages, we can surely avoid all those pitfalls into which human ignorance and rashness have fallen, thereby bringing about the destruction of many of the flowers of civilization.

"How did it come about, Mr. Bligh Bond, that you an architect and archeologist became interested in psychic research?"

"I am often asked that question," answered Mr. Bligh Bond, readily. "Undoubtedly, there was a pre-disposition to inquire into these matters. This led me many years ago to become a member of the London Society of Psychic Research. I had always felt within myself that in the great economy of things, the knowledge and experience gained by individuals, although it may not bear fruit in this life cannot be lost or wasted, but must surely be preserved in the great treasury of the racial mind. I see plainly that in the new generation is born the aptitude for understanding and acquiring knowledge of those truths for which our forefathers so painfully struggled and that the young folks of today can intuitively grasp what we had to thresh out with great labor, so that they really do inherit this racial experience.

"I was anxious to demonstrate the reality of the surviving knowledge of the past in connection with a particula work of today and I did this in connection with the study of ancient monuments. The value of the work at Glastonbury stands firm and can no longer be successfully challenged. I have shown it is possible to recover the lost knowledge of buried foundations and this fact has sunk deeply into the minds of thinking people of England, both in antiquarian and religious circles. It has now become quite a familiar idea with many hitherto skeptical people that we can attune our minds to receive the inspiration of the knowledge from the mind of the past very much in the same way that we attune our radios to receive the infinitely delicate and attenuated vibrations from far distant space, only our mental aerial receives vibrations over the abyss of Time rather than Space.

Space and Time.

Here comes the mystery which is confronting our most recent philosophic thinkers, namely, that SPACE and TIME are correlated and are merely aspects of one and the same thing.

"Just as Space and Time are correlated, so substance seems to be intimately associated with force, and force again with intelligent direction and will. What may then have its origin in the power of human will may translate itself into matter and in certain individuals there is a force which is capable of laying hold of the particles of matter and manifesting itself in various strange and wonderful ways.

Startling Statement.

"I have personally known and can vouch for the possibility of impressing by the thought consciously directed, a mark of a definite pattern and this experiment has been repeated by others. The records may be found in the periodical known as Psychic Science.

Mr. Bligh Bond was frank in his admission that his beliefs are yet a long way from enjoying popular acceptance. "There is, of course," he admitted, "a great deal that we have to overcome in the establishment of this new science, especially setting it free from the foolish extravagances of enthusiastic, but ignorant experimenters. We have also to free it from the extraordinary amount of self-delusion existing on every hand. Those who devote themselves to the scienficit side of the subject and have become qualified by experience are few in number and some of the popular leaders in the movement do more harm than good through indiscriminate adoption of records of happenings which they have never tested and which break down on further investigation. There is also very grave danger among the emotional of these advocates who try to make a religion of what is in reality only a science or a philosophy, and at present in England there are many societies, which are spiritualistic in nature and, claiming to be churches, try to create little creeds of their own.

Doyle and Lodge.

On the philosophic side, Sir Oliver Lodge's work is sound and admirable and I consider that he, more than any other, has succeeded in guidinfg the thought of his time towards true knowledge of this subject.

"I have often been asked my opinion of the works of Conan Doyle, who, with great assurance carries on a propaganda of Spiritualism, which he speaks of as a new revelation. According to his published views, he would appear to regard Spiritualism as the root of all religion and Christianity as merely one branch of the tree." Mr. Bligh Bond repudiates this view altogether.

Old Legends Tested.

To the question that naturally arises in the mind of the yet unconvinced listener—Can psychic science be used to determine the truth or falsehood of traditional beliefs? Can it be used in uncovering the real facts concerning matters of historic contention, such as the Donation of Constantine, the identity of Homer, of Ossian or King Arthur? Mr. Bligh Bond unhesitatingly says "yes".

Personally, he declares, he had at first taken little interest in tradition and legend, but the revelations received practically forced him to take up their study. King Arthur, he says, has been definitely spoken of in these writings received by him, which confirm the tradition that he was a British hero who led the forces against the invading, conquering Saxon. Even more wonderful, he declares, were revelations which told the story of the Holy Grail, confirming much that is related in the works of Tennyson and Malory. The reading of the Idylls, of the King had not been included in Mr. Bligh Bond's previous studies Mr. Bligh Bond states that when he submitted the writings to a famous Irish Celtic scholar, the latter declared that the account embodied the story of the Sangreal with the Pagan accretions entirely deleted. The Holy Grail, it is repeatedly affirmed, is still secreted around Glastonbury and one day when faith has almost entirely disappeared from among men will be discovered as a visible sign of the reality of Christ's life and influence.

TIGERS LOSE GRAND STAND

PLAYERS LOSE CLOTHING.

HAMILTON, Ont., September 28. —Tragedy and ill-fortune seem to be dogging the steps of the famous Hamilton Tiger Football Club this season. Last night one of the most spectacular blazes ever seen here, and one which might easily have resulted in a more serious fire and possible loss of lives, razed the old grand stand at the historic H.A.A.A. field into a smouldering mass of twisted iron and cinders. In addition eleven private dwellings on Reginald Street, directly behind the grand stand, were gutted by fire and water.

Loss May Reach $100,000.

The damage was estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000, largely covered by insurance. Officials of the H.A.A.A. stated that the damage to their property would be about $50,000, of which $35,000 was covered by insurance. Home owners on Reginald Street, who were the real sufferers in the fire placed their collective losses at $40,000.

When the fire broke out Hamilton Tigers, Interprovincial and Ontario Union football seniors, were practicing. In fact, only a near-miracle prevented a worse disaster. Coach Mike Rodden of Toronto, had intended calling off the workout at 7.30, but when one of the players made a mistake the tutor insisted that another five minutes be spent in perfecting the play. Had he not done so, 35 players and about ten officials would have been caught in the blazing structure, because it was only three minutes after this new order that players noticed that the building was on fire at the north end of the stand.

The players rushed to the vicinity, but it was quickly seen that the grand stand was doomed.

Players Run Gauntlet.

The "gridders," having among their number five Hamilton firemen, made a heroic effort to stop the blaze with only a garden hose at their command, but they never had a chance. Others entered the dressing-rooms and tried to salvage their clothing and some of the office records, but, despite the fact that they dragged a trunk, containing the records and the season's tickets to the door, they were forced to abandon it and flee for their lives through a blazing door, the last of three exits. The trunk was burned and with it most of the contents.

A hurry-up call brought the firefighters, but they could do nothing to save the main structure and devoted their efforts to extinguishing blazes on near-by houses. The water pressure was said to be weak, and the firemen had to take desperate chances in the terrific heat to put out these fires.

Furniture Piled on Street.

In the meantime owners of houses on Reginald Street removed their furniture and placed it to the west side of the street. In the panic that prevailed much of the furniture was damaged beyond repair. Cumbersome pianos were taken out with remarkable speed, and Reginald Street looked like the Ghetto in New York, with furniture, eatables, and almost everything imaginable piled up for almost a block.

Soccer Notes

Saturday's soccer bill is the first round of the Phelan Charity Cup between the Quaker Oats and the De Laval who have entered into the scientific code on behalf of charity which benefitted financially last year through the efforts of the players who participated. Next Saturday, the Masseys meet the Thistle.

After hearing the report relative to the Toronto Scottish visiting the city next Saturday, the association felt that it was not sufficient notice to proceed with the suggestion at the present time but recommended that the proposition be left open for future reference and consideration.

It is the intention of the local Massey team to hold a banquet in the near future, so as to terminate a successful season and celebrate the occasion when the players are presented with their club bags as souvenirs of the league championship.

In many interviews with past and present Presidents of the local association on the question of government of local soccer activities, they are very explicit in their opinion by the recommendation of a commission or neutral Board of Directors that would be composed of five members and three to form a quorum with no club representation.

TIM M'COY'S NEW FILM DEALS WITH ROMANTIC PERIOD

The most romantic period in the history of the United States is depicted in Tim McCoy's "California," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new historical Western film drama coming tomorrow to the Capitol Theatre.

Tim McCoy, who was starred in "Winners of the Wilderness" and "War Paint," is seen in the stellar role of this powerful story of romance, drama and action which Peter B. Kyne wrote especially for this production.

Many of the most celebrated characters of American history at that period have been characterized in the story. There are: Captain Gillespie, U.S.M.C., President Polk, Captain Fremont, Kit Carson, General Kearney, Pio Pico and others.

The story deals with the American conquest of California at the time there were several other pairs of hands prepared to grab the rich territory bordering on the Pacific Ocean.

It is the romantic tale of a dashing American captain of Marines who not only helped conquer California but at the same time won the heart and hand of a most beautiful Spanish senorita, whose father opposed the coming of the Americans.

The famous battle of San Pascual, in which Kearney's troops and a number of marines from San Diego were halted and put under siege by the native Californians, is one of the high lights of this vivid historical romance.

The story embraces all the vividness and color of the period when California was a series of great baronial estates granted by the kings of Spain to their favorites. It was the period just before the discovery of gold—the time when Americans were flowing into the country from around the Horn or across the overland trails.

McCoy is seen as Captain Gillespie, who carried the President's message to seize California. The role of the exquisite senorita is played by Dorothy Sebastian. Frank Currier, is seen as the proud old don and Mare MacDermott as the foreign envoy plotting against the Americans. The picture was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, who directed "Winners of the Wilderness" and "War Paint."

THE START OF TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis of the lungs rarely occurs in an acute form. Quick consumption, or galloping consumption, is the name given acute tuberculosis, but this form is rare and is almost the same as an attack of pneumonia. It is difficult to tell the difference until the eighth or tenth day, when the condition becomes more aggravated, with sweating and expectoration of greenish, muco-purulent sputum.

Most cases of acute tuberculosis do not get well, but die between the first and third months. If proper treatment were started at the beginning of the attack the death rate could be materially cut down. A few cases that do recover generally settle into cases of chronic tuberculosis.

The majority of cases of pulmonary tuberculosis are of the ulcerative type and begin in one of the lungs, usually in the apex or top lobe. Outside of the cases which have developed from galloping consumption, the onset of tuberculosis is generally quite gradual. There will be months, and even years of noticeable enervation.

The one who finally develops tuberculosis always has a tight, almost immovable diaphragm. The chest is small and extremely narrow at the lower ribs. Night sweats often begin quite early in this disease, and the patient will feel as tired in the morning as when he went to bed. A slight cough will develop, but usually only after months of weakness and increasing depression. The patient has plenty of warning, even before tuberculosis can be said to have developed into its incipient stage.

The steady decrease in the number of deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis is probably due mostly to the fact that widespread publicity has been given in recent years to the dissemination of information about this disease. The anti-tuberculosis societies have helped a great deal by warning people to avoid becoming over-tired. The good work of these societies could be multiplied many times if they would also start teaching every man, woman and child to take deep breathing exercises and this develop strong diaphragms.

Much harm is being done by those who advocate "stuffing" for the cure of tuberculosis.

In to-morrow's article I will explain the proper method of treatment for incipient tuberculosis.

Questions and Answers.

Question.—C. W. writes: "I have what the doctors call a gastric stomach. Was all right till two months ago. Was told to eat soft foods. Have been doing that but I still suffer from the gas which comes up about two hours after eating. No pain, except that it bothers my heart. The gas will move up and down, and I have to sip hot water to get relief."

Answer.—The word "gastric" means stomach, so you were apparently mistaken about what the doctor said. He doubtless said you were suffering from gastritis, which means inflammation of the stomach, as your symptoms seem to indicate that this is your trouble. Nothing could be worse for you than to take the "soft foods." The irritation in your stomach is not produced by foods which are too coarse, but rather by an over-amount of hydrochloric acid in the gastric juice. The "soft" diet given for gastritis actually produces more trouble and is exactly the wrong diet for you to take. Leave out sugars and starches and balance your meals properly if you wish to get ride of excessive gas and stomach irritation. Drink a large amount of water between meals to keep the digestive fluids diluted until they naturally reduce in quantity because of your change to a correct diet.

Question.—Mrs. R. P. J. asks: "Will you please explain through the health column what is meant by "dextrinized" food?"

Answer.—Dextrinized food is that which has been thoroughly toasted or browned all the way through, thus changing any starch that particular food may have into what is called dextrose. In this form the digestive organs are saved much work, as the dextrinizing process prepares the food for immediate assimilation. When the starch, itself, is eaten it must be converted into a substance similar to dextrose before it can be assimilated.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE BUMPS

I've had my bumps
The same as you,
The same as other
People do.
Yet when we do,
And when it's done,
We think that we're
The only one.

But folks before
Have had that bump,
And other cars
Have hit that stump;
Yet, if we lived
Like fellowmen,
No car would hit
That stump again.

What you and I
And all should do
Is not complain
And just boo-boo,
But get right down,
When bumps we hit,
And smooth the road
A little bit.

Yes, if we didn't
Cry about
The bumps, but stopped
And smoothed them out,
Life's hardest road
Would soon be free
Of bumps for them
And you and me.

LANGDON SMASHES LAUGH RECORD, 'THE STRONG MAN" HIT OF SEASON.

Harry Langdon's latest laugh riot, "The Strong Man," is a hit the whole family will like.

Coming to the Regent Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

If you like to laugh—"The Strong man will stop your breath with a hoarse catch, will send the tears rolling down your cheeks, and quicken your pulse with pathetic sympathy for the wistful, moon-faced, lonesome boy who strolls across the screen in the appealing personality of Harry Langdon.

Peculiar, this comedy is. If it had been an actor who considers himself an emotional dramatist playing the role of the ex-Belgian soldier searching for his American guardian angel, "The Strong Man" would have been hailed as one of the most poignant and heart-catching of the year's films.

As it is, with the inimitable Harry Langdon in the title role, we have a curious yet remarkably attractive mixture of the shrilliest laughter and the softest sobbing. Chaplin has a rival at last for pathos-humor.

ROAD MAINTENANCE TO BE DISCUSSED

Expert Would Keep Some Types of Wheel Off Highways.

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—One of the main functions which the Canadian Goods Roads Association has assumed is constant education in the use of improved highways throughout Canada. Unless certain care is taken of these roads not only will the investment be lost but transportation will suffer through wear and tear. In the minds of officials of the Canadian Good Roads Association the maintenance of these highways holds just as important a place as their building.

Among the leading papers to be heard at the association's convention at Niagara Falls on September 27, 28 and 29, is one by Hugh A. Lumsden, Engineer for Wentworth County, Ontario, advocating the gradual abolition of certain kinds of tires on vehicles. Mr. Lumsden has given a great deal of thought and study to this problem, and he sees in the use of improper tires a distinct menace to the preservation of the improved highways.

One of Mr. Lumsden's proposals is the division of highways into classes. He puts forward the opinion that heavy trucks without pneumatic tires should be allowed only on roads of sufficient strength to carry them without undue damage. He has also certain opinions with respect to regulations for truck and trailer operation. Of course, Mr. Lumsden realizes that such views will meet with determined opposition, but he thinks that the subject should be discussed as fully as possible as a step towards making the present good roads last longer.

R. W. McColough, Chief Engineer of the Nova Scotia Department of Highways, has an instructive paper on gravel roads—a subject of interest to rural parts of every Province. Mr. McColough stresses the proper drainage for gravel roads, holding that the top should be flat. He asserts that maintenance gravel should be piled along the right of way for a year ahead of actual use. For an extremely hard surface the gravel should pass through a half-inch ring. For fairly soft material all gravel should pass through a one-inch ring.

Mr. McColough finds fault with some of the present-day road machinery, alleging that it should be better standardized. He notes the rapid development of this machinery, first the split log drag, then the light patrol grader of seven hundred pounds, and today the heavier patrol grader of thirteen hundred pounds. Motor patrol graders are also coming into use. According to his view, engineers and highway officials are more responsible for the lack of standardization in machinery than the manufacturers. He believes that such standardization will aid greatly in obtaining better gravel roads throughout the country.

The Nova Scotia authority has given much attention to the dust problem. He promised to give the convention the result of his conclusions. To some extent he is satisfied that dust can be cheaply and successfully eliminated by the use of certain ingredients now on the market.

"It is only possible now to give a very brief synopsis of these papers," said George McNamee, Secretary of the Canadian Good Roads Association. "Both these men will go into the subjects in very elaborate detail. We have received many more interesting forecasts of papers to be read, but for the present possibly these two will serve as samples of what we may expect when the technical side of the good roads questions is to be discussed."

Hon. G. S. Henry Starts Campaign For Highway Safety.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—At a meeting in the office of Hon. Geo. S. Henry Minister of Highways, a campaign of education, instruction and strict enforcement of the Highways Traffic Act was launched. The meeting was attended by Mr. Henry, who acted as chairman; W. G. Robertson, Secretary of the Ontario Motor League; J. F. H. Wyse, Secretary of the Ontario Safety League; S. J. Dickson, Chief of Police, Toronto; T. Marshall, Secretary of the Ontario Boards of Trade; J. P. Bickell, Registrar of Motor Vehicles; R. M. Smith, Acting Deputy Minister of Highways.

"We discussed this question of maintaining safety on the highways from many angles," said Hon. Mr. Henry, "and we are meeting again next Monday to make definite arrangements. Each of the gentlemen present pledged the organization he represented to assist and co-operate in every manner possible. It is just possible that we may set aside a certain stipulated period for an intensive campaign in the direction of greater safety. We are already assured of co-operation which is a big step in the direction we want to go."

It is understood that efforts will be premised on the fact that most motor accidents are preventable by the exercise of care, courtesy and common sense. The campaign proposed is not directed to motorists alone, but also to pedestrians. In this connection it was pointed out that a large proportion of accidents in Toronto recently can be placed against the pedestrian.

The proposal in the mind of the Minister of Highways is to gain the co-operation of the press, municipal police throughout the Province, local Boards of Trade, all public service bodies, garage owners and employees, in concentrated effort to brand the exercise of care, courtesy and common sense upon the consciousness of the public, whether motor drivers or pedestrians. In other words, Ontario is to be impressed with the fact that many accidents can be prevented. Co-incident with this drive will be the strictest possible enforcement of the Highways Traffic Act.

Figures are now coming into the department showing the extra amount of traffic on the Ontario highways during August. At some periods the number of tourist cars in the Province equalled the number of cars registered in Ontario. Considering this increased traffic, it was stated that the record in Ontario compares very favorably with that of any other Province or State. No fewer than 112 drivers' licenses were cancelled during the same month for varying periods.

Subjects discussed at yesterday's meeting were those of headlights, greater caution at intersections, dangers of passing on curves or at the tops of hills. It was suggested that pedestrians be urged to walk against the traffic when using country highways.

Departmental officials stated emphatically that as a result of the program outlined by Hon. Mr. Henry, Ontario is in for the greatest drive in the direction of safer highway travel that the Province has ever seen.

5TH PETERBOROUGH TROOP.

Well, at our meeting the other night we had a pretty good time. Those who have never attended a troop meeting should come and get an idea of how Scouts act. The other day George and I were discussing scouts and we both came to the conclusion that boys who are not scouts or have been scouts are afraid of bare knees. They are mighty proud scouts who have their arms covered with badges and go up the street. At our meeting we had a good time. At 7.15 the troop was called to order and the meeting opened with flag break and the taking of fees. After this came a brisk half hour of snappy instruction work, under the supervision of the patrol leaders. Then followed a game of snatch the hat. After that the council fire opened up under the supervision of the Bulldogs. The Bulldog patrol's orchestra played some snappy selections for the troop, who applauded loudly. The Bulldogs thought it good, but we do not know the mind of the rest of the troop. Then followed a speech on "scouting" by Patrol Leader Garry Johnson, who told how, where and when the scouts started. After this the troops rose and sang God Save the King. The meeting then came to a close.

KIWANIS INTERNATIONAL

Appreciation

The young ladies who are working so hard in the Bond Selling Contest in connection with Kiwanis Club Produced-in-Canada Exhibition, appreciate very much the courteous response and ready purchase of the Bonds for the Exhibition. Their friends realize that the work being done by Kiwanis Club of Peterborough for the underprivileged child and other relief work is well worthy of their support.

Don't spend your money ALL ON PLEASURE. Buy a Home for yourself, and have something WHEN OLD-AGE COMES ALONG. The money you pay on a Home will come back with INCREASED PROFITS in later years. Remember, if you don't save when you are young, you won't when you grow old. A young man starting out for himself can not do better than TO PURCHASE A HOME ON EASY PAYMENT PLAN. It makes an objective to work for, and some day he will own the place, CLEAR OF ENCUMBRANCE. Better to do that than to spend your savings all on pleasures, and have nothing in later years WHEN YOU NEED IT. Make an objective NOW, TO SAVE BY PURCHASING A HOME ON EASY PAYMENT PLAN. You have to pay rent anyway: why not make a payment on a House each month instead? CHANGE IN HUNTING SEASON DEER AND MOOSE.

The Ontario Government have announced a change in the open season for deer and moose this year, in that, either animal may be taken in the district south of the French and Mattawa rivers from November 1st to November 30th, and in the district north of the French and Mattawa from October 10th to November 30th.

These periods are very much in favor of the hunter, especially if the weather may turn cold, and it is trusted the action of the Government will result in a marked increase in the number of those taking to the woods. For their transportation, Canadian National Railways have provided with their usual care and forethought and printed copies of the Hunters' Train Service leaflet may be obtained shortly on application to Canadian National Ticket Agents. 1d.

WOMAN KILLED BY MOTOR CAR

Driver Arrested On Charge of Manslaughter Following Accident.

AT TORONTO CORNER.

TORONTO, Ont., September 28.—Mrs. Mary Mitchinson, 50 years of age, of 173 Fulton Avenue, was fatally injured last night when struck by a motor car at Victoria Park Avenue and Danforth Avenue. Mrs. Mitchinson had been visiting at the home of her son, John, 438 Kingswood Road, and was accompanied by him to the street car. The son was injured also, but was able to go home. The driver of the motor car was Vivian Welch Bartram, of 10 Lonsdale Road. He was arrested by County Constable Wilkins and taken to Main Street Police Station, where he was held on a charge of manslaughter without bail.

According to Constable Wilkins, the driver of the car, Vivian Welch Bartram, who is a single man, and aged 22 years, made a statement when arrested. He said he was driving at a rate of 18 miles an hour when he saw the people in front crossing the road, and stopped as soon as he possibly could.

The scene of the accident is at the exact spot where a little boy named Woolham, aged 8 years, was struck down by a car last August driven by Mr. Handly, and sustained a fractured skull, and is still lying at the Hospital for Sick Children, and the case, which is in charge of Constable Wilkins, is still pending.

Bartram will appear before Magistrate Brunton at the County Police Court to-day.

WEDDING BELLS.

CHAMBERS—MADDEN.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Tuesday morning, September 27, at nine o'clock at St. Paul's Manse, when Helen Gertrude, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Madden, Peterboro, became the bride of William J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Chambers, of Otonabee. Miss Muriel Morrison acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Albert Shadgett was best man.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Allan in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends.

PRIMEAU—BEAUSOLIEL.

A pretty wedding took place this morning at eight o'clock at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Bernadette, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Beousoliel, of 369 Brock St., became the bride of Frederick William Primeau of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Primeau of 34 Cricket Place. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. P. Costello. Miss Hurley played the wedding music and Miss Annie Simons sang an Ave Maria during the Nuptial Mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of ivory crepe romain, made with long sleeves, rounded neckline and scalloped hem, the latter outlined with applique transparent velvet flowers that appeared also on the top of the frock. The softly-draped sash belt and shirred shoulder effects were caught with ornaments of pearls and brilliants. A long veil of embroidered silk net was worn, the Juliette cap wreathed with orange blossoms and pearls. A necklace of pearls, white satin slippers and white silk hose and a shower bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses and maidenhair fern, completed a beautiful costume.

The bridesmaid, Miss Georgette Beausoliel, sister of the bride, was in a French gown of morning glory blue silk net posed over rose taffeta. Tiny cuffs of the rose ended the long sleeves of net and the wide soft belt was criss-crossed by tiny rose pink ribbons, which also edged the wide fichu collar. A [illegible] hat of morning glory blue with folded crown, its grosgrain blue band touched with rose, was worn, also white satin slippers with brilliant buckles and white silk hose. The bridesmaid's bouquet was of Columbia roses.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast catered for by Messrs. T. Hooper and Sons, was served to the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents, where the bridal party was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Beausoliel, wearing a gown of black and beige crepe and Mrs. Primeau, in black and white. The decorations of the table and house were carried out with a profusion of flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Primeau left later by motor for a honeymoon trip to Ottawa, en route to Detroit, where they will reside. The bride travelled in a smart gown of sand romain crepe and brown velvet, the top of the frock being developed in the crepe, with points of velvet forming the cuffs and the waist line. The skirt was of velvet with side drapery. Heavy embroidery of gold thread outlined the velvet points. With this was worn a cloche hat of sand felt with caramel grosgrain band, a coat of navy charmeen trimmed with alternate bands of black and white fur, and sand-colored shoes and hose.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a handsome dressing-gown, to the bridesmaid, a combined purse and vanity case and to the best man a cigarette case.

Engineer Is Killed In Train Derailment

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, September 28 (Associated Press). — One man was killed and another was probably fatally injured late yesterday when the engine and three cars of Baltimore and Ohio passenger train No. 34, Cincinnati to Pittsburgh, were derailed near Cassell, Ohio.

Jeff Rose, 65, of Newark, Ohio, engineer of the train, was instantly killed when the locomotive and baggage car left the rails on a straight stretch of road and rolled over a 10 foot bank. Rose, a veteran employee, was making his last trip at the throttle. His fireman, T. A. Albun, 45, also of Newark, was badly scalded and may die.

A day coach and chair car following the baggage car also were derailed, but did not upset. No passengers were injured, company officials said.

After an investigation, railroad authorities said they believed a brake beam had dropped down and struck a tie, resulting in the derailment of the locomotive and cars.

Women Ask Right To Sit In Senate

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—Toronto women and probably Ontario women generally will support British Columbia's proposal of having women eligible to the Senate of Canada when the proposal is discussed at the meeting of the National Council of Women at Stratford next week. The Toronto Local Council has already strongly endorsed a similar resolution, Mrs. Patrick MacGregor, president, remarking today, "I do not see any reason why women should not be on the Senate as well as men." Mrs. MacGregor said she though it would be better for the country in general if there were more women in all of the Houses of Government.

GERMAN FLIER NOW IN BAGDAD

Will Leave For Basra To-morrow, Koennecke Announces.

MYSTERY CLEARED.

LONDON, Sept 28 (Canadian Press).—Lieut. Otto Koennekec, the German aviator flying from Cologne Germany, to North America by the eastern route, has arrived at Bagdad, Irak, says a despatch from that city.

This clears up the mystery which has engaged European flying circles since the reported departure of Koennecke's plane, the "Germania," from Angora, Turkey for Basra, at the head of the Persian Gulf, last Saturday.

A Bagdad dispatch said Koennecke would take in continuance of his flight tomorrow. Bagdad is 780 miles from Angora on the route to Basra, which is 270 miles farther to the southeast.

Monday morning brought no news of his arrival at Basra, and cables and telegraph wires were set buzzing in all diections as it was feared the "Germania" had been forced down in some out of the way place.

SENSATION IN GOLF.

Quebec Champion Badly Beaten in Ladies' Match.

TORONTO, Sept. 28. — (Canadian Press). — Miss Maude Smith, Toronto, provided a sensation in the second round of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Championship to-day by defeating Miss Dora Virtue, Quebec district champion, by a substantial margin, five and four. Miss Virtue had tied for the leadership of the qualifying round on Monday.

Playing fine golf, and sinking a fourteen foot putt for a par four at the long fifteenth hole, Miss Ada Mackenzie earned the right to enter the third round by ousting Mrs. Gordon Ferrie, Hamilton, four and three. Mrs. Ferrie battled gallantly, but the title holder's steady par shooting gave her the match. Mrs. Ferrie was a former holder of the title.

Besides Miss Mackenzie, two other winners of the title entered the third round— Miss Helen Paget, Ottawa, who defeated Mrs. Victor Sifton, Toronto, and Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, winner over Mrs. H. Macklem, Toronto.

Miss Margaret Kirkham, Montreal's seventeen year old representative, entered the third round by defeating Mrs. Eric Phillips, Oshawa, six and five. The best match was that in which Mrs. E. Whittington defeated Mrs. W. Moore, eight and six, Mrs. Moore being one under five up to the 12th hole. The winner was out in 39.

Miss Virtue to-day was somewhat wild. Miss Smith was one up at turn and then won four successive holes, ending the match by halving the fourteenth.

IN MEMORIAM.

DAWSON — In loving memory of Roy Dawson who passed away Sept. 28th, 1926.

Deep in our heart lies a picture
Of a dear one laid to rest;
In memory's frame we will keep it
Because he was one of the best.

Roy dear, we think of you,
And think of how you died.
To think you could not say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes.

Our lips cannot speak how we loved him.
Our hearts cannot tell what to say.
God only knows how we miss him
In a home that is lonely to-day.

No one heard the footsteps of the angels drawing near.
Who took from earth to heaven the
One we loved so dear.
The Pearly gates stood open and a gentle voice said, "Come."
And with farewell words unspoken
He calmly entered home.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day.
But never will the one we love
From memory pass away.

Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile.
But they little know the heartache
That the smile hides all the while.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother, and Sisters.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of our dear mother, who died Sept. 28, 1924, at Kelwood, Man.

Dear mother you are at rest.
In blissful realms of endless day
Where pain and parting are unknown
And every tear is wiped away.

We know you never can forget,
The loved ones left so lonely here;
In whose fond hearts your memory lives
And brighter grows from year to year.

Her daughters, Mrs. P. J. Elliott, and Mrs. A. E. Deck, Peterborough.

SAFETY ON HIGHWAYS TOPIC OF CLOSING DELIBERATIONS OF GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION

Grade Separation the Ultimate Remedy For Railway Crossing Accidents.

COMMISSIONS PROPOSED.

Would Investigate Causes of, and Seek Methods to Prevent, Accidents.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 29 (Canadian Press).—Safety on the highways was practically the only subject discussed at the Canadian Good Roads Association convention here to-day. Col. P. Hanson, vice-president of the Royal Automobile Club of Canada, strongly urged the appointment of a commission in every province with the necessary authority to investigate accidents on the public highways. "When the cause has been found, a remedy can be applied," he said. Such commissions would gather statistics and all the commissions should meet periodically. "The grade crossing menace is growing," Col. Hanson declared, "and the only ultimate remedy is grade separation."

J. A. Begin, Comptroller of Provincial Revenue of Quebec, urged regular periodical examination of the important parts of automobiles and also urged that no drivers be given permits until they have passed strict tests under complex conditions.

Hugh Lumsden, Wentworth County engineer, recommended setting apart certain highways for the use of heavy motor trucks. The convention closed this afternoon, delegates making an inspection of the new Welland Canal.

BRITAIN LEADS IN BIG PLANES

Latest All Metal Flying Battleship Weighs 13 Tons.

BIGGER ONES PLANNED.

LONDON, Sept. 29. — (United Press.)—Great Britain now leads the world in gigantic aeroplanes, for it was disclosed to-day that her latest all-metal air battleship, weighing thirteen tons and equipped with Rolls-Royce engines, has just completed a cruise of 5,500 miles over the North and Baltic seas.

In addition there soon will be other even more formidable aeroplanes intended for war purposes which are at present undergoing secret tests. Four of these will leave Plymouth on October 17 next in order to undertake a 25,000 mile tour, visiting Egypt, India and Australia.

It is also announced that two passenger flying boats intended for use on overseas sections of the empire air route between these three countries, a distance of some ten thousand miles, are nearing completion. Each will be capable of carrying fifteen passengers.

The use of stainless steel in the manufacture of the new air battleships effects an enormous saving in weight, while it also protects the craft from rust by sea water.

BODY REPORTED SEEN IN OCEAN

Harbor Grace Men Say They Tred To Recover Corpse.

HAD AIRMAN'S HELMET.

HARBOR GRACE, Nfld., Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press).—The report that the body of a man with a helmet on the head similar to those worn by aviators had been seen floating between Bell Island in Conception Bay and this town on the mainland was current here to-day. There was no early confirmation.

The story as told here was that two men had reported that while going from Bell Island to the mainland in a motor boat they had seen a body and had tried to recover it with their boat hook but that the heavy swell on the ocean surface prevented this.

The rumor immediately started speculation among the residents of Harbor Grace as to whether the body might have been that of one of the airmen lost on the several flights between Newfoundland and Europe this year, which ended in the loss or disappearance of the planes.

Celebrates Birthday On Ham and Pickles

PARIS, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Cold ham and pickles were the gastronomic feat of Georges Clemenceau in celebration of his 86th birthday yesterday. Going to bed at 9 p.m. instead of his usual time of 8 p.m. proved the extent of his carousing.

"I feel as young as I ever did", the war premier told the correspondents. Then good naturedly assuming the snarling attitude which gained for him the title "the tiger" he continued: "You Americans had me dying and dead last July and August." He extended both legs under the horseshoe shaped desk at which he was sitting and then snapped them together, asking "Do I look as if I had one foot in the grave?"

The room was filled with flowers sent by numerous friends of "The Tiger." There he dined in company with his brother Albert and an intimate friend, Ernest Pistri of Corsica.

Clemenceau was born in Vendet on the night of September 28-29, 1841.

Blow With Shovel During Quarrel Said to Have Caused Death.

NEAR SARNIA.

SARNIA, Sept. 29 (Canadian Press).—Samuel Dennis, 61-year-old stationary engineer, died at a hospital here today less than thirty hours after he had suffered a fractured skull from a blow alleged to have been inflicted by a shovel in the hands of Andrew Moffatt, 51, a fireman, during a quarrel at a salt plant at Courtright yesterday. Both men were employed by the same firm and the altercation arose over some detail of their work. Moffat is in custody on a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm and it is probable that he will face a more serious charge in view of the fatal results. The date of the inquest has not yet been fixed.

COLD IN THROAT PREVENTS CONCERT

Edward Johnson Forbidden By Doctor To Sing This Week.

It was with much regret that the Kiwanis Club had to announce yesterday the postponement of the Edward Johnson concert until Tuesday next, October 4th. Mr. Johnson, after scoring another triumph in his St. Catharines concert on Monday night, returned to Toronto suffering from cold and congestion of the tubes, which necessitated treatment in the hospital. It was not thought that this temporary indisposition would interfere with his Peterborough engagement, although the Cobourg concert which was scheduled for Tuesday had to be cancelled.

Mr. Johnson's manager, Mr. Suckling, was in touch by 'phone with the President of the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday and spoke confidently of Mr. Johnson's being able to be in Peterborough for to-night.

Yesterday afternoon a 'phone message was received from Mr. Suckling stating that Mr. Johnson's physicians had advised and insisted that all engagements for the week be cancelled. This message was given to Examiner readers in an announcement on the back page of yesterday's issue.

As soon as the Kiwanis Club received the message of postponement an effort was at once made to secure Mr. Johnson for another date. The only night available until next year was Tuesday, on which date a concert was scheduled for Chatham. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Suckling made arrangements for the cancellation of the Chatham concert in favor of Peterborough. The hundreds of people therefore who have been looking forward to hearing the great tenor will have an opportunity of greeting him on Tuesday at the Grand Opera. As his indisposition was not of a serious nature Mr. Johnson will be in fine fettle after this week of necessary rest. Box office sale of the few remaining reservations will be resumed on Monday, October 3rd.

GIRL'S DEATH STILL PUZZLE TO AUTHORITIES

Former Brantford Policeman is Held as Material Witness.

BLAMES SUDDEN STOP.

Examination Reveals Signs of Struggle—Girl's Clothing is Torn.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Sept. 29 (Canadian Press).—Mystery surrounds the death of the woman claimed by George Duncan, a former member of the Brantford Police Force, to be his wife.

It is known that last night Duncan and the woman were motoring from Hamilton to Brantford. About 11.30 last night he drove to the office of Dr. Faris with her, and Dr. Faris declared the woman dead. Duncan took the body to a local undertaker and left. The police were notified, and after a search in which they travelled ninety miles, Provincial Officer Mulligan and County Officer Blakeney arrested Duncan, who is held as a material witness, no formal charge being laid against him.

Duncan's statement, it is reported, was that the car had to be stopped suddenly and that the woman hit the steering wheel, this being responsible for her broken neck. Examination of the body showed a mark on her chin and scratches on the abdomen. Her feet and ankles were covered with dirt, and some of the underclothing had been torn off, with an indication that there had been a struggle on the road.

While it is rumored that the girl in question came from Hamilton, Provincial Officer Milligan stated that she is an Oxford County girl, her mother residing in Plattsville. The inquest was opened this morning.

Duncan gives his present address as 113 Lawrence Avenue, Toronto, while the woman's maiden name was Margaret Brass, Plattsville, Ontario. While a resident of this city some years ago, Duncan was concerned in a brawl on Pearl Street, and was given eighteen years on a manslaughter charge, but he served only a small portion of the term.

FLYING SCHOOL REMAINS HERE; RUMORS DENIED

Oshawa Claim That Change is Considered Not Correct.

EXPANDING PLANT HERE.

Motor City Gives Excess of Young Men There As Reason For Move.

"There is nothing in it at all." I am quite certain of that," said Col. C. H. Ackerman, this afternon when approached with a question as to the truth of a report in a Oshawa paper, that Canadian Air Services Limited were contemplating removing their aviation school to that city from Peterborough.

Captain Ayres was in Oshawa today when the Examiner attempted to get in communication with him, but the suggestion of a change of location was branded as altogehter unlikely by M. Bliquy, who was in charge of the school to-day.

The school had found itself assured of a welcome here, said Mr. Bliquay who mentioned the fact, that the company is at present erecting new barracks on the grounds, as an evidence of desire to remain here.

According to the Oshawa paper, no definite decision has been reached, although, it is stated officials of the company have been focussing their attention on Oshawa for several weeks past, and have been impressed, it is claimed by the facilities the city affords for the carrying out of their plan.

The Oshawa paper goes on to say: "Among the various considerations which have led the officials of the Company to favour Oshawa as their future location is the abundance of material for training available. Young men are far more numerous in Oshawa than in Peterborough, and the Company feels assured of obtaining as many pupils as it could handle should it establish its aviation school here.

Although no definite site has yet been selected it is understood that the officals look upon the western part of the city as the most suitable location for their purpose. An area of considerable size will be required. It is expected that a definite step towards acquiring the necessary land will be taken very shortly if the company decides to proceed with the project, as seems likely.

The assumption that more young men are available in Oshawa than in Peterborough is totally unwarranted as is amply demonstrated by census figures. In 1921, the number of men in Oshawa between the ages of 20 and 24 was 478. In Peterboro, the figures of the same group were 738, and it is tolerably certain that changes in intervening years have not wiped out the balance in favour of this city.

Kemal to Broadcast 40 0,000-Word Speech In Four Days, Reviewing Achievements

ANGORA, Turkey, September 29 (Associated Press). — Radio fans who can get Angora on their earphones or loud-speakers will have a chance to listen in on the world's record oratorical flight, October 15 to 18 inclusive—the period over which President Mustapha Kemal Pasha will deliver a speech of about 400,000 words.

The document, which covers 1,200 pages and has been in the the course of preparation ever since Kemal's ascendancy to power in 1923, will be delivered on the occasion of the First General Congress of the Turkish People's Party.

A microphone has been installed in the National Assembly so that all Turkey and as much of the world as wants to can listen in on President Mustapha Kemal's four-day discourse. Instructions have been sent to the Deputies to be present in Angora not later than October 14.

The Gazi himself, after a vacation trip to Thrace, will come to Angora from Constantinople, where he has been recuperating from his herculean task of writing the speech, which will review in detail the history and accomplishments of the Nationalist Government from 1918 to 1923, when Kemal was triumphant after Greeks had been driven from Anatolia. The speech touches lightly later events.

President Mustapha Kemal will be aided in its delivery by secretaries who will read numerous documents, but the main thread of the story will be kept going by Kemal himself.

Lady Jane Grey Wed In Westminster Abbey

LONDON, Sept. 29 (Canadian Press).—Scenes reminiscent of the sixteenth century were enacted in Westminster Abbey to-day when the possessor of one of England's most romantic names, Lady Jane Grey, was married in the Chapel of Henry the Seventh, to the Rev. Peveril H. Turnbull, Rector of St. Crosswith at Homersfield, Suffolk. The bride wore a gown of white velvet copied from the portrait of her ill-fated ancestor who was beheaded at London in 1554 with her husband on charges of treason after having been proclaimed Queen in 1553.

PEACE PALACE IS SUGGESTED

Mayor of Niagara Falls Would Build It Near the Cataract.

PEACE FOR CENTURY.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Sept. 29.—(Canadiah Press).—A peace palace at Niagara Falls, within sound and view of the great cataracts, to commemorate more than a century of peace between the United States and Canada, is suggested by Mayor H. P. Stephens, Niagara Falls, Ontario, in an interview to-day.

"Instead of having a peace palace in Europe, which has been torn with strife since the days of Attila the Hun, is it not far more appropriate that we have a peace palace at Niagara Falls, between two nations which have enjoyed peace for more than a century," Mayor Stephens said, discussing his project.

EMPIRE UNITES IN PEST FIGHT

Canada's Scheme of Using Planes Considered at Conference.

INSECT LOSS HEAVY.

LONDON, Sept. 29. — (United Press.)—Taking a lesson from Canada's scheme of surveying the forests from the air in order to destroy pests and also from Canadian anti-pest methods against crop damage, the Imperial Agriculture Research Conference, which meet here next week, will consider the best means of carrying on a crusade against pests throughout the Empire.

Thirty Dominions and colleges will be represented at the conference.

It is estimated that fully twenty per cent. of all the Empire's crops, especially in the tropics, are lost annually through the ravages of insects.

The conference hopes to establish bureaus in many of the Dominions and colonies, with the object of making war on all sorts of pests. In this connection a special study will be made of what has already been accomplished in Canada.

SAYS THAT THE LIQUOR PROBLEM IN STATES WILL BE A QUESTION OF PAST IN ANOTHER GENERATION

Commander Evangeline Booth Predicts On Her Arrival at London.

GIVEN WELCOME.

Denies Reports That She Was Ordered to Leave the United States.

LONDON, September 29 (Canadian Press).—The liquor problem in the United States will be a question of the past in another generation, Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army predicted at Central Hall, Westminster, which Salvationists jammed last night in welcoming her to London after an absence of eight years.

"In another generation I believe liquor will have totally disappeared," she declared amid applause. Miss Booth, who went to America 23 years ago from London, is visiting her brother Bramwell, Commander-in-Chief of the Salvation Army, and will spend a few weeks in the provinces prior to taking a holiday in France and thence proceeding home to the United States.

With the ousting of the American saloon," said Commander Booth, "nine-tenths of the drunkenness has disappeared. Of all welfare workers none were in closer touch with those afflicted with this burning thirst than my faithful officers and people, and their uniform and irrefutable testimony clearly shows that the chief source of former debaucheries is gone. The drink-sodden wretch who formerly was the despair of the law and almost the despair of the gospel, is found only in rare instances.

"When decent people talk of bringing back beer and wine without the saloon they of course do not realize that more than 90 per cent. of the alcohol consumed before prohibition was beer; they do not realize if we bring back beer we bring back more than nine-tenths of the old liquor traffic."

Reports False.

Miss Booth branded as false the reports that there had been a rift in the ranks of the Salvationists because she had been ordered to give up her post and leave the United States and refused to do so.

The reports are absolutely untrue," she declared. "I was never ordered to leave the United States, and I want Salvationists to hear the denial from my own lips."

She emphasized to the contrary that General Booth's orders always to her had been, "Go on where you are, where you are doing such good work."

She told of the abundance of her affection for the United States, and added: "I shall live to reach the age of 200." Then good humoredly told of efforts that were still being made to persuade her to change her name through matrimony, and divide her affection.

Whole Heart In Work.

"But I cannot see it," she averred, "as my whole heart is in my work entirely. I am flying too high for any such thoughts, and I don't propose to be caught at this date in life."

In conclusion, the Commander said that the most valuable legacy of the war was the universal desire for peace, adding: "I believe the time is fast approaching when war will be regarded by all men of religion and thought as a stalking monster of barbaric irrationalism."

DIES AT TORONTO.

The body of John S. Crate, Managing Editor of The Ottawa Journal Dailies, who died suddenly in this city Monday night, was taken to Ottawa last night, for burial in Beechwood Cemetery on Thursday afternoon. Col. R. F. Parkinson, General Manager of The Journal, accompanied the body. Before entraining a brief service was conducted by the Rev. A. F. Brace, United church minister, at the Miles Funeral Chapel.

DIPHTHERIA LOSSES LESS

Decreases Shown in Many Cities in Past 30 Years.

BOOKLETS GIVEN OUT

In co-operation with the present campaign against diphtheria in the city, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company will distribute some five thousand pamphlets on the basic principle of protecting the children from the dread scourge.

The introduction of antitoxin and toxin-anti-toxin into the combat against this general menace proved the deciding factor and since then a mraked decrease in the number of deaths from diphtheria is noted in the following statistics published by the American Association for Medical Progress Inc.:

Extent of Improvement 1895-1925.

The comparative death-rates from diphtheria for ten representative cities for the period of 1890-1894 and for the recent five-year period, 1920-1924 (and also for 1925) are as follows:

Deaths per 100,000 Population.

Boston	112.2	20.2	12.7
Chicago	117.3	47.5	8.0
Cincinnati	103.7	10.6	3.4
Denver	130.2	23.2	15.7
Detroit	132.9	24.3	9.5
New Orleans	51.3	6.5	6.3
New York	134.4	14.0	10.3
Philadelphia	119.4	16.7	15.9
San Francisco	82.8	23.0	6.6
Washington	77.9	10.5	7.4

Although there have always been and still are variations in diphtheria death-rates, the striking differences between the earlier period and to-day for all parts of the country represent a saving each year of tens of thousands of lives to be credited to the advanced methods in the treatment and prevention of this disease. For New York City alone the reduction in the death-rate measures a saving of more than 7,000 lives in 1925.

Antitoxin Introduced in 1895.

The year 1895 marked the practical introduction of antitoxin in the treatment of children suffering from diphtheria. This momentous step was the culmination of many years of intense and often disappointing scientific labour to bring under control this terrible menace to childhood. Naturally we look to see whether any substantial change in the diphtheria death-rates followed the widespread use of this specific remedy, and we observe that since 1895 there have been very striking reductions in deaths due to this disease. But before making any concrete comparisons between the pre-antitoxin period and the present, it is well to note that factors other

LAKEFIELD FAIR SURPASSES PREVIOUS YEARS, ATTRACTING AND HOLDING LARGE CROWD

Exhibits Are Numerous and of Excellent Quality.

FULL PROGRAMME.

Races and Contests of Many Kinds Keenly Contested By Boys and Girls.

LAKEFIELD, September 29. — In spite of the threatening rain and cold wind of the first day of the Fair, the second and main day dawned fair and warm, one of the choice days of late September. As good weather helps considerably to make a good Fair, the fine day was welcomed. The attendance was remarkably good and the crowd remained till nearly six o'clock as the afternoon programme offered several interesting novelties which held the attention.

The entries were large in practically every class and of exceptionally good quality. Horses, cattle sheep, and hogs were good and practically all the available pens were in use. The poultry was hardly as varied as last year, no geese were shown and only one pair of turkeys. The fowl shown were fine kinds but there was not a large variety. Several game fowl attracted a good deal of notice. The dairy produce was good in quality but not quite up to the standard in quantity. The grain and roots were good and the vegetables remarkably fine, it is several years since there has been such a fine exhibit. Apples were good and as usual attracted the small boy who hoped for a "hand out" when the owners appeared to collect their exhibit.

The art exhibit aside from the school was small but very good, the domestic science exhibit was very large and cakes, pies, bread, biscuits cookies, etc., were in profusion. The fancy work section was well filled and some especially good work was to be seen. The flowers were very fine and were evidence in themselves of the warm September and the lack of hard frost.

The school exhibit justified itself again in this its second year, for while the number of exhibits was not up to last year, the average standard of quality was higher. The maps, not so numerous as usual were well drawn in almost every instance and the product maps of Canada attracted much attention. The baking of the girls in both Public and High School was remarkably good and was evidence in itself that although domestic science is not taught in the local homes. The emwell taught in th homes. The embroidery work showed that the art of fine needlework is not neglected among the children. The kindergarten sewing attracted special notice.

The Horse Race.

The outside attractions only included one horse race this year, a free-for-all with three entries: J. Akey's "Alfred Elk," Eddie Jones' "Hal Direct" and B. Langstaff's "Doris Patch." The race called for the best three out of five heats and four heats were run, resulting as follows:

Alfred Elk	1	1	3	1
Doris Patch	2	3	1	2
Hal Direct	3	2	2	3

The interest in the horse races was not so keen as usual, as the general impression in the audience was that pep was lacking and the race was not taken seriously by either spectators or contestants.

The open bicycle race was won by Harry Stabler, with Stanley Richardson second and Percy Payne third.

The school boys' mile bicycle race was won by George Wannamaker, Bob Kingdon and Everson Kemp, as first, second and third respectively.

A decided novelty was the nail driving contest for ladies. Keenest interest was manifested and the number of ladies wishing to enter far exceeded the available nails. Mrs. J. Harris of Gore's Landing, took first place, with Mrs. P. Lloyd of Warsaw, second. Mrs. John Northey being third.

The last event was the drawing contest and it not only drew, but held the interest of the crowd till the last entry had finished, the heavy class, 2,800 pounds and over drew first with four teams entered. E Patterson's team of Peterborough, won first place, Jack McManus' team of Cavan, taking second place, and James McManus of Lakefield, third. The load was 6,500 pounds of iron castings.

The light class also brought out four entries. Fred Doughty's team taking first money, Edward Kennedy second, and Everett Dunford third, the loading being 5,500 pounds.

Musical Program

During the afternoon Lakefield Citizens' Band furnished an excellent program of music. The Midway did a thriving business and was a magnet to the young people particularly. The afternoon program was so well filled that it was impossible to make room for either the tug of war or the softball game scheduled for the afternoon. Taken all in all, despite the "dismal Jimmies" who prophesy the ruin of the small town fair, this year's event went across in good style and the enthusiasm was keen to the very last.

The Bank of Commerce Cup for the best cow or heifer on the grounds was won by a fine Jersey owned by W. H. Down and the cup was presented by Albert Darling, President of the Society, in front of the grandstand. The Johnson Cup for the best saddle horse was won for the second time by Fred Walsh of Douro.

Annual Concert

In the evening the annual Fair concert was held in the Memorial Hall, which was well filled with a large audience, representing the village and the adjoining townships. The committee in charge was disappointed in several selections which had been promised for the occasion but the dramatic contest advertised as one of the principal attractions took place. The two plays competing were "Jelly for the Preacher, given by three ladies of the North Smith Dramatic Club. It was an amusing sketch of the efforts of three ladies to capture the affections of the new minister, who was a bachelor. The parts were well taken and the play was well received. The cast was as follows:

Mrs. Arabella Doolittle, who may soon be a widow, Mrs. A. Northey; Mrs. Belinda Barrington, who is a widow, Mrs. H. Windover; Miss Clementina Clipp, an old maid and who was first to present "jelly to the preacher", Mrs. Fred Armstrong.

The second play, put on by St. Luke's of Peterborough, was an English comedy, entitled "Box and Cox" and presented many amusing situations. Mrs. Bouncer, a landlady (Miss Queenie Hope) of a London boarding house, thinks it a good scheme to rent a room twice. Mr. Cox (Cecil Hope), a hatter, occupying it by night, and Mr. Box (Jack Pritchard), a printer, occupying it by day. This worked well for a time but finally the two men meet and find that they are not only rivals for a room but also for the affections of a fair widow, "Penelope Anne." All's well that ends well, however, and they swear undying friendship when news arrives that the fickle lady has married neither Box nor Cox, but Knox.

Messrs. W. Sullivan and J. Mahoney played several violin duets accompanied by the piano by Miss Sullivan. The musical numbers were heartily encored and while this was the first appearance of these young musicians, we are assured it will not be the last.

The judges for the dramatic contest were Mrs. (Rev.) S. A. Kemp,

At the C.P. and C.N. crossings off street car tracks similar cement paving has been done.

There is little prospect of the remaining street car tracks being removed in the near future, said a member of the city staff this morning.

DAMAGE HEAVY IN OIL FIELDS

Estimate Destruction As Result of Overflow Near Tampico Around $3,000,000.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 29 (Associated Press). — Property damage may total 6,000,000 pesos (roughly $3,000,000) in the large oil field areas north of Tampico as a result of the overflow of the Panuco River, despatches from Tampico to Excelsior estimate. The floods are said to have caused suffering to approximately 5,000 persons and many may be homeless.

The high waters have forced the suspension of drilling and other operations in the Panuco fields, the despatches state. Transportation is demoralized. Workers in the oil camps and inhabitants of the villages have been forced to abandon the flooded areas and take refuge in the high lands.

Marketing Figures Steadily Climbing

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 29. — (Canadian Press).—The rattle of grain wagons over the rural roads of the prairies has become almost continuous and marketing figures are steadily climbing. Tuesday saw the passing of the 2,500,000 bushel mark at points on the Canadian Pacific Railway, when farmers lodged a total of 2,513,034 bushels of grain in the elevators.

A total of 669 cars were routed to the Head of the Lakes Tuesday, 569 cars being delivered at the water front and 662 unloaded. Shipments by boat amounted to 240,000 bushels.

WILLIS BEACH STILL AT LARGE

Attorneys Say He Will Be Present Whenever Court Wants Him.

NOT FLED JURISDICTION.

HAMMONTON, N. J., Sept. 29. — (A.P.).— Willis Beach, South Vineland poultry raiser wanted on a charge of aiding and abetting in the slaying of Dr. A. William Lillendahl on September 15, remained in hiding yesterday while his attorney and the county prosecutor's office issued statements defending their stands.

The warrant for Beach's arrest was issued on Tuesday when officers were unable to find him at his home. He was free on $5000 bail as a material witness.

"Beach has not fled the jurisdiction of the court, and will be present whenever the courts want him," said Edison Hedges, of Atlantic City, his counsel. "His bond as a material witness does not say that he shall be produced before the State police or county authorities at any time."

Arrested on Sight.

Prosecutor Louis Repetto of Atlantic County, on the other hand, said Beach would be arrested on sight and that he would not make any "deal" with Beach's cousel for the man return. Repetto expressed the hope that Beach would be surrendered by his counsel and said that he would oppose any motion for his release on bail.

While Mrs. Margaret Lillendahl, dow of the slain pphysician, who is under $25,060 bail as a material witness, received friends at the little cottage in South Vineland where she lived with her husband and their eight year old son, Mrs. Beach defended the missing man.

"I have every confidence in my husband," the woman told newspapermen.

Mrs. Beach returned to her home only on Tuesday. She had been visiting a daughter in Elizabethtown, Pa.

Attorney Is "Proud To Say" That She Is His Wife.

GEORGETOWN, Texas, Sept. 29 —Otis Rogers yesterday abandoned temporarily his role as chief counsel in defence of his wife, Rebecca Bradley Rogers, and became a witness.

Mrs. Rogers is on trial on a charge of arson. She also faces charges of robbery with firearms, a capital offence.

Rogers told the story of his romance with the girl he is trying to save from prison.

"I am proud to say she is my wife," he said.

He told of his first meeting with the girl and of their subsequent friendship and marriage at Georgetown court house, October 28, 1925.

Whether Mrs. Rogers will testify had not been determined. It probably will rest largely with her, and she said yesterday she had not decided.

OLD MASTERS

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere, into the here.

Where did you get those eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought about you, and so I am here.

STIRLING DISTRICT FALL FAIR SURPASSES PREVIOUS RECORDS; ATTENDANCE IS ABOUT 3,000

Entries in All Classes Were the Largest Ever.

BABY SHOW

Full Bill of Horse Racing Attracts Very Large Crowd.

Nearly three thousand people visited Stirling Fall Fair yesterday, which was held in the Exhibition grounds. The entries in all the classes were the largest ever and when the day was over the directors classed the fair of 1927 as being the biggest and best ever. During the afternoon many compliments were paid to the president and secretary by men who have visited all the district fall fairs this year, and they classed Stirling as being the best.

The main building had exhibits of vegetables, dairy products, ladies' work and art that has not been surpassed at many of the exhibitions in the province.

A full bill of horse racing was given, which attracted a very large crowd. The Department of Agriculture supplied the majority of the judges. Perhaps the keenest competition in the whole fair was in the dairy product class, when all the leading cheese makers in the county had their product up to be judge. There were 18 large cheese and a large amount of butter. The cattle exhibit, especially in the dairy classes, was very large.

Baby Show.

Fourteen babies were entered in the baby show. The judging was watched very closely by hundreds of interested citizens. First prize was won by the baby of Mrs. Russel Stapely, Madoc Junction; second went to Mrs. Ellarby, of West Huntingdon; third to Mrs. Orville Jackson of R. R. No. 1, Harold; fourth to Mrs. Stewart Brady, R.R. No. 2, Harold, and fifth to Mrs. Fred Thane, R.R. No. 2, Harold.

Championship School Fair.

All the pupils of schools in Hastings county who won prizes at the rural school fairs were entitled to enter in the championship fair. Two large tents held the entries of the various schools. The quality of the exhibits was excellent and the two tents held a class of exhibits that would be hard to beat. The parade was large, with Bayside school winning first place.

There were 125 exhibitors, which was the largest in the history of Stirling Fair. Over 250 poultry were on exhibit and the number of cattle came close to beating Belleville. Stirling's brass band supplied the music during the afternoon and there was a full midway, composed of a merry-go-round, the chair ride and many games.

The Horse Races.

There were three horse races run off during the afternoon, with seven horses starting in the 2.35 class. Silent Tod won first money and the three heats in the three minute class. BOOTHS NEARLY ALL TAKEN FOR KIWANIS CLUB FAIR

United States' Manufacturers Refused—Only Produced in Canada Goods.

NEW ATTRACTIONS.

Many Novel Exhibits Will Attract All Classes of People.

There are very few booths left to be taken for the Kiwanis Club Produced in Canada Exhibition, planned to be held in the Armouries during the week October 10 to 15, and Harry J. Boyle, Chairman of the Booth Committee has had requests from manufacturers in the United States who desired to have representation at the biggest fair of its kind in Ontario. They were refused space, however, because this exhibition is of goods of Canadian manufacture only, or firms that are building a Canadian factory.

There is practically a complete change of exhibits from last year and more attraction booths have been obtained. One of the most interesting of the booths that showed at the Toronto Exhibition, that of the Interlake Tissue Mills, has been secured. In this exhibit, Mrs. Smallwood demonstrates the many practical uses of crepe paper. The Horne Mills of Lindsay are bringing their complete exhibit which consists of a turn-table in motion, showing their complete range of fancy blankets, and Mr. Horne is adding to the attractiveness of this exhibit by donating any blanket chosen by the winner as a door prize. The Horne Mills manufacture blankets for the Canadian Pacific Railway Hotels and others. A most interesting feature of the Exhibition is a display of the different wools from all over the world, showing the stages they pass through from raw material to the finished product.

Another new feature this year is the plan to have special attractions for the afternoon, that will be of particular interest to ladies. After a great deal of persuasion by Dr. J. J. Craig, he was able to induce the Department of Agriculture at Toronto to send their complete canning and preserving exhibit, with ladies proficient in the art of domestic science, who will demonstrate and lecture every afternoon. Another interesting Dominion Government exhibit will be the egg candling, showing food value of all grades of eggs.

French habitant weavers are being brought from Quebec with their hand looms, and they will demonstrate their art. This is very interesting and will more than repay any ladies who take the time to see it. This exhibit will be manned by two charming ladies, Mademoiselle Mathilde Cimon and her sister, of Baie St. Paul, Que., who demonstrated at the Canadian Folk Song and Handicraft Festival at the Chateau Frontenac; Quebec, last May.

The Toronto Technical School is sending down a special exhibit of pottery and several of its most expert pupils are coming along to demonstrate this art. The Peterborough Technical School exhibit will be of special interest in view of the fact that the local technical school is planned to be second to none in Canada, when completed.

One of the achievements in connection with the Exhibition is the obtaining by Dr. J. J. Craig, of the wax-work exhibit of the Fathers of Confederation that the T. Eaton Company had on display in the Coliseum at the Canadian National Exhibition. This life-like group is well worth the price of admission and is very fitting for the Confederation Year Produced in Canada Exhibition. It will be shipped within a day or two, requiring practically a complete railway freight car for its carriage.

Captain Ayres, who is taking so prominent a lead in Canadian Commercial Aviation will have a booth that will prove of great interest to citizens of Peterborough and may be the means of creating enough enthusiasm to make every visitor a member of the Aero Club that Peterborough is planning to form in the very near future.

A unique plan is being worked out this year which will create more interest in the displays. A cup is being donated to the exhibitor, who in the opinion of the visitors at the Exhibition, has the best display. As visitors pass through the main entrance to the Armouries they will be handed a ballot which entitles them to a chance on the substantial door prizes that are being so generously donated by Peterborough merchants and drawn for each evening. All they have to do is put their name and address on the ballot and the name of the booth they think deserves the cup. Drop the ballot in the box at the door on the way out, and the prize winner of the door prizes will be announced in The Examiner the following day.

The list of exhibitors to date is as follows: Le Roy Candy Company, Barries' Limited, Baker Sales Co., Interlake Tissue Mills, Miss McCarthy, artist; Rochester Root Beer, Horne Woollen Mills, Imperial Oil, E. V. Warne, Heintzman Hall, Beeskist Honey, Western Canada Flour Mills, Captain Ayres, Watson's Radio, Turnbull's Store, Canadian Departmental Stores, Singer Sewing Machaine, Sherwin-Williams, Canada Starch Company, Imperial Tobacco Co., Hall Store, E. W. Gillett Co., Miller Powell Co., Aldous Metcalfe Madam Merriam, Campbell and Best, Whyte's Cycles, Memoire Fruits, The Examiner, Coca-Cola, Pure Gold Food Company, Canada Paint, Seaman-Kent Co., and Denine Perfumes.

Peterborough will welcome an outstanding man as visitor next week in the person of the Right Reverend Sir John Taylor-Smith, D.D., K.C.B., C.V.O., late Chaplain-General of the British Forces. He will be the guest of the Reverend J. D. Paterson and the Parish of All Saints', where he will conduct a series of meetings and conferences on Thursday, and Friday, October 6 arsl 7.

Bishop Taylor-Smith has had a distinguished career and a varied experience in all parts of the British Empire. In 1895, he went abroad as Chaplain to the Expeditionary Force on the Ashanti Campaign. From 1896—1901 he was created a Chaplain to Queen Victoria. From 1897 to 1901 he was also Bishop of Sierra Leone and, returning home that year he became Chaplain-General which rank he held until 1925 when he reached the age of retirement.

His distinguished services have been three times recognized by his sovereign. In 1906 he became a Commander of the Victorian Order and in 1921 he was created, as a reward for his war service, a Companion of the Bath. On his retirement in 1925, he was Knighted and made a Knight Commander of the Bath. As a reward for special services in the time of the Great War he was made a member of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and is now Sub-Prelate of the order.

On Friday, October 6th, Bishop Taylor-Smith will be the guest speaker of the Kiwanis Club.

RURAL SCHOOL FAIRS

AT PONTYPOOL.

PONTYPOOL, September 29.—This is the speech which won the first prize at the School Fair at Ballyduff:

"In this, Canada's Jubilee Year, whom could we better honour than the man who has perhaps given us the greatest cause to rejoice, Sir John A. McDonald. When we think of the wee laddie of five who so eagerly watched for the first sight of his new home as the ship carried the emigrants up the St. Lawrence, then look at Canada of to-day, years later, we can hardly realize how much of this wonderful land and remarkable progress was due to his life-long efforts. In his boyhood John had no easy time, in fact, he once said he had no boyhood, as he began to earn his own living at the age of fifteen, he longed eagerly for those very educational opportunities for which some of us so little appreciated. He never let difficulties discourage him, coming home one day he found his family ill in bed and without food. John had never mastered the art of cooking but he carried his invalid sister down stairs to a couch and rolling up his sleeves under direction made bread, and good bread. Another remarkable characteristic was his willingness to take advice from those qualified to give it. Mr. Shaw, he asked of a friend one day, what shall I do to become popular. Join our lodge his friend replied and run for alderman. Within a month he was both alderman and Orangeman. He steadily advanced in law and politicis and in 1844 he was elected to the legislature with an overwhelming majority. In his early political career he resembled the wise old owl, the more he saw the less he spoke. At the age of thirty-two he entered the Cabinet as Finance Minister. In the stormy days of riots and party defeat John kept a cool head. He had a great memory and a genial manner which added to his popularity. He was a master of political strategy and a born manager of men as we realize by his marvellous method of organizing the warring factions into a strong political party.

He settled the difficult questions on the clergy reserves and signorial tenure. In 1856 he was chosen as leader of the whole Conservative party. At this period political deadlock, fear of an American invasion, closing of the reciprocity treaty and need of progress in Canada made the union of the British sessions on this continent seem the only solution to these difficulties in sinking his personal feeling and working for the good of his country with those who had so bitterly opposed him, McDonald showed his intense loyalty to both Canadian and Britain.

It was to a great extent due to McDonald's genial friendliness and remarkable generalship that Confederation proved what it is. One false step in those critical two years would have been fatal but McDonald's strategy did not fail him. Blackford said of him: He was the ruling genius and chief spokesman. The great honor of being first prime minister was deservedly given to McDonald and it took all his ingenuity and leadership to steer the country through the bitter jealousies and conflicting interests of all parties, political, racial and religious. I do not want to be felt, he said, by any section of the country that they have no representative in the Cabinet and no influence in the Government. The winning of Howe to Confederation, the handing over of the North West to Canada, the first Red River rebellion ,the forming of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Alberta, the creation of the North West Mounted Police force and the joining of B.C. and P.E.I. to the Dominion, all within six years is one of the marvels of modern history. The real rebellion and the Pacific scandal though they might only be classed as grave indiscretion form perhaps the only dark clouds in the brilliant career. The faith of the people in McDonald is shown where in spite of these within five years he was again elected Prime Minister in 1878, supporting the national policy.

In carrying out this policy and the magnificent work of putting through the C.P.R. McDonald gained for himself the name of Maker of Canada. Until his death in 1891 he retained the leadership in the country which no opponent could shake in his final dealing with Riel, we see his love of justice displayed though it cost him practically all loss of the Catholic vote.

The last statesmanship is accomplishment and by this standard he stands head and shoulders above every other figure in Canadian history. He had more to do in fashioning Canada than anyone else in Canada and though he was fond of power he did not use it for his own private uses. He left Parliament a comparatively poor man, but for the public objects he so desired he had a keen sense of humor even when the joke was on himself. On one occasion while occupying the barber chair a friend noticing his position remarked: "I believe, Sir John", he said, "that he was the only man in Canada who can take you by the nose with impunity." "Yes", replied Sir John, "and he has his arms full."

His firm principle of never acting until the opportune moment carried for himself the nickname of Old Tomorrow. In commemorating his death we quote these lines:

Canada's old tomorrow lives today
In unforgetting hearts, and nothing fears
The long tomorrow of the coming years.

CHILDREN NEED this FOOD
it sustains them

TOO many little folks spend forenoons in school without sufficient nourishment. Teachers notice it. The children are listless, nervous, irritable. Can't do their lessons—forenoons wasted.

Why? Not enough real food for breakfast. Often in too big a hurry to eat.

Children who are given hot Quaker Oats and milk, have the food that "stands by" them during morning hours. They are eager, energetic, alert both in work and play. They get the protein to build bone and muscle, the carbohydrates to produce energy, the vitamines and bulk to assist digestion.

Nowhere else can your children get so much nourishment for so little —costs but a cent a meal. A dish of Quaker Oats and milk daily provides a quarter of the protein needed for a growing child.

If you want speedy cooking, get Quick Quaker. It cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes. Same superiority of quality, same flavour and same nourishment as in the Quaker Oats you have always known.

QUAKER OATS — you have always known.

PRODUCED IN CANADA.

The Exhibition to be held in the Armouries early next month under the auspices of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club is designed to exploit Canadian-made goods and to emphasize the importance of Canadians buying the products of their own country.

Latest trade returns show that we continue to import an amazing amount of foreign goods, much of which could be produced in Canada, and in its production provide employment for Canadian workers.

The local Exhibition will serve to call attention to the variety and excellence of Canadian-made articles, and will, therefore, be of much educational value, inasmuch as the demand of exhibitors for accommodation will undoubtedly result in every available foot of space being utilized.

While there will be many entertainment features, visitors to the Kiwanis Exhibition are urged to study thoroughly the various exhibits and to reflect over the benefits that are bound to follow a more general demand for produced-in-Canada goods.

SAFE ROADS AS WELL AS GOOD ONES.

The emphasis placed by the Highway Ministers of Ontario and Quebec upon the necessity of striving for greater safety on Canadian highways has been an outstanding feature of the Good Roads convention.

Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways in Ontario, and Hon. J. L. Perron, holding a similar portfolio in the Quebec Cabinet, have evidently arrived at the conclusion that this country not only needs good roads but safe roads.

"Until the awful toll of needlessly wasted life is reduced to a minimum, no greater or more necessary work can be undertaken at the present time than enforcing upon the user of the highway the need of careful, cautious consideration of the rights and lives of others," was Mr. Henry's statement.

Mr. Perron was even more emphatic.

"Unfortunately—and it is better to state the truth plainly—we have been unable in many Provinces to make the people understand that life has to be protected on the highways, and that the fact of having a motor vehicle and a motor license is not a license to kill other people."

All of which indicates that the campaign to make Canada's highways safe is likely to be intensified in the near future with drastic measures against the reckless and careless drivers.

THE JOHNSON CONCERT.

The postponement of the concert that was to have been given tonight by Edward Johnson, the great Canadian tenor, is deeply regretted, and there is a general hope that Mr. Johnston will have sufficiently recovered as to be able to sing here on Tuesday evening.

The visit of an artist of his calibre to Peterborough is a rare event, and the Kiwanis Club in giving the people of this district an opportunity to hear a singer who is recognized as the world's finest tenor, has earned general gratitude.

Although there is disappointment over the unavoidable postponement, there is not a doubt but that the great artist will be greeted by a crowded house when he appears at the Grand Opera House next week.

The educational value of hearing an outstanding singer like Mr. Johnson is so great that the interest in his visit is a matter upon which the community is to be congratulated.

Peterborough has not been noted particularly for its appreciation of the best in music, and for that reason the demand for seats for the Johnson concert is a source of gratification.

CANADA AND AUSTRALIA.

The discussion that is taking place in newspapers from coast to coast as a result of criticisms of Canada's immigration policy voiced at the recent Anglican Synod meetings cannot fail to be beneficial, inasmuch as it brings into prominence a question about which there has been too much general indifference in this country.

There is much about this question that requires more explanation than has yet been given.

An official statement issued by the Australia Government this week shows that the population of Australia is increasing more rapidly than that of Canada—in the period between 1921 and 1926 there was an 11 per cent. increase in Australia, as compared with 8 per cent. in Canada.

Immigration into Australia consists almost altogether of British people, while, on the contrary, Canada last year received only 49,000 Britishers as against 73,000 new citizens from the Continent of Europe.

Canada offers more varied advantages to settlers than Australia, is much closer to the Mother Country, and yet while Australia's population is growing faster than our and that increase is made up of British stock, we received last year 24,000 more aliens than Britons.

Immigrants included 24,000 English, 14,000 Scottish, 9,000 Irish and 1,400 Welsh settlers, but against these were 73,000 aliens, including 12,540 Germans, 401 Austrians, 1,085 Croatians, 721 Czechs, 1,674 Dutch, 5,180 Finns, 3,301 Italians, 475 Japanese, 2,084 Jugo Slavs, 842 Lithuanians, 4,863 Magyars, 51 negroes, 6,505 Poles, 292 Rumanians, 1,127 Russians, 9,995 Ruthenians, 8,072 Scandinavians and 4,274 Slovaks.

There is some real work for the melting pot there, and, unfortunately, the returns so far for this year are not any more reassuring, inasmuch as the first four months of the fiscal year show only 32,443 immigrants from Britain, as compared with 47,443 from Europe and Asia.

A NATIONAL IMMIGRATION POLICY.

There is a deepening conviction among the more reflective citizens that the current generation will see the racial character of Canada determined for the future to an extent beyond what is now known. The predominant strain is British and French, but the incoming tide does not assure that this will be continued in the present ratio. This touches a far more significant issue than the one frequently raised in relation to the query: What is a Canadian? There is meaning in the census returns which require citizens to report on their racial origin.

As shown in the census of 1921, the racial origin of the population that year was mainly as follows: British, 4,868,903, 55.40 per cent.; French, 2,452,751, 27.91 per cent.; German, 294,636, 3.35 per cent.; Scandinavian, 167,359, 1.90 per cent.; Dutch, 117,506, 1.34 per cent.; Hebrew, 126,196, 1.44 per cent.; Indian, 110,814, 1.26 per cent.

This accounts for 92.60 per cent. of the population. It may be assumed there has been no radical changes in the past six years. The evidence of these statistics seems to show that if Canadians are vigilant there need be no doubt as to what they may do to assure keeping the country practically what it is now, as concerns the racial origin of the population.

There can be no policy of exclusion against any race or color. But there can be regulation of incoming peoples so that a definite policy may be adhered to. It is a wise policy to endeavor to restrict immigration from the British Isles and North Europe, which includes France.

The American quota law is working out so that about three-quarters of immigration is from the British, Teutonic and Scandinavian countries. The result can be attained only by vigilance and careful attention to the regulations at the gates and the ports from which intending immigrahts take ship for Canada.—Hamilton Spectator.

LIBERTY IN LONDON.

Visitors to London never fail to remark upon the almost unlimited freedom of speech which is permitted in public places and to seek an explanation for the apparent indifference which characterizes the official attitude towards the agitators, soap-box orators and other spell-binders who hold forth almost daily in Hyde Park and elsewhere, very often uttering sentiments which are distinctly disloyal and subversive. Of an evening or a holiday, there is no sight more familiar to Londoners than a crowd gathered about a speaker in the Park or in Trafalgar Square who is seeking to obtain redress for some grievance, real or imaginary, or to advance his own peculiar theories regarding public questions. Not infrequently it happens that these orators become most violent and abusive in their language. Yet nothing happens to them, although there may be policeman standing nearby as lookers-on, and, to the casual observer, no official notice whatever is taken of their denunciations and fulminations.

One of the most violent of these demonstrations attended the recent expulsion of the Russian Trade Mission. Anarchists and Communists gathered in Trafalgar Square at the foot of the Nelson Column and gave vent to their rage and chagrin. One of them denounced the British Government as "a gang of thieves and murderers." At another stage a voice suddenly cried out, "God Save the King!" to which the retort came from the orator of the day: "You call yourself a patriot? You are a patriot like this bloke up there"—pointing to the figure of Nelson. And so it went on, speakers vieing with one another in seeing which could utter the most sensational and inflaming sentences. Yet there was no interference, no movement from the "Bobbies" on the outskirts of the crowd, no intimation to the speakers from the forces of law and order that they were overstepping the mark.

"Those fellows seem to be having everything their own way, but the police have the situation perfectly in hand Every one of the speakers has been shadowed. We know everything about them, their past records and present whereabouts, and could put our hands on them at any moment of the day or night.

"There is always someone in the crowd taking down what is said. All these talks are a matter of official record. The fellow who is talking now about unemployment and tyranny could not be induced to do an honest day's work. We know him. And we know the crowd listening to him. They are not taking his rant seriously. They are laughing at his attacks on the Government. By letting him speak freely we allow him to blow off steam. It does no harm. If there were anything serious brewing in the way of plots, we would know about it long in advance."

Thus it is that Britain deals with the agitators in her midst. She allows them to "blow off steam" when they feel the need of relief, she places no obstacles in the way of the most perfect freedom of speech, but she is watching them constantly and, should occasion demand it, she knows where they are and how they may be taken into custody. Great Britain does not talk very much about her liberty, but she practises it in much greater measure than some other countries which have made of it a fetish.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Better spend a dollar to get your driver's license than pay $10 in Police Court for not having one.

The attitude of the Attorney-General toward the case of the Lindsay ex-police magistrate suggests that somebody has been feeding Mr. Price meat.

"Safety for all who build and use highways," is the keynote of the Good Roads convention. It is a slogan that should be made to mean something.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Sept. 29 (Canadian Press).—The foreign demand for Canadian grain continued of a limited character here yesterday, and the volume of business transacted was small.

The only business of importance in the local cash grain market was the sale of a few odd loads of Tough No. 2 Northern wheat at ten cents per bushel over the Winnipeg October option, c.i.f. Montreal. The car lot trade was quiet but firm.

The undertone to the market for Spring wheat grades of flour was steady with a moderate amount of business passing for export account. The local demand was dull. The trade in Winter wheat flour continued steady and prices were unchanged.

Owing to the more liberal supplies available, the tone of the millfeed market was inclined to be easier, but there was no change in prices. The trade was active. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was steady with a fair trade passing.

There was an increased inquiry from foreign buyers for Canadian baled hay yesterday, but owing to the increased rates for ocean freight space asked and the somewhat limited offerings, business was checked.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained under a fair demand. The receipts were 2,172 cases.

The feature of the butter trade was the stronger feeling that developed in the market and prices scored an advance of ¼c to ½c per pound. This was attributed to the steady demand and the small receipts.

The receipts were 1,835 packages.

There was an improved demand from English importers for held cheese yesterday, and a fair amount of business was done in Western No. 1 white and colored at 21½c to 21⅝c per pound, and Eastern grades at 21¼c per pound. The trading in current receipts was slow and prices continued irregular.

The receipts were 6,190 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (Canadian Press).—Official notice that the corn crop in Iowa, leading corn State of the Union, is now fully normal, operated to pull down corn prices yesterday. Twenty per cent. improvement of Iowa crop since September 1 was shown making the average condition equal to that of the last five years at this time. Closing quotations on corn were weak, ¾ to 1⅞c a bushel net lower for the day, with wheat at ⅝ to ⅝c advance; oats unchanged to ⅜c up, and provisions varying from 17c decline to a rise of 20 cents.

Higher temperatures yesterday over the greater portion of the corn belt tended further to bring about a setback in corn prices. Oats were firm, influenced by reports of smallness of Indiana and Ohio arrivals.

Wheat closed fairly strong after being in good demand all day despite assertions that much larger acreage of winter wheat than last year is substantially assured. Possibilities of less favorable weather in Canada was a factor and so, too, was the better milling call yesterday for domestic winter wheat. Export purchasing of North American wheat was estimated at 500,000 bushels.

JOLLY JINGLES By Graham Hunter

DAILY EDITORIAL BY DR. FRANK CRANE

FOUR MODEST MEN.
By Dr. Frank Crane.

Modesty is one of the chief characteristics of true greatness. A great man can have no further commendation or no greater bid for popularity than to have it said that he is modest.

This has been a characteristic of President Coolidge. He has avoided the spotlight and attended to the serious duties of his office with becoming humility. His recent word that he did not choose to run for President again should be taken at its face value. It is the solemn dictum of a man who, having achieved the acme of his popularity, desires to step aside. The country has prospered tremenously under his administration, but he is harboring no delusion that he is the only man who can occupy the exalted position of President.

Another man who is winning all kinds of plaudits and reaping all sorts of popularity from his becoming modesty is the Prince of Wales. Of course he deserves no credit for being born the son of a king, but he does deserve credit for not slopping over. He has managed to say the right thing at the right time and to conduct himself with becoming decorum in whatever limelight he may be placed. While he is not to be credited with the distinction of being born to royalty, he is entitled to the distinction of caring for the duties of this superior place as he should. He is well liked not only throughout the British Dominions, but in the United States and elsewhere throughout the world.

To those who have met Jack Dempsey personally he has been a surprise. They expected the Manasa mauler to look like a bruiser. They were surprised to find him gentle, well liked by everybody and courteous. His form is slim and his manner is that of a gentleman. He is affectionate in his family relations and altogether those who know him are not envious of his fame.

The fourth modest man that has recently loomed in the horizon has been Lindbergh. After achieving a feat that brought him the plaudits of kings and nations everywhere he apparently was not possessed of the idea that he was a super-man, but modestly restrained his claims to those of a flying man. He had crossed the ocean alone in a flying plane, but did not suppose that because he had done a stunt with his machine in the air he could do every other kind of thing. It is with a feeling of pride that the people of the country read of the way he demeaned himself in France and in Great Britain and in connection with the officials of this country. As far as we know, he has made no enemies, for the one thing that makes an enemy is over weaning egotism.

America is justly proud of these four men and principally because they are not proud of themselves especially.

DOURO HOUSES BEING COVERED

Cement Effects Great Improvement in Appearance and Comfort.

MANY BEING DONE.

DOURO, Sept. 28.—A great transformation is taking place in the exterior of many local residences; frame houses, log houses and even a stone house have been covered with cement, a smoother finish than the old "rough-cast" houses is put on and a different color is used in marking the cement off in blocks. So far all the houses have been done in a dull, cheerless gray which will not help brighten the landscape. The workmen in charge, Buck Brothers, of Norwood, declare that they can do the house in any color, from a clean, beautiful white to a bright, cheerful pink. Among those who have had their houses done or will have them done this fall are: William Cavanagh, James Foley, Michael Torpey, William O'Leary, Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald, James Moher (south), Robert Allen, Joseph Garvey, William Allen, William O'Brien and Dennis Minogue.

The cement is said to be very durable and greatly increases the warmth of the houses, making them windproof.

MASONS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

District Lodges March in Body To Warkworth Presbyterian Church.

EXTENDED WELCOME.

WARKWORTH, Sept. 28. — On Sunday evening the members of the local Masonic Order with a number from Hastings and Campbellford marched in a body to the Presbyterian Church, where an excellent address was given by Rev. Russell McGillivray, B.A., D.D., of Central United Church, Edmonton, Alta., a former pastor of the Presbyterian Church here. Mr. Lewis Fowler, student of Knox College, Toronto, and Rev. W. W. Jones of St. Paul's United Church, assisted with the service.

After the singing of the hymn, "All Hail, the Power of Jesus' Name," Rev. McGillivray read for the first lesson Eccles. 12, verses 1 to 7, following this Rev. W. W. Jones offered prayer. Mrs. William Grant sang very acceptably, "I Shall See Him Face to Face." Scripture Reading, Matt. 5, verses 1 to 16, by W. W. Jones. Hymn, "Lord of the Lands."

In a few well-chosen words, Mr. Fowler extended a welcome to the Masonic Brethren and also to the two ministers and expressed the appreciation of the withdrawal of the evening service in St. Paul's Church in order that all may attend the service in the Presbyterian Church.

Anthem, "I Will Exalt Them."

Mr. McGillivray expressed his joy in having the opportunity of speaking in the church where he was made a minster, and speaking to the Lodge where he was made a Mason.

The sermon was divided in three parts: Brotherhood, Bible, and God.

In the opening remarks the speaker stated that if he had it to do over again probably he wouldn't be a Mason, probably he wouldnt' be a minister, because the obligations to Brotherhood and God and the Church were so great.

Brotherhood is a thing that one doesnt get from brother or mother, but one has it just the same. It is a thing which makes one want to help everyone. Being sympathetic in that one can help more than anything else.

The Bible is a volume of the Sacred Love of God and the most wonderful book in the world. Quite often it is used too lightly and even though it is put in a place of prominence, the reading of it is neglected. Read it, but not study it: There is too much of that sort of thing going on in the world. Men study it to try to prove when the world is coming to an end or when the next war is. The Bible was never meant for that sort of thing. God is a friend who does not turn from one when in any trouble and through prayer and Christian living one is always in close contact with the Master.

Hymn: "O, Lord and Master of us All."

GIRLS INVEIGLED ACROSS BORDER

Held in House By Resident of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

JAILOR ARRESTED.

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 29.—Two Hamilton girls were inveigled into a house across the river and held there for two days against their will, Magistrate Watts was told in Police Court yesterday. An anonymous telephone call was sent summoning the police to a house occupied by Luigi Cheantelli, 67 years of age. There they found the doors barred and after gaining admission, discovered Edna Drury, 19 years of age, locked in an inside room, while a loaded revolver was found on a bureau outside the door. The other girl, Elizabeth Currie, 19, escaped and was the one who sent in the call to the police. Cheantelli was arrested as the jailor of the girls and was fined $50 for having a revolver and held in custody on the other charge.

In court yesterday, Miss Drury said she and the other girl were frightened by Cheantelli, who continually brandished the revolver and swore he would shoot them if they made any outcry or sought to escape. When the man went to work he locked all the doors and windows. The Currie girl picked the lock and got away and sought to get the other girl to accompany her but she was afraid.

Cheantelli brought the girls from Hamilton it is said, and promised to take them to a girls' rooming house, but instead trapped them in his own place.

Two other girls, also from Hamilton, were picked up by the police in connection with the case and are being held. They are Betty Drury, sister of the other girl, and Mary Waydale. The police say they will deport them back to Canada. It is believed the Currie girl has made her way back to Hamilton.

DUTCH CUSTOMS SEIZES WEAPONS

Finds Large Quantity in Hold of Ship Bound For Asia.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 29.—(United Press.) — Customs officials to-day seized a large quantity of arms and ammunition, including a hundred revolvers and ten thousand cartridges, aboard the Dutch steamer Gemma, bound for the East Indies.

It was alleged the arms and ammunition had been smuggled aboard the vessel by Chinese stokers in behalf of Communist agents.

IN POLICE COURT.

Max Myers pleaded guilty this morning to having liquor that was not purchased from a government vendor and was fined $200 and costs. The police when they raided the place last night found seven cartons of beer and wine. Myers said he was just giving a drink to a few friends who happened along on the very night the police raided.

The case of Buller against Herbert Vyse was dismissed this morning, as there had been no proof in the evidence that the accused was making beer, although when the officers raided they found bottles of beer and signs of drinking.

Are Parents People?

Article 2.

1. Does the present-day parent compare favorably or unfavorably with the parent of past generations?
2. To what extent can parents be blamed for juvenile delinquency? And in what respects?
3. Can a parent, by controlling environment and companionship, mould the character of the child as desired?
4. Do you believe in the principle of parent education? If so, what should it include?
5. At what age do you think parent education should start? Should it be before or after marriage?
6. Do you think the inclusion of health as a major topic in a parent education scheme might do much to increase the physical well-being of the country?

By Hon. William F. Roberts, M.D., Formerly Minister of Health for New Brunswick.

I am absolutely in sympathy with this movement. If ever the world needed this form of education specifically to prevent the future fall of the British Empire, and, for that matter, the white race, it is at this moment. There is to-day no such thing as the home as we knew it thirty-five years ago.

1. The latter.
2. To a very marked extent. Parents' time is being taken up with the demands made upon them by society and with amusement, resulting in a lack of good home influence.
3. Parents need frank and free education first. Then they can prove of service to their children — until then, no.
4. Yes—all that pertains to the laying of a foundation for a sane and healthy home, physically, morally and mentally.
5. At 12 years of age. Interesting information on this point is contained in a paper read before the Canadian Public Health Association in 1922 or 1923: "The Reconstruction of the Adolescent Period of a Canadian Girl."
6. Yes.

(Published by arrangement with Canadian Social Hygiene Council).

One of the grandstand attractions at the Produced-in-Canada Exhibition arranged by Kiwanis Club to be held in the Armories on October 10-15 will be the pageant brought from the Canadian National Exhibition. This pageant, "New Canadians Arriving," is given by boys and girls and was highly commented on in Toronto. During the whole term of the Toronto Exhibition, not one of the boys or girls in the cast was absent, late or unprepared, and Dr. Craig was fortunate in being able to secure their services for the Produced-in-Canada Exhibition. This pageant will be given at the grandstand performance on Friday and Saturday nights of Exhibition week.

Mothers with young children need not be afraid this year to attend the Produced-in-Canada Exhibition, for Kiwanis Club has arranged with the Catholic Women's League to operate a babies' rest. Toys will be provided and mothers may leave their children in this room while they go to look over the booths and exhibits. There will probably be an arrangement that mothers must return at certain periods to see how their children are behaving.

BURGLAR SHOOTS TWO POLICEMEN

Makes Unsuccessful Attempt To Escape From Detroit Jail.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 29.—Two patrolmen were shot, one perhaps fatally, yesterday in the prisoner's tunnel beneath Municipal Court Building when Charles Brown, 25, a convicted burglar, after wresting away the revolver of his escort, Patrolman William Frahm, made an unsuccessful attempt to shoot his way to freedom. Frahm is in the Receiving Hospital with a bullet wound near the heart and another in the right arm. His condition is critical. Patrolman Chester Cox shot twice by Brown in the right hand and arm is also in the Receiving Hospital. Brown was wounded in the right foot and returned to the county jail.

The capture of Brown, about 300 yards from the point where he broke away was effected through the heroism of George Cocinos, a former machine gunner and now a court elevator operator, who was assisted by Harold Naumann, court carpenter.

After sentence of two to 15 years for burglary had been passed Patrolman Frahm and his prisoner got on the elevator and started for the basement where a tunnel leads to the jail. As they reached the tunnel Brown broke for freedom, kicking Frahm in the groin and wresting the patrolman's revolver from his pocket. Brown shot Frahm twice, and as the latter fell Patrolman Cox passing with a chain of five prisoners; started in pursuit. Brown dashing along the driveway which opens on Macomb Street. As he ran he fired twice at Cox striking him in the arm. Cox transferred his revalver to his left hand and continued firing. Close behind him was Cocinos, who had left his elevator when he heard the shots. Cox tossed his revolver to Cocinos with the order 'chase him and shoot him." The fugitive was racing through an alley when he was overtaken, overpowered and manacled and returned to jail.

Forced Air
—the Greatest Heating Discovery of Modern Times

DO you suffer from large fuel bills? Cold rooms? Sluggish air flow? Slow heating or extremely hot air?

All these cause discomfort and ill health. Yet all may be eliminated by using Forced Air—the greatest home heating discovery of modern times.

Miles Automatic Furnace Fan attached to your present furnace transforms it from a gravity to a positive pressure system. Large volumes of air are forced over the heating surfaces, pushing the heat units into the rooms before they have time to escape into the basement or out the chimney. Result:—a great saving in fuel, better health and solid comfort in bitterest weather.

Miles Automatic Furnace Fan is also wonderfully effective in keeping the house cool in summer. Can be used with all makes of warm air furnaces, old or new. Mail coupon for interesting particulars.

BUSINESS BETTER AS YEAR CLOSES

Improvement In August, However, Less Than Usual.

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—In a summary of the iron, steel and machinery markets, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News makes the following comment this week:

Although the month of August brought a gain in accordance with normal expectations, it was, in general, a sluggish rebound. In general, however, business sentiment is improving with the approach of autumn. This is the season that generally brings some acceleration and it is reasonable to expect that that will be the case this year.

Fundamental conditions are indisputably sound. There has been no clipping of general buying power, and, if authoritative crop reports are sustained in the harvest, the farmer will be a considerably richer man this autumn.

Together with indications of an approaching industrial upward turn, come figures for August output of iron and steel which justify predictions. Pig iron production totalled 63,234 long tons, 24 per cent. greater than in July. More basic was made, counter-balancing a drop in foundry grade. For the eight months to date, the output of pig iron is four per cent. greater than in 1926.

Steel production for the month of August totalled 77,479 tons, 40 per cent. over July, and marking the greatest August since 1923. In the eight months to August 31, steel output totalled 620,039 tons, against 541,705 tons in the same period last year. The recession of the steel industry in the summer months is now clearly reflected in figures, and it is proven that, so far as iron and steel production is concerned, the year to date is definitely ahead of 1926.

The slow and heavy character of the recovery is attributed by many to the slow speed at which the automobile industry has been running. No definite announcement has yet been made by Ford as to commencement of production. Most of the Canadian machine tool executives are off to Cleveland and Detroit to shows just now. Sales in Canadian territory of tools and equipment are reported good.

Iron sellers are not particularly agressive. Although books have been opened for fourth quarter, prices stand as in recent weeks, at which some tonnages have been accepted. There is a general belief among furnace interests, however, that a price revision is in the offing.

Otherwise, the market is steady, with growing turnover of supplies, unchanged prices and no indications of immediate changes.

In the United States, some large rail orders now imminent and increased activity among agricultural implement manufacturers are chief factors which promise to lift the steel industry above the July-August level of production. Demand through the first half of September remained at the slow pace of the summer, but mill operations in the past week have receded slightly, with the Steel Corporation at a 67 per cent. rate.

British steel buyers are critical of the rebate plan adopted by domestic manufacturers. They want more safeguards, and the right to buy abroad structural sections over six inches if desired. New demand for steel is quiet and the market for pig iron is weak. Foreign steel buying burdens the British market.

"My face broke out with small pimples which gradually became large, red and very hard. They festered and scaled over which made them very sore, and itched, causing me to scratch, and they soon spread to my chest and back. My face was disfigured and I was ashamed to go any place. I could not sleep on account of the irritation.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and inside of a week there was quite a change. I purchased more and after using one box of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap I was healed." (Signed) Nicol Stark, R. R. 1, Glenelm, Que.

PICKS UP MOVIE STAR IN TROLLEY

Director Hires Office Worker For Leading Part in Picture.

TORONTO, Sept. 29 (Candaian Press—When Miss Dorothy Fowler left her desk in a local newspaper office as usual one night at five o'clock, and boarded the customary bus for her home, she did not dream that fame and fortune were waiting for her in that bus. But that is just what happened, and as a result of that bus-ride she has been chosen to play the star part in the first all-Canadian historical motion picture, "The Policing of the Plains," which is being directed by A. D. Kean.

So interested was the director's daughter, Miss Louise Kean, when she saw Miss Fowler in the bus that she asked the young man whom she had been talking with Miss Fowler for that young lady's name and address, and it was upon her later suggestion that Miss Fowler was sent for to come to Trenton, Ont., where in the Ontario Government studio the film is being made. "She has proved a wonderful screen type and will make a big hit in the picture," says Mr. Kean. Miss Fowler disclaims all previous screen ambitions and said that her selection as a leading lady had come as a complete surprise to her.

MEN SPEND MORE IN BARBER SHOPS

Women Get Only Hair Cuts, Visiting Beauty Parlor For Other Treatment.

Are men or women spending more for hair-cutting and dressing?

As far as the barber shop is concerned, men spend more money When a barber sees a woman coming in the door, it is forty cents at the most, but with a man there is the possibility of anything up to one dollar fifty or thereabouts. A woman, in a barber shop, seldom gets more than a hair-cut, or trim but a man may "take the works," from shave to shampoo and scalp treatment. But there the comparison ceases to be a comparison. When a woman gets into a beauty parlour there is no limit to the amount she may pay for crimping, curling, waving, shampooing and other forms of beautification, in common use in such Aladdin establishments of transformation.

The women are harder to please than men because they make free use of the "woman's privilege." Young men, however, are by far the most difficult to suit, of the men, having their own ideas as to the type of cut they wish and being generally more particular about their appearance. They also spend more money than any other class of men as they go in for more shampoo and treatments than he others.

The type classified as business men is not so particular. They usually have only a limited amount of time and are not unduly concerned about the cut a long as they get quick service.

Old men have more leisure to chat while in the chair and are easily pleased. As long as they get a "good, clean cut," they are satisfied. It is also noticeable that there are fewer of the other men requiring a shave. The older men, set in their habits, who have not adopted the "safety method" usually wish to be shaved but the other men are fast getting away from the barber shop shave. In fact, one barber from Detroit states that in many of the shops across the line, they are posting, "no shaving" signs, such is the unprecedented increase in the number of "safety-shavers."

YOUNG CANADIANS ARE SAVING MORE

Penny Bank Reports Show Great Increase in One Year.

QUEBEC, Sept. 29 (Canadian Press—That young Canadians are a thrifty lot and are learning more thoroughly each year the truth of the old adage, "a penny saved is a penny earned," is well proven by the recent report of the Penny Bank. From it we learn that Canadian boys and girls now at school have $907,862 on deposit in the Penny Bank. One year ago, they had only $795,154. In one year, they have thus increased their savings by $112,708. The figures are significant in that they have increased appreciation of the value of thrift by young people. The habit of saving inculcated early in life is one of the most potent factors making for happiness in old age.

LARGE INFLUX FROM STATES

Scores of Families Are Making Homes in Canada.

GREATEST SINCE 1920.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 29.—"More settlers are coming from the United States to make new homes in Canada than in any other year since 1920," said J. R. Ryan, travelling colonization agent from the St. Paul (Minn.) office of the Canadian Pacific Railway, yesterday.

"Personally," he said, "I have brought seventy families this season, and have every reason to believe the total will be well over 100 before the end of the year. On this trip I have been in Saskatchewan and Alberta with four parties from four different States. All, I believe, will come into Canada next year. All of these settlers have money, some a great deal, but all enough to start farming in the Prairie Provinces. While I have spoken only by my own experience, I know from inquiries and records that others in the same line of work are meeting with equal success. Judging from my experience, I expect 1921 will be even a better year, and a large number of settlers will enter Western Canada from the United States."

Mr. Ryan will return in October with the largest party of the season.

CHURCHES HOLD UNION SERVICE

Three Havelock Congregations Hear Speaker From Bible Society.

HAVELOCK, Sept. 29. —A union service of the Anglican United and Presbyterian Congregations was held in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Davis of Toronto, a representative of the Bible Society gave an address on the work which has been accomplished by the society.

Mr. Davis said, "I think it is a privilege to represent in your midst the British and Foreign Bible Society. It is the one society in which all the protestant denominations join in the work of giving God's work to all people in all tongues and race Prejudice is one of the difficulties with which it is confronted in the carrying on of this work. Ever since the church was instituted there has been this difficulty.

"We are proud of our nationality," he said, "but we must not thing of it in the work of extending the kingdom of Godd." The speaker outlined the work which had been accomplished in foreign lands by the Bible Society with the co-operation of the missionaries and also of the work done in Canada. At every Canadian port of entry a copy of the Bible is given to all foreigners, one column printed in English and one in their native tongue. The Bible Society has also to break down magic and superstition in its work. When people have not Gods word there is superstition.

"If you do not give the people God's word in a language they can understand they will prevert the Christian religion," he said.

There are three ways of helping the Bible Society, he said. First—By living a Christian life. Every life modelled after Christ is an advertisement for God and the Bible Society. Second—By prayer and third by giving something of what God has given. Last year the Society has a deficit of $170,000 because christian people from all denominations made extra demands. Fourteen new translations were added and twelve million copies distributed and the Bible Society is calling on all Christian people to relieve this deficit from her shoulders.

Mrs. A. C. Denike gave a report from the local branch for last year showing that $50.35 had been collected. The following are the officers for the ensuing year.

President—F. Bacchus.

Vice Presidents—Rev. T. H. Stanley, Rev. W. R. Archer, Rev. G. E. Lougheed, Rev. M. E. Wilson. Secretary—Miss Jean Anderson.

Treasurer—Mrs. A. C. Denike.

All the collectors of last year were re-appointed.

BOWLING CLUB LOSES MEMBERS

Three Families Leaving Campbellford Are Entertained.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 29. —With the removal of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stewart, Dr and Mrs. A. Haig, and Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Richardson, the local bowling club membership will be less by six names. Since the beginning of the club, these members have been unceasing in their efforts to make every venture a success. For the past year Mr. Stewart has held the office of treasurer ,and has regularly held office in the club.

By way of expressing the goodwill of the club, the departing members were entertained at bridge in the Parish Hall yesterday evening. There were eight tables ,and Mrs. Stewart won the prize for the highest score, a beautiful glass comport. During the evening, the gayest of spirits prevailed, and after a delightful lunch had been served, Mrs. James Archer, president of the lady bowlers, presented each of the ladies with a small token of remembrance. Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Haig replied briefly expressing their appreciation and hope for the brilliant future of the club which they were leaving. Mrs. Stewart, treasurer, handed over the books to the president. When these formalites were completed, the members present joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows." Each member personally expressed their regret at losing three of their most popular members, but made their farewells more in the form of adieus than good-byes .

IMPROMPTU TALKS PROVE INTERESTING

Programme at League Service Brings Out Many Ideas.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS Sept. 28.—In spite of counter attractions and distractions the regular league service on Thursday evening drew an attendance of over thirty. The programme was in charge of Gladys Simpson social convenor with Bessie Meiklejohn as leader. After a bright song service, led by the president, F. Barnum, roll call showed khaki group in the lead with six points in advance of the Whites, who are stepping right on the heels of the leaders, only fourteen points separating them in the year's total.

After a hymn by the Red group, Scripture lesson by the leader, devotional talk by the pastor, and a splendid duet by Mrs. Lorne Barnum and Rev. C. Daniel, an interesting session began, this being impromptu speeches by various members of the league on topics drawn from a pile presented. The list of topics and leaders of discussion on each was as follows: "Could the money that will be spent to-night at the prize fight be used for a better purpose," Lindsay Anderson. A contrast was drawn between the huge total spent in the fight and the meagre sum obtained each year for missions. "Why do people go to sleep in church on Sunday," Thomas Fry. Atmospheric conditions had much to do with this, was the conclusion, and not always a dry sermon. "Should we encourage or discourage Sunday picnics?" Mrs. Fred Barnum thought we should. This form of Sabbath breaking should be discouraged. "In what way is a Young People's League a help to public speaking," Mrs. Albert Petherick. It gave the young speakers a chance to gain confidence. "Is the world getting better or worse and in what way?" George Brunton. There was a great deal of discussion on this and the general conclusion seemed to be that most of the world was getting better and those that stated things were getting worse were not doing much to improve conditions. "Is the motor car a damage to church attendance and should it be," Nellie Bennett. It should not be and in many cases was actually a help to church attendance, though the congestion on highways any Sunday morning or evening would argue otherwise. "How are we to prevent our young men and women from leaving the community," Lindsay Watson. By making conditions so attractive that they will want to stay. "What do you prefer country life or city life?" Rev. C. Daniel. In the activities of younger days he would prefer the open spaces of the country but for older life the small town offered many advantages.

Many other ideas which were well worth while were brought out and needless to say everyone enjoyed hearing them.

The next meeting is in charge of Gladys Petherick and the annual rally programme will be given.

LEAGUE COUNCIL FINISH LABORS

Will Not Take Up Various Questions Pending Until Next Session.

MEET IN DECEMBER.

GENEVA, Sept. 29. —(A.P.). —The council of the League of Nations finished its labours yesterday afternoon and will not take up again the various questions pending until its session next December.

American failure to join the world court of justice because of the impossibility of granting the United States satisfaction on the question of advisory opinions by that court, was suddenly made the subject of discussion in the council yesterday. The matter crept into the debate on the Greco - German controversy touching a payment for the battle cruiser Salamis built for Greece by a German shipyard, and transformed an unimportant question into an extremely important one by raising the issue as to whether, in asking for advisory opinions, from the world court, the council must vote unanimously or by a majority.

Dr. Urruti, member for Colombia, who is reported on the Salamas case, advocated asking for an advisory opinion from the world court whether the council possessed competence to interpret the treaty of Versailles, as Greece wished and to declare whether the treaty prevents Germany from exporting war material, even if contracted for before the outbreak of the war, as happened in the Salamis case.

Lord Onlow, of Great Britain, and Dr. Loudon, of Holland, opposed asking the court for an advisory opinion whereupon Signor Scialoia of Italy, retorted that unanimity was not necessary anyway, because requests for such opinions were acts of procedure, and not of policy.

Unanimity Necessary.

This brought M. Titulescu, foreign minister of Rumania, to his feet with a vehement affirmation that unanimity was necessary. "One reason why the United States did not adhere to the statues of the world court," he said, "was because America was not given assurance that unanimity was essential."

The president of the council, Senor Villeges of Chile agreed that no doubt unanimity had prevented the United States from joining the court. But he held that the question of whether unanimity or a majority was necessary was too grave to decide hastily.

Dr. Urruti quoted from the report of the members of the world court that the fifth American reservation appeared to rest upon the presumption that requests for advisory opinions required unanimity of the council.

"But," he added "no such presumption so far has been established."

Like Senor Villeges, he preferred to avoid a definite decision on this issue. On this the council agreed, and the question still remains open. The Salamis dispute was postponed until the next meeting of the Council December 5, at Geneva.

than antitoxin have also been at work which have doubtless contributed to the general result. Among these may be mentioned the more certain diagnosis of the disease; the isolation of patients and quarantine of persons exposed; the detection of healthy "carriers"; and increased and improved clinical ,hospital and laboratory facilities. And to these must be added a more enlightened attitude on the part of the public toward the whole problem of the conservation of the health of the community. This public concern when intelligently directed is a most helpful factor in the curbing of disease. When ignorance, superstition and prejudice prevail, preventable disease will be allowed to slay right and left and especially among children.

The United States diphtheria record for 1924 was in round numbers 120,000 cases, with nearly 10,000 registered deaths, which means a death-rate of about 10 per 100,000 population and a case fatality of about 8 per cent. The latter—the case fatality rate—is highly significant. Before the discovery of antitoxin, diphtheria was fatal in at least one-third of the cases, and in severe epidemics a death-rate of 50 per cent. or more was not unusual. In New York City the average was 35 fatalities for every 100 cases during the four-year period (1891-1894) immediately prior to the introduction of antitoxin, as contrasted with the fatality rate of 7.4 for every hundred cases during the past four years, 1922-1925.

In studying the diphtheria figures of the past thirty years two facts stand out:

First, that diphtheria deaths were formerly eight to ten times more numerous, on a basis of population, than they are to-day.

Second, that diphtheria was formerly between four and five times as deadly as it is to-day.

Young children are the chief benefactors of this remarkable advancement, for the majority of victims of diphtheria are children under five years of age.

The Eradication of Diphtheria.

With the development of a safe and effective means of protecting children on a large scale against the hazard of diphtheria has come a new era in the fight against this disease. In New York City, over 400,000 children have been immunized, which means that substantially one million injections of toxin-antitoxin have been given. There have been no serious effects of any kind. Health Department records show that there have been about 5,000 fewer cases of diphtheria a year since this programme was inaugurated. A comparison of diphtheria death-rates in a number of other cities shows an improvement that is especially marked since the introduction of toxin-antitoxin immunization. For the past two years (1924 to 1925) New Haven reported the lowest death-rate among the large cities of the country . Detroit, in a few years of concerted effort, has reduced its diphtheria deaths from a rate of 35.6 per 100,000 population in 1921 to 9.5 in 1925. Among the smaller communities Auburn, New York, has achieved a notable record following a three-year anti-diphtheria campaign. This city in 1924 had but one death from this disease ,and in the year 1925 not a single fatality was reported. With practically 85 per cent. of the school and pre-school children immunized, Auburn reported, in 1924, more cases of diphtheria among adults than among the younger age groups.

CAMPBELLFORD FAIR PROMISES GOOD PROGRAM

Exhibits, Entertainers and Race Horses All on Scene.

MIDWAY TO BE LARGE.

Directors Busily Engaged in Last Minute Preparations For Opening.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 29.—Yesterday preparations for the Fair were being rushed to completion. The buildings have all been thoroughly cleaned and set in order generally. In compliance with the orders of the Government, the cattle and stock pens are being whitewashed and disinfected. The water supply has been arranged for. The stubble field quartette of acrobats and trapeze artists was busily engaged erecting their apparatus. The midway under the direction of Joseph Hollander was being arranged for the big show.

The track has been scraped and graded and is in much better shape than it has been for years. The fast horses were beginning to filter into town. Among the arrivals yesterday were horses from Carleton Place and Smith's Falls. The owners are inclined to regret the fact that they did not bring along a larger string. They were not aware that Campbellford offered such a range of classes for the sport. In their opinions, the local track is superior to any in the district, and they have expressed their opinion on the matter to several officials.

The prizes for poultry are apparently to be keenly contested. At six o'clock yesterday evening there were over six hundred entries and more arriving hourly. The main building will be filled to capacity with exhibits, and the directors are at a loss to allot every exhibitor sufficient space.

Briefly, the Fair is due to be a greater success than it has ever been. It is more than probable that another year will find extensions and additions to the buildings not merely desirable but imperative. Much credit is being given the officers and members of the association for the energy they have expended in their extensive preparations. At the present time, nothing remains but the good will of the weather man to assure success to the greatest fair of the district.

MEMORIAL FILM WILL BE SHOWN

Brighton Canadian Legion Arranges For Picture of Unveiling.

FOR MEMORIAL FUND.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 29. —"Broken Hearts of Hollywood," which has just completed its run at the Regent, is a powerfully human drama with much more truth than poetry wound up in its many feet of film. In spite of all the various tales which are told as "gospel truth" of movie colony, the average person is inclined to see things as they are depicted in this picture. The opinion that fame and fortune await anyone who would venture there in its quest is not the true state of affairs. Hollywood has as many broken and bleeding hearts as any other city in the world, perhaps more. Quite true, the little beauty from Providence, R.I., and her travelling companion who had won the popularity contest, did win fame. But their's was a rough passage before their hope of happiness became a reality.

The week-end picture, "Flaming Frontiers," will gladden the hearts of the fans who crave Western thrillers. With Hoot Gibson, Dustin Farnum, Ann Cornwall, and Kathleen Keys, the picture is certain to contain plenty of thrills. It is a Universal, and is released by the same producer as "The Covered Waggon."

In connection with the unveiling of the Brighton war memorial, the Canadian Legion of that town is showing a complete moving picture programme in the Brighton Town Hall on Saturday night. The movies of the ceremony of unveiling will be shown for the first time. This is by special arrangement with the Government films. The feature picture will be "On the Boulevard," with an "Our Gang" comedy. These items should constitute a programme of exceptional interest to everyone who attended the ceremony on Sunday, September 18th, and also to those who were not there, it will be an opportunity to see all that happened, and enjoy a good movie as well.

The show is under the supervision of Captain Hyland, Campbellford, and the proceeds are to apply to the memorial fund of Brighton.

Wheat Prices Weaker Following Liverpool

CHICAGO, Sept. 29. — (Canadian Press.) —Unlooked for set-backs in Liverpool quotations, together with Australian and Argentine reports of rain, gave an early downward trend to-day to the wheat market here. Corn also displayed weakness notwithstanding persistent unwelcome moisture over the corn belt. Opening 1-4 to 5-8c. off, wheat rallied, but then sagged lower than before. Corn started at 1-8 cent decline to 3-8 cent advance and subsequently underwent a material drop. Oats were easier. Provisions likewise turned weak.

Leaders Lose Slightly On Toronto Stock Market

TORONTO, Sept. 29. — (Canadian Press).—The upturn on the Toronto Stock Exchange was checked in heavy trading this morning when numerous fractional declines in the active leaders set in. In the regular list City Dairy was marked down two at 155, Canadian Oil nearly two points at 13, and Steel of Canada eight points at 177. Brazilian again advanced, gaining 1½ at 198½. Nickel eased to 68¾, but recovered a point above that mark, a fractional gain. Northern Bakeries was a point lower at 40 on a huge turnover, while International Petroleum lost fractionally at 33. British American eased to 33, and Malting to 33½. Walkers at 55½ and Gooderham at 52¾ were slightly stronger.

New York Market Trend Is Uncertain

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (Canadian Press).—Extremely nervous trading characterized today's stock market, which witnessed frequent shifts in speculative sentiment. Efforts of bear traders to bring about further reaction in the pivotal industrials disclosed good support, but on the other hand the resumption of bullish operations in some of the recent strong spots encountered large offerings. The banks called about $10,000 in loans following the marking up of the call money renewal rate to four per cent. Special buying of the Van Sweringen Rails, particularly the Erie issue and Chespeake and Ohio attracted widespread attention. Texas and Pacific and Pittsburg and Western Virginia also recorded good gains.

Mine Market Weaker With Leaders Losing

TORONTO, Sept. 29. — (Canadian Press).—Some weakness was shown in this morning's session of the Standard Mining Exchange. Amulet slumped fourteen at 670 and Area was down five at 65 while Dome Mines lost 30 at 10.75. Laval-Quebec in active dealings eased a point at 43. Barry Hollinger's turnover was close to a hundred thousand shares and it firmed nearly two points at 87. Argonaut strengthened one at 41, and another firm spot in the list was Kirkland Hunton, finishing the morning one up at 22.

Charming Chinese Sisters Love Statesmen Who Have Been Rivals In Nationalist Rule

NEW YORK, September 29 (Canadian Press)). — Love laughs not only at locksmiths, but in Nationalist China it even smiles aloud in the face of political enmity. Two charming sisters of the House of Soong have selected for their husbands men who have been prominent in rival sections of the Nationalist movement.

Miss Meiling Soong, petite Wellesley graduate, modestly informed her social friends over the tea cups in Shanghai a few days ago that she loved the great General Chiang Kai-Shek, and that they would wed, provided her family gave the consent required by tradition.

Now Meiling's sister, Madame Sun Yat Sen, widow of the founder of the Nationalist movement, is reported to have become the bride in Moscow of Eugene Chen, who was much in the news a few months ago as Foreign Minister of the so-called Radical regime at Hankow.

Should Meiling's attachment for Chiang Kai-Shek have such a happy fruition, the sisters will be the wives of men who have been political enemies for some time. Chiang led the Moderate Nationalists in their break from Chen's Hankow regime, and Chen is said never to have forgiven.

DREDGE SINKS OFF LABRADOR

Government Vessel Lost On Way To Fort Churchill.

NO LOSS OF LIFE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29. — (Canadian Press.)—Word has been received by the Department of Railways and Canals of the loss of the dipper dredge Kennequahair, which was proceeding to Fort Churchill, the terminus on Hudson Bay of the Hudson Bay railway. The dredge ran into a north-west gale on the Atlantic off the Labrador coast. Owing to the pounding to which it was subjected, the Kennequahair sprang a leak and foundered on the morning of Sept. 27. The attending crew was taken off safely and there was no loss of life.

Following recent floods on the Amazon river, great herds of crocodiles infested the river banks, and one man was reported devoured by the reptiles.

Australian Doctors To Be Given Planes To Give Service To Residents On Frontiers

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Sept. 29 (United Press).—The most romantic scheme in the world of giving medical aid to the needy will be inaugurated in Australia on April 1st next, it was officially announced today; the necessary funds now being in hand.

Briefly, the system calls for the mobilization of six doctors who will each be equipped with an airplane and whose duty it will be to respond to urgent calls from the sparsely settled interior and lonely northern areas of this continent.

After the plan has been put into operation, it is declared, isolated stockmen need have little fear of not receiving medical attention should they fall sick or be injured hundred of miles from civilization while the danger to heroic pioneering women of bearing children are removed from human aid, will be gone.

The Australian branch of the British Medical Association, an organization known as the Australian Inland Mission, and the Federal State Governments are co-operating in the matter.

Bobbed Here To Stay; Comfort Is Too Great

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 29 (Canadian Press).—"Bobbed hair and short skirts are here to stay. No matter what the Mrs. Grundies may say, the women will never go back to the long dresses trailing in the dust, and the girls do not want to have the trouble of long tresses. The comforts of the bobbed hair and short skirts are too great to be given up."

So says the Border City Star, apropos of a bobbed hair war which is raging in Mexico City. There, girls at the normal school who have had their hair cut short are determined the others shall fall in line. They are going about with scissors and forcibly bobbing those who will not submit voluntarily. The Mexican girls are afraid that the inexorable laws of custom will force them to grow their hair again.

Dial numbers have been converted into raised numbers to enable blind persons to tune-in different stations on the radio receiver.

DID YOU EAT BREAKFAST?

Joseph E. Smith, well-known chef in Canadian hotels, says people are not eating as much as they used to back in 1894, when eighteen course meals were common. People are losing their appetite for breakfast almost entirely, he claims. His uncle, Emil, from Alsace-Lorraine, and his cousin, John, were chefs before him, so that the Smith family for 47 years have ruled in noted kitchens.

—you and Mrs. Miller will often come and see us and that we may spend some happy evenings together.

Now we ask you to accept this gift, not for its value but for the good will and appreciation expressed therein. Signed.

James Webster presented the gift. The evening was spent in dancing and games.

Mr. Quinn at one time was a member of the old Peterborough Hockey Club and left Peterborough eighteen years ago this being his first visit home since that time. He notices a great change in Peterborough there being a wonderful improvement in all sections since he left. He is optimistic of Vancouver, which he states is increasing in population and trade very rapidly. He will return to Vancouver the first of the week.

WHO IS YOUR SKINNY FRIEND, ETHEL?

Tell him to take McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets for a couple of months and get enough good healthy flesh on his bones to look like a real man.

Tell him that thousands of thin, puny, peaked, scrawny men all over America have improved their physical health and appearance and bless the day they first heard of these wonderful sugar coated tablets so full of weight producing vitamines.

Ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., Jas. Lynch and every druggist worthy of the name sells them—60 tablets—60 cents. Any thin man or woman can put on five pounds of healthy flesh in 30 days or your druggist will willingly refund the purchase price.

One woman put on 15 pounds in six weeks. Children grow robust and strong—feeble old people feel younger in a few weeks.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

As soon as Bob and Cherry had left for Bob's office, Faith sped from her almost untasted breakfast to make up her husband's bed before Mrs. Lundy should have an opportunity of seeing that only one of the twin beds had been slept in. She could not tolerate the thought of an alien in her home knowing of her estrangement from her husband. Cherry's knowing was terrible enough. Cherry's gloating hard enough to bear—

"Could I have the market list early this morning, ma'am? I'd like to have the pick of the sweetbreads at the butcher's this morning."

Faith's face was flushed darkly with unreasoning anger as she straightened from her task of bedmaking. "I wish, Mrs. Lundy, that you'd knock before entering my room. The list isn't ready yet, of course. I haven't had time to think what I'd like for dinner. I'll give it to you in a few minutes."

Mrs. Lundy's broad, homely face reddened at the rebuke, but Faith saw that her keen gray eyes were very kind, pitying.

"Excuse me, ma'am," she said in such a conciliating voice that Faith was made ashamed. "There was something else I wanted to say, too. If it's money that's standing in the way of you keeping me on, I'll take a couple of dollars a week less. I'm hard to suit with mistresses, and I like it here, and I'm mighty fond of the baby—"

"I'm awfully sorry, Mrs. Lundy," Faith spoke sincerely, the flush deeper on her cheeks. To be frank, it is money—our expenses are so frightfully heavy—and I'm afraid two dollars or even three or four a week wouldn't help a great deal. A little later, when times are better, I'd love to have you come back, if you haven't found a satisfactory place."

"Thank you, ma'am," Mrs. Lundy answered, smoothing her kitchen apron with work-reddened, trembling hands. "And I won't say anything about why you're giving me notice, ma'am. You've been mighty good to me. I hope you'll give me a good reference and say I'm leaving of my own accord."

"Of course," Faith answered, a lump coming into her throat.

At half past ten, while Kate Lundy was still out buying fresh vegetables and meat, Faith took the empty nursing bottle gently from little Hope's relaxed clutch, stooped to brush her lips lightly against the soft, short curls of red and gold, then raised her eyes to see Bob standing in the doorway, looking on at the picture with moist blue eyes.

"You've—come back?" she whispered, still conscious of the sleeping baby, even in the shock of joy that made her nerves quiver.

For answer, he held out his arms, and Faith, running on tiptoe, went into them, but not before she had closed the door of Cherry's room.

"I'm so sorry and ashamed," Bob whispered brokenly, straining her to his breast so tightly that she gasped, in sweet pain. "I know now what you did, you foolish darling, to help me."

"Oh!" Faith cried. "You've been to the bank, Bob? You see, I didn't want you to worry—"

"I know, sweet," he interrupted, his hand stroking her hair. "I found this morning, in going over some papers on my desk, that Cherry had neglected to deposit a check for $200 that I'd given her, and I called up the bank to see if any checks had been returned unpaid. I couldn't make heads or tails of the bookkeeper's explanation of why I had enough money on deposit, so I went over and looked into the thing. Then it all came out. Now I want to tell you just how things stand, financially. You have a right to know."

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND ONE LEG

Many voices were whispering amid the reeds, willows and wild rushes on the banks of the duck pond. Now and then the reeds would move as though the wind blew them, but there was no wind. And the voices that whispered were scarcely louder than the evening breeze.

"Do you think Uncle Wiggily will make Long Legs go away?" softly croaked Bully No Tail of his father who was hiding under a broad, green, lily flower leaf.

"I hope so," answered Mr. No Tail. "Keep back, Squeakie Eekie! Keep back!" murmured Jillie Longtail to the cousin mouse who peered out from a bunch of grass where she was hiding. "Do you want the whole of your tail nipped off next time in the Blue Heron's beak?"

The Blue Heron darted his long sharp bill.

"I thought that long legged bird was going away?" squeaked the tiny cousin mouse, switching around her tail so she could look at the end where the Blue Heron had nipped off a piece in trying to stab the little mouse herself with his sharp beak.

"Leave that to Uncle Wiggily!" croaked Bawly No Tail. "I think he is coming now with that funny frog he made out of rubber plant leaves. Yes, here he comes!"

The whispering stopped, and all was quiet amid the rushes and reeds on the swampy edge of the duck pond. The rabbit gentleman, who has promised to play a trick on Long Legs and drive the Blue Heron away, was now ready. The sun was setting. Soon it would be dark.

"Are you all here?" softly asked the rabbit gentleman as he reached the place where many of his friends were hiding to watch him play his trick. "Are you all here?" He could see none of them, so well hidden were they amid the rushes and bushes.

"All here!" softly croaked Mr. No Tail. "Do you need any help?"

"Well," said the rabbit gentleman as he set in the water the large, make believe, rubber frog, "if some one would take a look to see if Long Legs is on the edge of the marsh, I would push this trick frog out so it would float past him. The Blue Heron himself will do the rest."

"I'll hop out and look," offered the bullfrog gentleman. Very carefully he hopped out where he could look down the pond, toward the end where it was marshy, swampy and boggy. And then, all of a sudden, Mr. No Tail came hopping back where Uncle Wiggily waited with the rubber frog.

"Long Legs isn't there!" croaked Bully's father. "But One Leg is there. I saw him plainly."

"One Leg!" exclaimed the rabbit. "What do you mean?"

"Well, I see a bird with only one leg," croaked the Frog.

"Maybe the Blue Heron's wife has come, and then there will be two hungry birds to try to catch us instead of one," said a tadpole.

But just then Mr. Caw Caw, the black crow gentleman, flew overhead. He knew about the trick Uncle Wiggily was going to play, and said:

"One Leg and Long Legs are both the same bird. The Heron sometimes stands on one leg to rest the other. Go ahead. Trick him! He is there!"

Then Uncle Wiggily pushed the tough, rubber frog out into the pond. It drifted down and down until it was floating past where the Blue Heron was standing on one leg, wondering where his supper was coming from.

"But I need wonder no longer!" croaked the big bird. "Here is a fat frog for me to eat!" Without stopping to look closely, which, if he had done, might have showed him the frog was made of rubber plant leaves, the Blue Heron darted his long, sharp beak deep into it. All the way through the rubber frog went the Heron's bill and there it stuck. The rubber frog made by Uncle Wiggily held the bill of the bird tightly closed.

Doing his best to croak, and trying to say how angry he was at the trick played on him, One Leg suddenly became Two Legs, and, with a flap of his wings up he rose in the air, the rubber frog still fast on his sharp beak.

"Hurray! Hurray!" joyfully cried the hidden frogs, mice, toads and fishes as they saw their enemy fly away. "We hope he never comes back!" And the Blue Heron was so ashamed of being tricked by a rabbit and a rubber frog that he never flew back to that part of the country. Many thanks were given Mr. Longears for being so clever.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1927

Benefic aspect s dominate today, according to astrology, which announces good luck for many human efforts.

It is pre-eminently a day in which persons belonging to the learned professions should push all their interests.

Lawyers, editors and writers should benefit from this configuration which promises many benefits and enlarged activities.

All the signs favor education and the development of highly trained minds. Universities will profit tremendously in the coming year, the seers prophesy.

Women who will be less exploited in the newspapers are to be powerful in subtle ways that will have far-reaching political effect, astrologers forecast.

Reform movements of great power will gain impetus as the year advances, it is prophesied, and many unexpected results will be attained.

This is read as a rarely favorable day for merchants and manufacturers, making for wise enterprise and efficient development.

Members of the legal profession are supposed to benefit especially from this positing of the stars.

Lawsuits of international scope are foretold and many conferences that enlist leaders in the world of thought are presaged.

Whatever depends upon the imaginative gifts of the mind should benefit today, which is most inspiring for artistic efforts of every sort. Fashions will be affected by the autumn planetary government, which will cause a tendency to employ rich, oriental effects as well as military motives, astrologers foretell.

Another history-making airplane feat is predicted, to be accomplished before cold weather.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather an unsettled year, for there are signs that suggest carefulness in all matters.

Children born under this sign are usually able to succeed through their own efforts. Their ability may arouse jealousy and they should be taught poise and self control.

HINTS ON ETIQUETTE.

An "Enquirer" asks for some information with regard to calling cards. The fashion with regard to these has changed in late years, and it is no longer necessary to leave a sheaf of cards at a home when one is engaged in the formality of making or returning calls, which are practically the same in all districts.

In the smaller communities, when a new family moves into the neighborhood, it is only courteous for the women living near to call. The calls should not be made, however, until after four in the afternoon and never until the newcomer has been given time to get her house in readiness for receiving guests.

Unfailingly such calls should be returned promptly, though after that there is no further obligation.

If even an informal tea has been given for a newcomer, or visiting guest, a card should be left for the hostess and her guest whether the invitation was accepted or refused.

If the visiting guest wishes to take formal leave of those by whom she has been entertained, she mails her card with P.P.C. (Pour prendre conge) written in one corner. This also holds good for a woman who is moving to a new town and has no time to make last calls upon her friends.

If a letter of introduction is presented by one woman to another, it is good form before extending a first invitation to the stranger to call and leave a card.

When it is impossible to accept a tea or wedding invitation, and provided that it does not request an answer, cards are mailed the day before the entertainment is to occur.

It is customary, too, to mail a card to an out-of-town bride at the beginning of her "at homes." The card, however, is regarded only as a substitute for a call which it is impossible to make.

If the door is opened by a member of the family, rather than a maid, the caller conceals her card, asks for the person whom she wishes to see, and gives her own name, if she is a stranger.

If she is received, half an hour at the outside should cover her first call. When the visitor leaves, she may place on the tray a card of her own for every lady in the house and one of her husband's for every lady and gentleman. Since, however, there are times when this might mean a sheaf of cards, three of each has been the limit set.

At the formal reception, cards may be dropped into the tray provided for them, either on entering or leaving the house. The guest leaves one card for the hostess and one for the guest of honor, if the latter's name has appeared on the invitation. The guest may also leave cards for members of her family who have been invited but who are unable to attend. A man, however, leaves only his own card.

Women's New Way of Gaining True Hygienic Protection

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND, Registered Nurse

BECAUSE women feared them, and because they presented endless opportunity for embarrassment, old-time sanitary "pads" had to go. Now one goes about for hours, wears sheerest frocks and gowns under the most severe hygienic difficulty without a moment's fear.

Kotex is a new-found scientific protection that virtually 8 in 10 better-class women now employ.

Filled with Cellucotton wadding, science's remarkable, new super-absorbent, it is 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Also, it deodorizes while it acts. AND—you discard it easily as tissue; no laundry, no embarrassment!

Cleaner, brighter, whiter clothes ~ this safe, easy way

No rubbing! Away with the old-fashioned wash-day! The hours upon hours of steamy toil—rubbing, scrubbing, boiling! And at the end of the day—red hands, aching back, frazzled nerves!

Rinso has changed all that. Now you just soak and rinse—and your week's wash is whiter than you've ever seen it. Everything's clean and sweet and out on the line hours earlier.

Rinso does all the work for you. It gently loosens the most ground-in dirt—so that it floats away in the rinse. Just the most soiled parts—cuffs, edges—need a light rub to come snowy.

Use Rinso in your washer for whiter, cleaner clothes. The makers of eleven leading machines recommend it. Will not hurt clothes or hands, as it contains no acids, bleach or harsh chemicals.

Whitney's Stable Wins Stanley Produce Stakes

WHISKERY HAS NO OPPOSITION

Seagram Entry Was First and Third in Coronation Stakes.

YOUNG KITTY WINNER

WOODBINE PARK, Sept. 29.—The opening day of the Ontario Jockey Club's Fall Meet was featured by the winning of The Stanley Produce Stakes of $10,000 added by H. P. Whitney's stake horse Whiskery. The performance of the famous New York horse at the mile and a quarter distance marked him as easily the best in the race. There was no real opposition. The best of the others was H. C. Hatch's Lactarius, and the only real contest was that between this colt purchased last spring by H. C. Hatch at the J. K. L. Ross sale. He was nice second beating King Basil half a length after holding Whiskery in a brush for a few strides at the half-way mark. Evermore, the filly bought by the Seagram Stable at Mrs. Livingstone's sale last spring, ran herself into the ground setting the early pace and ran last. Not a few were keen to see how Lactarius and Evermore would run together. The race was not between them.

The Steeplechase brought out one of the cleverest timber toppers seen here in some time in Top Notch. He had the misfortune to step in a hole on the flat the second time round when leading easily and outclassing his field to that point when he went down.

The weather was ideal if threatening and the day brought an attendance of about ten thousand.

Young Kitty's Victory.

The fifth race, the Canadian feature of the card, the Coronation, $5,000 added, was an easy thing for the Seagram filly Young Kitty. She was always in front to win by five lengths unurged. Seagram's also ran third with Best Bonnet, with Cedar Crest Farm's Suncrest always up second two lengths better than the third horse. J. C. Fletcher's Dushka acted badly and broke last to finish fast if too late.

Elgin Plate.

Seagram's Julie H won the opening event for two-year-olds by a length and a half over H. G. Bedwell's Fair Lark, which coming from behind nipped G. M. Hendrick's Kinloss at the wire by a neck. Bokhara was away in front but the Seagram filly nailed her at the back turn and was never headed. She turned home two lengths to the good and only in the last eight had to be urged slightly to stall off the challenge of Hendrie's Kinloss. She did that handily enough and the extra effort cost Kinloss the place Fair Lark nipping her in the last two strides. Tantell was left at the post.

Jumping Event.

The Sefton Steeplechase, the jumping feature of the card, was second on the list, with seven listed and seven going. Harber stable's Top Notch leading his field by ten lengths, jumping like a bird, stepped in a hole on the flat in front of the paddock and went down. Not in years has as beautiful a jumper been seen at Woodbine. Byng fell on the second round, and Manifold lost his rider at the second last jump. It left only four to go, and the verdict went to Ludgate Farm's Rocking Horse by three lengths over Grosse Point's Ruine, with Winoya third, seven lengths more away Manifold was coming on a second time, and was lapped with the leading Rocking Horse when he lost his rider. The winner came on to go away on the flat, and paid the nice price of $57.40.

Lady Marie.

The third race at six furlongs went to H. G. Bedwell's Lady Marie by three lengths. She kept the start five minutes by her bad acting and was away to a flying start in front and was never threatened thereafter. It looks like putting a premium on bad acting. P. F. Joyce's Patricia J was second and Seagram's Tetra Glass third a length away Mineralogist was up to the stretch.

Real Race Of Day.

The sixth race, at one mile and a sixteenth had only four starters. It developed into the only real race of the afternoon, the verdict going to H. G. Bedwell's Lamorte by a nod over J. S. Flynn's Dick Whittington, with O. F. Burkhart's Amen-ra trailing to the stretch, third. Dick Whittington seemed to have the leader collared at the last sixteenth pole but hung at the crucial moment.

Closing Race.

The closing race of the afternoon was for Canadian breds at one mile and seventy yards. Seagram scored a win with Phanariot by two lengths over Brevet which was the same in front of Yorkie Prince.

GAMES POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Washington concluded its season series with the Red Sox at Boston by winning both games of a double header yesterday, 2 to 1 and 6 to 4. The Senators won 13 out of the 22 games played with the Red Sox. Hadley's pitching was the deciding factor in the first game.

The Red Sox scored all their runs in the second game by bunching five hits off Fred Marberry in the fourth inning. Braxton went to the box for the Senators in the fifth and pitched brilliantly, holding Boston to two hits.

OTTAWA SQUAD OUT ON PRACTICE

Thirty-Two Men Again on Deck for Daily Grind.

NEW FORMATION TRIED

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Thirty-two men were on deck yesterday afternoon when the daily practice of the Ottawa rugby squad got under way. Continuing his plan of intensive line work, McCann lined up two teams and they battled away for an hour and a half, the last part of the workout being conducted under big flood lights mounted on top of the grandstand at Lansdowne Park. A new formation was tried behind the line when Charlie Lynch was sent back to partner Joe Tubman on the catching end of the plays. Bert McGinenny, who has previously been working back with Tubman, was given a roving commission and worked on the secondary defence.

With Dunne and Starr gone, a problem confronts the local mentors in finding two men of the Big Four calibre to fill the gaps on the line. Kealey is showing great promise, while Bruce has been moved from snap to middle, Earl Pagent going in at the centre position.

With their opening Big Four game only three days away, one more intensive practice will be held this afternoon. On Friday the workout will be of a lighter nature, with a signal drill thrown in, and from this the men will taper off until the whistle blows on the opening of the local senior season on Saturday afternoon.

Williams Is Leading By One Over Wilson

NEW YORK, September 29 (Canadian Press). — While the sensational home run streak of Ruth and Gehrig in the American League has been holding the main spotlight in the majors, the dash in the National between Cy Williams of the Phillies, and Hack Wilson of the Cubs, has developed into a closer sprint. Williams turned out his 30th at Philadelphia yesterday against the Giants, to become one up on Wilson.

The Ruth-Gehrig issue was lulled by an open date for the Yankees yesterday. With three games to go, the Ruth-Gehrig standing is:

Yankees' Games	Played	Homers
Ruth, 1921	151	58
Ruth, 1927	151	57
Gehrig, 1927	151	46

DISTANCE CLOUTS MAY DECIDE SERIES

Yanks Have Edge on Long Distance Hitting, Says Huggins.

NEW YORK, September 29 (Canadian Press). — Long distance clouting, one of the prime factors in the runaway race of the Yankees in the American League race, may decide the World's Series in their favour, in the opinion of Manager Miller Huggins.

"As a team, the Pirates may be batting a point or two higher," Huggins declared yesterday in a discussion of the pennant possibilities, based on the prospect of Pittsburgh being the National League entry, "but the Yankees have a big edge in total bases, long distance hitting.

"I don't think there's much difference between the targets offered at Forbes Field and the Yankee Stadium in right field for our two big guns, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. Both are around 300 feet, but on the left field side the stands are easier to reach at the Yankee Stadium than the Pirate stronghold."

Unofficial Comparison.

The comparison of extra base hitting bears Huggins out. The latest unofficial averages show the Yankees have gathered 31 more doubles, 24 more triples, and 100 more home runs than the Pirates. Here are the figures:

Yankees—

G	B	R	H	2B	3B	HR	P.C
149	5157	938	1518	283	98	152	.307

Pirates—

147	5110	790	1572	252	74	52	.307

Huggins doesn't expect the snap or dash in the Yankee attack to lose any of its edge from the fact that the club has clinched the pennant so far in advance and experienced no closing drive such as the National League contenders are having.

Baseball men argue back and forth on the advantages or disadvantages of coasting down the stretch, as the Yankees have.

"There has been no sign of a letdown on our outfit since we clinched the pennant two weeks ago," Huggins declared. "The team is in good condition, and my main task is to give the pitchers sufficient work to keep them on edge. The club has had enough seasoning. The rest from any strain of a close pennant race might prove a big advantage.

"But it's always a gamble in a World Series, any way you look at it, whether we meet the Pirates or Cardinals, it would figure to be a tough battle. They say we have one of the best clubs ever put together in baseball, but that doesn't make us invincible by a long shot. In a short series of seven games anything can happen. If we get going right and the pitchers hold up, the club will be hard to stop. I wouldn't want to make any predictions.

If the Pirates clinch the National League flag, the Yankees will hop to Pittsburgh on Sunday night. They anticipate work-outs on foreign playing ground on Monday and Tuesday to put the finishing touches on their preparations.

SCHOOL SOCCER DRAWN GAME

Prince of Wales and Queen Mary Show Improvement in Scientific Code.

A local public school soccer league fixture took place ytserday afternoon at King Edward Park between Prince of Wales school and Queen Mary eleven which resulted in a no scoring result, in spite of the fact that the Queen Mary boys had a splendid opportunity to win the game with a penalty kick that was not registered through poor marksmanship of Ashquith.

In the early stages of the tussle, the Prince of Wales boys dominated the play through combination and made Mowry, the Queen Mary goalkeeper pull off some spectacular saves from close-in shots. Eventually their opponents replied with hard body-checking and close tacking that prevented open play thereby making the boys bunch together that was detrimental to the scientific code. After twenty-five minutes gruelling tactics, the boys appreciated the interval.

Second Half.

The second moiety was full of excitement from the kick off, with both teams swinging the ball from wing to wing that gave the halfbacks plenty of running to stop the forwards' progress. In this respect, Joe Gatfield of the Prince of Wales team, holding two stalwart opponents on the right wing to a stand-still and always carried the ball towards goals that caused havoc to the Queen Mary defence. Another prominent player was Gardner of the Queen Mary boys who produced all the kick in his team with a clear understanding of the game and manipulating the ball.

With only seven minutes to finish the game, a Prince of Wales boy stopped the ball from going through the goal with his hand, which gave the Queen Mary boys a spot kick that was not converted. In the closing period of the encounter, "Frenchie" and his two inside men worked inside the opposing defence to keep Mowry busy clearing his citadel. He deserves credit for the clever one-handed clearance in below the crossbar from ten yards out. Play was in mid-field when time was called. Queen Mary, 0; Prince of Wales, 0.

GIANTS TAKE 5 TO 4 DECISION

Win Over Phillies Allows New Yorkers to Continue in Race.

SCORE IN TENTH

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press).—The Giants helped the Phillies close out their home season yesterday by wresting a 5 to 4 decision from the tail enders in ten innings. The triumph allowed the New Yorkers to continue in the pennant chase with the flimsy possibility of tying the leaders.

Cy Williams gained an edge on Hack Wilson of the Cubs in the National home run fracas by clouting number 30 with one on base in the sixth to lead the Chicago player by one. Leach, of the Phillies, belted for the circuit in the fifth.

New York put over the winning run in the tenth when Hornsby beat out a bunt, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Devormer's single. Benton left the slab after the sixth inning in favor of Barnes, who in turn was succeeded in the last frame by Henry with two out and two on base. Ferguson pitched the distance for Philadelphia.

George Duncan Leads Field For First Day

ST. GERMAIN, France, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press Cable).—George Duncan led the field at the end of the first day's play in the French Open Golf Championship here yesterday. The English veteran scored a 75 in his morning round, while in the afternoon he lowered the course record by one stroke with a 68, making his total 143 for the two rounds. The young Londoner, Cotton, played two even rounds of 75-78—153. Archie Compston finished with 78-77—155, while Havers scored 82-75—157.

SERIES GAME IS POSTPONED

Rain Forces Postponement of Opening of Little World Series.

MOUNDSMEN STAND

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Rain forced postponement of the inaugural game of the Little World's Series between the Toledo champions of the American Association and the Buffalo pennant winners of the International League.

An open date for Friday in the schedule arranged for the series may permit the teams to play the first two games of the series here as planned. The Saturday and Sunday games will be moved to Buffalo regardless of the postponements here and the teams then will return to Toledo to finish the series, with the winner needing five victories out of nine.

Pitching selections for yesterday's battle, Jess Barnes for Toledo and Leo Mangum for Buffalo, will remain the same for today the managers said.

CABINET WAITS FOR REPORT ON ST. LAWRENCE

Will probably Consider Technical Report in Few Weeks.

ECONOMIC SIDE NEXT.

United States' Supporter Predicts Co-operation Between Two Governments.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—While no official announcement with respect to the Canadian attitude on the St. Lawrence Waterways is forthcoming at the moment, it is stated here that the report of the Joint Engineering Board and its voluminous appendices will probably be considered by the government within the next few weeks. The report was made some time ago, but certain appendices and charts are being printed. The appendices, it is intimated, will fill three volumes.

When the Cabinet reviews the report and appendices, it will decide whether to refer the whole thing to the national advisory committee for its consideration. This committee was appointed for the purpose of considering the project from an economic and national point of view rather than a technical one. If it is decided to refer the report to the committee, some time must be given to that body to consider the matter. It will, in turn, report to the Government, and it is not improbable that the Government will decide to lay the report before Parliament at the coming session.

Premier Mackenzie King is not in the city yat present, and the Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, is in Western Canada. Consequently it is difficult to obtain any official announcement with respect to the project.

Co-operation Predicted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (Canadian Press).—Co-operation of Premier Mackenzie King's Government of Canada with the United States for the projection of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway, was predicted today by W. L. Harding, President of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association, after calling upon President Coolidge.

He said he had "heard rumors" that the Premier intended to head a commission to seek an agreement with the United States, and he believed these to be true.

Harding also declared that he saw no prospect of a loss greater than five million bushels of grain to the United States Great Lakes shippers as a result of the fixing of an eleven cent rate by the Canadian railways on grain from Winnipeg to Quebec.

Harding, a former Governor of Iowa, said that he saw some lagging for Frank O. Lowden for President in his State, and that in some sections, particularly the eastern part, Secretary Hoover seemed to be gaining ground for the Republican nomination.

CHAMPION TAKING COUNT

The photograph of the Tunney-Dempsey fight shows clearly the much-discussed incident of the big Chicago fight. Here is shown the 7th round knock-down, with Tunney lying on his back, his hand on the ropes, while Dempsey stands over him, while the referee orders him away. Under the rules, Dempsey should have retired to a neutral corner immediately, but he stood for some seconds before being forced over into a neutral corner, after which the nearly fatal count on Tunney was begun.

"The moving finger writes and having writ moves on . . ."

Not so for Harry Langdon, First National star, who has just finished making his second feature comedy, "The Strong Man."

The finger of experience has written much to Harry's credit, and one sequence in the writing is unfolded in a carbon copy by the comedian in his present vehicle.

That is, the music hall scenes of "The Strong Man" will recall a similar chapter in Langdon's life story.

It was not so many years ago that a shy young man was amusing the crowds in Mickey Mullin's Music Hall in Omaha with his amateurish efforts at singing, dancing and wise cracking.

His memories of those first hard days of struggle instilled in Langdon an inspiration which resulted in pantomine rarely seen in comedies. The well known futile smile took on an added pathos because of the actor's having lived his role.

"The Strong Man" playing at the Regent will undoubtedly be hailed hi:r as Langdon's greatest comedy. Besides Langdon the cast includes Priscilla Bonner, Gertrude Astor, Robe.' McKim an dArthur Thalasso. Frank Capra directed.

LAKEFIELD ENJOYS CALEDONIAN BAND

Programme Given at Regent Street Church Much Appreciated.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 29.—The Caledonian Pipe Band of Peterborough gave a Scottish concert in the school room of the Regent Street United Church on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Mission Band of which Mrs. Silas Pearson and Mrs. Kingdon are leaders. The men were "braw" in their kilts and made a most excellent impression; for who does not love the "kilties"? The attendance was good, but not nearly as large as it wold have been but for the tragedy which shadowed the village. The band had intended to parade from the hall to the Regent Street Church, playing as they marched, but this feature was omitted under the circumstances.

The proceeds amounted to $42.00, Miss Jean Kingdon sold $14.00 worth of tickets during the week before.

The programme was exceptionally fine, one of the best ever given in Lakefield. The Old Country voices, which have a quality which few in this country can equal, were heard to advantage in their selections. Robert Hendry, Peterborough's Harry Lauder, delighted the audience with his impersonations of the famous singer and he was repeatedly encored.

Pipe-Major Smith has a beautiful voice and charmed his audience, and his request number, "Annie Laurie," was magnificent.

The following is the programme: Pipe band, "Pibroch; Solo, Harry Lauder Impersonation, Robert Hendry; Solo, Miss Pattison; Band. "Scotland the Brave." Solo, "The End of the Road." Pipe Major Jack Smith; Lauder Impersonation, Robert Hendry; Band Selection; Solo, Miss Pattison; Pipe Solo, Alex. Milne; Solo, Pipe Major Jack Smith; Solo (request) "Annie Laurie," Major Smith; Duet, "The Singing Scots," J. Smith and R. Hendry; Pipe Band Selection.

Presentation of Pictures

An interesting ceremony took place at 3.30 in the 3rd Form room of the Lakefield High School on Thursday last when three beautiful pictures were presented to the School. J. W. Ridpath, chairman, representing the High School Board on the auspicious occasion.

The High School pupils and Fourth Book pupils and their teachers gathered into the room and J. M. Simpson, principal of the High School, addressed the assembly for a few minutes. Mr. Simpson referred to the improvements made in the building during the summer by the Board. The walls have been kalsomined, the woodwork re-painted and other improvements made. Last year the Board provided a couch, a table and some chairs for the private room and Miss Curtis and Miss Connall added to the furnishings, and this summer he (Mr. Simpson) purchased two pictures as his contribution to the improvements. The scholars of 1926-27 wished to make a contribution of a picture to the school, and selected a large picture of the Roman Forum, framed in fumed oak and bearing a brass plate with an inscription giving the date and circumstances of its presentation.

Mr. Simpson's pictures, slightly smaller but similarly framed were excellent representations of Westminster Abbey, the cradle of English history, and Stratford-on-Avon, the birthplace of Shakespeare and a place of utmost importance in English literature.

Mr. Ridpath, on behalf of the High School Board, had much pleasure in accepting these gifts and hoped they may long hang on the walls as a reminder of their donors. It is a pleasure for the Board to do anything which will add to the comfort of the teachers and pupils, and they fully recognize the value of pleasant surroundings, he said.

Next year they expect to put the new grounds into first class shape, making them second to none in the district. These grounds will be exclusively for the use of the High School pupils and the present grounds will be reserved for the Pub-School pupils.

Mrs. W. M. Graham, who was called on for a few remarks, congratulated the school on having a principal who took so much interest in the pupils and had the vision to value the effect of beautiful pictures on the young minds. Canada is one of the most beautiful countries in the world and one does not have to leave it to see the finest natural beauty, but the Old World outstrips us in Art and Historic Sites and next to being able to see some of these wonders, comes the privilege of looking at pictures of them. There is a tremendous educational value in beautiful pictures and it is very truly said that " a thing of beauty is a joy forever," she concluded.

Miscellaneous Shower

On Friday evening a number of the ladies of the Regent Street United Church and other friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Erskine to present a miscellaneous shower to Miss Jean Erskine, who is to be married on October 1st.

The gifts were placed in a prettily decorated basket arranged by Mrs. Stuart Hall and Miss Vera Botterill.

Mrs. S. S. Spence and Mrs. McMillen carried in the basket and presented it to the bride-elect, who was genuinely surprised but replied gracefully, thanking her friends for their kind remembrance of her on the occasion of her marriage.

The evening was spent in a social manner, Mrs. Burrows sang a solo, Miss Ora Dunford gave a reading, and Mrs. H. E. Moore contributed a piano solo.

After the serving of dainty refreshments the ladies dispersed, all wishing Miss Erskine much happiness in her married life.

Cup and Saucer Shower

Mrs. W. W. Leonard was the hostess of a delightful cup and saucer shower for Miss Jean Erskine on Wednesday evening last. The ladies, numbering about twelve, were asked for 6 o'clock tea and the later evening was spent at cards. Prizes were won by Mrs. Gordon Northey and Mrs. Burrows.

The Rink Company's softball series will begin at an early date and once again the Rink will take its accustomed place as the village rendezvous and the place of innocent diversion for old and young. Last year, eight teams entered the series: Burn's Bridge, Lakefield Benedicts, Lakefield Cubs, Canada Cement Co., Centre Douro, North Douro, Selwyn and Wesley.

Rev. T. J. O'Conor-Fenton of Norwood was in charge of the services in St. John's Church on Sunday Rev. W. J. Creighton took the Harvest Festival services in Norwood and Warsaw.

On Sunday next the anniversary services of the Lakefield Baptist Church will be held, with Rev. W. Spencer, the pastor, in charge in the morning, and Rev. Gordon M. Holmes of Lindsay in the evening. There will be special music at both services. The anniversary will be continued on Monday evening.

The following persons represented the Lakefield Presbyterian Church at the Presbytery meeting, held last week in Campbellford: Rev. J. and Mrs. Ross, Mrs. J. M. Simpson, Mrs. C. Thomson, Miss Tanner, Miss E. Thomson, and Mr. A. Fairbairn

"The Grove" School has reopened with an increased number of students, among whom are many former pupils who are being welcomed back by many village friends, and there are also a large number of new boys.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

I WONDER IF YOU KNOW THIS WIFE

I wonder if you know this wife, some member of the clan,
Who thinks some fellow down the street is just the nicest man?
He always speaks so pleasantly to people passing by,
Your just can't help but like the man, no matter how you try.
He's rather noble looking, too; there's something she has seen
About him that reminds her of some actor on the screen.
A man, a certain sort of man, is really rather sweet—
But always it's some other man, some fellow down the street.

I wonder if you know this wife, who knows some fellow near
Who "must be very, very smart, they do so well my dear.
They have a car as good as ours, a home as good as mine;
He must work very, very hard, they seem to do so fine.
He has some wrinkles, though, poor man, he looks as old as you;
I'm really sorry for the man, he has so much to do."
She has a lot of sympathy for men who seldom play,
But always it's some other man about a block away.

I wonder if you know this wife the woman now and then
Who tells her husband all about the very nicest men,
Who never swear (in public, no), who never scold (perhaps),
These husbands other women have, not ordinary chaps,
If such a lady is your own, I wonder what is best?
Well, keep her happy as you can, don't fret about the rest.
Just see she has her house and home, her comforts and her car—
For maybe she tells other men how wonderful you are.

HOW "GAS" IS FORMED

There is a certain amount of air or "gas" in the stomach or intestines at all times, but most people suffer from an excess formation or accumulation of gas which is produced by the following factors: Over-eating, bad food combinations, eating too rapidly, swallowing air with food, the use of foods which are gas-forming in themselves, eating when tired, drinking too much with meals, eating too often, and using indigestible foods.

After all bad food habits are corrected, flatulence will usually continue for some time because of the intestines being unclean and filled with putrefactive bacteria. It often takes months to entirely eliminate these bacteria which had their purpose for a time in breaking up food materials which had been used in excess or in bad combinations.

One who lives on an ordinary diet will harbor millions of bacteria, the sole purpose of which is to change food which would otherwise be poisonous. When the intestines are kept clean, these micro-organisms are not needed to the same extent, but while they are needed and are doing their work, the changes produced create much gas.

One of the principal reasons why most people are troubled with flatulence is because their digestive juices are improperly balanced. The gastric juice of the stomach should contain certain digestive ferments and these will be properly balanced in the healthy person who lives on a good diet. If too much of certain kinds of food is used, the stomach tries to save that person's life by changing the digestive fluids to meet the imposed requirements. For instance, if an excess of meat is taken every day, the gastric juice will gradually become more acid; if too many carbohydrates are used, the result will be the formation of more bile; if both too much meat and bread are used, there will be an excess of both the gastric juice and the bile. This will always produce excessive intestinal gas.

Those going on restricted diets where a smaller quantity of food is used will often be surprised to notice that they have more gas than they did before, while eating carelessly. This is because the small amount of food does not entirely use up the digestive juices, and the result is that gas is formed when the excessive acid fluids from the stomach pour into the intestines and are counteracted by the alkaline intestinal juices.

Condiments which stimulate an excessive formation of digestive ferments will often cause gas, even when the best foods are used in proper combinations. Onions, garlic, cabbage, and turnips will generate gas because of their chemical composition.

Save today's and yesterday's article, and then watch for tomorrow's in which I will tell you how to overcome flatulence.

Questions and Answers.

Question: C. W. S. asks: "Will you please tell me what is the cause of a cataract on the left eye? Haven't had it long. Would like to know if there is an absolute cure without an operation. Am 55 years old."

Answer: A cataract can sometimes be stopped by the fasting cure and the wearing of properly fitted glasses. Most cataracts would never start if the afflicted one did not wait too long to put on glasses. Continued eye strain brings about an inflammation of the eye which is the first cause of cataract. After that, injudicious living feeds the trouble, and if proper treatment is not taken in time, an operation is the only thing that will restore the sight.

Question: Mrs. J. T. asks: "Would it be all right to use fresh cider while fasting, instead of the orange juice? We have a plentiful supply of apples, but oranges are a little hard to get."

Answer: I have found the apple-juice fast, (if the juice is used fresh and no fermentation has taken place) to be productive of very good results. Use it as you would the orange juice—an 8-ounce glassful every two hours, with whatever water is desired. You will notice it has a mild laxative effect. However, a daily enema should always be taken during a fast even though the bowels move without it.

Question: Mrs. Agnes J. writes: "I have a fallen stomach that hangs several inches below normal. How can I bring it back in place?"

Answer: You can bring your stomach back to normal position by taking certain kinds of exercises. Write me again, giving your address, and I will send you a complete description of these exercises.

BRAILLE LIBRARY GROWING RAPIDLY

Distributes 1,800 Bulky Books To Blind People Every Month.

TORONTO, Sept. 29 (Canadian Press)—Just 20 years ago a library for the unfortunate army of the sightless who must read with their finger-tips was established in Toronto. Now, the library department of the National Canadian Institute for the Blind, situated on College street, distributes 1,800 bulky volumes a month to blind persons in all parts of Canada and in Newfoundland. Last year the library handled more than 20,000 books.

This library is practically unique in Canada, being the only one with more than merely local distribution. The clumsy bulk and great cost of books embossed in Braille.

Makes it practically impossible for the blind man to collect a private library, so he must depend for his reading matter upon this institution which sends through the mail the books he craves.

Books supplied to the blind cover every range of literature, from geology to poetry, explained S. O. Swift, chief librarian of the institute. History, biography and scientific works are in great demand and the librarian believes that the sightless consume a relatively greater quantity of this solid fare than do those who read with their eyes.

Canada can claim a highly creditable distinction in that it was the first nation to grant free transportation through the mails to embossed literature. This step was accomplished in 1918 by Sir William Mulock, now chief justice of Ontario, upon the representations of Sir Frederick Fraser, one of the most active friends of the blind. Its vast importance can only be comprehended when the weight and bulk of an embossed book is considered. It requires 39 Braille volumes to accommodate the Bible, which is available to the ordinary reader in one small volume.

"An ordinary Bible can be purchased for 25 cents, but the price of a complete Braille Bible is over $22," pointed out Mr. Swift. "Its catalogue price is 45 cents a volume and that is far below the cost of production. This typical example of the high cost of Braille books will indicate why the blind can not own books in any number.

"'My Lady Lee,' a novel published recently which has an especial interest for blind readers, occupies four large volumes in Braille and costs $16.50, though the sighted readers can buy it for $2. 'Gibbons Decline and Fall,' which by the way is so popular that you will never find it on the shelves, requires nearly twelve feet of shelf space."

An important feature of this humanitarian work is the aid it offers to blind university students. There are to-day a score of blind graduates of Canadian universities, several of whom have won high academic honors and occupy professional positions in this country and Great Britain.

There is no library fee for the blind reader. Whether he lives in an out of the way corner of Newfoundland or in Vancouver the Toronto library will send him the books he wants free of charge. And, thanks to the Dominion Government, neither the institute nor the blind reader has any postage to pay upon the massive packets.

Eighteen regular landing fields and more than 90 emergency fields are maintained by the government on the transcontinental air mail route.

BETHANY BIDS TRAIN ADIEU

Old C.N.R. Station Played Important Part in Life of Village.

BETHANY, Sept. 28.—Any one driving into the village from the east these days will wonder whatever is happening to Bethany. The long-familiar landmark, the Grand Trunk Railway Station and the grain stores, have been removed from the site they have occupied for more than seventy-five years.

The Grand Trunk, or Canadian National station, as it has been known by, for the last few years, has paid its farewell to the travelling public and on Saturday the old Britton train made its farewell trip through the village.

For many, many years the old Grand Trunk line was the only connecting link with the outside world. True it was not a luxurious mode of travel for the train has been a mixed one for the last forty years or more but one could take the seven o'clock train and travel to Millbrook, Port Hope and Peterborough and any other eastern point, while there was the one o'clock p.m. train for Omemee and Lindsay and points north and west, so one had only to know where they were bound for and choose the train. It was the event of the day to meet the one o'clock train. The seven o'clock train whistle was the usual sign for rising in the morning; anyone ignoring that whistle was considered lazy indeed.

Many were the partings from the little station, some for shorter or longer periods of time and some for eternity. Many happy newly-wedded couples left the station for their first trip in married life; many indeed were the sad and silent returns when some one was brought back to lie beside his forefathers.

Many were the boys and young men who left, in the earlier days, for the far and little known west to seek new homesteads, some later to return, while others remained, and again during the South African war and later again the great World War, the little station saw many sad leave-takings, as well as many happy returns.

About fifteen years ago the Canadian Pacific built a spur of their railway through the village parallel with the C.N.R. The new railway for a time offered better service to Peterborough and Lindsay, two convenient market centres, and so the old station and railway were neglected.

With the coming of the automobiles the railway service was entirely forgotten but for a few, and so for days at a time the passengers travelling by rail were few and far between, and for the last few years the only attractions the C.N.R. held was that His Majesty's Mail arrived on those trains.

When the railway commissioner gave warning several years ago that owing to the fact that the line was not paying its way the service must be discontinued, many of the old timers felt this measure would never be carried out, for was not the Grand Trunk, as it was more familiarly known, part and parcel of their everyday life. How would they ever get along without it? But now that the warnings have been carried out, the service removed, the station sold, and the grain stores moved to the C.P.R. sidings, the community most particularly effected has submitted to the higher power.

The community will be touched more through the mail, as all mail for Bethany, Brunswick and Franklin will be a day later. Coming to Cavan C.P.R. station it will be necessary to have it brought by motor to these points.

Postmaster Hadden assured the villagers that he believed this to be only a temporary arrangement and that in the near future the mail would in all probability be shipped directly to the C.P.R. Station here, but for the present the people will have to be content with only one outgoing mail and one incoming mail. Toronto papers, Peterborough papers, etc., will all be one or two days late, and it behoves every citizen to have all their letters ready for the outgoing mail or they must wait for another twenty-four hours.

It is understood that to Murray Spiers, of Franklin, has been assigned the job of carrying the mail to and from the Cavan C.P.R. station, upon the arrival of the Toronto train at 11.45 a.m., so that the villagers will only have one trip to the post office instead of twice as formerly.

GAME AT WINDSOR PREVENTED BY RAIN

Hamilton Will Visit Border Cities Again on Saturday.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 29. — A steady rain, which started yesterday morning early, prevented Windsor and Hamilton replaying the O.B.A.A. semi-final at Wigle Park. The Hamilton team will journey to Windsor again on Saturday.

No definite ruling has been made in the cases of Arlein and Whiteside, Windsor players, who are said to have jeopardized their amateur standing by taking part in the United States Railway baseball championship final. If Arlein can show he did not play in the game in question he will be allowed to play in Saturday's game, and Windsor will be taking a chance by using Whiteside, members of the O.B.A.A. Executive said last night.

HARRIERS CLUB IS VERY ACTIVE

Paper Chase and Relay Race Being Arranged—Colors Chosen.

CRESTS TO BE SECURED.

The Y.M.C.A. Harriers' Club will hold a relay race on Saturday, October 8, and all members wishing to enter must leave their names with the secretary or at the office of the "Y" by Wednesday, October 5, in order that the teams may be chosen in plenty of time to notify the runners as to whom their running mates will be.

In place of the relay race that was to be held on October 1 (this Saturday) there will be a paper chase, leaving the "Y" at 2.30 p.m., and those wishing to participate should see L. Bearne or R. French, who are in charge of arrangements.

The club adopted blue and white for their colors, and A. Adams was appointed to procure designs for a crest. Doug. Loomis is making arrangements to get running suits for the members and any wishing them should see about them immediately.

Entry forms were received by Mr. Loomis for a handicap race to be held in Toronto, and anyone wishing particulars may get them at the "Y."

It is believed that transportation can be provided for all who wish to run.

A run will be held next Tuesday at 7.00 p.m., before which there will be a brief meeting to consider reports of the various committees.

Purify them daily

EVERY day, restore to false teeth that fresh cleanliness which they had when you first got them. The sterilizing and cleansing action of HYGEOL requires no tedious brushing to aid it in ridding them of all greasy film, germs, food particles, discolorations and odours. A twenty-minute immersion in a solution of one part HYGEOL to three parts water accomplishes a thorough cleansing, besides killing every germ. You can leave the entire job to HYGEOL, while you dress.

There is another method, which you may prefer, if you can sleep without your teeth. Leave them all night in a glass of water to which one teaspoonful of HYGEOL has been added. This method is equally effective.

It is important to note that HYGEOL is absolutely non-injurious to the gold, platinum and vulcanite composing dental plates.

Flynn Gets $75,000 For Managing Dempsey in the Big Fight.

TRAINERS GET BONUSES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(Canadian Press.)— Services of Leo P. Flynn, who managed Jack Dempsey in his fights with Jack Sharkey and Gene Tunney, were worth $75,000 to the former champion over a ninety day perod. Dempsey has given a cheque for that amount under the blank contract in which the Manassa mauler was alowed to stipulate the sum at the expiration of the agreement. Flynn said at the outset he was willing to accept what Dempsey considered he was worth.

Next to Flynn, the biggest cheque paid by Dempsey was that to Jerry Luvadis, known as "Jerry the Greek." While the exact amount was not revealed, it is understood to be $25,000.

Definite information regarding payment by Tunney for the services of his manager, Bill Gibson, was lacking, but it was estimated at one hundred to two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Lou Fink, the champion's trainer, was scheduled to receive a bonus of twenty thousand.

Bill McCabe and Eddie Eagan, two of Tunney's close friends, also were to share in the title holder's Chicago purse of one million dollars.

CRICKET NEWS.

The Peterborough Cricket Club wound up the season with a most enjoyable game on Saturday, September 24th. The teams were captained by C. Elliott and R. Dyer, the latter's side winning after two innings by 16 runs. The highest scores were made by Binks 30 and Dyer 21.

The annual general meeting will be held on Monday, October 3rd, at Mr. E. Massey-Cooke's residence, Water Street, at 8 p.m., when the election of officers and other business will take place. All members are requested to be present, and any others interested in the game will be welcomed.

POLICE COURT.

William Hill, of Centre Dummer, was committed to trial this morning by His Worship Magistrate O. A. Langley, on the charge of committing a criminal assault against a young girl on Sunday, September 18.

The first witness called was the complainant, who is a girl 12 years old. Her father and mother were away from home on that Sunday night.

The complainant was left with her small sister and brother and about six o'clock she left the children alone and went to a neighbour's to get some butter. She was detained there until about eight o'clock, as Mrs. Lee was not home. On the way back a man jumped out of the bushes, whom she identified as William Hill, and committed the assault.

The girl screamed, and a girl and two young men who were at the Lee home heard her. They immediately went to the girl, whom they found lying on the road. On the way up they heard a man running away in the bushes. The boys failed in their attempt to find him, as it was after dark.

Other witnesses called were Mrs. Lee, her daughter, and the girl's mother.

Crown Attorney Hatton acted for the Crown, and J. A. O'Brien for the defendant.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. D. J. Kelly who passed away Sept. 29, 1925.
We do not forget her, we love her too dearly,
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream;
Our lips need not speak, when our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells, where it seldom is seen.
Sadly missed by her husband, son and daughter. 1d

WEDDING BELLS.

RUDKINS—CRARY.

The marriage took place this morning at eight o'clock at St. Peter's Cathedral, of Lenore Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Crary, Park street, to Harry Rudkins, son of Mr. Wm. Rudkins, of Peterborough, and the late Mrs. Rudkins. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. Costello. Miss Hurley played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Walter Crary, wore a frock of sand-colored flat crepe, trimmed with periwinkle blue, with black hat of felt and velvet, fur choker, black satin shoes and sand hose. She carried a bouquet of pink and white asters and maiden-hair fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Fanny Doris, was in blue crepe and lace, with black hat and bouquet of mauve and white asters.

Mr. P. Scollard acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudkins leaving later for a short honeymoon trip, after which they will reside in Peterborough.

IN MEMORIAM.

McILMOYLE.—In loving memory of my dear son, Pte. Walter V. McIlmoyle, killed in action on the Cambrai-Douai Road, Sept. 29, 1918:
I little thought when he said goodbye,
He had gone to a far-off land to die.
His heart was good, his spirit brave,
Now he lies at rest in a soldier's grave.

In Flanders fields so far away
Lies one we loved so well,
But God above in heavenly love
Took him home with Him to dwell.

Sad and hasty was our parting,
Lonely was our hearts that day,
Something seemed to whisper softly
Walter's gone away to stay.
—Ever Remembered By Mother, Brother and Sisters.

WAR'S RAVAGES ARE REMOVED FROM BELGIUM

Country Has Made Remarkable Economic Recovery Since War.

KIWANIS ADDRESS.

W. R. Morris Tells Club of Visit To Europe, Particularly To Belgium.

Belgium is to-day almost entirely rebuilt and has made a remarkable economic recovery since the close of the war. There is no unemployment in the country, and while the franc is still depreciated and wages are low, there is little poverty. These statements were made to-day by W. R. Morris, speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club held in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Morris during his trip to Europe as representative from the local Rotary Club to the International Convention held at Ostend during the summer, made trips through the British Isles and five countries on the Continent. In his address to-day, Mr. Morris confined himself almost entirely to a description of Belgium as he saw it. In his introductory remarks, Mr. Morris mentioned that during his visit to Westminster Abbey, he saw the "memorial of Muzio Clementi, "father of the pianoforte," and world famed as a musical composer, the grandfather of C. H. Clementi of Peterborough.

Bruges, Mr. Morris described as a medieval city, with an old belfry, a tower and a market square, all 400 years old. During the war Bruges was the harbor for the German submarines, which sailed down the canal to Zeebrugge and the North Sea. Mr. Morris drew a splendid word picture of Zeebrugge and its massive mole one mile and a quarter long. A mark is placed to show where the Vindictive tied up and a monument is erected commemorating the British sailors and marines who died in the raid.

The Menin Gate containing the names of 58,000 British dead was also visited. Particular interest was shown by the Canadian visitors in the Canadian monument at St. Julien. The massive purity of the design, said Mr. Morris, made a great appeal.

Nieuport, where the sluices in the dykes were opened on the Germans by a humble Belgian acting on his own responsibility, Antwerp, the chief attraction being the cathedral, and its collection of paintings, and the field of Waterloo, were other points of interest visited.

Outstanding among the places visited was the courtyard where Edith Cavell was hastily shot to forestall the arrival of a pardon. From there Mr. Morris took his hearers back to London to Edith Cavell's monument, bearing this inscription part of her legacy to mankind:

"Patriotism is not enough. I should have no hatred or bitterness in my heart for anyone."

To-day in the Kiwanis Club, was entirely one of local talent. The speaker was a Peterborough man, and the soloist was Frank G. Stinson, a member of the club, who sang two solos, which were heartily applauded.

Kiwanian Walter Kidd conveyed the thanks of the club to the speaker and singer.

H. J. McCannan was the booster. Prize winners were Terry McGovern, W. H. Dickin and H. J. Boyle.

Rev. J. D. Paterson intimated that the speaker at the luncheon next week will be Rt. Rev. Bishop Taylor Smith, D.D., K.C.B., C.V.O., late Chaplain-General of His Majesty's forces.

MOVE TOWARD CO-OPERATION SEEN IN BRITAIN

Conference Between Officials and Workmen Being Started.

IDEA GAINING GROUND.

Both Employees and Workmen Consider It Solution of Problems.

LONDON, Sept. 30.— (United Press.)—The idea of conferences and general co-operation between employers and their workers as the only feasible means of solving Britain's industrial problems, is rapidly gaining ground, not only among the workers, but also among the leading industrialists.

In this connection the President of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce stresses the example of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway in inaugurating district conferences between officials and men, adding: "Could not the same kind o. arrangement be brought about in other industries so that working people may feel that they are being consulted. They would thus have the opportunity of seeing a good suggestion carried out, and the brains of everybody would be given a fair chance, whatever their position might be."

Apparently both capital and labor have learned a severe lesson from the past, and in all the depressed industries there's a distinct movement towards co-operation.

HANDICRAFTS TO BE SHOWN

Exhibits To Be Made at Produced in Canada Exhibition.

WOMEN'S AUSPICES.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the Produced in Canada Exhibition under auspices of the Kiwanis Club on October 10-15 will be the Handicraft Exhibit of the Women's Art Association of Canada, Mrs. W. Blackwell is President of the local branch.

These Handicrafts, in which the Irish, Scotch and French settlers were skilled when they came to Canada, has been revived; their production increased and merit advanced by the supervision, exhibition and sales under the auspices of the Women's Art Association of Canada and its Branches.

The Women's Art Association has made a large exhibition of these goods at New York, San Francisco, St. Louis, U.S.A.; Melbourne, Australia; London, England; Edinburgh, Scotland; and in the chief cities and towns in Canada and the United States.

Her Majesty, Queen Mary, Alexandra the Late Queen Mother, H.R.H. Duchess of Connaught, H.R.H. Princess Patricia, Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, The Duchess of Sutherland, Countess Grey, The Countess of Minto, The Countess of Aberdeen, The Duchess of Devonshire, and many prominent people in Europe and Canada have purchased and used these materials.

The work of the Women's Art Association in exploiting the Art Industries and Handicrafts of Canadian Women is of economic and educational value to Canada and of international interest to the Arts and Craft Movement.

Mrs. Stanfield of Women's Art Association of Toronto will give daily demonsrations in old fashioned weaving.

The average midday meal of Henry IV of France consisted of four kinds of soup, four entrees, a course of boiled meat, a ten-pound joint of beef, a side of mutton, a capon and three other kinds of fowl. Vegetables never were served.

HOWE ISLAND IS LIKELY SITE FOR LAKE TERMINAL

Claimed Committee Investigating Suitable Sites Favor This Location.

WOULD BUILD VILLAGE.

Island is Situated Some Seven Miles Below Kingston.

OTTAWA, Ont., September 30 (Canadian Press). — Howe Island is the likely site for the lake terminal, according to a rumour in circulation here last night. It is claimed that the committee investigating suitable sites on behalf of the Department of Railways and Canals looks with favour on this location, and will so recommend to the Minister. This island is situated some seven miles below Kingston, and is eight miles long. It has many large farms on it, as well as some summer homes.

According to reports here, the proposal will be to expropriate some of these farms and build a village as well as the terminals. The island lies just north of the main steamboat channel, and at some points is quite close to the Canadian mainland, although the water intervening is deep.

For months the committee has been investigating the many sites proposed for the terminal where the big grain boats, which now stop at the foot of Lake Erie, would unload their cargoes when the new Welland Canal enables them to enter Lake Ontario.

Nearer Gananoque.

Kingston, Gananoque, Brockville, and Prescott have all urged their claims. If Howe Island is chosen, it will be slightly nearer Gananoque than Kingston.

The Department last year held up a proposal to build a bridge across the St. Lawrence just west of Alexandria Bay, N.Y., in view of the possibility that the Government might want to construct a bridge in connection with its terminals. This bridge to accommodate both train and motor traffic may be built in the vicinity where the private company had planned to erect one.

One of the claims Kingston has advanced for placing the terminals here has been the difficulty of navigating the large lake boats in the narrow channels of the Thousand Islands. The channel, however, to Howe Island would be ample for the largest craft. On the other hand, many have argued that the Thousand Island route should be widened if necessary to enable the big boats to come to a point below Prescott.

The report of the committee will probably be dealt with as soon as submitted in order to have the terminal ready when the new Welland Canal completed addition to the elevators and wharves, railway connections will have to be made because the grain from this point will move east both by smaller boats and by rail.

SAMUEL OKE IS BADLY HURT

Thrown To Ground When Two Automobiles Collide.

CARS DAMAGED.

As a result of a car collision at Jackson Park, Samuel Oke is suffering from painful bodily injuries, and two cars are badly damaged.

According to the reports of eye-witnesses, Mr. Oke, driving an open truck, collided with a car driven by H. J. McCannan. Both were travelling at a good rate of speed, and by the force of the impact, Mr. Oke was thrown violently from his seat to the ground.

Mr. McCannan, making his way out with difficulty following the shock, went to Mr. Oke's assistance, and found him lying unconscious on the ground. Mr. McCannan went to a neighbouring house, and after some difficulty in getting the line clear, put in a call for assistance. On his return he found that Mr. Oke had regained consciousness, and was partly sitting up.

Mr. Oke was treated by Dr. H. M. Yelland, and has since been confined to bed at his home on Water Street.

This demonstration promises to be one of the outstanding attractions of the exhibition.

Life Term For Having Pint of Gin in Home; New Michigan Law Enforced For First Time

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 30 (United Press).—Because he had a pint of gin in his home, Fred Palm, 29, to-day, started to spend the rest of his life at hard labor in the State prison at Jackson.

He was the first man in whose case violating of the liquor law was construed as a felony for the purposes of Michigan's new criminal code, which went into effect twenty-five days ago.

The code, modelled on the New York Baumes law, makes a life sentence mandatory after a fourth conviction of felony.

Though Palm had given the police plenty of trouble, he never was regarded as a desperate criminal. Most of his offences were against the Prohibition Act. He is a married man.

Judge Leland W. Carr questioned Palm as to his previous offences, evidence of which was submitted by the prosecutor. Palm admitted them all, though the judge warned him that he faced a life sentence. "Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced?" the judge asked.

Palm shook his head. "The sentence of this court is that you become confined in the State Prison at Jackson at hard labor for life," said the judge.

CHAIN STORES BUY PROPERTY

Metropolitan Corporation of Canada Acquires George Street Building.

THREE STORES INCLUDED.

The Metropolitan Corporation of Canada, which operates chain stores in many of the leading Canadian cities, has acquired property on George street from the Toronto Savings and Loan Company. The stores included in the deal are those of W. H. Meredith, J. A. McNabb and Company, B. O. McLeod and A. A. Fowler.

Mr. Meredith's lease will expire October 1, but that of the other stores has yet some time to run. It is expected that the Corporation will start operating in the store of Mr. Meredith.

J. A. McNabb as yet has not been approached to give up his lease, so in all probability the store will operate in the smaller quarters until the other leases expire.

The clothing business of W. H. Meredith has been located for many years on George street. Up until a year ago it went under the name of Merrell and Meredith, but W. S. Merrell withdrew from the partnership to operate the store of H. LeBrun and Company.

Metropolitan Corporation of Canada, Limited, which has been organized to acquire the ownership in fee of centrally located chain store properties in the principal cities in Canada, is making an offering of $1,100,000 series "A" 6 per cent. first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds at 99 and accrued interest, to yield 6.05 per cent., one-half of which is being placed in Canada. The company now owns properties located in ten Canadian cities, including Montreal, Sherbrooke, Ottawa, London, Sault Ste. Marie, Peterbofough, Kitchener, Brantford, St. John and Glace Bay. Metropolitan Corporation of Canada and Metropolitan Stores, Limited, are owned entirely by Metropolitan Chain Stores, Inc., which operates directly through its subsidiaries, 90 chain stores in the United States and Canada. The gross sales in 1926 were nearly $11,000,000, which was an increase over 1924 of 54 per cent. The estimated total for 1927 is $13,000,000.

LIGHTNING CAUSES STREET CAR PANIC

Dozen Persons Hurt in the Rush To Escape From Vehicle.

DETROIT, Sept. 30.—A dozen persons were cut and bruised in a panic following the striking of a street car by lightning yesterday afternoon at Third and Warren Avenues.

The street car was moving south on Third Avenue when a bolt of lightning struck the "cut-off control box" over the motorman's head. Witnesses said the lightning travelled half-way along the left side of the car after striking the box. The flash filled the entire car, and a strong odor of burning varnish arose immediately.

The front of the car burst into flame. Nearly all the seats were occupied by passengers, who at sight of the lightning rushed screaming for the centre doors, demanding that the conductor let them out.

Though the electrical system had been put out of order by the crash the motorman succeeded in opening the front doors, and most of the passengers left the car by this means. Some, however, broke windows and plunged through, and most of the injured were hurt in this manner.

A fire company extinguished the fire at the front of the car with chemicals.

Canadian Poetess Placed On Honor List

LONDON, Sept. 30 (Canadian Press Cable).—Mary Seton of Halifax, Nova Scotia, is among those who are placed in the order of merit in the "Poems in English" section of the Shakespeare verse competition promoted by the Poetry Society and incorporated in aid of the memorial theatre fund at Stratford-on-Avon. The competition has attracted a world-wide interest. Poems are being submitted in many languages. A sonnet by Frank Beresford of Wolverhampton, England, was placed first in the English poems section.

J. H. RENWICK LEAVING CITY

Has Been Appointed Organist of Oshawa United Church.

TO TEACH HERE.

John H. Renwick, Aylmer street, has been appointed as organist and choir master of the Simcoe Street United Church in Oshawa, and assumes his new duties on Sunday next, October 2nd. He will return to Peterborough once a week throughout the season to retain his classes here.

Mr. Renwick came to the city in May of 1911, as organist and choirmaster of George street United Church. Under his direction, the choir soon attained a high standard of proficiency, which was always maintained, while a devotional atmosphere was imparted to the services. Mr. Renwick was responsible for the presentation of many notable musical events, among them Spohr's "Last Judgment," Gaul's "Holy City" and "Ruth," Dubois' "Seven Last Words" and Moore's "The Darkest Hour."

He also gave much of his time to community work of a musical type, organizing and directing during the war a Patriotic Chorus of one hundred voices which took part in many public gatherings and which was responsible for raising much money for war work, with the houses usually sold out for the concerts presented. Mr. Renwick was the original musical director of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir, only resigning when pressure of church work and private teaching made it absolutely necessary.

As a teacher, he has had notable successes with his pupils, one of these obtaining the highest marks in Canada in Intermediate Piano examinations of the Toronto College of Music, while another obtained a gold medal in A.T.C.M. vocal work, and silver medals were awarded to two of his pupils in examiantions in Intermediate Vocal and Junior Organ. The great majority of his pupils in various branches passed with honors or first class standing.

After over sixteen years' service to church and community in this city, he goes to Oshawa, where Mrs. Renwick, who was for fourteen years soprano soloist of George Street Church, will join him later.

TOLL MOUNTS AS SEARCHERS EXPLORE RUINS

Policemen, Firemen and Militiamen Engaged in Task.

.. RED CROSS ACTIVE.

More Dead and Injured Likely To Be Found in Wreckage.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (Canadian Press).—The mounting death list in yesterday's devastating tornado here reached eighty-four today when additional bodies were found and injured died. The body of a third girl was found in the ruins of the Central High School and it was found two others were buried there. All but four of the dead were identified.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 30.—Canadian Press.)—St. Louis awoke early today to a full realization of the appalling toll of the four minute passage of yesterday's tornado—74 known dead, 671 treated for injuries, five thousand homes and business structures destroyed or damaged, over a devastated area of six square miles and official estimates of damage running from ten million to one hundred million dollars.

The tabulation of deaths, injuries and damage mounted steadily throughout the night and it was feared that further exploration to-day might increase the first two figures.

Downtown St. Louis escaped virtually unscathed, but some of the city's finest homes along Lindell Boulevard from Newstead Avenue to Grand Boulevard were laid waste.

A black, swirling funnel seemed to have appeared without warning in the vicinity of Forest Park, to have pursued a zig-zag course for six miles to leap the Mississippi river and dissipate its fury with a last twist at the Illinois tri-cities, Venice, Granite City and Madison, in which six persons were killed and twenty injured.

Every St. Louis policeman and fireman was called out on special duty, but their numbers were inadequate to patrol the stricken area and a regiment of State militiamen was ordered on duty. Orders to shoot looters were issued. Only two reports of looting were made last night, but neither was verified.

A Citizens' Relief committee of thirty-eight, with Mayor Victor Miller as chairman, hurriedly was organized to direct relief work. The Red Cross placed a relief station in the centre of the stricken area and a hundred automobiles were impressed for use as ambulances, Mayor Miller issued an appeal for funds.

A damage estimate of from ten million to one hundred million came from E. Christopher, building commissioner. Insurance men made a flat estimate of seventy-five million dollars damage.

Throughout the wilderness of crumpled houses, fallen trees, wrecked factories and business buildings, and twisted wires, men dug frantically in the darkness all night. Shortly before four o'clock this morning explorers seeking the bodies of five missing children in the recently remodelled Central High school, found the body of one child. Seven school buildings, housing 6,500 children, were in the tornado swept area, but only at the Central High school was there a report of a fatality. Eighteen other pupils in that school were injured when the huge tower was sent crashing down on the auditorium. Rescue workers rushing into the zone found pathetic sights of men, women and children standing about dazed and helpless while others dug into heaps of brick and wood for loved ones.

That the death list did not soar high into the hundreds was attributed to the heavy construction of the buildings in the devastated area. Newer homes were not spared and gaping holes where the wind wrenched off a wing or lifted a roof gave the district the appearance of a shell-torn city. The tornado played no favorites. Homes of classic design, humbler structures, stores, schools, apartment buildings, police stations — all were racked and torn equally.

For an hour before the twister struck, the air was heavy and portentious with storm. A continuous low rumbling of thunder was punctuated with lightning. The oppressiveness was dispelled by the rising wind and suddenly tell-tale black clouds appeared in the sky.

In a twinkling the crashing of glass and the singing of the wind in the trees announced the coming of the tornado. Crimneys crashed and houses heaved and fell, while the air was dark with dust and flying missiles. Witnesses telling their stories later spoke of sheets of flame, their origin a mystery, that swept past and dissipated themselves by striking a building or a tree.

Automobiles moved crazily about, overturning and wrecking themselves like the playthings of children. Everywhere the thud of falling walls and chimneys, and the tearing sound of piazzas being wrenched from their foundations filled the air. Swift in its coming, the tornado was as quick in leaving. By the time the news was flashed to downtown sections the storm was over and soon the sirens of fire apparatus and police ambulances annouced the coming of outside help.

Many Lives Are Lost When Twister Sweeps Middlewest States

90-Mile An Hour Gale, Accompanied By Terrific Downpour of Rain, Sweeps St. Louis and Adjoining Cities Across Mississippi River—Heavy Damage Wrought.

NUMEROUS BUILDINGS CRUSHED COMMUNICATION LINES DISABLED

All Members of the Police and Fire Departments Called Out To Aid in Rescue Work—City Hospitals Overcrowded With Injured.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (Canadian Press).—Sixty persons are known to be dead, many more deaths are reported, 1,500 persons were injured, property was damaged $75,000,000 and many part of the city were razed yesterday in the most devastating tornado and rainstorm that has swept St. Louis in many years. The storm came suddenly shortly after 1 p.m. and for five minutes screamed its song of fury.

The storm apparently hit the city in the Cheltenham district in the southeast section, moved northeast toward Grand Boulevard, followed that street to the vicinity of the major league baseball park and cut across the Mississippi River near the McKinley Bridge, striking the tri-cities of Venice, Madison and Granite City, Illinois.

Except for a hard blow and heavy rain, most of the downtown section was spared.

In the sections swept by the storm pedestrians were blown off their feet, roofs were lifted off, numerous buildings were crushed, autos were blown about and trees blown down. Telephone and telegraph lines were disabled.

Ambulances were sent in all directions and soon the city hospitals was crowded with injured men, women and children. Some were seriously injured, while most were only bruised or nerve shocked.

All 1,500 members of the police department and all firemen were called out for rescue and relief work.

School Children Injured

The dead included four men killed at the plant of the Blackmer and Post Pipe Company, 2801 Hereford Street; three men at the Polar Wave Ice Co. plant, Duncan and Newstead Avenues; three at the Hydraulic Pressed Brick Co., 5100 Manchester Avenue; and three women in a building at Sarah Street and Page Boulevard. Two women were burned to death when the building caught fire after its collapse.

Detective Sergt. Edward Schaa and an unidentified patrolman were killed in the collapse of a building at 3700 Eastern Avenue.

Between 15 and 20 children were injured when the tornado twisted the southwest corner of the Central High School building. Pupils fled from the building and took refuge in the Odeon Theatre nearby.

The Yeatman High School, St. Louis University High School, and the Riccick, Columbia and Marquette grade schools also were damaged, but no one in them was injured.

Streets Piled With Debris

The worst devastated section appeared to be Lindell Boulevard. Main east and west traffic artery from Sarah Street to Euclid Avenue, a distance of eight blocks. The streets in this area were piled with debris and traffic was jammed for blocks.

Sixty-seven patients were thrown into confusion when the front half of the roof was ripped off at Mullanphy Hospital, Coleman Avenue and Montgomery Street. Some of the patients were removed to other hospitals.

One man was killed and six injured when the one-storey building of the Federal Motor Car Co., collapsed under the impact of a telegraph pole.

Many Homes Wrecked

The west side, a section of house of moderately wealthy St. Louisians lay covered with a blanket of uprooted trees, torn timber and brick out of which crept injured men, women and children, black and grim; as though emerging from a coal mine.

It is estimated that 2,500 homes were either wrecked or damaged while the streets and boulevards were clogged with fallen telephone poles, and hundreds of the city's most beautiful trees. Trolley wires torn from their supports spat blue

TANGIER SUGGESTED.

British Officials Believe Foreign Secretary's Visit One of Courtesy.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(United Press.)—The wildest rumors are circulating throughout Europe, particularly in France, concerning what matters are to be discussed by the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain, and the Spanish dictator, Pirmo De Rivera, during the former's forthcoming visit to Barcelona.

Some say the question of the future status of Tangier will be delved into, but officials here, although wnthout any direct information, are inclined to believe that if the Tangier problem does come under review, it would only be very informally And for the purpose of making known in a general way the viewpoints of the two governments.

In fact it is commonly thought that the visit is to be merely one of courtesy and that it will have no serious outlook.

RAISE TARIFF ON CANADIAN AUTO CHASSIS

Australian Bill Raises Duties on Automobile Imports.

BRITISH PREFERENCE.

Purpose of Move Is To Shift Track From U. S. To Britain.

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 30.—(Canadian Press Cable.)— The new Australian tariff, effective immediately, will have its effect on the Canadian automobile export trade with Australia which, during the past two years, has averaged $7,500,000 in value.

Canada comes under the intermediate tariff in Australia. Hitherto the duty, charged by Australia on unassembled motor chassis from Canada has been 7½ per cent.; this, under the amended schedule, will be increased to 11½ per cent., the former rate of 12½ per cent. on assembled chassis is raised to 20 per cent.

The new tariff, in the case of the United States, will be increased from 12½ to 17½ on unassembled chassis, and from 17½ to 25 per cent. on American-made, assembled chassis.

English-made, unassembled chassis will be admitted to Australia free of duty, while an import of 5 per cent. is put on assembled English chassis.

The Minister of Customs, Hon. H. E. Pratten, in introducing the new tariff in the House of Representatives at Canberra, said that during the last financial year the value of imported motor car chassis was $61,250,000, of which United States' share was $37,500,000; United Kingdom $15,000,000 and Canada, $5,000,000.

It is not expected that these figures will be reached during the coming year.

The Minister said he hoped the new tariff might cause a good deal of the trade in motor cars to shift from United States to Britain, and cause a stimulus to inter-Empire economic development. The new schedules were effective to-day. The increased revenue from it, it is expected, will be $2,500,000, which will go toward the roads development scheme.

Increases Proportional.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 30.—(Canadian Press.)— Tariff experts in the Government service here decline to estimate the possible effects of the new Australian automobile tariff on the industry in Canada. It is pointed out, however, that the increases are proportionately the same insofar as they affect Canada and the United States. As the Government of Australia anticipates increased revenues from the new duties they will come from the trade with the Dominion and the United States.

The Department of Trade and Commerce here declines to make any calculation of effect upon the trade, stating that its duty is only to disseminate the information and later to give the results. The exporters themselves, it is stated, are the only ones who can accurately foresee the results.

Webfoot Sand Dogs, Escaping Pythons, Take Prize At $500,000 Show In London

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Two dogs with webbed feet and hairless bodies that had travelled to England in a crate full of snakes newly arrived from Africa were the sensation of the $500,000 Kennel Club Show at Crystal Palace yesterday. L. Cura, who won second place in the foreign dogs section with them, explained that they had jumped out of a crate in which he had received a consignment of pythons, the snakes being too torpid to eat them. He discovered later that they were Abyssinian Sand Terriers, whose webbed feet enable them to "swim" in the sand of the Abyssinian Desert. But they look more like giant rats.

Two Pyrenean Mountain dogs, big fellows, who in their native Pyrenees would as soon kill a wolf as look at him, took first prize and were also seen for the first time in England. They are very good-natured, unlike the Alsatians, of which they are fifty per cent. fewer than in last year's show, the decrease being said to be due to this reputation for ferocity which they have recently acquired here. The Cocker Spaniels have displaced them as the most popular

WARRANT OUT FOR RICKARD

Charges Breach of Law in Showing Fight Films.

EIGHT IN CUSTODY.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 30 (Associated Press). — A San Francisco theatre manager and seven of his employees were arrested here yesterday on Federal warrants charging them with violating the Interstate Commerce Act in showing the Tunney-Dempsey Chicago fight films. Tex Rickard, fight promoter, also was named in the action, and a telegraphic warrant for his arrest was sent to New York.

The arrests were made under a law prohibiting transportation of fight films from one State to another.

Assistant District Attorney Eugene Bennett said that the Government might arrest Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey and their managers and bring them here for trial.

Spectators' Money Refunded.

The arrests came just as the film ran into the second round of the fight. More than three hundred persons were in the theatre at the time. The picture was stopped and money refunded to the spectators.

Cullen denied violating the law. He declared the Interstate Commerce Act covered only transportation of films and not exhibition of them. He said he understood that the pictures were reproduced from originals in Los Angeles and that he got the films from a Los Angeles man by the name of H. Burke.

Bennett said he had never heard of George F. Getz, of Chicago, who was named as the local promoter of the fight. He characterized the claims of the producers that the film was reproduced in Los Angeles as "fantastic," and declared that an attempt was being made to make the Government the "goat" in the case.

The following extract from The Lindsay Post refers to the excellent showing made by local breeders of cattle at the recent Lindsay Fair:

"Yesterday was a busy day for the exhibitors of dairy cattle as their cattle was judged by R. M. Holtby of Port Perry. A large crowd of interested spectators watched the placings.

"Competition for Gordon Mann & Sons, of Peterboro, with their Ayrshires failed to materialize and therefore all the ribbons are decorating that herd. However Messrs. Mann & Sons herd proved their worth by winning the Bank of Commerce Cup for the best herd of Dairy Cattle (any breed) consisting of one bull and four females. The Judge awarded this prize to Messrs. Mann on the uniform appearance of their herd. Field Lodge Farm, of Roseneath, Ont., and The Kerr herd from Campbellford fought it out in the Jerseys with the Field herd getting most of the first.

"On Holsteins a battle royal was staged between Messrs. Seymour & Sons' herd from Peterboro and the Rowan-Croft herd owned by Daniel Murphy & Sons of Lindsay. Charles Calvert & Son of Reaboro had four entries. Mr. Holtby made the statement that he was sure that it was the best Holstein show ever held at Lindsay Fair. When the smoke cleared away, the Rowan-Croft herd had nine firsts. It included the Grand Champion bull and the best herd. Seymours had four firsts, and included the Grand Champion cow.

"The Guernsey herd did not arrive in town until Wednesday and as the main cow barn was filled they would not take the risk of putting their cattle in the open shed and decided to ship home again.

"This emphasized the need for more and better accommodation for dairy cattle."

MILLBROOK FAIR BEING PREPARED

Agricultural Society Sparing No Pains To Make Fair Success.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 30.—The fair grounds are being put in shape lately for use at the annual fair which takes place on Thursday and Friday, October 6 and 7, and the Agricultural Society is sparing no pains to make this year's event the "best yet" in every respect. Special prizes are being offered in connection with a number of exhibits, and there will be a good concert in the town hall at night, and also a dance in the Armouries beginning at 9.30 p.m.

Councillor T. J. Lang added yet another real estate deal to the long list which he has successfully negotiated in the past few months, when he sold the house on Distillery street at present occupied by Mr. R. Brown to William Finnimore, the latter having disposed of his farm, east of the village, to J. Thompson. Mr. Thompson will have possession the first of March, but is now doing the plowing on the Finnimore farm. Mr. Finnimore will probably not remove to the village until spring. Mr. Lang put the real estate deal through on Monday of this week.

Lang and Madill had an unusually large shipment of hogs from Millbrook and Fraserville to Peterborough on Monday, 160 making up the lot. Lang and Tinney shipped hogs from Cavanville to Peterborough on Monday, and Mr. Lang shipped a car-load of cattle and lambs to Toronto on Monday, going up to the city the following day to look after their disposal.

PLAN RADIO NET FOR BROADCAST WORLD SERIES

National Company Stations Preparing To Set Record For Baseball Broadcast.

COLUMBIA TAKES PART.

Commissioner Landis Gives His Permission For Announcement of List.

NEW YORK, September 30. — Radio will carry a play by play description of the world's series baseball games, according to a representative of the National Broadcasting Company. He said last night that the exact number of transmitters would be announced to-day. It is expected that Graham McNamee will be at the microphone for the National Broadcasting Company. Major J. A. White will describe the plays over the Columbia Broadcasting System's chain of sixteen stations.

Judge Landis, baseball "czar," said yesterday that he had given permission to the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System to announce what stations would go on the air with the opening game next Wednesday.

It is understood that WEAF, WJZ and WOR will be included in the network, and possibly the municipal WNYC, WGY, Schnectady, and KDKA Pittsburgh. The world's series broadcasters numbered twenty one last year. A representative of the National Broadcasting Company said that he expected a new record would be established next week in baseball broadcasting because a large number of stations plan to put the world's series on the air.

Commissioner Albert Golman of the Department of Plant and Structures under whose direction WNYC is operated, said the station would endeavor to participate in the world's series broadcast, as it did last season, because it would be a good feature for the station.

P. G. TOWNS PUTS 'DO' INTO DOURO

Success of Fair Due to Excellent Organization of Community Leader.

SOFTBALL GAMES.

DOURO, Sept. 30.—The man who put the "Do" in "Douro" did it once more. The local Fair, organized and carried through by P. G. Towns was a splendid success. By holding those events at the same time as the School Fair, interest is taken in the latter, which otherwise is lacking. On the one occasion in the past four years when the School Fair was held alone, not more than fifty adults attended.

It was the first year that the local schools staged a parade, and it surely was one that reflected great credit on the teachers. No. IV. and No. I. were very close, the former winning by only one point. No. IV. put more "pep" into their school yell. Almost all the spectators, not knowing how a parade is judged, would have given the palm to No. I., as they made a better showing for two reasons. Their tissue sashes and greater numbers made them more attractive. The exhibits were good, also the singing and public speaking. Two of the pupils who made speeches were splendid: Miss Bridgie McMurray of S.S. No. 3, and Miss Margaret Whibbs of S.S. No. 4. Though Mr. Nelson stated that it is very rarely that a public school pupil makes a real speech, still as recitations those made by the two pupils mentioned were excellent. The former spoke on "Trees and Tree or Forest Conservation," and the latter on "The Diamond Jubilee of Confederation." Both pupils were cool and spoke in a pleasant manner, and were distinct and easily heard.

Softball Games.

Sixth Line—J. Hall, p; F. Wood, c; V. Elliot, 1b; L. Bowie, 2b; D. Chapman, 3b; M. Hall, ss; E. Donaldson, lf; J. Wood, cf; H. Weir, rf.

North Douro—C. Towns, p; J. Garvey, c; M. Coughlin, 1b; Kay Walsh, 2b; H. Allen, 3b; F. Towns, ss; James Walsh, lf; E. Allen, cf; H. Allen, rf.

The Belmonts of Peterborough, participants in the Ontario finals, and the Lockworks team, runners-up for the city championship, played for a valuable silver trophy donated by Mr. Towns. It was won by the Belmonts with a score of 15-3. The line-up:

Lockworks—Galbraith, p; Dobson, c; Smith, 1b; Johnson, 2b; Westbrook 3b; Guerin, ss; Black, lf; Hall, cf; Holland, rf.

Score by innings:

Belmonts.....01000(11)3—15
Lockworks.....10000(0)2— 3

The prize for the most comic conveyance was won by Emmett Allen and Francis Towns, being the running gear of a buggy and the seat and hood of an old Ford car with a buggy wheel tied on behind as a spare and the two boys dressed up in clown regalia.

The prize for the person on the ground whose birthday was closest to July 1, 1867, was not decided. Mr. Towns would like anyone eligible to notify him. The only claimant so far was born in March, 1867.

The sports were not all run off as the School Fair took part of the afternoon, and over an hour was lost with the heavy shower which started about one o'clock.

The meals were supplied and served by the ladies of the parish, and were surely a triumph of culinary art. Chickens, salads, pickles, cake, pie buns enough to feed at least one thousand people, were sent. The tables fairly groaned with the weight of the good things. Many and flattering were the praises of the many visitors.

'Quake Shakes Crimea Damage Is Not Heavy

MOSCOW, Sept. 30 (Associated Press).—Another sharp earthquake shook the Crimea yesterday. No casualties are reported and the damage is not believed to have been great. The people of Yalta, Sebastopol and other towns are spending the night in the streets.

WEDDING BELLS

SULLIVAN—GOUGH.

The following is an account of the wedding in Toronto yesterday of Miss Marion Gough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Gough of Toronto formerly residents of Peterborough:

St. Basil's church, its sanctuary filled with palms, ferns, chrysanthemums and autumn foliage formed a lovely setting for the marriage at 11 o'clock to-day of Marion Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Gough, Crescent road to Francis J. Sullivan son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sullivan, of Sault Ste. Marie. Tall standards of flowers carried white cords to mark off the guest pews which were tied with clusters of flowers and white satin ribbons. Rev. Father Sullivan, uncle of the grooms performed the ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The service was fully choral, the choir singing the nuptial mass, while Mr. Healy Willan sang "Ave Maria" at the signing of the register.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father appeared at the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin wearing her nuptial robe of Oriental duchess satin, the long waist slashed and embroidered in seed pearls opening over a bodice of flesh pink. The skirt was gracefully fashioned in tiers embroidered in pearls and slightly draped at the left side. Long tight sleeves were of the satin, while the court train was fashioned of the same material, inset with rose point lace and lined with flesh pink georgette. A shimmering veil of tulle and lace was caught to the head in Juliet cap effect, with a tiny wreath of orange blossoms across the forehead and clusters at each ear. With it the bride wore pearls and a sapphire and diamond ring, the gift of the groom. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of butterfly roses and lillies of the valley.

A maid of honor, Miss Marcella O'Neil, and two bridesmaids, Misses Mildred and Beatrice Gough, sisters of the bride, made up the bridal procession. Maid of honor was charmingly gowned in a frock of pink shot faille, the bodice fashioned with a surplice crossed in back and forming a girdle. The bouffant skirt was edged with silver cloth and trimmed with French flowers. The bridesmaids were gowned exactly alike in pink shot faille, made in bouffant style with tight bodices and panels edged with pink silk net. French flowers adorned the panels, while Normandy lace was used as trimming on the bodices. All three attendants wore large picture hats in tone to match the gowns and trimmed with large butterfly bows of self velvet. Their bonquets were alike, old colonial nosegays of Columbia roses and cornflowers tied with long streamers. Shoes to match the frocks had cut steel buckles.

Mr. Arthur Kelly of this city acted as best man, while the ushers were Mr. Richard Gough, Mr. Arthur Gough, brothers of the bride; Mr. Norman Wesley and Mr. William Irvine.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the house attractively decorated with autumn flowers throughout. The bride's table was prettily arranged with pink roses and fern, with the bride's cake above a Venetian lace cloth. Mr and Mrs Gough received with the bridal pair, the later wearing an original frock of beige Renaissance lace over beige georgette, cleverly draped from the right shoulder and falling to an uneven hemline. A deeper shade of beige satin formed the girdle. With it she wore a black hat with bird of paradise trimming and corsage of American beauty roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, father and mother of the groom, also received with the bridal party, Mrs. Sullivan wearing a Paris model of sapphire transparent velvet with a silver girdle, hat and shoes to match and corsage of Ophelia roses. Miss Geraldine Gough, sister of the bride, was attired in gold and white metal cloth combined effect with black chiffon transparent velvet. The skirt was made with a panel of the metal cloth and finished with a huge knot of the velvet. She wore a corsage of orchids and a picture hat of black velvet.

Following a wedding trip to New York Boston and eastern points Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will reside in their new home at 336 Douglas drive. For travelling the bride donned a three-piece costume of Wales blue, the coat trimmed with collars and cuffs of platinum fox. With it she wore a small gray hat and shoes to match the costume.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Alphonsine Le Brun of Rochester, N.Y. and Mrs. Eugene Phelan of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzgerald of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bellmore of Detroit Mr. Welchel M.P.P. of Kitchener, Hon. Peter Heenan and Mrs. Heenan of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Corrigan of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. George Lang, senior, of Kitchener, and Rev. Father Lenay of Bath, N.Y.

OLD MASTERS

I loved thee once; I'll love no more—
Thine be the grief as is the blame;
Thou are not what thou wast before,
What reason I should be the same?
He that can love unloved again
Hath better store of love than brain:
God send me love my debts to pay,
While unthrifts fool their love away.

SCHOOL BOARD LOSES MEMBER

A. G. Thompson Leaving Campbellford—Equipment Needed at High School.

FIELD DAY ANNOUNCED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 30—Owing to the thunder storm and heavy rain that was falling, it seemed hardly likely that enough members would be present to open the meeting of last night of the school board, but within half an hour after the regular time, the chairman, Dr. O. C. Watson, Secretary Stevens and Trustees Loucks, Jeffs, Birmingham, O'Sullivan, Denyes, Richardson and Lynch put in an appearance and the business of the meeting began. E. H. Grieg, principal of the High school, and Charles Haig, principal of the Public school, were also present.

The secretary had but three letters. One was from A. G. Thompson, tendering his resignation from the board on account of his removal from town. The second was from the County Clerk in the City of Belleville, and the third from the Minister of Education, Toronto. This dealt with a rebate in connection with the superannuation fund and issued instructions regarding same. These had been carried out by the secretary.

On motion of Trustees Richardson and Denyes, Mr. Thompson's resignation was accepted and the secretay was instructed to forward a lettre to Mr. Thompson expressing the regrets of the board upon his departure and wishing him every future success in his new locality.

Trustee Birmingham, grounds committee, reported that the work for the year had been completed and that a full report of their expenditures would be submitted at the next meeting. The exact and compete details for it had not yet been prepared.

The secretary stated that the official report of the High school inspector had not yet reached him. Dr. O. C. Watson, chairman, informed the members that he had been in conversation with the inspector and that he understood that his report would be practically the same as last year, but in some respects better. The inspector would not be able to give them a number one for the school gymnasium until certain equipment not yet installed had been purchased. These items were a horse and a vaulting bar. The chairman pointed out to the board that this would mean a grant of forty dollars annually and he thought it good business to instal them. The matter was discussed with regard to the financial standing for the year, but the motion of Trustees Lynch and Loucks to buy and install them was passed.

Mr. Greig, when asked if he wished to address the meeting, announced to the board that the High school field day would be held on Thursday, October 6th at one-thirty in the afternoon at the Fair grounds. He hoped that each member of the board would be present to witness the keen competition for the honours in the long list of events. He also expressed the appreciation of the staff and pupils of the school of the generous response which they had met with from the citizens of the town when they were canvassed for funds for prizes. He also reminded the board that there was no entrance fee charged for the occasion.

The principal's remarks gave rise to a discussion as to the advisability of holding the programme of sports on the High school grounds. There seemed to be an equally divided opinion on the matter, and no action was taken to change the programme in that respect.

Mr. Greig also reminded the board that there were only four typewriters in the commercial department and there were thirty-nine students who required their use. This made it necessary to limit the number of spaces for each pupil and placed a big obstacle in the paths of both the pupils and staff. The members of the board seemed to be somewhat surprised to learn that there were so few machines in the school, but were unable to take any immediate action.

Mr. Haig, principal of the Public schools, had nothing to bring before the board except a matter relating to Kinderagrten supplies which he submitted in written form to the chairman. Since the matter was quite agreeable to him, it was also satisfactory to the board.

The list of accounts as read by the secretary was ordered paid by motion of O'Sullivan and Denyes, bringing the busines of the meeting to an end.

HARVEST FESTIVAL IS WELL ATTENDED

Large Audiences Hear Archdeacon Warren Preach at Omemee.

OMEMEE September 30. — On Sunday, September 26, the annual Harvest Thanksgiving Services were held in Christ church, Omemee. There was a good attendance at both the morning and evening services to hear the Venerable Archdeacon Warren of Toronto, who came for the special occasion.

The interior of the church was tastefully decorated in keeping with the harvest theme.

At the morning service the Archdeacon spoke of the serving of God rather than mammon. He touched upon the proper use of money and deplored the manner in which many gained and used their wealth.

His address in the evening dwelt upon the view one should take of life. An optimistic outlook becomes the Christian more than a pessimistic view. Creation, commerce, politics, and art are four great reasons for life being worth while.

At the close of the service a quintette of the choir gave an excellent rendition of "Now the Day is Over."

C.G.I.T. GIRLS PLAN HIKE ON SATURDAY

Will Have Picnic—Practice For Play is Arranged.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 30.—The Wide Awakes group of Canadian Girls in Training met at the leader's home on Tuesday evening, fifteen members being present. One new member was received and enrolled.

The vice-president, Miss Elinor Fallis, was in the chair, and when business items were being discussed it was decided to have a hike and picnic tea at the Grove on Saturday at 2.30 p.m. provided the weather prove favorable, the coffee and bacon to be cooked at the picnic grounds. Practice for the play was also arranged for.

A committee was appointed to prepare a new group 'yell', and the leader's suggestion for a new motto and password was accepted, and all members were instructed to become familiar with same.

The devotional period was opened in the usual manner, the Bible lesson, read in unison, being from Ruth the first chapter. A reading, "The Church of the Lighted Lamps" was given by Wilma Fallis, and the talk was on "Choice", the individual responsibility being emphasized. Dorothy McDowell read, "Searching for a Heavenly Father" and the meeting closed with the group prayer. A copy of the prayer for a 'teen age girl will be furnished each member for use in her private devotions.

The usual social hour with music, and the service of candy and fruit, was enjoyed at the close.

WEDDING BELLS.

ELLIS—SERGEANT.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 30.—A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday morning at eleven o'clock, when Elizabeth Alice Sergeant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sergeant, Campbellford, became the bride of Joseph Henry Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ellis, Toronto. The ceremony took place at Christ Church, Rev. C. E. Clarke, of Belleville, officiating. Miss Ethel Taylor, of Peterborough, was bridesmaid, and Matthew Sergeant, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman.

The bride was given away by her father, and looked charming in a white satin dress, with veil of white silk net embroidery trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of sunburst roses. The bridesmaid wore a charming gown of grey and blue crepe, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony, a delightful wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, which was prettily decorated with ferns and yellow dahlias. After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis will reside in Campbellford.

Among the numerous gifts which attest the popularity of the young couple is a walnut centre table, the gift of the employees of the Weston Shoe Company.

STORM SPOILS FAIR OPENING

JUDGES BUSY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 30. — In spite of the heavy rain and thunderstorm which swept this section of the country just at the time when fair-goers should have been moving in the direction of the agricultural grounds, the opening last night attracted a few of the more ardent sightseers. Immediately the rain ceased the cars and pedestrians began to enter the grounds and avail themselves of such amusements as were in operation. Some radios seemed to be receiving a fair program in spite of the static which other sets were experiencing. Their main trouble seemed to be in drowning out the harsher tones from the merry-go-round some distance farther up the grounds.

The midway was not generally open but the fortune teller seemed to be doing as much business as she could accommodate with ease. A young lady approached on the subject immediately she had left the tent seemed greatly concerned over what she had been told. Apparently the prophetess has the knack of hitting the nail on the head.

The motor show was not open to the public. Neither was the exhibition hall. But the poultry building sheltered a large crowd of fanciers who seemed much surprised not only at the large number of varieties of fowl but also the number of entries. The poultry building is filled to capacity. The judges have been busy all day and state that they would not have their list of prize winners completed before noon to-day at the earliest probably still later.

Practically speaking from a business point of view the opening was not a complete success, but this was due to nothing else but the weather. The directors are not in the least discouraged nor fearful for what the morrow will bring forth. It was only the show people and the young people who were disappointed in their expectations to spend a lively evening that were wearing the long face of disappointment.

FESTIVAL AND ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Allen Has Been Organist of Parish For 50 Years.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 30.—Saint Thomas' church will observe its annual harvest thanksgiving services on Sunday, October 9, and will combine with this the observance of the half century of faithful service as an organist of the rector's wife, Mrs. William Cartwright Allen. For more than forty years Mrs. Allen has been organist and choir leader in the churches of the parish of Millbrook and Cavan, and previous to coming to Canada held this position in her home town of Shenley, England. While visiting her old home this summer Mrs. Allen had the pleasure of playing the organ at which she previously presided each Sunday, and of meeting a few of her former choir 'girls'—now somewhat advanced in years. The choirs of the four churches of the parish will unite for the special music at the anniversary, and Venerable Archdeacon Davidson will be the preacher for the day.

Mr. De Pencier, of Trinity College, Toronto, assisted Rev. Canon Allen with the services last Sunday in the absence of Rev. P. C. Howard who is on vacation.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST

flame as they met the car tracks and the shouts of policemen kept terrified people from injury or death from the live wires.

With telephone service demoralized, it took the city several minutes to learn what had happened. The news of the tornado was flashed over the city by radio and others in parts of the city unvisited by the storm were in terror as they awaited word from the schools in the tornado district.

Accompanied by Rain

The twister was accompanied by a terrific rain which added to the desolation. Houses and factories were crumpled in many places like toys.

The first flashes that reached fire and police headquarters set up a general mobilization of every available policeman and fireman. The storm area was quickly blocked against the curious by a hastily formed cordon. Behind the cordon were hastily organized units of relief and men began digging into heaps of stone and brick to look for persons they believed were buried.

Traffic Jammed

Along Maryland Avenue, Lindell Boulevard, King's Highway, Westminster Place, McPherson Street, and other stately traffic-ways in the pride of the city's home section, there were gaping holes in walls, a fallen forest of trees, while along the curbs were automobiles, some turned turtle, others with the tops torn off and demolished by falling bricks.

Beside the wrecked structures stood groups of individuals, some dazed, others crying for help. Willing workers responded and here and there elderly women and men were helped from their homes.

The pupils had fled from the lately remodelled Central High School when parts of the exterior structure fell and there was fear that the roof would cave in.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1927.

ONLY ONE BABE RUTH.

With two home runs needed to equal his own record and the season almost over, Babe Ruth smashed out two homers yesterday and has a chance to surpass his mark of 59 circuit hits.

It may have been that he was helped in this performance by kind-hearted pitchers who grooved the ball for him, but the fact remains that to hit two home runs even under such circumstances is not an easy feat.

Ruth's speciality is still his own.

He remains the home run king and the biggest box-office attraction that baseball possesses.

The coming World's Series will be featured by more interest perhaps in what Ruth does every day than in the result of the games.

Ruth draws a salary that may cause college professors to wonder what is wrong with the world's sense of values, but from a business viewpoint he earns every cent of the thousands he is paid.

THE NIGHT CLASSES.

Peterborough's night classes are to be re-organized next week, and the prospects are that the enrollment of pupils will be larger than ever before.

These classes are designed to provide instruction in various lines to citizens who for one reason or another have not been able to obtain such instruction through the ordinary channels.

Pupils who have attended in previous years have found the various courses to be decidedly valuable to them, and this fact is expected to lead to even greater interest in the classes during the term that opens next week.

The attention of Peterborough young men and women who are anxious to better fit themselves for the battle of life is directed toward the list of subjects to be taken up during the winter at these classes.

THE CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

The Conservative national convention to be held in Winnipeg next month is naturally attracting a good deal of attention, and is being discussed from various angles by newspapers of all political tints.

It is well indeed that this should be the case.

The question of who is to lead one of the two great political parties in Canada is not merely a Conservative matter; it concerns every citizen directly or indirectly, and the whole country should be interested.

Speculation as to the choice of the convention is keen, but there is really nothing upon which a definite forecast can be made.

Most of the delegates will go to Winnipeg, as the Peterborough representatives will, unpledged to any particular candidate, and the developments of the convention will decide the question of leadership.

While there is always a chance that a "dark horse" candidate might sweep the delegates off their feet, the safest guess is that if Premier Ferguson persists in his refusal to become a candidate, the leader will be found in the group of prominent Conservatives now members of the House of Commons.

THE SAFETY CAMPAIGN.

The fact that the closing day of the Canadian Good Roads Association was devoted almost altogether to a discussion of highway safety shows that the shocking loss of life from highway accidents has aroused public opinion to the need of seeking safer conditions.

The convention has placed itself on record as unanimously in support of every effort by individuals, associations or Governments in aid of the safety of the highways.

Much can be done in the direction of safety first education, and more perhaps by an enforcement of the regulations in a manner that will frighten those who are too reckless or too foolish to heed appeals into obeying the traffic rules.

If he cannot be persuaded to have some regard for the rights and safety of others, then he will have to be forced to drive more carefully or else driven off the highways.

The public is behind the authorities in any effort they may make in eliminating those drivers who show themselves to be indifferent to the general safety.

THE FASTEST EVER.

To win the Schneider Cup, Flight Lieut Webster maintained an average speed of 4.7 miles a minute, making more than five miles a minutes on the straightaways. This is far from being the swiftness of light, but it is faster than man ever travelled before.

Walking fast, a man can cover a city block in one minute. Webster could make it in one second. It took Col. Lindbergh 33½ hours to fly from New York to Paris. Webster, if his plane could stand it and his own endurance hold out, would complete the run in 12¾ hours. He could breakfast in Boston and dine in San Francisco. Indeed, because of the difference in time between those cities, he could start from Boston after an early breakfast and reach Frisco in time for a matinee.

No such trip will soon be made, however. No plane could stand such a terrific strain for so long a time. No man living has the requisite strength and stamina. It will be quite a while before anyone goes around the world in three days—which is what might be accomplished at five miles a minute, if materials were flawless and we were supermen.—The Detroit News.

SAFETY ON THE HIGHWAYS.

The speech of Hon. George S. Henry at the convention yesterday of the Canadian Good Roads Association, held here, was made on a keynote of safetly on the highways, and was followed along that line by many of the other speakers. The country is sold on good roads, what is needed now is to use them safety. The highways are here; what is needed is education in their proper use.

It is foolish to attempt to close one's eyes to the fact that many motorists are misusing the roads, provided by the public and that drastic laws are necessary for the punishment of such individuals.

Not only it is necessary to punish offenders against the traffic laws; but it is also essential that a campaign of education be carried on and the fact stated and restated that carelessness on the highways imposes grievous burdens on the rest of us and is the cause of tremendous loss of life.

Interesting tests have been made in many places. In New York, for instance, two taxi-drivers made experiments. One was started out and told to make all the speed possible, regardless of traffic laws and signals. The other started out at the same time, but was cautioned to obey the laws. The distance covered was thirteen miles and the illegal driver arrived at his destinatoin only three minutes ahead of his colleagues, having just missed many accidents, and next day, had to pay fines on five counts. That would probably be found to be true also on the highways.

Driving must be made safe. Two things are necessary, education of the drivers, and suitable penalties for offending drivers. The emphasis being laid at the convention here, on safety, cannot but be of value.—Niagara Falls Review.

THE VICTORIAN REVOLT.

When comparisons are made between the Victorian age and our own, it is assumed that all Victorians were the same—rather a stiff, pompous and hypocrical If so, these persons must have delighted to find themselves ridiculed and rebuked by some of the foremost Victorian writers, by Dickens, Thackeray, Ruskin and Carlyle. In fact the phrase "Victorian writer" seems misapplied to men who were at war with the ideas commonly described as Victorian. Dickens attacked the Poor House system, private schools of the Dotheboys Hall type, the Court of Chancery, and the Civil Service. He ridiculed the worship of wealth, and described the relations of labor and capital as "all a muddle." Because of the satire leveled at the Circumlocution Office in Little Dorrit the Edinburgh Review reproached Dickens for his persistent ridicule of "the institutions of the country, the laws, the administration, in a word the government under which we live."

This reads like a twentieth century rebuke aimed at George Bernard Shaw or Upton Sinclair. It is a curious fact that persons may be found admiring Dickens and at the same time horrified by the Dickens attitude in writers of our own day. One is reminded of Burke's observations on the common tendency to glorify past reforms and oppose those that are called for today. We are, he says, very uncorrupt and tolerably enlightened judges of the transactions of past ages.

Few are the partisans of departed tyranny; and to be a Whig on the business of an hundred years ago is very consistent with every advantage of present servility. This retrospective wisdom and historical patriotism are things of wonderful convenience; and serve admirably to reconcile the old quarrel between speculation and practice. Many a stern republican, after gorging himself with a full feats of admiration of the Grecian Commonwealths, and of our true Saxon constitution, and discharging all the splendid bile of his virtuous indignation on King John and King James, sits down perfectly satisfied to the coarsest (political) work and homeliest job of the day he lives in.

A present-day reader of Ruskin's "Unto This Last" is astounded to learn that on its first apeparance it was regarded as so dangerous that it publication in an English magazine was stopped owing to horrified protests. It attacked the current doctrines of political economy. It declared that the soldier was honored, not because he was eager to kill, but because he was willing to die; and it contended that all work ought to be done in the same spirit of service. The ideal was high; it was a counsel of perfection, and might have been regarded as unattainable; but why it should have been regarded as dangerous and revolutionary is not easy to understand. Yet even in our day we hear the most benevolent projects for the improvement of social and economic condition confused with the destructive doctrine of Bolshevism.

Carlyle was another iconoclast of the Victorian age, denouncing Parliaments almost in the manner of a Bolshevist or Facist, satirizing Victorian ideas of progress, and painting in the darkest colors the condition of the poor of England. In 1850 he wrote of "days of endless calamity, disruption, dislocation, confusion worse confounded; if they are not day of endless hope too, then they are day of utter despair." Ruin, either in action or in prospect, he saw to be universal. "There must be a new world if there is to be any world at all."

The Victorian age had its faults, but as we read Dickens, Thackeray, Ruskin, and Carlyle, we cannot accuse it of being smugly self-righteous and satisfied with itself. The prophets were loud in rebuke, warning and ridicule; and the fame which they achieved showed that they did not cry out in vain.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Premier Kemel Pasha is to broadcast a speech of 400,000 words from Angora. Wouldn't that get your goat?

The Toronto Star, having named Hon. R. B. Bennett as the logical choice of the Conservative convention, The St. Catharines Standard bears us to the remark that that settles Mr. Bennett's hash.

If the Good Roads convention does anything to produce safer traffic conditions, it will be regarded as the best in the history of the association.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Sept. 30 (Canadian Press).—Montreal exporters stated yesterday that foreign bids on Canadian Spring wheat were out of line with present prices. There was an increased inquiry for ocean grain room and a fair amount of business was done, however.

New York exporters in the local grain market did considerable buying and sales of No. 1 Northern were made at 16⅛ cents per bushel over the Winnipeg option, c.i.f. Montreal, and other sales of the same grade en route were made at 19c over the same option, while sales of some round lots of No. 2 Canadian Western oats were made on spot at 73c per bushel and No. 3 at 71c per bushel, ex-store. No 3 Canadian Western barley changed hands at 11½ cents per bushel over the October option, c.i.f. Montreal. Car lot prices were steady and prices unchanged.

The foreign demand for Spring wheat grades of flour continued steady and a fair volume of business was reported. The domestic trade was again rather quiet.

A weaker feeling developed in the market for millfeed and millers generally reduced prices $2 per ton for all lines. This was attributed to increased production and more liberal supplies available. Trade in rolled oats was quiet and prices unchanged.

The inquiry from English importers for Canadian baled hay continued good, but limited available ocean freight space checked the volume of business. The prices were steady.

A fairly good trade was worked in eggs with an improved demand for supplies. Prices ruled steady. Receipts were 1,144 cases.

Butter receipts 1,615 packages. There was no change yesterday in the butter trade, the undertone to the market being firm.

Cheese sales were also firm with a fair volume of business done. Receipts were 3,395 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (Canadian Press).—Heavy selling pressure, apparently the result of enlarged marketing of the new spring crop, did much yesterday to pull wheat values down. Indications of liberal export business, both in domestic and Canadian wheat, failed to furnish a complete offset. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ½ to ⅞c net lower; with corn unchanged to 1⅛ off; oats varying from ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance, and provisions at 25c setback to a rise of two cents.

Argentine and Australian reports of beneficial rain, as well as Liverpool prices lower than due, assisted in giving the wheat market here a downward trend from the beginning. Special notice was taken that Liverpool wheat was at a discount for nearby deliveries as compared with deferred months, a reversal from the general rule of recent years. Some doubt was expressed as to whether the Australian rains were in time to accomplish good, but the downpours in Argentina were said to have been unusually effective toward putting newly seeded wheat in general excellent condition. Gossip which was current that yesterday's European takings of domestic spring wheat might prove to be the largest so far this season was not confirmed. The export situation, however, received much notice because of advices that around 100,000,000 bushels of European wheat and rye would be unmerchantable, an amount about equal to estimates of the increased trans-Atlantic yield compared with 1926. Wet weather forecast for the Canadian Prairies was also a factor at times as implying delay to threshers.

Corn prices averaged lower despite persistent wet weather in corn territory. Temperatures, though, were above normal, for this time of year, and Eastern cash demand was slow. Oats were easy, influenced by corn.

Packers' buying put firmness in most of the provision list.

Try Magnesia For Indigestion

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and got little more than slight temporary relief—sometimes not even that.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder of tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment, and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.

DAILY EDITORIAL BY DR. FRANK CRANE

THE PACIFIC ERA
By Dr. Frank Crane.

Roger W. Babson, the well-known statistician and economist, in an address the other day said that:

"If statistics mean anything, the Pacific Coast will be the most active and densely populated section of the United States in the future."

For this he gives three reasons.

The first is that the condition of life are pleasant in California. There is no snow or ice, the climate is benign, that earthquakes are negligible and altogether human life can be carried on more agreeably than elsewhere.

People are ruled by their feelings. As a rule they go where it is the most pleasant.

California has an advantage over other places in that its climate is not enervating. It has semi-tropical luxuriance; at the same time it does not have the debilitating weather such as we find in Cuba.

The second reason he gives is that the West Coast has decided agricultural advantages over the rest of the country. As a nation increases and progresses, its demand for wheat and corn declines. As it waxes prosperous it consumes more fruit, green vegetables and nuts.

All these things thrive on the Pacific Coast. The answer is that this Coast is increasing at the expense of the decline of the Middle West.

This increase, due to pleasanter conditions of life and to the right kind of crops, is evidenced in bank clearings, railroad earnings and foreign trade. The City of Los Angeles has probably grown faster and is growing faster than any city in the country. A good deal of good-humored fun is poked at Southern Californians for being boosters, yet they have something to show for their boosting, as the prosperity of Los Angeles is unexampled.

The third reason Mr. Babson gives is that the coming is to be a Pacific Ocean era. The Pacific is destined to excel the Atantic in word commerce. He declared that Europe had shot its bolt with the World War and that for the next fifty years it will decline.

The world has long been under the dominance of Europe. America heretofore has been a European colony, culturally speaking.

With the significant growth and changes taking place in China and Japan and with the Pacific Ocean traffic, this dominance of Europe is severely threatened.

The Pacific Ocean will be the market place of the world, said Mr. Babson, in the next generation.

RURAL SCHOOL FAIRS

NORTH CLARKE

MILLBROOK, Sept. 30—The sixteenth annual Rural School Fair for North Clarke, held at Orono on Thursday, was largely attended and successful from every point of view.

With thirteen schools participating, every class of exhibits was well filled, the quality being excellent. Fruit and flowers are always outstanding exhibits in this district, and the showing this year was no exception to the general rule. There were six extra classes in the fruit section including apples, pears and plums; two extra classes in nature collections (a), a properly named collection of acorns, nuts, seeds, or fruits of our forest trees; (b), specimens showing life history of an insect-egg, larva, pupa and adult; and one extra prize in drawing—a calendar for October illustrated in water colors; and in these three sections there was keen competition.

The school chorus singing was also an important event as the Inspector, Colonel E. E. Snyder, habitually gives decided emphasis to this educational feature in the schools under his jurisdiction.

The schools in North Clarke, with the pupil directors, are: Bruce Hancock, Antioch, S.S. No. 8; Kenneth Neal, Lockharts, S.S. No. 9; John Stark, Starkville, S.S. A Thought For To-day

THE TRIFLING THINGS.

It has always been my contention that we show our character best in trifling things—that the trifling things are always the big things to little folks.

The other day I saw a small fly light on a man's bald head three times within thirty seconds and the man almost exploded with rage.

He had just been telling me how calm he could be in the face of a personal insult and how stoically he could remain while receiving the news of some real financial loss, and while he was telling me this a little ant crawled up his trouser leg and the man threw a temporary mental paroxysm.

The trifling things reveal our true character more than the actions of great importance.

We can brace ourselves against actions that actually injure us. We can put up a good bluff when we suffer some money loss, but if you really want to know how small some big men are, just put a pebble in a man's shoe and he will make a terrible fuss over a small particle of sand.

It is the trifling things, the small vexations continually repeated that get our goat.

It is the little nagging and constant fault-finding about trifling things in a home where disagreements start and where divorce ends.

MUSICAL PROGRAM CHANGES EACH NIGHT

Many Fine Acts Arranged For Produced in Canada Fair.

E. Vernon Morphet, chairman of the entertainment and musical committee of the Produced in Canada Fair, has personally arranged one of the best grand stand programmes that has ever been presented in this city.

Mr. Morphet, appreciating the fact that the people wish first class entertainment, has left nothing undone to accomplish this aim.

Every evening there will be a different one act play, a fashion show, mouth organ, old-time fiddlers, and step dancing contests, and a pageant.

Mr. Morphet has been successful in securing the services of Senorita Provita Vasquez of Lockport, N.Y. who will dance at each performance in the Amphitheatre. It is intended to give two evening performances and these five big acts will be included as one performance and for one price of admission. The Evening Examiner will publish in a later issue the full list of plays and performances for each evening. For Friday and Saturday evening there has been secured one of the best pageants presented at the Canadian National Exhibition which will be given at these performances also with no advance in prices.

Senorita Vasquez will also dance each evening in the dance hall for which a first class orchestra has been secured, and where a real good evening's entertainment is promised to all.

According to the United States Treasury reports, the largest supply of gold ever accumulated by one country in the history of the world, a total of $4,599,787,295, was held in American vaults on April 1 of this year. This is about half the gold in the world.

DISTRICT CHURCHES

ROSENEATH UNITED CHURCH

ROSENEATH, Sept. 30.—The United church Sabbath school held their Rally Day service on Sunday evening. The teachers and scholars occupied the front seats and the choir was chiefly of little folks who sang many beautiful hymns. The superintendent, Mr. George Ingham, conducted the service.

A beautiful recitation was given by Miss Bessie Turner entitled "We Would See Jesus."

Other numbers in the programme was a solo by Mrs. (Rev.) M. R. Brown entitled "I Love to Hear the Story"; a duet by Misses Bessie Turner and Joy Morrison.

An interesting and instructive address was given by the pastor, Rev. M. R. Brown, and the service was closed with prayer by Mr. Ingham.

BAILIEBORO UNITED S.S.

BAILIEBORO, Sept. 30—The members of the United Sunday school held their annual Rally Day service on Sunday evening. There was a full turnout of members who, with the many visitors, filled the United church to capacity.

The junior and adult classes formed a line in front of the church and marched to their seats, carrying bouquets of flowers, which were handed to four girls, Misses R. Dawson, M. Barnard, Irene and Vina Dawson. The girls took their place in front of the altar and took each bouquet and placed it upon a large cross which was erected there. When the students had taken their places in the pews a large cross stood at the front of the church made of beautifully colored flowers.

The superintendent, Mr. John Porter, had charge of the service, while the pastor, Rev. W. H. Foley gave a very interesting address. A reading was ably given by Miss Bessie Barnard, while an anthem by the choir added greatly to the program.

The offering, which was to go towards helping the young people's work in Canada, amounted to about fifteen dollars.

OMEMEE, Sept. 29.— The special rally day programme prepared by the Board of Religious Education of the United Church of Canada, for the use of the Sunday schools of the Dominion, was carried out at Trinity church on Sunday morning.

The centre pews were occupied by the scholars who numbered almost 100, while the pastor, Rev. E. W. Rowland, and the superintendents, Messrs. T. C. Ivory and H. Lamb, were seated on the platform.

The theme of the service was, "We Would See Jesus," and this poem was splendidly given by Miss Madeline Grey.

The responsive reading was led by Mr. Lamb and the prayer was offered by Mr. Ivory, who also conducted the offering service. Messrs. Errol Wilson and Thomas Peck received the offering, after which an offertory prayer was sung by the congregation: "We give Thee but Thine own, Whate'er the gift may be, All that we have is Thine alone, A trust, O Lord, from Thee."

Special musical numbers included a splendid rendition of "Jesus Wants Me for a Sunbeam," by Florence, Hilda, Russel and Arthur Marshall.

Rev. Rowland delivered the message, speaking first to the parents, and later to the boys and girls, laying stress on the theme, "We Would See Jesus."

The secretary's report was given by Miss Marion Rea and a unique feature in connection with the report of each class was the objective for the coming year, given by one of the members. These objectives included regularity, the securing of new members and several other aims, to make the Sunday school attractive.

The special offering goes to the work of extending the Sunday school and young people's work throughout Canada and was quite liberal.

The decorations included a profusion of flowers, artistically arranged, mountain ash berries, grain and stalks of corn, all of which were but a small sample of a bountiful harvest which God hath provided, and which were very appropriate decorations for this service.

PAPER ON SERVICE IS READ TO LEAGUE

Mrs. S. D. Vaughan Gives Interesting Talk at Omemee.

OMEMEE, Sept. 30.—The Young People's Union of Trinity Church met on Monday evening in their regular meeting. Mr Ross Rutherford was in charge and was assisted in the Scripture reading by Miss Mary Faulkner. The business included the arrangements for the entertainment of the Bethel Society in two weeks' time also the planning of a Hallowe'en Social. Miss Lila Parsons contributed a pleasing vocal number.

The topic, "Service" was ably taken by Mrs. S. D. Vaughan and was as follows:

"First, what is Service? Webster says, 'Labor for others'."

"Service is universal—all serve. The soldier says he serves his king; the statesmen, his country; business and professional men say, "At your service.' In the political economy of this world we all serve in some way. In the moral realm, we all serve—some are slaves to habits, some serve principles, etc. In the spiritual realm also we are all servants. Moreover all service appears in the spiritual realm under two heads, namely, Service for God, and Service for Satan. There is no overlapping, but must appear under head or the other—'Ye cannot serve God and mammon.'

"Since all must serve and all service comes under two distinct heads a choice is necessary. 'Choose you this day whom you will serve,' says Joshua, 'but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.' If we have not chosen as Joshua, we have chosen Satan; that is, we have allowed him to become our master and if we had not wished to serve him we need not have, therefore we have chosen him.

"What is the motive of Service? In the moral and spiritual sense, we serve what or whom we love. Love, we would say then, is the motive to Service. We know that Satan loves up not, for we have tried him and know his deceit; so we turn to God. 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only Begotten Son, that whosoever should believe on Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' Again, 'He that loved us from the foundation of the world' and 'We love Him because He first loved us.' Therefore, we resolve, 'As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.'

"The first requirement of Service is to belong to God. 'Whose we are and whom we serve,' says the Scripture. 'We are bought with a price'—ransomed from the service of Satan and given the liberty of the service of Christ.

"The first requirement then is faith in God unto Salvation through Christ, and the second requirement is consecration or dedication. When Solomon dedicated the temple, he offered humble prayer and sacrifice. God requires the spirit of humility and for an offering 'That we present our bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.' How are we folks to be reasonable? It is not reasonable that we should give Him all? If He loves us, how could He be satisfied with less than our best, our all, our whole love, in return for His? Even the power to love Him is given us of God. Has the world anything so beautiful, so pure, as this Divine Love? Let us then cast away our last worldly desire, our last lust of the flesh, mind or spirit, and pray, 'Lord cleanse Thou me from secret faults.'

"Let us consider the nature of the service required of God. The Jew thought he served God when he fasted, gave alms, stood on the street corners and made long prayers, etc., to be seen of men. But the Master said: 'This people draweth night unto me with their mouth and honoreth Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me.' In your Young People's Union, you might put on very attractive programmes so that you would draw crowds and make a fine showing; but if the real spirit of Service was lacking it would not be approved of God, and sorrowfully would the Savior say, 'This people draweth nigh unto Me with their mouth and honoreth Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me.'

"Christ requires heart service, and He delights in secret service. We cannot always be in the limelight nor should, we we envy those who seem to fill more prominent places than ourselves. Love leaves no room for jealousy. 'The Lord Who seeth in secret, Himself should reward thee openly.'

"Service is made up of little things. In our efforts to do something really noble, we sometimes overlook the importance of small services. The little everyday services are what count. Through these we become fitted for larger service: 'Thou has been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things.' Some are called upon to go far away to serve God, while some are needed right where they are. All service is equally approved of God, if done in the Christ spirit. Paul's advice to his young friend, Timothy, was, 'Study to show thyself approved of God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of Truth.'

"I think, two of the most common hindrances to Service are: (1), Lack of consecration—trying to serve God and mammon; (2) belittling our God given powers. We are apt to say, 'I can't do anything.' No, we cannot do anything of ourselves—we are simply ciphers. But God is One. And with God at the right hand of one of we ciphers we make Ten. 'My strength is as the strength of ten because my heart is pure' or 'because my heart is linked up with Christ's.'

"I said, God at the right hand of one of we ciphers make 10, God with two of us makes 100. God and three of us are 1000 strong and so we multiply until we are a great power. Think what an army you young people of Omemee will make with God at you right hand. How soon you would cleanse our town and march forward, some of you, to turn the world upside down in other places. For we know our work will never cease, but will grow in the hearts of men to the end of time. The hopefulness of youth plus a pure heart knows no limitations.

"Then let us all of one accord line up with our Captain, for secret Service."

TORONTO EDITOR DIES SUDDENLY

W. J. Wilkinson of Mail and Empire, Passes Away.

VETERAN NEWSPAPER MAN.

TORONTO, September 30 (Canadian Press).—Walter J. Wilkinson, managing news editor of the Mail and Empire, and a director of the Canadian Press, was fatally seized in his home last night and died early today. A severe illness, the effect of aneurism, which Mr. Wilkinson suffered some months ago, was the cause of death. He had apparently recovered and was in good spirits while in the office last evening. Mr. Wilkinson always said he wanted to die "in harness." He was 68 years of age.

For more than fifty years he was a practical newspaperman and for the last thirty years he was news editor of the Mail and Empire. He came to Toronto after experience on the St. Thomas, Ontario, Times, where he was printer, reporter, and editor. His influence extended from coast to coast. Many Canadian editors now scattered over the Dominion and some in the United States were trained under his direction.

Besides Mrs. Wilkinson, the deceased is survived by two sons, W. N. Wilkinson, news editor of the Buffalo Times, and Charles, of Philadelphia, and one daughter, Mrs. Gladstone Ghent of Ottawa.

ACTORS PERFORM THOUGH BEREAVED

Stubblefield Quartette Loses Member But Keeps Contract.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 30.—Curious folk who have spent some of the time lately strolling about the Fair Grounds watching the preparations for Campbellford's largest fair, may noticed that all is not very well with some of the show people who are to take part in the festivities. The Stubblefield Quartette carries on its contract under the weight of the deepest sorrow. One of their number, Max A. Elliot, after an illness extending over a period of several months, but with which he was only confined to his bed for the past six weeks, will be laid to rest in Saranac, N.Y., on Monday, October 3. Immediately after the performance today the quartette will leave for New York to attend the funeral, which will be conducted by the National Association of Vaudeville Artists, of which the late Mr. Elliot was a member.

Mr. Elliot was for some years manager for the Keith Theatre Company, a member of the Actors' Association, was a man possessing remarkably charming personality which made friendships for him wherever he went. Some years ago he married the daughter of Mr. George Stubblefield, and allied himself with the troupe which travels under that name.

But the quartette is of the true blood of all actors. They will put on their performance to-day with the usual smile and apparent carefree air. The public will never know by their actions that their hearts are all but broken over the first break in their family. The aerial acrobatics will thrill the crowds, and George Stubblefield's little grand-daughter will be as light and graceful when she dances as she ever was.

Knowing the sorrow of these people who stick to their contracts through thick and thin, people who stand in wonder at their feats of skill and daring, will surely experience a thrill of admiration for something more than the cleverness of their acts.

AVIATOR'S BODY SEEN.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., September 30 (Canadian Press).—Little importance is attached by Magistrate Power, of Bell Isand, to the story told by two men that they had seen the body of a man with a cap resembling the headgear worn by airmen, floating in the water of Conception Bay. According to them they were crossing from Carbonear, when they came across the body in an upright position, the arms extended and the legs bent. The motion of the waves sank the body, dislodging the cap, which also disappeared after attempts had been made to secure it with a boat-hook.

The men, however, seemed convinced that they were not mistaken.

Among the oldest families of England are twenty who have direct descent from the Norman conquest in 1066. Thirty-five families have ancestors who came over with William the Conqueror.

WILD RICE HARVEST.

HASTINGS, Sept. 29.—The sound of threshing machines can be heard from every locality, as the farmers are finishing the last operation of their harvest, but not far distant from these machines, there is other harvesting being done with much less noise, and of as great an importance, if not greater, than the harvesting of grain. Rice Lake and the Trent river are noted for the abundance of bass and pickerel in their waters, but this is not all they hold in store for man's food. To look over the waters along the marshes one would notice a thick mass of vegetation, which to many passes as a weed bed. This vegetation, however, is the rice bed from which the Indians derive their food for winter.

To the uninitiated, rice gathering by the Indians is quite a novelty, although practised by the Indians for centuries, not for novelty's sake, but for the replenishing of their larder. As a food the wild rice is unexcelled, not only to the Indian, but to the white people as well, who have accustomed themselves to the cooking and serving of this food.

Rice lake, at one time, was the scene of busiest activity in the gathering of the wild rice, but owing to the change in the depth of water conditions, the rice has moved its home to more congenial waters in the Trent river below Hastings.

During the last few days I have witnessed the same scenes that took place in Rice lake many years ago.

I watched twenty-five pairs of Indians in their canoes threshing the much prized rice from the stalks into their canoes.

Threshing is done from canoes by two persons, namely, the Indian and his wife. The former, with a long pointed stick bends the rice stalks over the side of the canoe while the latter threshes the grain from the stalks with two slender sticks into the canoe. This is only the first operation, of the curing of the rice before it is fit for food.

The rice is then placed in large cooler, which have a slow fire beneath it. The women stand before these coolers stirring the rice, so as to make the husk brittle enough to be removed by the next operation.

The rice is then placed in large wooden mortars, like a huge bowl. This mortar is large enough for two Indians to get into with both feet, not bare-footed, but booted with high boots to tramp off the husk.

Then, large bark dishes, which are very shallow, come into play.

The Indian women stand in the wind and pour the rice from one dish to another to winnow off the chaff. The rice is now ready for use.

These Indian harvesters, which I have witnessed, have become movie actors and movie actresses, unconsciously, for along the shore of the Trent river, were cameras taking several reels of these people in pursuit of their daily occupation, gathering the wild rice.

WINDSOR CHIEF SUSPENDED AT OWN REQUEST

INVESTIGATION OCT. 6.

Police Commission Fixes Date When It Accepts Chief's Temporary Resignation.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 30.— Chief of Police Daniel Thompson, "stormy petrel" in Windsor's civic gambling and liquor upheaval investigation, and against whom serious charges were preferred by Alderman Clyde Curry at the last meeting of the City Council, is no longer in charge of his department. He was relieved of his duties at his own request yesterday afternoon with in a few minutes after Alderman Curry had presented to the Police Commission what he asserted was indisputable evidence that the chief had been guilty of misappropriating funds entrusted to his care.

The alderman charged, in writing, that certain cheques sent in by advertisers and business men who subscribed for space in a convention programme gotten up at the time of the convention of International Police Chiefs, in Windsor, in June last, were not deposited in the bank to the credit of the police convention expense account, but had been cashed by Chief Thompson personally some days after the convention ended.

The month following the convention Sergeant James Wilkinson undertook to collect from advertisers, but found in some instances that cheques had been mailed to Chief Thompson the previous month, reads the alderman's charge.

The document concludes: "I hereby charge that on my investigation of the card index system of the police convention account that the cheques above mentioned are not accounted for and that Chief of Police Daniel Thompson kept the money for his own private gain." Curry adds that he is making the charge in writing so he can prove his contention that Chief Thompson should be suspended from duty.

Asks To Be Relieved.

Almost immediately after the charges had been read to the Police Commission, Chief Thompson handed a letter to County Judge John J. Coughlin, chairman of the Commission asking that he be relieved of his duties until the investigation of the charges against him had been completed. The Commission retired, and after a bref conference announced that Thompson had been suspended and that Inspector Mortimer Wigle would be in charge of the department until further notice. The resolution of suspension fixed October 6 as the date for holding the investigation.

There was a tense moment in the Council Chamber when Alderman Curry arose to prefer his formal charges against the Chief, speaking from memoranda which he held in his hand.

Curry declared that between $11,000 and $12,000 had been raised for entertainment purposes by the sale of space in the official programme of the convention, and that he could show that Thompson himself cashed some of the cheques received from advertisers and kept the money.

"These cheques were not accounted for," he said, "and the Chief kept the money himself."

He exhibited one cheque which he said had been cashed by Thompson at a Windsor hotel, and demanded that the Chief be suspended.

Chief Thompson, who was present, sprang to his own defence. "I have consulted my attorney, John H. Rodd. I handled none of the convention funds. The cheques came to me and were turned over by me to Superintendent James H. Wilkinson, head of the Identification Bureau, who had charge of the entertainment. I paid none of the bills and handled none of the money," he declared. "My hands are just as clean as they were when the investigation started, and I am prepared to prove that statement."

Sergeant Wilkinson was not at the meeting. He said later that he had expended about $11,000 for entertainment purposes and had a balance of about $1,000.

GOVERNOR ENDS MOUNTAIN VISIT

Lord and Lady Willingdon Leave Jaspar Park For Edmonton.

HEARTY SEND-OFF.

JASPER PARK, Alta., Sept. 30.— Their excellencies, the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon left Jasper for Edmonton yesterday evening on their special train.

Their final tribute to the famous golf course at Jasper Park Lodge was playing until almost the last moment and having the cars which took them to the station pick them up at the caddy house.

"I have had a splendid time", said His Excellency as he stepped on the train, "I played too much golf." Lady Willingdon was equally enthusiastic about Jasper, and, in fact, everyone agreed that the eight days had been nothing but pleasure.

The trip to Maligne Lake, where a night was spent at Brewster's Chalet, the drive to Mount Edith Cavell, and the Ghost Glacier and the fishing expedition to Caledonia Lake, were outstanding events in the all too short stay at the Lodge, as one member of the party put it, and the quiet and the beauty of the surrounding mountains stood as a never changing background, while golf was well woven into the scheme of things. Before leaving the Lodge, where they stayed in picturesque pine lodge cabins and where nothing was spared to make them comfortable. Their Excellencies presented the manager, John O'Brien, with handsome autographed portraits of themselves as a mark of appreciation, and gave Mrs. O'Brien a beautiful brooch.

The Vice Regal party was given a hearty send off at the station in the village of Jasper. Fifty or more youngsters, girl guides, brownies, scouts, and cubs, mustered on the platform, in the cars of Rev. Harold Edwards, Mrs. Edwards, and Mrs. W. C. Aynes Ley, and were reviewed by their Excellencies. The Governor-General and Lady Willingdon were both very much interested and expressed the opinion that the turnout was exceptionally good, especially as the children had been organized but a very short while. They are all this season's products and the young Cubs have not been organized a week, as Mrs. Edwards explained. The wolf howl and the various salutes were demonstrated and the send off culminated in three cheers Lord and Lady Hardinge, the Hon. Ruby Hardinge, Capt. the Hon. Inigo Freeman-Thomas and the Hon. Mrs. Freeman-Thomas were spending another night at the Lodge and left in the morning for Victoria where they will spend a short holiday. Mrs. R. E. Osborne, Capt. the Hon. J. Jarvis, and Capt. E. C. Melville left with their Excellencies.

JOHN FORD DIES ALONE IN HOUSE

dependently Wealthy, Found By Son.

POST MORTEM ORDERED.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 30.—A victim of heart failure that had troubled him for weeks, John Ford, wealthy real estate operator and brother of Henry Ford, died alone in an unoccupied cottage in Fordson on Tuesday night.

The body, lying on a bed left in the cottage by its last tenant, was found yesterday morning by Fordson police and Robert W. Ford, a son, who began search when Mr. Ford failed to return to his home from a meeting of the Fordson City Council, of which he was president.

The cottage, recently purchased by Mr. Ford, is but a few squares from the Ford homestead, and it is believed Mr. Ford went to the place to inspect it, when he was stricken.

Pending the formality of a post-mortem examination, the body was held in an undertaking establishment in Dearborn. It later will be removed to the Ford home, where funeral services are to be held Friday, with burial in Grand Lawn Cemetery, not far from the spot where William and Mary Litegot Ford settled when they came to the United States from Ireland, and where Henry and William Ford were born.

Mr. Ford has been prominently identified with state and civic affairs. As a partner in a local real estate firm and an officer of two banks, he became wealthy.

Besides his brothers, Henry and William Ford, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Ruddiman, he is survived by his widow and three children.

C.N.R. EARNINGS.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways, including the Central Vermont Railway, but excluding all lines in Canada east of Levis and Diamond Junction, for the week ending September 7, 1927, were $4,863,168.00, as compared with $4,652,464.26 for the same week of 1926, an increase of $210,703.74, or five per cent.

In India, rickets are more prevalent among high caste Hindu children who are kept indoors than among the lower classes.

MISSION STAFF WELL TRAINED

Food Chemist, Surgeon, Kindergarten Teacher and Nurse Sailing.

FOR CENTRAL AFRICA.

By R. P. STOUFFER.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—(Special).—Before sailing from Montreal today to do missionary work in Africa among "the backward races," United Church workers have had special preparation. No longer is the cartoon showing the bespectacled chap with the umbrella quite the way to represent the Christian missionary. Neither is the African to be shown with spears, a smile of anticipation and a cannibalistic pot boiling. It might almost be said that the tamed and governed African is altogether too mild. As for the missionary, he is a specialist.

The University of Toronto laboratories have helped equip the outgoing missionaries with exact knowledge along lines which should mean a substantial help in making the Africans self-supporting and self-reliant. University of Michigan, Ontario's Normal schools and various hospitals have also provided special training for some of these new missionaries. The United Church Training School for Women, Toronto, and various arts and theological colleges have also helped equip the outgoing evangelists and teachers.

There are eight of them, some sailing today and others already at Lisbon, Portugal, to take courses in the Portuguese language, as the field is in a Portuguese colony, Angola, in Central Africa.

Dr. W. E. Strangway, surgeon; Mrs. Strangway, food chemist; Rev. R. B. Harrison, B.A., evangelist; his wife, teacher; Miss A. E. Bradley, kindergarten teacher; Miss K. M. Rutherford, B.A., teacher; Miss Edith A. Brown, R.N., public health nurse and teacher; Miss M. Howse, B.A., teacher and evangelist—all are specially equipped as well as qualified by general education.

From Northern Ontario.

Miss Bradley, of Haileybury, has developed manual training and community singing in the localities where she has taught school in Northern Ontario. She was kindergarten specialist on the staff of North Bay Normal School.

Miss Rutherford's experience as teacher in Western Canada, as well as at Fort William Collegiate, has given her great adaptability. Her work is to be at the Means' School for Girls, Dondi, Angola.

The committee of selection for the Women's Missionary Society has assumed that these qualifications will be much called on in Africa.

Besides graduating at Stratford Normal School and Harper Hospital, Detroit, Miss Brown took a course in public health work at Ann Arbor and will be able to clean-up villages as well as to assist with surgical operations.

Versatile is the word applied to Miss Millicent Howse, of Newfoundland, who has made good among many nationalities at All Peoples' Mission, Hamilton, and now goes to live among the Umbundu race in the Angola uplands.

Develop Work of Pioneers.

These eight workers are to reinforce the mission founded in 1886 by Congregationalist missionaries from Toronto and Boston. Much of the pioneering has been done and a Christian community organized in a number of tribal centres. The practice has been to induce converts and their families to move out of the unsanitary villages and lay out Christian villages on clean sites with church, school and brickyard as centres of the new life. This gives the new missionaries a constituency to develop along better lines.

The Board of Foreign Missions of the United Church has lately negotiated with the American Congregationalists an agreement which gives Canada a distinct field with several important stations and hundreds of smaller centres of Christian development. The new workers provide for expansion of activity to meet the special needs of the children of the first-generation Christians and to cultivate the whole field more intensively.

Rev. R. B. Harrison, of Lakefield, Ontario, and his wife will join the evangelistic staff. He is a Victoria College graduate.

"She seems to have convinced you," said Claire glancing at Peg's smart new Tarsal Ease oxfords.

"The shoes did," was Peg's quick answer. "They're as flexible and comfortable as the Tarsal Ease shoes I had before, but there's a new feeling of firm support. They told me at the store it is due to a new invention called the Sechler shank."

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"A re we broke, dear?" Faith asked with brave matter-of-factness when she and her husband were seated at Bob's desk in the sun parlor, which he called his "home office."

Bob laughed, a little ruefully, but she was delighted to see that his blue eyes were bright again, not dull with worry and resentment as they had been for two days.

"Not nearly so bad as that, honey. But we're in a pretty tight fix, for all that. You see, Uncle Ralph's estate has been held up, pending the settlement of some claims against it, and I haven't yet got hold of the twenty-five thousand he left me. And then, as you know, I missed out on my plans for the new public library, and one or two other things I've been working on—"

"The Lytton place, for instance," Faith interrupted. "I wish you'd let me tell you all about that Bob, what I said to Peggy Lytton and—why." She laid a hand on his arm and her brown eye pleaded with him.

"All right, if it will make you feel better," Bob agreed. "But I'm willing to grant that anything you did was right. I don't know what made me act so beastly to you."

"Don't apologize any more, darling!" she begged, a catch in her voice. Then she told him the whole story of Peggy Lytton's desperate unhappiness with her husband; of Fred Lytton's trickery, of his cruelty in regard to Peggy's illegitimate baby, whom he had agreed to adopt.

"I forgot everything but that Peggy was my friend and that she was desperate. Do you see, darling?" she pleaded.

"Of course. You were right. I haven't yet gone in for designing jails. But that's all in the past—the Lytton business. If he says anything else about you to me, I'll knock him down. But let's forget it all. Now, here's how we stand—"

And he jotted down figures rapidly, explaining them in technical business terms which bewildered her at times, but the import of which she grasped fairly well.

"What it means, dear, is that we may have to live largely on credit, to be charged against my share of Uncle Ralph's estate, until things straighten out," he summed up. "I think I can sell that lot of mine two blocks from this place on Serenity Boulevard, but I hate to sacrifice it, and there's not much doing right now in real estate—"

"Don't sell it," she begged. "We'll manage somehow. I'm going to economize here at home, and maybe there are ways you can retrench at the office. Couldn't you sublet that little office of your suite, to an accountant or someone like that? You aren't using it, now that you're not employing a draftsman—"

"Good idea!" Bob looked at her with new respect. "I believe you've got a head for business. I ought to have taken you into partnership long ago. I should be able to get thirty-five or forty dollars a month for that office—"

"And Cherry isn't very busy with your work. Maybe the tenant of the little office could give her part-time work, to help you pay her salary," Faith suggested eagerly, her fingers stroking Bob's hand that held the pencil.

As if unconscious of the movement, Bob drew his hand away, and frowned. "I don't know about that," he said slowly, avoiding her eyes. "Cherry would feel insulted to be farmed out that way, and—there'd surely be trouble—whether the man was married or not. I don't want any more scandal, and no man can resist falling in love with the little devil—" He flushed suddenly, darkly.

"NO man?" Faith echoed significantly, with an attempt at lightness, but her heart was heavy.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JUMPING JILL.

(Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along the path, calling and waving his paws. The rabbit gentleman was much excited and no wonder. For he was trying to save Um, the little wooden mother of the Wogglejigs, and Um was being carried off by the wind, which was puffing under Um's umbrella.

"Come down, Um! Don't sail so high!" called the rabbit uncle, hopping faster as the wind blew the little wooden woman and her umbrella along more rapidly. "Come down!"

"I can't!" Um answered, and her voice sounded faint and far away. And with good reason, for the wind had blown her almost as high as the tops of the tallest trees. "My umbrella won't let me come down," she added.

This was enough, for the wind, puffing upward under the umbrella, made it almost like a sailing balloon.

"The mousie girl was right!" sighed Uncle Wiggily as he raced along beneath the floating wooden woman. "No one without hands should have an open umbrella tied to them!" This is what happened to Um.

As I told you in the story last night, she went in the eleven- and twelve-cent store to buy a pink umbrella, not because of any rain, but because Um liked to be stylish. And, having no hands to hoist the umbrella, she asked Uncle Wiggily, who was passing, to hoist it for her. This the rabbit gentleman did, and he also tied the handle of the umbrella to Um around her waist by a piece of string. Then Um, like Tom the Piper's son, went down the street with her umbrella tied fast to her, shading her wooden head from the sun. Then came a big puff of wind.

"And I guess it's the last of Um!" said Uncle Wiggily sadly.

Still the rabbit gentleman was brave and he would not desert, or leave Um to her fate, as they say in story books. No, he ran after her, trying to think of some way of getting her down.

But the umbrella was rather large, and Um was made of light wood, and the wind was strong, so on she sailed faster and faster. Uncle Wiggily was getting quite out of breath chasing after her when, all of a sudden, the rabbit gentleman heard a voice behind him asking:

"What's the matter?"

"Oh, Um and her umbrella, which is tied fast to her, is being blown away," answered the bunny uncle.

"Why doesn't she untie the umbrella, fold it up and let herself drift down?" asked the voice.

"Because Um has no hands with which to loosen the string I tied around her umbrella handle and herself," the rabbit answered. "If she was a Wogglejig now—but, oh, Mr. Jumping Jack!" suddenly cried Uncle Wiggily as he saw who was speaking, "can't you leap up and cut Um's umbrella loose from her so she can get down? Can't you?"

"I'm not Jumping Jack, as it happens," was the answer.

"Well, you are jumping," said the rabbit, for the little creature keeping pace with him was certainly jumping up in the air every other moment. "And you look like Jack."

"I am Jack's sister, Jill," was the reply, "and though I am not as good a jumper as my brother, I'll do the best to get Um down for you. Just a moment now until I untangle my jumping rope."

Uncle Wiggily noticed that Jumping Jill had a skipping rope coiled on her arm. She shook out the coils and the rabbit was wondering what she was going to do when, all of a sudden, along came rolling Boppy, the little wooden husband of Um, and some of the Wogglejig children.

"What is this dreadful thing I hear about my wife?" cried Boppy. "Some one said she was a high flier."

"Look for yourself," answered Uncle Wiggily, pointing upward. And when Boppy and the Wogglejigs saw poor Um sailing away from them they felt very sad, indeed. But by this time Jumping Jill was ready. She gave Uncle Wiggily one end of her long skipping rope to hold. Holding the other end herself, Jill leaped as high as she could, close to the sailing Um and her umbrella. The rope was coiled about the wooden woman and then as Jill came down she cried: "Pull! Pull!"

Uncle Wiggily pulled and then, as the wind blew less hard, he was able to get Um back to earth without any harm resulting, except that the umbrella had one of its ribs broken.

"I guess I had better not try to be stylish and carry an umbrella tied to me that I can't loosen," said Um as they took it off her. And Boppy said she had the right idea.

Uncle Wiggily was getting out of breath.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

A removable instep strap is the only ornament of the satin slipper shown above. In the center is a slipper of gold leather stamped to resemble fish scales. Below is a slipper of brocade with gold leather strap and a jeweled button.

They say that Cinderella never did wear a glass slipper but one of fur. The misunderstanding all arose because of the similarity of the French word "verre," meaning glass and the word "vair" used by heralds to indicate fur, originally nothing more nor less than gray and white squirrel. And no doubt Cinderella looked just as charming in the eyes of her prince and danced just as gracefully in slippers of squirrel fur as she would have had she really worn glass slippers.

Still, most of us prefer to think of Cinderella's slipper as made of glass. And we would not have much trouble in convincing ourselves that some of the present-day slippers are made of pearls, or at least mother of pearl. It is only on close inspection that the lovely iridescent surface proves to be of kid, after all.

One reason that these pearl kid slippers continue to be so much in demand for evening wear is that they may be worn with frocks of many different colors.

It is a matter of convenience as well as of economy to have a pair of evening slippers that may be worn with a white frock or a green frock, a blue frock or one of rose color.

Metal brocade or metal-colored kid slippers have the same advantage, for the precious metals go with any color. Some of the newest of these show a mingling of gold and silver. One of the smartest of the new evening slippers is made of gold and silver brocade, with heel and strap of silver kid. Many women, however, follow the fashion of wearing colored satin slippers to match the frock. These are usually trimmed with rhinestones.

...LISH HOTELS MAY BAN TIPS

...posal To Add Fixed Percentage To Bills For Service.

CONSIDERED SERIOUSLY.

LONDON, Sept. 30 (Canadian Press).—A proposal to discontinue the tipping system in English hotels and to substitute for it an addition to the bills of a fixed percentage for service may shortly come before the Council of the Hotels and Restaurants Association. A change of this kind has been discussed on more than one occasion by the Council, but the balance of opinion has so far been against the adoption of a plan which is now in general operation on the Continent. If, as intended, the suggestion is again put forward, it will be considered seriously with a view to deciding which is the more suitable procedure, tipping or a tax of 10 per cent. on the customer's account.

Plan on Continent

Letters published in the correspondence columns of The Times have indicated that the plan works reasonably well on the Continent, and that where the service charge is added to the bill the staff is content. The money collected from guests is shared among a much wider range of servants than would in the ordinary way receive gratuities, though the proportion which reaches the more humble members of the staff may be a very small one in comparison with that taken by the head waiter or concierge. The system has spread to the small towns and villages from the large resorts, and it is in force even in Corsica. A visitor to that island this year recalls that at one rather primitive inn, where the proprietor himself acted as porter, cook, waiter, and bedroom attendant, the bill, when presented, included the standard 10 per cent. charge for service.

English hotel proprietors and managers, while conceding that the system may be admirably suited to some countries, have so far held the opinion that it would not be satisfactory here. The view was expressed recently that the 10 per cent. addition would be an extra tax on visitors, as the majority would continue to bestow tips on waiters and other members of the staff who had rendered special service. "The people behind the scenes in our hotels and restaurants," it was stated by one prominently associated with the industry, "are properly looked after by their employers. They get higher wages than the servants in personal contact with guests who expect and receive tips. The present system enables guests to discriminate in the distribution of gratuities. One waiter may be three times as efficient and helpful as another, and many people like to recognize special attention when it is forthcoming. With the 10 per cent addition to the bill, visitors would be making contributions to people they never see and know nothing about."

Solution of Problem

Notwithstanding the reluctance of the English proprietors to abolish tipping in favor of the tax, it is probable that many people using hotels and restaurants would welcome a system which would relieve them of the responsibility of deciding which servants should be tipped and on what scale the gratuities should be given. Proprietors themselves admit that, in the case of a stay of only one or two days in a hotel, the tax would solve a problem which is sometimes difficult, but it is doubtful whether as a body they can at present be persuaded to sanction any general adoption of what is regarded as an experiment, the value of which on the Continent has to be judged after fuller experience than has yet been gained.

TAKES TRIBE 600 MILES AFTER FUR

Peace River Trader Leads Long Trek in Mid-Winter.

EDMONTON, Sept. 30 (By The Canadian Press).—Joe L'Hirondelle, a trader in the lower Peace country, took an entire tribe of Indians on a 600-mile trip through unknown territory, when the trader and the band were faced with ruin as a result of the scarcity of fur, according to advices just received from the north.

In debt to local wholesalers for a large sum, and the winter half over, L'Hirondelle knew he was a ruined man unless he could get some fur. He came to the city and asked for additional accommodation, offering to take the whole band who lived in the post area to another hunting ground. The trader's plea was granted.

Looking to L'Hirondelle to lead them to some place where fur was to be had, men, women and children, with pack horses and toboggans, followed the trapper through blinding blizzards and over territory in the vast, wild country unknown to them.

Undismayed they pushed doggedly on, buoyed up by a blind belief in the trader, and heedless of the words of Indians of other tribes they met on their way, that they were mad; they would be lost; they would die of starvation; they were going into a country of which nothing was known. Such were the replies they received from those they asked for help.

This spring word came from L'Hirondelle that he was on his way back to the post, loaded down with fur.

When the fur was disposed of it was found that the trader had a comfortable balance remaining after his creditors had been satisfied. L'Hirondelle then revealed now he had led his tribe 600 miles to the northwest, away up into the little known country of the upper Liard.

SCENIC LOOP ALONG CANAL

Hon. Mr. Henry Impressed With Possibilities of the Welland Route.

MAGNIFICENT DRIVE.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 30 (Canadian Press).—After visiting the Welland Canal with the delegates to the Good Roads Convention concluded at Niagara Falls, Hon. George S. Henry, Ontario Minister of Highways, last night stated his conviction that the Niagara district should have a big loop scenic driveway.

"While going over the Canal this afternoon your chief engineer, Mr. Grant, told me that with the completion of the Canal there would be a roadway from Port Weller to Port Colborne, and with this I see a vision of a great scenic driveway for the district," Hon. Mr. Henry said. "We now have the Niagara River Boulevard practically completed, and by joining up the ends to the Port Weller-Port Colborne Canal roadway, we would have a veritable scenic highway that would open to motorists the magnificence of this gigantic undertaking which we have witnessed this afternoon. We shall give the matter very careful consideration. I am very much impressed with the idea."

Mr. Henry was also greatly impressed with the Canal. "I had no idea it was so far advanced and that the lower section of it would be ready for navigation in 1929. It is certainly a massive work."

DEANERY W. A. MEETING HELD

Ladies Gather in St. John's Church, Havelock, For Service.

HEAR REPORTS.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough W. A. Deanery was held at Havelock on Thursday, September 29. Service of Holy Communion was held at 11, beginning with the hymn, 'When I Survey the Wondrous Cross.' The Rev. T. H. Stanley, rector of St. John's, Havelock, was the celebrant, assisted by the Rev. J. G. Bousfield of St. Luke's, Peterborough.

A short address was given by the rector, based on the words of the 10th verse of the 4th chapter of the 1st Epistle general of St. Peter. There were about 70 communicants. The afternoon session opened with the hymn, "For My Sake and the Gospel's, Go." The chair was occupied by Miss Denne, the retiring Deanery officer. The minutes of the June, 1926, meeting were read by Mrs. Evans, of St. John's, secretary.

Reports of the branches were read, showing in most cases much progress. The Deanery officer's report followed. Miss Rapson, a missionary on furlough from China, then gave some account of the work which, owing to the vastness of territory and the ravages of civil war, was very hard to describe.

She emphasized the acute suffering of "trees, land, animals and people, the latter so bound with superstition and yet having a sense of humor."

The chair was then taken by Miss Summerhayes, Diocesan secretary, in order that a new Deanery officer could be appointed. There were several nominations, but nothing definite was decided.

The question of a place of meeting in 1928 was then discussed. Mrs. Archer, on behalf of the Campbellford branch, extended an invitation which was accepted.

Miss Summerhayes' address was as usual full of interest. She spoke of the past and future of the W.A. Two elements were necessary, vision and a call. The work of the W.A. founded on prayer is a great spiritual force in the Church.

A very hearty vote of thanks was tendered Miss Summerhayes and Miss Rapson by Mrs. Vance, and Mrs. Archer voiced the wishes of the meeting by thanking the Havelock ladies for their kind hospitality.

C.P.O.S. BUILDING FIVE CARGO SHIPS

Frist One Launched in Scottish Shipyard On Tuesday.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 30.—(Special).—The first of the new fleet of cargo steamers, five in number, that are being built for the Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited, was launched on Tuesday from the yards of Denny Brothers, Dumbarton, Scotland, according to a cable received at Canadian Pacific headquarters here. She is the S.S. Beaverburn of 12,500 deadweight tonnage and will travel from Montreal in summer and St. John in winter to London and Antwerp.

The vessel was christened by Mrs. E. R. Peacock, wife of one of the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in the presence of a notable gathering among whom were Sir George McLaren Brown, European manager of the C.P.R. and Capt. James Gillies, C.B.E. general manager in Great Britain of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited.

The Beaverburn is a very high-class type of freight ship with a speed up to fifteen knots and with a capacity of 80,000 cubic feet of refrigerator space specially designed for the carriage of perishable goods such as Canadian bacon, eggs, cheese, fruit, etc., for the London market. She is exactly typical of the four other boats which are being launched at various dates up to Nov. 10 next from the Denny yards at Dumbarton. They are the Beaverdale, the Beaverford, the Beaverbrae, and the Beaverhill, all of which will be placed on the Canada-England run with calls at Antwerp, Havre and Hamburg also.

S.S. Beaverburn will make her initial trip December 10th when she will sail from Glasgow to Saint John, N.B., returning to London December 24. Thereafter her runs will be on the regular route.

Construction of these cargo ships has followed approval of the annual directors' report for the year 1925 which proposed such construction. This report also covered construction of two passenger vessels of around 20,000 tons burden each the first of which will be launched around November 23 next from the yards of Beardmore and Company of Dalmuir, Scotland. The second is scheduled to be launched about the end of January. The ships are described as super one-class cabin vessels and will be a very handsome addition to the Canadian Pacific passenger fleet. They are to be named the "Duchess of Atholl" and the "Duchess of Edford" respectively. Construction of these cargo and passenger ships is proof of the growth of the Canadian Pacific fleet due to the intensive efforts of many years to provide the best possible accommodation by the company.

The death penalty for animals was common in Holland long ago. In 1476, a cat was hanged at Longueville for biting an infant to death. A steer was put to death in 1571 for goring a woman near Meddlebourg.

MILLION HOUSES BUILT IN BRITAIN

No Other Country Has Made Such Progress Since the War.

SUBSIDIES REDUCED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—One million houses have been built in England since the Armistice, Sir Kingsley Wood declared yesterday in a review of the housing situation in London, according to a despatch by a local wireless station.

Three hundred and fifty thousand of these homes were built without Government subsidy, Sir Kingsley Wood, who is parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of Health, declared, calling the achievement without precedent.

"No other country has made such progress", he said. "No other country has expended such vast sums for the benefit of the homeless, and the badly housed. It is a world record. It is the greatest social contribution which has been made in this country since the war. One of the best features of the situation is that we are more and more becoming a nation of house owners instead of merely house renters."

Sir Kingsley was opening the thousandth house in Bilston, Staffordshire, recently erected in connection with the Government's financial encouragement of house-building by the granting of subsidies.

Of the million houses built, Sir Kingsley said, some 600,000 had been built by private builders who had received subsidies and 350,000 had been built without subsidies, mainly for workers. In connection with the Ministry's building campaign, he said one of the most hopeful signs was the reduction in building prices. Since the announcement was made that from the first of October the subsidy would be lowered by an average of £25 per house there had been an actual reduction of £36 in the cost of a house containing a parlor and a reduction of £37 in the cost of a house without a parlor.

SILK FROM CORN TO BE USED SOON

Billion Pounds a Year To Be Produced—Other Uses.

TORONTO, Sept. 30 (Canadian Press).—Women, who are the buyers of most of the silken things on the market, will be interested to hear that from the once useless corn-stalk, a movement is now on foot to manufacture a silky fibre suitable for the making of hosiery and fabrics. Dr. O. P. Sweeney, chief chemist of Iowa State College says that at some future time a billion pounds of silky fibre manufactured from corn-stalks will be used annually and men and women will wear clothing of a silky cloth made from that fibre.

"There are enough corn-stalks wasted every year to make 'silk' stockings as cheap as gunny sacking and to duplicate every silk dress in all the world," says another authority. But "silk," it was asserted, was not the only product to be derived from corn-stalks. They were to furnish material for the manufacture of lumber substitutes, such as insulated board and sheathing. From them also would be obtained paper of some kind. They would also yield, it was predicted, a supply of acetic acid that would be employed in the manufacture of high explosives. From them would be obtained alcohol for the generation of power and for other industrial uses, "horn" for rims for spectacles and for other purposes, varnish and lacquers.

Cave Awarded Medals At Royal Golf Club

ST. ANDREW'S, Scotland, September 30 (Canadian Press Cable)). — It required two meetings of the Greens Committee to decide the winner of the play-off between A. Cave and V. Pollock, for the King William the Fourth and the Club gold medals, at the Royal and Ancient Golf Club yesterday.

The two players finished Wednesday's round with 80 each, and at the conclusion of yesterday's round, Cave returned a 79, while Pollock turned in an 80. There was much dispute, however, when Cave, in extricating his ball from a heap of road material at the much-dreaded "roadhole seventeenth," had grounded his club. The Greens Committee were asked to decide whether a penalty of two strokes should be inflicted upon Cave. This meeting, despite a thorough discussion of the situation, proved abortive. Norman Boase, chairman of the Championship Committee, was then called in, and with his assistance the Greens Committee arrived at the decision that the road material constituted the back of the bunker, and that no penalty was involved when a player grounded his club. Cave was, therefore, awarded the medals.

FAMILY OCCUPIES BLOCK OF 11 FARMS

Norse Journalist and Ten Sons Take Up Homesteads.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30 (By The Canadian Press).—P. N. Loberg, 62-year-old ex-journalist of Tronhgen, Norway, brought his family of ten sons and three daughters to this country in 1913. Recently he acquired a huge block of land, 1,760 acres in extent, located south of Valhalla and northwest of Wembley and Grand Prairie, Alta., and consisting of eleven farms.

The ten sons and the father each settled on a farm, marking the first time that a single family of settlers have occupied such a number of farms.

Swat King Clouts Two Homers to Tie 1921 Record

...H HOPES ESTABLISH A NEW MARK

...wo More Days Left in League Campaign.

IN 152ND GAME.

...en Great Ovation By Fans at Equalling Own Record.

NEW YORK, September 30. Canadian Press. — Carrying on a furious September finish, Babe Ruth yesterday knocked out two mammoth home runs to tie his great record of 59 accomplished in 1921.

The mighty slugger of the New York Yankees stands on the brink of establishing a new ma...k as he has two more days left in the campaign.

The king of swat is one run in advance of his output in 1921, for it at that time No. 59 fell during the Yanks. 153rd game, while this was New York's 152nd.

Horce Lisenbe of the Senators was the victim of Babe's first rap yesterday which came in the first innings with the sacks empty. In the fifth Paul Ropkins, a young pitcher who just poined the Washington club, received a baptism of fire when Ruth drove out No. 59 with the bases full. That gave Ruth three homers in the last two games, two of which dropped with the sacks loaded.

Some 5000 fans rejoiced with Ruth and gaev him a great ovation when he equalled his former standard.

Great Month.

This has been the greatest month in Ruth's home run career, with 15 thus far. His best previous monthly assortment was 13 in June 1921.

The first three months of the current season found Ruth and Lou Gehrig deadlocked with 25 apiece, Early in the present month they were running neck and neck when Gehrig slipped a homer in Boston. That was on labor day and tied the sluggers at 45. Then Ruth started slopping out aut Ruth has hit 14, while Gehrig made but one.

The standing:

Yankees'	Games Played	Homers.
Ruth 1921	152	59
Ruth 1927	152	59
Gehrig 1927	152	46

Wins Slugging Affair.

The Yankees won a hard slugging affair from the Senators yesterday batting out 18 hits including two homers and a triple by Babe Ruth for a 15 to 4 decision. Ruth's second circuit swat came in the fifth inning with the bases full off Pitcher aul Hopkins Washington rookie, and tied the Bambino's own mark of 59 homers achieved in 1921. Ruth made his first homer off Lisenbe in the first inning with none on base. He hit a triple with one on base in the second inning.

The Philadelphia Athletic started their last home series of the season by losing to the Boston Red Sox by a score of 6 to 1. Pitcher Jack Bradley, a recruit from the Eastern League, held the Mackmen to five hits, while the Red Sox hammered Guy Contrell, former Oriole, for 14 safeties that included three triples.

Double headers at St. Louis and Chicago were washed out.

NEED ONE GAME TO WIN BANNER

Pirates Stand Chance of Winning To-day By Victory Over Reds.

3 GAMES TO PLAY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(Canadian Press.)—The Pirates were practically shoved into the National League championship yesterday without a struggle, as the St. Louis Cardinals were cut down by the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 to diminish the St. Louis' flag possibility to the event of a tie. The idle Corsairs assumed a lead of two and one half games on first place, while the Cardinals defended the second rung by half a game against the New York Giants, who were also without schedule.

The standing:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.	To Play
Pittsburgh	93	58	.616	3
St. Louis	91	61	.599	2
New York	90	61	.596	3

The Corsairs stand a chance of definitely capturing the bunting today by a victory over the Reds. All Pittsburgh needs to take the banner triumph is one game. If the Buccaneers drop the three games and the Cards and Giants sweep all their encounters, the clubs will be tangled in a triple tie with the standing as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Average.
Pittsburgh	93	61	.604
St. Louis	93	61	.604
New York	93	61	.604

The Reds almost sank the Cardinals' pennant hopes in a mud and water fracas amid the cheers of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who formed a large part of the crowd, at Cincinnati. The Reds bunched four of their five hits in the fourth inning off Frank House, who tasted his first defeat in a Cardinal uniform, and with the helping hand of one error, scored the three runs that meant victory.

Snider and Maranville singled and Snider scored on an infield out for the Cards' first score in the fifth, while Frisch hit a homer in the sixth inning for the second St. Louis score.

Jakie May allowed St. Louis eight hits but kept them well scattered. The infield was mud, while the outfielders navigated around small lakes created by the day and a half of almost incessant rain. Under normal season circumstances, the game would have been postponed.

Philadelphia won an easy 7 to 1 victory over Boston in the first game of the series at Boston. Ray Miller, young pitcher from Syracuse, keeping hits well scattered.

TORONTO, Ont., September 29 (Canadian Press). — Miss Ada Mackenzie, the title holder, and Mrs. E. W. Whittington, both of Toronto, will meet in the final for the Canadian ladies' closed golf championship to-morrow. Miss Mackenzie defeated Miss Helen Paget, of Ottawa, seven and six in one semi-final to-day, while in the other Mrs. Whittington defeated Miss Maude Ross, Ottawa, three and one. Miss Mackenzie has been a finalist four times in the six years of the championships.

To-day's semi-finals were eighteen holes each. Miss Mackenzie made the turn four up, while Mrs Whittington, having a harder struggle, extended her two hole lead at the half-way mark by only one more hole. Miss Paget was the third former champion defeated by Miss Mackenzie in as many days. The match was close up to the seventh, when Miss Mackenzie broke loose and took the next six, ending the match on the twelfth green.

PHELAN CUP GAME HERE TO-MORROW

De Laval Vs. Quaker Oats at King Edward Park, at 3 O'clock.

To-morrow afternoon at three o'clock, on King Edward Park, the Quaker Oats and the De Laval will meet in the first round of the Phelan Soccer Charity Cup.

This is the first year that the Quaker Oats team has not annexed a trophy, but intend to put up a battle to-morrow so that they may participate in the final; while the new aggregation, the De Laval, are endeavouring to place an excellent eleven on the field of play, and if the players who turned out to the practice game is any criterion of their eleven, then the fans can expect a real cup tie game.

It is a number of years since Rev. Father Phelan, now of Campbellford, gave this trophy for competition. Last year's collections at these games were turned over to the St. Vincent's Orphanage and Children's Aid Society.

The Quakers' team will be as follows: W .Curtis, goal; S. Maker and H. Curtis, backs; A. Maker, Robb and Downer, halves; A. Wilson, Carmichael, Mitchell, T. Wilson, and F. Foster, forwards. Reserves, T. Williams and Horn.

Rain Again Checks Little Series Game

TOLEDO, O., September 30.—The first game of the "little world series" was again postponed yesterday when rain began about one o'clock, and fell so steadily that play was declared impossible.

Another effort will be made to play the opening game here today, but in any event the Toledo champions of the American Association will leave with the Buffalo pennant winners of the International League for Buffalo, on Friday night, to play there on Saturday and Sunday.

Australia Will Seek Davis Cup in 1928 And Send a Women's Tennis Team On Tour

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—An Australian team will complete in the Davis Cup tournament next year, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the Australian Lawn Tennis Association. It is planned also to send a woman's team to South Africa and England, returning by way of the United States.

Australia did not compete in the tourneys of 1926 and 1927, the association ruling that the expenses were too great considering the strength of the team.

In recent years Australia and New Zealand have filed separate entries, but the winners from 1907 through 1911, and in 1914 and again in 1919 were listed as Australians.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. FRANK McCOY

The Fast Way to Health

©1926 McCOY HEALTH SERVICE - LOS ANGELES - CAL.

CURING "HEART TROUBLES"

In the last three articles I have explained how heart disorders may be produced through overeating, gas pressure, chemical irritants, and reflex causes. Only a good diagnosis will determine whether one or more of these causes are responsible for producing any heart derangement from which you may be suffering. Without knowing your particular kind of trouble, it is nevertheless possible to lay down some simple rules which I am sure will prove helpful.

No matter what the possible cause may be, it is a good plan to start the treatment by thoroughly cleansing the stomach and intestines of all food material. Give the alimentary canal a chance to rest for a few days. A fast may be taken with fruit juices, or only plain water may be used. A four or five day fast will prove beneficial where the heart disorder is caused from the pressure of food, or gas from a chemical toxemia, or from reflex causes. The heart will have less work to do during this fasting period, so do not be afraid to fast because you feel weak. You will invariably feel stronger at the end of this short fast as your heart will be able to function more efficiently.

Your diet following the fast should be well regulated, both as to quality and quantity of food, as well as the selection of harmonious food combinations. Three small meals daily should be used, keeping the quantity of food to the minimum of the body's requirements. All "gassy" foods must be avoided, such as onions, garlic, and even such slightly gassy foods as turnips, and cooked cabbage must be avoided for a considerable period of time. The combinations used should be along the line of the suggestions made in my weekly health menus which appear each Saturday in this column. For a time it is best to eliminate all sugars and highly starchy foods. Whenever these are suggested in the menus, you may substitute some kind of fruit or perhaps a salad of green vegetables, or a dish or two of cooked non-starchy vegetables.

Regulated exercise is of the utmost importance in the treatment of any form of heart derangement. These exercises should consist of calisthenics taken mostly in a horizontal position while lying on the floor. In addition to these exercises, long walks should be taken each day, starting of course, with a short distance and gradually increasing the distance each day. Rest in bed is only indicated in the most acute forms of heart troubles.

I am sure the above regime will prove helpful to anyone in correcting either functional or organic heart disorders.

Questions and Answers.

Question: Mrs. S. D. S. writes: "I have been very much interested in your health talks and am asking you for advice about hay fever. My father has it so bad. Sometimes it lasts for two or three months."

Answer: The cure of hay fever depends entirely upon curing hyperacidity of the stomach. The irritation from an extra acid stomach extends to many of the mucus membranes including the nose and throat. When the gastric irritation is removed the hay fever disappears like magic. Then dust from hay or pollen from plants cannot bring on an attack.

Question: Thelma writes: "The skin of my hands and face is very red and the least cold will make it much more so. The rest of my body is white. Kindly let me know if this requires internal or external treatment or both?"

Answer: Some people have thin skin on the hands and face which allows the color of the blood to show through more than with those having a thick skin. The classical red cheeks of the Englishman illustrates this point. There is nothing harmful about having a highly colored face, and it does not indicate any special disorder.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

YOUR FATHER'S NAME

You may not win a wealth of gold,
You may not wear a kingly crown,
But when your father's gray and old,
In some wee house, in some small town,
The things that he will care about
Will not be these, though men may shout,
Will not be wealth, nor yet be fame,
But how you wore your father's name.

He's rather proud, your father is,
Of that old name he's worn so long.
He's kept it clean, that name of his,
Unstained by sin, untouched by wrong.
And then he gave to you the right
To wear that name and keep it white;
And, when you merit praise or blame,
Remember it's your father's name.,

The shame is never only yours,
Remember that forever, son.
A gray, old man the pain endures
For any evil you have done.
Aye, and his proud old heart is glad
When you're an honor to your dad;
And then remember, still the same,
Your son will bear his father's name.

MODERN WONDERS OF THE WORLD

Look backward and consider the wonders of the ancient world, the pyramids of Egypt, the hanging gardens of Babylon, the tomb of Mansolas, the temple of Diana at Ephesus, the Collosus of Rhodes, the statue of Zeus by Phydias, and the Pharos of Egypt. These were the great achievements in their time, accomplished only by great skill and labor, but they fade into insignificance before the wonders of the present day, the development of steam power, photography, the gasoline engine, electricity, the discovery of radio-activity, the phonograph, radio and wireless telegraphy.

Beginning with the development of steam power, behold the miles of railways stretched over the world, the thundering locomotive, passing from place to place. Think what the many steamships, liners and warships mean to humanity, and other developments too numerous to mention.

Now turn to photography and all it means. What an infinite variety of uses it is put to, and what talent must have been occupied to bring it to its present state of perfection.

Motion pictures are entirely dependent on photography.

It is hardly possible to comprehend what electricity means to mankind now, nor what it will mean in the future. It furnishes us with heat, light, and power, and each of these may be sub-divided into many different [illegible]. There are so many remarkable inventions that would be impossible without it.

Wireless telegraphy, radios, gasoline engines, electric motors, incandescent and arc lamps, electric furnaces, telephones, electro-magnets, induction, X-rays or Roentgen rays, electro-chemical analysis, and many others are entirely or partially dependent on the use of electricity. The world's most powerful electric locomotive is 152 feet long.

It is not difficult to realize the significance of the gasoline engine, for without it, it would be impossible to fly any distance. Aviation was at a standstill for want of a suitable motive power. This being realized, in the gasoline engine, it progressed with leaps and bounds, until now, no one ventures to limit its possibilities. This being true of the airplane, it was also true of the submarine, which was confined and limited in its use, until suitable power was obtained in the form of the gasoline engine. With the invention of this engine came automobiles, gasoline launches, and other machines driven by this motive power. Many farmers of to-day who have tractors and other machinery, driven by motor, realize the value of the gasoline engine.

The study of radio-activity is still in its infancy, yet many wonderful discoveries have been made and many different kinds of rays produced as cathode rays, Roentgen rays, and violet rays. Associated with this is radium, an element of remarkable properties from which peculiar rays are emitted. It is used to combat certain diseases and its compounds, which contain the minutest quantities, are wonderful fertilizers. Chemists declare that its possibilities are unlimited.

The phonograph and telephone might be classed together, insomuch that both recreate sound waves by means of a diaphragm, but the latter is dependent upon electricity to cause the diaphragm to vibrate. The dictaphone is a development of the phonograph.

Perhaps the most striking of the modern wonders is the radio and wireless telegraph. The realization that messages can be sent thousands of miles, with no visible means of transmission, is truly marvellous. Yet even more wonderful is the wireless telephone, by which it is possible for one to talk to a person thousands of miles off, with no wires to transmit the sound.

Look into the future! What wonders will each succeeding generation disclose? Will the modern wonders wane before future achievements, as ancient wonders fade before the present? Will the present generation discover the secrets of the past such as our forefathers did?

PLAYERS CHOSEN FOR M'GILL TEAM

Play in Exhibition Game on Saturday Against Balmy Beach.

MONTREAL, Que., September 30 (Canadian Press). — Twenty-four players have been chosen by Coach Frank Shaughnessy to carry the red and white colours of McGill into action against Balmy Beach in the exhibition game on Saturday afternoon at the new Oakwood Grounds in Toronto. The last heavy scrimmage drill was held yesterday afternoon, and after a light limbering-up practice to-day the squad will leave for the Queen City.

That every one of the twenty-four players will get plenty of chance to show his wares against stiff opposition was the promise made by Coach Shaughnessy yesterday. He is taking along practically every newcomer who has shown promise at all, and the rookies who have aspirations of figuring in the first inter-collegiate games that with Varsity in Toronto on October 8, will be given a chance to show what they can do.

Captain Jack Little heads the halfback players who are invading the Queen City. He will probably start the game along with Tremain and St. Germain, with Dalton, Downs, and Simpson in reserve. Brown, the smart St. Andrew's recruit, and Laishley, sub-quarter from last year, will alternate at the key position. Altimas and Lovering will take turns at flying wing, while Bazin and Munro will both get a chance to show what they know about the snap position.

Of the raft of linemen, the coach has whittled the inside wing material down to Spears and Littlefield, regulars on last year's team, with Carson and Sharpe starting at middle, with Fred Taylor and Munro, and McTeer in reserve. Curly Taylor and Al. Blair are the choices at outside wing, with Petch Granger, Baker and Jones also available.

Doherty and Kritzwiser, both suffering from minor injuries, are not likely to make the trip, and with Tremain uncertain to start because of a bad cold, it is likely that Dalton and Downs will have plenty of work to do. Boyd Millen is also on the injured list, and will not get into to-day's game.

Yesterday afternoon, all three squads were sent into a driving practice with the feature plays working around the onside pass which will be used for the first time in the Balmy Beach game. St. Germain and Little, the two veteran backs, seem to be the strength of Shaughnessy's aerial attack, and it is likely that these two will be on the throwing end of the majority of the plays.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

TIM McCOY IN "CALIFORNIA"

"The days of old, the days of gold, the days of '49' are illustrated in the Capitol Theatres feature picture for this week-end, "California," starring Tim McCoy, himself one of the romantic characters of the screen. One of the Peter B. Kyne stories forms the basis of the picture, which has its background in the struggles in mid-century days when the Californians were struggling to retain possession of their lands.

In April of 1846 an appeal came to the White House for help, and James K. Polk, then President of the United States, signed the petition asking for soldiers of Kearney's regiment to proceed to the aid of the battling land-holders. General Kearney, with only one hundred men, immediately set out for San Diego, where, with the aid of foreign money, the Californians were arming themselves to keep out the "Americanos." Here is where Tim McCoy, as Captain Gillespie, appears on the scene, and engages in a series of daring adventures that include a lot of thrilling stunt work. Senorita Carlotta del Rey, the lovely heroine, journeying homeward by coach, is waylaid by bandits, and is rescued by Gillespie, who falls in love with her. The story unfolds itself through a number of romantic and daring escapades on the part of the hero and his lady love, with the Indian scout, the famous Kit Carson, as a foremost figure.

AT THE REGENT.

When Gene Stratton-Porter wrote "The Magic Garden' she unknowingly followed the old precept of keeping the best for the last. Just before her death the popular authoress completed the story which later proved to be her greatest, it was also by a tragic coincidence to be her final work. J. Leo Meehan, Mrs. Porter's son-in-law has taken this remarkable book and transferred it to the screen, where as an F.B.O. production, it may be seen at the Regent Theatre next Monday when it begins a three-day run. The picture reflects the spirit of its author; it is replete with the richness of life, and reveals the depths of human nature as this great woman knew it to be. It deals with hearts and souls, and the events that happen to test man and prove him to be worthy. The cast was selected by Mr. Meehan with the greatest care in order that one would give a faithful delineation of the character that he or she was to make live on the screen. Many favorites are to be found in this gathering, among them: Margaret Morris, Raymond Keane, Phillippe de Lacey, Joyce Coad, William V. Mong, Charles Clary, Walter Wilkinson, Alfred Allen, Cesare Gravina, Paulette Duval and Hedda Hopper. Mr. Meehan wrote the adaptation and Charles Kerr the continuity.

CANADIAN WOOLLENS REPORTS PROGRESS

Surplus Still Short of Adequate Sum For Depreciation, Says President.

In the annual financial report to the shareholders, Canadian Woollens Limited make the best showing in five years, but the president states that this still left a surplus around $30,000 short of providing for adequate depreciation on plant equipment and machinery. There was a moderate increase in working capital and a more substantial increase in reserves.

Operating profit, including $850 representing rentals, amounted to $163,192, as compared with $123,043 in the preceding fiscal period ending June 30. Interest required $17,292. The sum of $43,980 was applied to redemption of preferred stock, and $5,000 to bad debt reserve, and $19,794 to loss on obsolete machinery replaced, leaving a balance of $77,125, all of which was transferred to depreciation account as usual.

Working capital was up nearly twenty thousand dollars to $794,053, while reserves were increased $147,548 to $1,044,853. Total assets amount to $4,764,405, as compared with $4,465,201.

The remarks of the president, A. O. Dawson, to shareholders are, in part, as follows:

"In view of the distressing conditions under which the woollen industry of Canada has had to labor in recent years, the period now under review makes possibly as favorable a showing as could reasonably be expected, in that the earnings have been sufficient to allow the appropriation of a larger amount for depreciation of plant and equipment, than was possible in any one year since 1921.

"Your directors are hopeful as a result of the fact recently put before the government tariff commission, in regard to the position of the mills making woollen piece goods in Canada, that at the next session of parliament such legislation will be enacted as will permit your mills earning sufficient to at least pay the shareholders a reasonable rate of interest on the money they have invested in this enterprise.

"New machinery to the value of $97,000 was installed during the year, as your directors feel that only by keeping the plant and equipment up to a high state of efficiency is any hope of final success be attained.

"During the year two small yarn spinning plants came on the market, namely, Milton Spinning Mills Limited, Milton, Ontario, and Otonabee Mills Limited, Peterborough, Ontario. These plants were close competitors of your mills, and as they were obtainable at terms which were considered favorable, they were purchased by your company. These mills for the present will be operated as separate units, but later it may be deemed advisable to incorporate them with Canadian Woollens Limited.

Following are the profit and loss figures, with comparisons:

... and Mrs. Ernest Petherick Given Kitchen Utensils.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Sept. 30.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Petherick was the scene of a most enjoyable social evening on Monday last, when about seventy-five members of Zion League gathered to "shower" the newly-married couple with kitchen utensils.

The early part of the evening was spent in group contests, conducted by the chairman, Rev. C. D. Daniel. Six groups were formed, the Whites, Yellow, Red, Pink, Green and Blue, and points were given in order of merit in each contest. The Green winners had a total of 125 points out of a possible 180 and received a box of chocolates, while the lowest group, the Pink had 87½ points and received the "booby" prize, a box of jelly beans. The various contests created much amusement as well as calling forth considerable ability, both mental and physical.

After the contests were over a session of community singing was held in which everyone joined heartily.

The following address was then read by Mrs. Harry Barnum:

Mr. and Mrs. Petherick,

Dear Friends—

It is, indeed, with pleasure that we, the members of Zion League, have gathered here this evening to spend a social hour with you at the commencement of your married life in our midst.

To you, Mrs. Petherick, a newcomer to Zion, though not a stranger to most of us, we extend a sincere welcome, and invite both you and your husband to join with us in our community endeavors, whether in the church, league or social spheres.

We feel that the evening would not be complete unless we could show our regard in some more tangible form, and so we would ask you to accept these gifts as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by your friends at Zion.

Our sincere wish is that you may enjoy a large measure of true happiness and prosperity on your journey through life together.

Signed on behalf of Zion League,
Fred Barnum, Pres.,
Mrs. H. Barnum, Secretary

Both Mr. and Mrs. Petherick replied, thanking their friends for their many gifts and the visitors responded with "For they are jolly good fellows."

After a round of refreshments and a happy social hour the company departed for their various homes, having spent a really interesting evening.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

COURAGE OF CONVICTION

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 2. The Courage of Conviction. 1 Kings 18:30-39.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

Text: 1 Kings 18:30-39.

And Elijah said unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down.

And Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, unto whom the word of the Lord came, saying, Israel shall be thy name:

And with the stones he built an altar in the name of the Lord: and he made a trench about the altar, as great as would contain two measures of seed.

And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood, and said, Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt sacrifice, and on the wood.

And he said, Do it the second time. And they did it the second time. And he said, Do it the third time. And they did it the third time.

And the water ran round about the altar; and he filled the trench also with water.

And it came to pass at the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near, and said, Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word.

Hear me, O Lord, hear me, that this people may know that thou art the Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart back again.

Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench.

And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces: and they said, The Lord, he is the God; the Lord, he is the God.

Elijah stands as a striking and picturesque figure in Israel in a time of great spiritual unsettlement and danger. Backgrounds of the picture are often somewhat obscured and lacking in detail; it is a period of the history of Israel of which we lack exact historical knowledge and concerning which there had apparently gathered many traditions; but in its great essential verities, in the power of its contrast between good and evil, and in its supreme emphasis upon decisiveness in character and conviction, the story is both ample and clear.

Israel was facing the problem of contacts with surrounding peoples whose religious life was idolatrous and corrupt. Without going into details it may be remembered that much of the religion of the peoples with whom Israel came into contact was associated with immoral rites and practices. Whether this came through the corruption of an earlier and simply sincere religious feeling or whether it was simply a perversion of the religious instinct makes little difference in the actual effect.

To Sustain Morality.

Much of the religious strictness and ritualism in Judaism had been developed with the manifest purpose of establishing and perpetuating sound morality. The "worship of heathen gods" meant for Israel sheer moral lapse, a letting down of their standards. It was for this reason that leaders like Moses, Joshua and Samuel, and now Elijah, with belief in a personal God, set themselves sternly against idolatry and sought with such intensity to keep the religion of Israel free from contaminating influences of surrounding people.

In the time of Elijah the struggle to maintain the integrity of the religion of Israel had been seriously aggravated by the influence of a powerful queen, Jezebel, who seemed to be the ruling power behind her husband, King Ahab. Jezebel was a woman of great intensity as well as of ability. Deeply devoted to the worship of Baal, she had determined, with all a woman's persistency, to establish the worship of Baal in Israel.

Here was Elijah's opportunity. Upon him devolved the full burden of leadership in Israel. It was a dangerous as well as a responsible task. And in the winning of his cause Elijah so spent all his strength and moral energy that he was left exhausted and discouraged, seeking a refuge in the wilderness and longing to die.

Had to Be Reminded.

Elijah had confidence in the power of God, but he lacked the power to estimate rightly the godly forces that operate in human life. It was necessary for the Lord to remind him, when he complained that he only was left of the faithful in Israel, that there were 7000 who had not bowed the knee to Baal.

Elijah's mistake has been a very common one even on the part of very conspicuous religious leaders. Such men, engrossed in theology and in their own ecclesiastical plans and purposes, have had a strange fashion of underestimating the real good in humanity.

A Master of Baliol once said that the greatest church in these days is the church outside of the churches. While that is an exaggeration there is a fair amount of truth in it. It is always well to appreciate not only the power of God but the power that God has placed in men.

His Challenge.

Outstandingly, however, in this lesson is the great challenge of Elijah for men to declare themselves. He wants no futile compromise, no amiable and good-natured indifference, no willingness to be compliant to the powers that have the upper hand at the moment. The moral challenge of life is clear and decisive: "If the Lord be God, follow him; if Baal, then follow him."

Can any one doubt that such moral and spiritual crises are present in every age and come in the life of every man? It is this fact that gives the ancient story of Elijah its significance for life today. It is of little use to read the story of his courage and decisiveness unless our own moral fiber is strengthened and a new spirit of determination is brought into our lives.

To be what one ought to be and to do what one ought to do with decisiveness is the secret of great living and of noble accomplishment. Moreover, it is the secret that every man, no matter how small his abilities and how great his fear, may discover for the enriching of his life.

Marriage, Industry, Crime and War Are Discussed By United Church.

MODERATOR PRESENT.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—The Christian message as "good news" in relation to problems manifested in sex, industry, crime and war, was the subject considered by the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada in session here this week. The Board is assuming that the Gospel to be proclaimed in any successful evangelism must take these vital factors into account and deal with questions of economics, marriage and world peace by offering solutions that aim to relate those concerned directly to God.

This conclusion, expressed by representatives from all parts of Canada, would put religion at the centre of human relationships.

The Moderator, Rev. Dr. James Endicott, addressing the members, urged that any evangel heralded by the Church must undergo the severe test of application to hardened criminals and dealing with the worst sinners.

Taking the position that industry and evangelism must be debated together, Rev. C. W. Gordon, D.D., Winnipeg, presented important resolutions of the Manitoba Conference and advised careful attention and study.

That the time was now ripe for the Church to make a new approach to Labor was the view expressed by the secretary of the Board, Rev. D. N. McLachlan, D.D., expressing strong sympathy with the instinctive demands of the Labor movement for a better life.

Hours were devoted to exposition of the underlying principles of family life, in order to cope with attacks in literature and public thinking on Christian marriage. The problem was approached as one of marriage and not of divorce.

Reports of field secretaries revealed deplorable effects on human life of loose propaganda regarding marriage and drinking habits and other issues. Hopeful reports of religious life in the Canadian universities and of evangelistic successes in the United Church's redemptive and rescue homes were received with satisfaction.

Systematic development of normal community life in Canada was a great need outlined by Rev. D. M. Solandt, D.D., who advocated the fostering of the study of good books in the congregation as a means of cultural development and enjoyment.

Considerable attention was devoted by the Board to the question of temperance as a means to the highest life and to prohibition as protective of the community.

On the question of the Church's dealings with sin, raised by the Moderator's address, Dr. McLachlan said that the Christian Church was entrusted with a mission of redemption and "her dominant attitude toward sin should be one of forgiveness." In his every social problem was basically a problem in human character. Social service required, therefore, the mediation of Jesus Christ and this was more and more recognized by social workers everywhere.

Miss Robinson of Interprovincial Home for Young Women, Moncton, N.B., and Miss Irwin of McLean-Malpas Institute, Thorold, Ont., gave intimate accounts of the regenerative work done in institutions or communities along lines which the Board had developed.

While the Board evinced satisfaction with its policy of maintaining Christian work in institutions of a redemptive type, from coast to coast in Canada, its members showed also a purpose to lead the United Church to grapple closely with the issues of the day in the religious thinking and social conduct of the people. Of this tendency the friendly recognition of Labor's mission was a sign.

CLEANING LIGHTS IS FULL TIME JOB

Week's Campaign Not Sufficient On Peterborough Streets.

There will be no special campaign to clean Peterborough street lights, as is done in other cities, The Examiner is informed by R. L. Dobbin, superintendent of the local Utilities. The reason, Mr. Dobbin says, is that there is too much to be done to make one such campaign during the year sufficient, so a man is maintained on that work continually, replacing burned out bulbs, cleaning the moths, cobwebs, dust and dirt and insects from the large white shades, and keeping clean as much as possible, the exterior surface of the small electric bulbs along the streets.

One of the officials of the Utilities capriciously suggested that the lights be cleaned and painted red, supposedly as a sign of progress.

Thus, while other cities have a campaign week for such work, Peterborough has a campaign year, and holds it every year.

MY LITTLE TOWN.

The following poem has a distinct local reference in its dedication to Lakefield:

Little town of the friendly ways,
With quiet roads in the afternoon;
Often I dream and pretend that I gaze
Once again down its happy main street at noon.

The corn-flowers blue, reflect the sky,
And Canterbury bells run riot there;
Along the footpaths, come low, come high,
I never have seen, a sight more fair.

Dear little town, I can never forget
The friendly faces, the kindly speech,
Here mid the city's rush and fret,
Your peaceful, friendly ways can teach.

How much we miss of the sweeter things,
The songs of birds, the soughing of pines,
The urging call that the church bell rings,
The sunset quiet, the lake's curved lines.

Your stately homes where the children play;
Your keepsake church with its friends asleep
There under the stones—while time slips away
And few are left for the dead to weep.

The maples arched across the street,
The great stone wall, with the flowers beside;
The stores where smiles shoppers greet—
Dear Lakefield, that's where I fain would bide.

OSHAWA TO ... ARTIFICIAL ...

Contract Let For St... Seat 3,500 Fa...

OSHAWA September 30... awa hockey teams will pla... in ... new artificial ice rink this win... it was announced here. A contract has been let for a modern rink to be erected on King street. The structure which will be of steel and concrete will have a seating capacity of 3500 and standing room for 1500. The new building will be ready for occupancy on January 1st and the steel and concrete work will be ready six weeks from now according to the terms of the contract.

Until last night it appeared as though the local teams would be without a suitable rink for this year. Hockey prospects for this season look exceedingly promising as there is an abundance of material available for the O.H.A. junior and intermediate teams. Several new players for each team are in town, it is understood. The local teams will likely do their preliminary training in Toronto on artificial ice.

WEDDING BELLS.

RETZ—SLOANE.

A very pretty wedding took place at Mount Vernon Methodist Church, New York City, on September 14th, when Ethel Margaret, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sloane, of Peterborough, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Albert Retz, Junior, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Retz, Olenville avenue, the Bronx, New York. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Dr. Avery.

The bride wore a lovely gown of French tulle over white satin, the skirt, in frilled effect, being of uneven length. French flowers in white were used as trimming and a veil was worn with coronet of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was of white roses and calla lilies, with white satin ribbon streamers.

Miss Edith Robertson, R.N., acted as bridesmaid, wearing a gown of orchid crepe de chine trimmed with silver lace, with picture hat, shoes and stockings to match. Mr. Charles Retz, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The wedding music was played by Mr. R. G. Schowers, of New York, and a solo, "O Promise Me", was sung by Miss Tessie Retz.

After the ceremony, a wedding repast was served at The Plaza, Mr. and Mrs. Retz leaving later for a month's tour through Canada. On their return, they will live at the Gritch Towers, 3400 Tyrone avenue, the Bronx.

Miss Sloane was a graduate of Kingston General Hospital.

CODRINGTON MAN KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENT

SANDING TO BE DONE BY CITY; SNOW PLOUGHING BY CONTRACT; COUNCIL COMMITTEES MEET

The Board of Works, Decides Against Asking Tenders For Sanding.

PARK TO BE IMPROVED.

All Committees of Council Well Within Estimates, Says Finance Chairman.

Winter is officially on the way. The Board of Works last night authorized City Engineer R. H. Parsons to advertise for tenders for snow removal.

This apparently routine procedure, usually passed in two minutes, was complicated last night by Ald Hancock's desire to have the sanding of the streets also included and the debate which ensued. Ald. Hancock's contention was that the man who does the ploughing knows where the ice is mostly likely to gather and has the horse and sleigh to take out sand, which the city could supply him. He would not need to be instructed to do his work, while the Board of Works employees would not start out in the morning without orders.

The Mayor objected that the man could not do the sanding until he was through ploughing, to which Ald. Hancock replied that there is not usually ice on the sidewalks when they need ploughing. To have the Board of Works do it would require a large staff Street Commissioner Harry Evans explained that the difficulty with Ald. Hancock's plan would be the storage of the sand, which must be kept warm and under cover. The city in having difficulty in keeping it from freezing in its storage place.

The City Engineer and Ald. Fife objected to the letting of the job by contract on the grounds that last winter was abnormal for slippery days and that a man basing his tender on it might have hardly anything to do and have a soft snap, while next winter he would reduce his figure and lose money.

The tenders will be for snow removal only.

"Tell them that the city does not own the street railway," said Mayor Holloway when a letter was introduced from the C.N.R. asking if the city would take over the street railway share of crossing portection.

"Never owned it," added Ald. Phelan. "Doesn't want to own it," concluded Ald. Denne. The denial of ownership and responsibility for the payment will be sent.

The chairman and city engineer were authorized to buy a small portable pump for use at the sewage disposal plant, "Made in Peterborough" being included in the instructions.

The Parks Committee which also met last night, cleaned up its work for the year. The most important item of business was the improving of the James Stevenson Park. The money available will be spent in levelling up the northern portion as far as it will go. The chairman, Alderman Greene, reported that the Ontario Government had no landscape architect available and recommended a professional, but this will not be considered until next year.

The owner of the mattress factory building is willing to leave the brick walls of the lower storey in place for the sum of $1000. The quotation did not please the aldermen, who thought it excessive, and voted to have the entire building removed.

A gasoline lawnmower will be purchased from the golf club if the chairman is satisfied that it is suitable for the city's parks. It is estimated that with this the caretaker of James Stevenson Park will be able to cut the grass in Confederation Square, and King Edward Park, as well as in the baseball field.

The little park areas at the corner of Charlotee and Park and Rink and Park streets, will be viewed by the Mayor and Aldermen Greene and Fife, to consider what is to be done with them. The chairman proposed that the little corner outside the street railway track at the corner of Charlotte and Park street be eliminated and a curb placed inside the track. This would do away with a sharp turn.

The Mayor advised against selling any street railway rails that have to be torn up, or tearing up any more than are necessary. He and Ald. Phelan moved that they be stored at present, attached to the ties.

To Ald. Fife's remark, "You and I and the rest will be dead before they are taken out," he replied: "I don't believe it." This statement was not amplified.

The planting of the peony roots received from the Prince of Wales, will be left to the chairman.

At the meeting of the Finance Committee Ald. Phelan reported that all the committees are well within their estimates, but there are two items for which no appropriation was made, which may cause an overdraft. The Jubilee Celebration deficit was $1700 and the down payment on the underground conduits for the Machine Telephone Co. was $000.

The accounts were passed and the indigent patients approved.

Workmen Scalded When Boiler Bursts

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 1.—(Canadian Press.)— Engineer Edward Anderson and Brakeman W. T. Burley were seriously scalded when the boiler on a heavy Mikado type of Canadan National Railway freight engine blew up one mile east of Komoka yesterday afternoon. Fireman H. Hale suffered an injured knee. No cause for the explosion is known.

The injured men were brought to London on a "safety first" special which was touring the division. Anderson and Hurley are in a serious condition in Victoria hospital.

The force of the explosion derailed the engine and tender and ten cars. The rails were torn up for 20 yards.

THANKSGIVING FOR HARVEST AT ST. JOHN'S

Rev. T. G. A. Wright, Rector of Whitby, is the Preacher.

SPECIAL MUSIC.

Love of God and One's Neighbor is Theme of Inspiring Sermon.

The Annual Harvest Festival Service was held last evening (Friday) at St. John's Church. Harvest Festival will be continued over Sunday. The service was in charge of the Vicar, Rev. R. C. Blagrave, and the Rev. T. G. A. Wright, Rector of Whitby, preached a very able and inspiring sermon.

He chose as his text Luke 10, verses 25 to 30, the Gospel for the 13th Sunday after Trinity. The passage of Scripture contains the question of the lawyer, "Lord, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" The lawyer, the preacher pointed out, was not a lawyer in the meaning of that term today, but a student and interpreter of the Jewish law, a Rabbi. In this question he was tempting our Lord; that is, was testing Him out. The Lord's answer was another question, "What saith the law?" The lawyer's answer was chosen from two texts in the Law of Moses, to love the Lord God with all the heart, mind, soul, and strength, and one's neighbor as himself.

Our Lord's approval of this answer left the Rabbi conscience-stricken. He might give whole-hearted love to God, but what about his neighbor, who is he? Jesus' answer implied that the latter half of the condition of salvation could not be fulfilled without the former. We have first to love God before we can properly love our neighbor, who is our enemy as well as our friend. This was illustrated by the care the Samaritan, a tribal enemy, gave to the man fallen by the wayside as against the conduct of priest and Levite, who passed by on either side.

The way to love God and to show that love is by loving the things that are dear to the heart of God—His Word, His day, His house, and then to carry that love into our relations with our neighbor as set forth in our Lord's parable of the Good Samaritan.

The music was under the direction of the organist, Frederick G. Mann, assisted by Mrs. Hoyland's string orchestra and consisted of harvest hymns excellently rendered by the choir, as also the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis by Smart in D; the anthem, "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land," and Mr. Mann's Seven-fold Amen.

CAMPBELLFORD FAIR BREAKS FORMER ATTENDANCE RECORDS

Yesterday's Exhibition Attracts Crowd of 6,000 People.

BIG ENTRY LIST.

Horse Racing is Keen and Midway Provides Much Entertainment.

CAMPBELLFORD, October 1.—In spite of the genuine threat which the weather man made on Thursday night ,the bright sunny day with its freshening breeze proved ideal for the largest fair in the history of the town. For nearly seventy years, the local fair has been a regular annual institution, widely known for the attractions it presents to pleasure-seekers and famous for the competition its ever-increasing prize-list has promoted.

The modern event of to-day is a far cry from the penny-ante affair which used to be held on the cleared lots beside the river where the Wiggins Bakery now stands, a modern building in every respect. Horse races were of a very crude variety, and usually there were none at all. The virgin forest had, of course, been removed, but the lots were full of stumps and brush. These, according to the one man in the community who can recall those days, were very distressing to milady's voluminous skirts, and the burrs insisted on sticking with maddening tenacity to the gentlemen's best Sunday suits.

From the pitifully small beginning has sprung the exhibition of to-day where more than six thousand people found inspiration, amusement, or whatever they sought. Poultry fanciers found their seventh heaven in the long rows of fowl representative of every breed known on the continent. The capacity of the building was taxed to the limit with entries and in the aisles which had heretofore afforded ample room for visitors people elbowed their way through to see the particular breeds of greatest interest to them. The exhibition hall was filled to the doors with all sorts of fancy work, cooking, grains, fruits, various brands of woven work, and all manner of paintings, photography, sketching.

The cattle and other stock enclosures would not have contained many more entries, and the judges of the various classes were forced to make some very close dicisions. In fact, so large was the entry list in each case that those in charge found it impossible to complete their tasks in the usual time. Therefore the prize-list is not available for the press today. In only one case was there no entry, Aberdeen-Angus beef cattle, but the Herefords and Shorthorns made up for the deficiency.

All afternoon the driving circle was the attraction for a large portion of the crowd. The judging was under the supervision of Dr. S. L. O'Hara, and his methods of keeping the contestants moving were very efficient. In the present age of motors, it was a surprise to many to see, not only the modern turn-outs, but the excellent brand of driving displayed. The ladies were particularly well versed in horsemanship, and their events were keenly contested. Spirited horses with glistening coats trotted in circles at the command of the judegs. Up and down they went, and in the figure eight till the drivers must have been confused with it all. Yet no once did anything like an accident occur.

The Midway.

Down the midway the merrymakers found any and many attractions to their liking. Beginning with the merry-go-round at one end and passing along the rows of fortune-tellers games of chance for kewpie dolls, Indian blankets, candy, cigars, they finally wound up at the chair plane. Most of them had spent a fortune to get that far, and did not hesitate a moment to take one last fling at the attraction furthest down the line. After successfully resisting the tempting display of motor cars, wheels of fortune, weight guessers, house experts, and turning a deaf ear to the Miller drew a gun at the robbers' command to throw up hands, and the bandits shot him five times.

OFFICER DIES IN HOSPITAL

Provincial Traffic Constable Struck Automobile on the Hamilton Highway.

FRACTURED SKULL.

TORONTO, Oct. 1 (Canadian Press).—Provincial Highway Constable Kenneth McGillivray died in St. Joseph's Hospital here today from injuries which he received last night when endeavoring to play "good Samaritan" to a stranded motorist on the Hamilton Highway near Mimico.

William McLeod of Sault Ste. Marie had stopped his automobile on the highway in order to mend a tire. Suddenly a motor car driven by W. Law, Mimico, struck the stationary car and hurled it into the ditch. A few minutes later, McGillivray arrived on a motor cycle and started to investigate. He found one of the cars would have to be towed to a garage and started off to Long Branch for help. At New Toronto, while speeding at more than sixty miles an hour, his motor cycle struck an automobile, driven by E. Moore, Toronto, and he was catapulted through the air, alighting head first on the pavement and fracturing his skull. The speedometer, according to an officer who picked up the injured man, registered 65 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

REPORTS STATE TULLY'S PLANE WAS DEFECTIVE

Engine Trouble Evident at Beginning of Fatal Flight.

BAD ADJUSTMENT.

Sailor Predicted Sir John Carling Would Come To Grief.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 1 (United Press).—Reports come from Harbor Grace that many men who were present when Captain Terrence Tully and Lieut. James Medcalfe took off in the monoplane Sir John Carling on their fatal flight across the Atlantic remarked at the time that the plane's engine was missing badly.

It was also revealed for the first time that the plane failed to leave the ground on the first attempt and wobbled badly on the second, succeeding, nevertheless in beginning a flight which ended somewhere in the Atlantic.

A mariner on a sailing boat who did not want his name used said that the Sir John Carling's engine indicated bad adjustment as the plane took the air and he predicted at the time that it would not get very far before coming down in the ocean.

CAR STRIPPED OF HUB CAPS

Presence of Mind of Boy Takes Number of Offending Car Which Caused Damage.

ON McDONNELL STREET.

Returning to his car, which he had parked a short time previously, close to the sidewalk on McDonnell street, after drilling the school cadets in the armouries shortly before four o'clock yesterday, Clinton E. Jamieson, head of the Commercial Department of the Collegiate Institute, found two of the hub caps wrenched off his car, and the rear fender badly damaged.

Explanation was forthcoming from some of the boys standing by, who said that a car travelling along McDonnell street, struck Mr. Jamieson's car. Proof of this statement was forthcoming in the shape of a hub cap belonging to the other car, which had also been torn off by the impact.

One of the boys with praiseworthy presence of mind, took the number of the offending vehicle, and reported it to Mr. Jamieson. Further developments are expected.

HASTEN RELIEF TO VICTIMS OF ST. LOUIS STORM

Latest Reports Show 88 Killed and More Than 500 Injured.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

Property Loss Estimated To Exceed $10,000,000 Record of 1896.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Work of relief and rehabilitation was well under way last night when darkness settled over the six square miles area devastated Thursday, when a four-minute tornado killed 88 persons, injured more than 500 and damaged or destroyed 5,500 homes and business buildings.

The property loss, according to the best estimates of experts who spent the day in the stricken area, was expected to exceed the $10,000,000 record of the tornado of 1896, when 140 persons were killed in an area of ten square miles.

One body Unidentified

Only one body, that of a woman, remained unidentified last night Twenty persons had been reported missing, however.

A single inquest to cover the deaths of all St. Louis victims was set for this morning, with the coroner's jury expected to hold a perfunctory hearing and return a verdict of deaths by a quirk of the elements.

No plans had been made last night for joint funerals, and, since the death list was made up of men, women and children in comparatively widely separated areas with no intimate contacts, it was believed each bereaved family would take care of its dead in individual ceremonies, with today and Sunday a day of funerals and burials.

Excepting constant conversations everywhere about the slowly mounting death list, downtown St. Louis yesterday virtually was without a reminder of the death and desolation within three miles of the business district. Employees' ranks in many concerns were thinned as men remained at home to dig in the debris for possessions or to make hasty repairs to roofs, doors and windows against the forecast of rain. Otherwise business went along virtually as usual.

Scene of Horror

The devastated region, however, was a scene of horror and at the same time of intense activity yesterday. Traffic into many quarters of it continued to be blocked off while rescue parties dug in the ruins, a maze of fallen bricks and tangled power wires and uprooted trees.

Of all the damage done by far the greater seemed to have occurred not by the unmeasured twisting and lifting power of the tornado itself, but by the explosions of air inside buildings themselves as the twister passed and created an outside vacuum into which the inner air rushed.

Along Lindell Boulevard from Nos. 4,000 to 4,400, sturdy brick and stone structures yesterday exhibited entire walls gone from pressure from inside, while in some instances jagged holes were torn as if a mighty shell had been fired through from the inside.

In the relatively poorer communities, with their more fragile structures, however, the full power of the twisting and lifting ability of the tornado was vented. Flimsy structures existed no more, excepting as broken and twisted piles of debris.

Pitiful Scenes

There were pitiful scenes as housewives fumbled in the remains of their little homes, or, a full day's labor of tidying up done, sat disconsolate on front doorsteps, pictures of utter dejection amidst the wreckage.

Boards, tar paper, sheets of tin and every other manner of covering was used in a crazy-quilt patchwork pending time for more thorough rehabilitation.

Find Bodies of Children

Possibly the saddest story of the wrath of the elements was revealed yesterday when rescuers delving in the debris of the huge Central High School on Grand Avenue, just about opposite Vandeventer Place, found the bodies of five little girls. Some of them were pinned down by steel beams, and after hours of digging, acetylene torches had to be used before the bodies could be released. When the school was struck hundreds of children were endangered, but only five lives were lost and 18 children injured. Seven school buildings, with 6,500 pupils, were in the tornado's path.

Throughout the vast area of desolation sightseers thronged yesterday viewing the damage and watching the victims work to restore order. Streets, already narrowed by falling walls, up rooted trees, poles and twisted wires, were clogged by the visitors' automobiles. Finally they were denounced by Chief of Police Gerk as "sight-seeing maniacs" and ordered to remain out of the district.

Mayor Victor Miller's appeal for funds for relief met a ready response yesterday and last night $28,000 was available in contributions. Hundreds

IRA KING LOSES LIFE IN MISHAP BRIGHTON ROAD

NORHAM, Oct. 1.—Ira King of Codrington was killed last night about 7.30 when his car upset in a ditch south of Codrington, on the Brighton-Campbellford highway. The car was totally destroyed.

The Forest Service of Canada has four plants for the extraction of forest tree seeds from the cones or envelopes. These are located at Indian Head and Prince Albert, Saskatchewan; Vancouver, British Columbia; and Rocky Mountain House, Alberta. The output of these plants in the fiscal year 1926 was about 2,500 pounds of cleaned seed. A large proportion of this seed was shipped to Great Britain to be used by the Forestry Commission in its reforestation work.

INQUIRY MADE INTO DEATH OF MRS. CHATTE

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict of Accidental Death at Inquest.

WARNING GIVEN.

Engineer Blew a Sharp Blast Before Crossing Lake Street.

Accidental death, with the recommendation that gates be built at the C. N. R. crossing at Lake street, was the verdict of the Coroner's jury empannelled last night to enquire into the death of the late Mrs. Harriet Chatten, who was killed by the Port Hope train on the morning of September 22nd.

The inquiry was conducted by Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young, and Crown Attorney Hatton represented the Crown.

From the evidence of several witnesses it was shown that the engineer had blown the regular three whistle blasts at the whistle board, and when he neared the crossing he blew a fourth sharp warning blast, and immediately applied the brakes.

The first witness called was Mrs. Ethel York of 275 Chamberlain St., who is a daughter of the deceased. She said her mother was a little deaf, but she thought she could hear the whistle of the train.

On the morning the accident occurred, Mrs. Chatten left 508 Chamberlain street, where she lived, to go to the home of Mrs. Yorke. Witness said her mother came to see her three or four times a week but on this particular morning she knew nothing of the accident until she was told someone had been killed at the Lake street crossing.

Dr. Moir was the second witness called. He testified as to the extent of the injuries and said that death was the result of the shock on being struck by the train. When Dr. Moir arrived he found that the deceased had been taken from under the train—he could not say whether she was conscious or not as he immediately started to attend the injured limbs, after which the patient was put in the ambulance and taken to the hospital. There, while they were getting ready to dress the injured parts, the patient collapsed suddenly and died in two or three minutes later.

Blew Whistle.

Victor Armsden, the fireman, was the next witness called. He told of seeing the deceased go to cross the track, and he immediately called to the engineer to blow the whistle and then told him to apply the brakes. Witness said that the train had blown three times at the whistle board. The bell was ringing, and the train was running at about ten miles an hour and was on time. The train was brought to a stop in about 85 feet, and when they got out of the cab he found the woman under the engine.

Engineer McConnell, who has been running an engine for 22 years, and on this particular run for nearly two years, said he had stopped the train immediately when told to do so by his mate.

The other members of the train crew were called but they added no further evidence. Conductor Horner heard the sharp warning whistle and immediately left his seat in the first day coach and went to see what was wrong and found Mrs. Chatten under the train. He had her removed, and then phoned the clinic, the C.N.R. agent, and the police, asking the latter to send an ambulance.

Margaret Flager and her brother Joseph were the only eye witnesses. Margaret said she saw the train coming and it blew for them to get off the track. The bell was ringing. She saw the train strike Mrs. Chatten, who did not stop and seemed not to hear the train, and went to cross in front of it.

The jury were James Fowler (foreman), John Gemmell, B. Hickey, G. McClelland, P. Kenny, G. Grange, Fred Miller, C. Wolff, William McDougall, C. Hayes, W. G. Howden and S. E. Earl.

In No Hurry:

Meanwhile, the disposition in official cricles here is not to hurry any reconcilation movement, particularly in view of France's troubles with Christian Rakovsky, the soviet ambassador in Paris.

Moreover, Britain wants guarantees as to the reds' future behavior before even starting to discuss the question of making up.

French Reds Mutiny In Toulon Prison; Free 100 Before Sailors Quell Riot

PARIS, Oct. 1. — Twelve Communists inmates of the Naval Prison at Toulon attempted a mutiny yesterday afternoon as a protest against the sentences imposed on Andre Marty and other Communist leaders in Paris a few days ago.

Shouting, "Down with the army! Long live Marty!" and armed with picks and other tools, which had been introduced into their cells in a manner not yet accounted for, they succeeded in liberating nearly one hundred other prisoners and smashing everything in sight.

The prison guards were unable to cope with them, and the naval authorities were notified. They sent a detachment of naval gendarmes and armed sailors, who soon succeeded in rounding up the mutineers. The latter were placed in camions and rushed to the prison annex at Malbousquet, where they could be better guarded.

However, before this happened, the Communist centres in the vicinity must have received word of trouble. At 5.30 o'clock two hundred workers from the arsenal assembled at the entrance of the prison. They began singing the "Internationale" in evident sympathy with the mutineers, and were only dispersed on the arrival of a detachment of police.

BUILD AIR MAST IN SOUTH AFRICA

Progress Being Made in Plans For Inter-Empire Service.

CONSTRUCT LINERS.

LONDON, October 1. — Steady progress is being made in the plans for an inter-Empire airship service, which were initiated some months ago.

Announcement that the South ...ican government has concluded an agreement with the Imperial Airways, incorporated, for the erection of a mooring mast at Tongaat, is an outcome of the imperial airship mission's visit there. The members of the mission who are touring the Dominions in connection with provisions for the establishment of the needed mooring masts, now are in Australia for a similar purpose.

The airship service plans call for the construction of two giant air liners to carry 100 passengers each.

The first route will be from England to Australia stopping at Egypt, India and Ceylon for re-fueling.

Nine days will be the scheduled duration of the trip.

OLD MASTERS.

I see the rainbow in the sky,
The dew upon the grass;
I see the sun, and I ask not why
They glimmer or they pass.
With folded arms I linger not
To call them back: 'twere vain:
In this, or in some other spot,
I know they'll shine again.

ART TO BE SHOWN AT KIWANIS FAIR

Miss Mamie L. McCarthy Will Again Have a Booth.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the Kiwanis Produced-in-Canada Exhibition will be the art work in painting to be shown by Miss Mamie L. McCarthy, who has taken one of the booths at the Armouries. The latest ideas in decorative painting, as well as examples of portraiture and natural scenes, will be exhibited here, and will include portraits in oils, bits of scenic beauty and still life and flowers in oils and water colours, the latter having as an interesting portion a series of scenes from Peterborough and the vicinity, and a number of the lovely houses of the city, also many pieces of decorated china in the newest designs, the hand-painted handkerchiefs and hand-painted scarfs which are having such a vogue just now, and Christmas cards with many examples of the old English type, in gaily-done waits and pages.

An interesting idea in connection with this exhibit will be the demonstration on succeeding days of the Fair of work in charcoal, oil, and water-colour, with samples of the various sorts of painting done in these branches.

PARIS INSISTS UPON RECALL OF RED ENVOY

Rakonsky Must Go, is the Decision of French Cabinet.

ISSUED MANIFESTO.

Would Not Result in Rupture of Franco-Russian Relations.

RAMBOUILLET, France, Oct. 1. —The French cabinet, it was learned yesterday, has decided to insist upon the recall of Christian Rakovsky, soviet Russian ambassador to France.

President Doumergue presided at the cabinet meeting here, at which it was decided to instruct Ambassador Herbette at Moscow to make further representations to the soviet government. In the interests of good relations, Herbette will inform the Moscow government, Rakovsky must be recalled.

Recall of Ambassador Rakovsky would not result in rupture of Franco-Russian relations. The French government's objections to the soviet ambassador resulted from a manifesto issued by him some weeks ago, in which he urged the soldiers of all countries to desert to the red army.

Vigorous public protest against the manifesto caused Rakovsky to qualify it with an explanation that he was not endeavoring to cause trouble among French troops. Georges Tchitcherin, soviet Russian foreign minister, repudiated his ambassador's manifesto. Presumably upon Radovsky's recall another would be named in his place.

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Oct. 1.—Enormous deliveries of wheat at country points — 4,652,000 bushels in 24 hours — and rapid increase of the number of cars for inspection caused the market to fall away yesterday despite reports of wet weather over the Canadian West. At the close wheat was down 1 3-8c to 3-8c.

Broomhall reported export business quiet. Argentine's wheat shipments for the week were 1,572,000 bushels, against only 41,000 for the same period in 1926. One message placed the Australian wheat crop at 104,000,000 bushels, or 50,000,000 under last year.

Music Of Beethoven Bought For $3,600

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—Excited bidding between two Beethoven enthusiasts brought the price of the original manuscript of the great musician's song, "New Love, New Life," up to $3,600, double its previous value, at an auction at Heinrici's today. The high price was paid by Dr. Laube of Berlin, who made another record bid, paying $3,500 for fifteen Beethoven letters.

GET FIGURES ON TOURIST MONEY

Arranging To Compute Total Spent in District By Americans.

$300,000 LAST YEAR.

F. G. Stinson of the Chambers of Commerce informs The Examiner that he is getting statistics from the chartered banks of Peterboro, and the Trent Waterway municipalities, which will give an approximation of the amount of American currency left here by tourists.

Last year $300,000 in United States paper, was handled, while in 1925 the amount was $252,000. This of course does not include the considerable amount of money spent by tourists in this district who had their American currency changed at the border, in Toronto, or other cities outside of the district.

It is estimated that the amount this year will be much higher than ever before.

The period covered is from June to October 15th, on which later date some very interesting information will be submitted.

FERGUSON OPENS NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Premier Gives Address at Inauguration of School at Saltfleet.

HAMLTON, October 1. — Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier and Minister of Education for Ontario, yesterday officially opened the new high school in Saltfleet, and in his address spoke of the need of making education more practical than it now is.

One of the principal means of bringing this about he said, was to try and prevent students from entering the universities and dropping out in the first or second year. This was a great waste of money because it cost $400 per year out of the public funds to provide this education in addition to what the student had to spend. The way to eliminate this as he saw it, was to extend the high school system so that the culling out could be done here instead of in the universities.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson congratulated the Saltfleet board on its enterprise in building such a school and hoped other townships would emulate its example.

Joseph Bairstow, chairman of the board, presided. The school now has an enrollment of 152, and is situated just outside the village of Stoney Creek.

START DREDGING EARLY IN SPRING

Announced By Department Begin Operations on Harbour at Fort Churchill.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 1 (Canadian Press).—Dredging on the harbor at Fort Churchill, the terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway, will commence as early as possible next spring. The loss by foundering of the dipper dredge will not delay the work, it is stated here by the Department of Railways and Canals. Arrangements are being made to transport a dredge in a knock-down condition to Port Nelson during the winter, which will be assembled there and taken up to Churchill in time to start operations in the spring. Two other dredges will probably be built during the winter and towed up to Churchill as soon as navigation is permissible through Hudson Straits.

SEER FORECASTS JUDGE'S DECISION

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. — Somebody stole the automobile belonging to Joseph Dunninger. He sauntered into a police station and told officers where they could find the car and the thief. He said he was a seer and could "feel" where his car was.

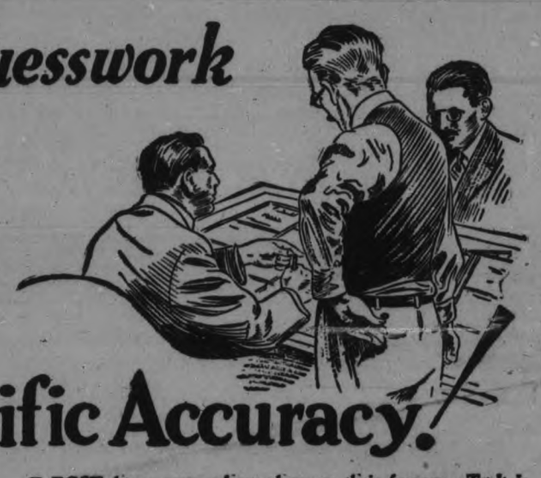
Detectives found the car wrapped around a lamp post where he said it would be. In the wreckage was the thief. Before the court, Dunninger forecast the plea that the thief would make. The thief made it. The magistrate was amazed, but a few days ater was further surprised when Dunninger himself was brought before him, charged with violating a parking ordinance.

"My sentence," Dunninger predicted, "will be a fine of $2 or two days in jail." The magistrate grinned. The seer paid the $2.

EDUCATING INDIAN CITIZENS

The expenditure by the Government of Canada on Indian education in the fiscal year 1926 was $1,918,000. In addition to this certain bands of Indians, whose funds were sufficient to meet the expenditure, contributed $67,000 for school purposes.

From Guesswork to Scientific Accuracy!



MOST home owners heap abuse on their furnace. To it is attributed high fuel bills, coughs and colds, chilly inside temperatures—

Yet the furnace is seldom to blame. Its inefficiency is usually due to slipshod installation. Properly installed warm air is the most effective heating system obtainable. Yet even the best warm air furnaces become inefficient and wasteful if they are not installed According to Standard Code.

"Code Installed" means that your system is planned by experts according to tried and proven scientific principles. It guarantees the most healthful, efficient and economical heating plant your home can accommodate—raising warm air heating to a plane far and above that of any other type of heating system in the country.

REO FLYING CLOUD

She is the "Ideal" of the Engineers

SHE is not an eight nor a four but a six—the ideal engine, say the engineers.

—She is not 116" long, nor 126", but exactly 121"—the ideal length, say the engineers.

—She does not have a valve-in-head motor nor a sleeve valve motor, but an L-Head motor—the ideal type, say the engineers.

—She does not have cantilever springs, neither worm gear nor hypoid gear final drive, nor a four-bearing crankshaft, but she does have half-elliptic springs, spiral bevel gear final drive and a seven-bearing crankshaft—all ideal, say the engineers.

—She has none of the old and the obsolete, she does not offer you in 1927 the features of 1925, but from stem to stern, from roof to road, she is entirely new.

—No other car in the world today even approaches the Flying Cloud in its identity with the Engineers' Ideal Car.

—That is why a leading automotive paper has said that the Reo Flying Cloud is "the only feature in an otherwise colorless automobile season."

How 150 Automotive Engineers Agreed Upon An "Ideal" Motor Car

The Metropolitan Section of the Society of Automotive Engineers held a contest in January for the design of an "Ideal Car" for the average family. 150 leading engineers competed and their specifications were synthesized into a composite set of specifications for an "Ideal Car"—the dream of all engineers.

Ask for the booklet, "They Have and You Can," which gives a detailed comparison of the Reo Flying Cloud and the "Ideal Car."

The Flying Cloud is a Pleasure Car

—She is a pleasure to see, to ride in, to drive, to own.

—She brings to motoring a thrill that mere passenger cars never had.

—She makes old cars obsolete and many of the newest dear at any price.

—Be sure to try one out. Then you'll understand why the engineers say that such a car is ideal. You'll know that a car rightly designed and built can give you more than transportation, can make traveling a pleasure at all times.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

SOME YEARS AGO, a home without windows was built for the blind in a certain English community. Scientific heating and ventilation were provided, but the architects and trustees reasoned—and remember that they were English and not Scottish—that light was not necessary in a house for sightless people. So they erected their windowless institution and installed its occupants. And then they discovered that human beings, like plants, dwindle and die when deprived of the light of the sun. And they had to remodel their building, and let in the sun's rays, in order to keep their blind people alive.

Since the invention of the electric light, we have all treated sunlight with amazing indifference. In summer, especially, we spend much time, thought, energy and money protecting ourselves from the sun. And in so doing, we are often acting not much more wisely than the committee who builded a house without windows to give light to the blind. In summer, for instance, we try to escape the sun as the worst of all nuisances, when we actually need its services in the cause of our own good health.

If I might be so bold as to offer a word of advice to the wise I should say: Take your work and your play out of doors as much as possible. Without being rash and running the risk of sunstroke, don't be afraid of sweat and tan. This advice may be too late for this year, but it will be as true next summer as ever it has been.

FEELING LIKE A DISHRAG.

When a woman declares that she "feels like a dishrag" she is dragging herself down to the lowest level in still life. We doubt not from the personal appearance of that handy article of domestic utility that if any life existed at all in said rag it could not possibly fall lower or feel meaner. However, woman should never offer herself in comparison with so degraded an object, for the simple reason that mankind spurns the dishrag most vehemently, and as woman is supposed by some to exist solely for man she should not do anything to lower herself in his esteem. When a rag takes up its duties in the dishpan it has reached the tag end of abandoned hope, the climax perhaps of a merry life.

A dishrag might have belonged to some lovely lady as some part of her attire in its palmy days. But it is not of its past that I speak. It is of its present social standing, its vulgar environments and its utter self abandonment. 'Tis true that you may feel fatigued to a limp and loppy degree, but never can you feel so utterly wretched and beyond redemption as a dishrag.

STONE HER.

Under this caption I have come upon some lines in an old paper which might very properly find a place in these musings. The lines to which I refer appeared eleven years ago, but the moral of the story is as valuable today as it was then.

When a woman is once down, keep your heel on her! That's civilized society's general policy, and we are told in this eleven-year-old periodical of a case wherein the U. S. Government engages in similar brutality.

Several years previous to the time that this story first appeared in print Kate Boyington had a job as rural mail carrier on a route to the eastward of San Diego. It was a horseback route amidst sage brush, coyotes and such, but Kate delivered the U.S. mail to the satisfaction of everybody. However, somebody became uneasy about Kate's morals, and she was arrested and convicted of living unlawfully with one Earl Gardiner.

Kate was put on three years' probation. She faithfully complied with all the requirements of law and morals and people along her old mail route petitioned the postal authorities to reinstate her, on the ground that she was thoroughly reformed and had given the best service that mail route ever had. Living an honest life, the woman ought to have had a chance to earn an honest living, especially as she had proved to be an exceptionally good public servant, to say nothing about the Christian matter of helping a fallen woman up. Again, the mail service has several men whose morals are as black as Kate's ever were, and, indeed, if morals of public servants are to be the basis of retention of jobs, a whole lot of changes in the public service are due, or overdue. That was the way the citizens who were served by Mail Carrier Kate felt about her case.

But the Government said that Kate could not have the job. If she had gone to "living unlawfully" with some fellow in order to eat and sleep under a roof, the Government would put her in jail. The Government is very particular in the matter of morals. No doubt you have noticed this with most Governments!

Equality? Once down, woman, stay down! Apply this to men and there'd be a lot of fellows flat on their backs, wouldn't there?

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

I have just been reminded of a pastoral letter sent out by Archbishop Messmer several years ago decrying immodest styles in feminine dress. If such a letter were necessary, then how much more so today! At that time fathers and mothers who had young daughters were urged to give some consideration to the letter.

In the last analysis it is the parents who say whether girls shall dress modestly and becomingly or whether they shall be allowed to wear anything that fashion dictates, no matter how ridiculous or indecent it may be. For every girl who appears on the street improperly clothed there is pretty sure to be one or perhaps two parents at fault.

If every parent saw to it that during their teens his or her daughters dressed as young girls should, there would be no occasion for such letters as the one sent out by the archbishop. Training and discipline during girlhood would give us women with too much sense and self-respect to dress in a way which attracts unfavourable attention. Every parent who neglects to see to it that his daughters dress sensibly and modestly is failing to do his duty. A realization on the part of parents of their responsibility in this matter will solve the problem of feminine dress in so far as young girls are concerned.

BEAUTY.

"Beauty is but skin deep," says an old proverb. And the irreverent modern man retorts: "And we don't want to skin her." And there you have it in a nutshell—beautiful women are to be taken at their surface value; there is to be no prying under the exquisite exterior to see if there is a heart or a brain to fall back on when the inevitable fading hour shall come.

Of all the tangible gifts God gives to woman beauty is the most desired because it is the most effective measure to gain the joys and pleasures of life, the most powerful weapon to win the heights to love, admiration, success, wealth and rulership. Women believe this because they have seen it tried, and never known it to fail.

The pretty baby gets the most petting, the pretty girl gets the most flowers and beaux, the pretty woman gets the soft places of the earth. In society, in the home, in the office, women are "checked up" by the masculine element according to their facial perfections or imperfections.

THE HOMELY GIRL.

But somebody says, "How about the homely girl often making the best match?" Nine cases out of ten the man has first worshipped at some beauty's shrine and been turned down before he wakes up to the fact that there is something more satisfying than pink cheeks and starry eyes. It is ingrained into man's nature to like beautiful faces. The love of beauty in all hearts is the harking back to the spark of divinity that lingers in human nature—a silent testimonial to the time when they themselves were a part of the general plan of perfection. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," because it is an appeal, not only to the harmonies of form and color, but because it is a visualized proof of the perfection that passes all understanding.

CHARACTER AND BEAUTY.

Character, the strong principle under the "skin-deep" beauty, comes into its own in times of stress, in days of sorrow and when the rose hues have faded from the scheme of youth. It is the most glorious link that binds us to the Creator, the lifeline that saves us and those about us from the rocks of despair. But because we do not see character as we see beauty we are long in recognizing it. Beauty is the open sesame to all sorts of success. Beauty does not open the door for herself, or set her own chair, or hold her own coat, or buy her own flowers. There is always a masculine slave ready to do these things for her. That is one reason why women wish to be beautiful—that they may "dwell in green pastures" of ease and gentle consideration.

Afterward—let afterward alone: beauty is but skin deep, and "we do not want to skin them," say the self-indulgent, easy-going mere men of the world. And more is the pity they do not want to do a little metaphorical "skinning"; more is the pity for the peace of the home and the activity of the divorce courts. Marrying merely for a pretty face, without stopping to find out what is on the other side of it, is one of the greatest gambles of matrimony.

And yet—and yet if God ever made anything sweeter or dearer or more to be desired about the house than a beautiful girl, He did not let it show up in His plan of reaction. We thank God that He put the beauty on, even skin-deep!

—Allan Fairbairn.

Marriage

THE most beautiful thing about that first marriage in the Garden of Eden was God's smile. And He is just as willing to bless every modern marriage, but many forget to send Him an invitation.

SUCCESS

A SUCCESSFUL man is one who has tried, not cried; who has worked, not dodged; who has shouldered responsibility, not evaded it; who has gotten under the burden, not merely stood off, looking on giving advice and philosophizing on the situation. The result of a man's work is not the measure of success. To go down with the ship in storm and tempest is better than to paddle away to Paradise in an Orthodox canoe. To have worked is to have succeeded—we leave the results to time. Life is too short to gather the harvest—we can only sow.

—Hubbard.

Plain Speaking.

ADDRESSING the students of the University of Cincinnati at an all-university service, Judge Florence Allen of the Supreme Court of Ohio said:

"America has failed to demand of her officials and her Government that the ethical standards upon which the nation was founded be carried out.

"What we need today is a rebirth of national ideals. Surely, in the days of our forefathers we did not murder, in one year, 12,000 people in this country; surely, in the days of our forefathers no city in the United States killed in one year more men than were slain in the whole of Great Britain.

"We need a re-birth of Christianity. Christ needs to come again, and needs to come to America and to the State of Ohio. Within ourselves we have the capacity to recrucify Christ by repudiating his principles, and, equally, to bring him back by re-creating his standards."

Enmity Must Cease.

IN an address in Cleveland, at the dedication of the new Euclid Avenue Baptist Temple, Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., made some observations on the importance of co-operative effort, especially as applied to capital and labor. While not committing himself to any form of labor organization, he nevertheless recognized its necessity.

"If, then, the result of this friendly co-operation has been so successful in producing this building, why should not such co-operation be equally successful in other common enterprises? Why should there ever be conflict between employers and employes?

"For my part, I have long been profoundly convinced that in the very nature of things employers and employes are partners, not enemies, that their interests are common, not opposed, that in the long run the success of each is dependent upon the success of the other.

"It is profoundly to be hoped that employers and employes may realize increasingly that divided and at enemity both must suffer and the public as well, while united and at peace their power for good not only in the development of industry but in the advancement of civilization is boundless.

"What may be the form of industrial representation which will best ultimately bring about that happy partnership in industry so essential to mutual success, who can say? More probably the instrumentality of that larger good will be a composite of many plans now being utilized and developed."

Driving in a Fog.

HAVE you ever tried to drive a car along an unfamiliar road on a dark, foggy night? A curtain of mist hems you in and makes the pulse of your engine beat with a muffled throb against your ears. You look for landmarks that have been explained to you, but your straining eyes see only the yellow glare a few feet ahead. You wonder whether you have passed the fork in the road that you were advised to take. You determine to ask the driver of the next car you meet; but his lights loom up just as he swerves to miss hitting you, and he is gone before you call. Or, if some one does stop, you find that he, too, is trying to find his way. You had started out in happy, confident spirits. Now you are lost and half afraid.

You continue on your shrouded way until the fog lifts and you can take your bearings. Or perhaps a powerful light cuts a clean path through the blanket of mist, and shows you your way. You discover where you are and which way you should be going. The worry and the fears drop from you, and you proceed with confidence and a light heart.

There is still darkness and some fog. But you have found your way, and all is well. You have not reached your destination, but you know you are on the right road. There may be jolts and steep grades ahead, but you are refreshed and made over by the certainty that this road will lead you to your goal.

With some such introduction, Dwight C. Smith, Yale Divinity School, begins his sermon on Acts 26:19.

Science and Revelation.

of the world's most distinguished scientists, says that science, instead of taking God out of the world, brings men into closer spiritual relation with Him. While admitting that God cannot be proved by a mathematical formula, he says that science leaves us no escape from the conclusion that back of everything there is a definite guiding principle, which leads from chaos to cosmos. Science, according to Dr. Pupin, is the handmaid of religion. It is no doubt comforting to many to know that one of the brightest minds in the scientific world sees no conflict between science and revelation.

LIES

LET no man wonder if he finds history or tradition full of lies. Lies grow up like weeds, truth requires to be planted and cherished. Happy that time has a virtue, in many cases—certainly not always—to kill the weeds and vitalise the plants.

A MEMORY RULE

NEVER waste your faculty of receptiveness on things that are not worth remembering; and never deem anything worthy of being remembered that you do not mean to use.

PUTTING ON THE BRAKES.

The attention directed toward Canada's immigration ods as the result of complaints ventilated at the re- sessions of the Anglican Synod is having its effect. From Ottawa comes the announcement that Hon. ert Forke, Minister of Immigration, is putting on the kes, and that the flood of alien immigration which s been swamping the arrivals from the British Isles to be checked.

The railways have been operating under a blanket ermission to bring agricultural workers from Europe, and they have now been informed that the agreement will be subject to suspension at the discretion of the department.

In this way Mr. Forke, whenever the number of immigrants from Central Europe is greater than the arrivals from Great Britain, will be able to stop the flow of alien immigration.

The announcement will give much satisfaction to the many Canadians who have been concerned over the situation, and who felt that a grave risk was being taken in bringing in more aliens than British people into Canada.

THE TAX ON CIGARETTES.

One of the many matters that the Tariff Advisory Board has to decide in the near future is the request that the stamp tax on Canadian cigarettes be reduced to the level of the American tax.

At present the Canadian tax is $6.00 per thousand, as against $3.00 per thousand in the United States, and the difference reacts very unfavourably so far as the Canadian manufacturer and the Canadian consumer are concerned.

There is every reason to believe that a lowered tax on cigarettes would result in no loss of revenue to the Government, inasmuch as it would result in a much greater sale of Canadian cigarettes.

Under the present conditions the industry is affected in two different ways.

There is a vast amount of smuggling in cigarettes, and Canadians who visit the United States bring back quantities for themselves and their friends.

At the same time the majority of American tourists visiting Canada bring cigarettes with them rather than pay the high prices charged on this side of the line.

It is expected that the Board will give much consideration to these aspects of the question, and a recommendation to the Minister of Finance for some relief may be forthcoming.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

Under an order-in-Council approved yesterday the old age pension system has been operative in British Columbia, and residents of that Province who are eligible to assistance under the Act passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament will begin to experience the benefits of the legislation.

The Pensions Act does not, of course, come into force in any Province until an agreement has been entered into between the Government of the Province and the Federal Government, each of which pays half the expense of the scheme.

So far British Columbia is the only Province to come in, but the Yukon Territory, it is said, will shortly take advantage of the opportunity to provide for its aged residents.

What about Ontario?

Up to the present there has been no intimation from Premier Ferguson or any other member of the Provincial Government that the matter has been taken under consideration.

The scheme awaits action on the part of the Provincial administration, and meanwhile hundreds of Ontario citizens who might be benefitting from old age pensions are deprived of their opportunity.

The next session of the Legislature should see this question before the House.

YOU PAY YOUR MONEY, ETC.

When the news columns and the editorial columns of a newspaper fail to agree the result is usually bewildering to the reader and embarrassing to the staff guilty of the mix-up.

Thursday night's Toronto Star furnished the best example of this lack of co-operation that has been seen in a long time, in the references made to Orange reaction to Premier Ferguson's acceptance of the bilingual school report.

On one of its news pages The Star has the following:

"Indignation of local Orangemen against Premier Ferguson's attitude on the bilingual problem and his warm acceptance of the merchant report is said to have reached a lively stage at a recent meeting of the Legislation Committee of the Order. The feeling about the report is growing and the storm will soon break, is the prediction given The Star. 'Premier Ferguson is being unsparingly denounced in Orange circles.'"

And in the same issue in the leading editorial we read:

"And now, with a twist of the wrist, Premier Ferguson has abolished Regulation 17, and the Orange lodges are looking the other way and talking about something else. Scarcely a murmur is heard in the land."

It looks as if the boys on The Star had better get together.

ONTARIO'S FINANCES

Word comes from Toronto that Ontario is in a fair way to produce one of the largest financial surpluses in its history at the close of the present fiscal year. Revenue derived from the control of the sale of liquor will, it is said, reach over three million dollars, which seems extraordinarily high; revenues from the Department of Highways are considerably in advance of last year; while income from succession duties and the amusement tax are higher than was estimated.

The truth is that Ontario, rescued from the expensive fads and fancies of the Drury regime, is in excellent financial condition. Expenditure has been brought within the orbit of revenue; taxation has been kept within reasonable bounds; yet nothing has been done to interfere with measures of reasonable progress.

Information that the controlled sale of liquor will net the Province $3,000,000 this year, is interesting. If the information be correct, it means that next year, when liquor will be sold for the full twelve months, the Government will have a profit of at least five million dollars. There are those, of course, who will say that a Government should not make profits out of liquor; but such arguments take no heed of realities. The real point is that liquor was being sold, anyway, and that, such being the case, it is far more sensible to have the Government control its sale and take the profits than to have them go into the pockets of bootleggers.

Good roads for farmers are much more desirable than huge mansions and great bank accounts and high-powered cars for a few people engaged in selling bad liquor in defiance of the law.—Ottawa Journal.

FLYING IN ENGLAND.

There was no luck about the British victory in the Schneider Cup race for seaplanes. It was a triumph for which the plans had been made most carefully, and it vindicated to the full the ingenuity and resourcefulness of British engineers and the courage and skill of British flyers. Lieut. Webster, the 27-year-old winner, completed the course at an average speed of 281 miles an hour. Lieut. Kinkead made one lap at 289.75 miles per hour—described in a cabled story from Cenice to The New York Times as being "the highest officially recorded speed ever reached by a human being." The expense of the British entry was borne by the Air Ministry, and the department put into the business all its resources and experience. An engine was produced which is said to develop 890 horsepower, its own weight being 805 pounds. Machines were constructed theoretically capable of withstanding terrific speed, and bold young flyers trained for their navigation. Then the test, and a new record for seaplanes greater than the Italian record of last year by 35 miles an hour.

England, it is pointed out by experts, is pursuing seaplane development as the logical type of fast-mail express in connection with her Empire scattered over all the seas. Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for Air, recently made a Baltic trip in a large seaplane and visited several countries. Within a month, it is stated, four pe will leave England on a flying boats of the latest ty cruise of 25,000 miles to Singapore and Australia. In other words, England's aerial development is taking a practical direction and is not aimed particularly at spectacular ventures which have little immediate value.. An attempt to fly over the Atlantic has a dramatic side lacking from the parade around a measured course, but the grim and tragic failures which marked the past summer were not necessary to prove that there are still brave men and daring women in the world.—Ottawa Journal.

THE ASSEMBLY ADJOURNS.

The Eighth Assembly of the League of Nations has concluded its labors, and its President, Senor Guani of Uruguay, at the closing session addressed the delegates from the various nations in very hopeful terms. "The work of the Assembly at the present session in the direction of disarmament," he declared, "indicated that the first reduction of armaments would not long be delayed, and a better definition of the guarantees of security would be formulated." He believed that the nations would soon reap "a fair harvest from their sowing."

"A fair harvest from their sowing" is the most that the nations can expect from the work of the League just yet. The task of rendering war impossible is not one which can be successfully carried into effect all at once, and probably none are better aware of the difficulties which bestrew the path to world peace than the delegates themselves, as they have the rival demands of divers countries brought before them. There is every reason to hope that the League is accomplishing a great deal in the way of promoting international amity, but, as Lord Riddell points out in a recent issue of John o' London's Weekly, "there is no indication that, relying on the League, any nation is prepared to turn its swords into plowshares."

Pacifists who talk glibly of disarmament as though it is little more than a formal matter, involving no risk of any kind, should remember that throughout the world today there is by no means that tranquil condition of things among the nations which might encourage a reduction in the size of armies and navies. Lord Riddell depicts the situation rather vividly in these words: "Italy and France armed to the teeth. All Europe in debt to America. America converting herself into a naval and military State with the object of protecting her interests. Germany fretting at her defenseless position and bent on revising her Eastern boundaries and readjusting her war debts. Hungary and Rumania at daggers drawn. China in chaos. Overcrowded Japan's population increasing at the rate of 1,000,000 per annum. Russia doing her best to stir up world dissension. The South American States covertly resenting U.S.A. domination."

The grouping in the way Lord Riddell has done of the various controversial issues which confront the world today may make the picture an unduly gloomy one, but the facts have to be faced, and they show that the League of Nations has still a thorny and difficult road ahead of it before the ideal which every one had in view at its inception can be attained. If, however, the Eighth Assembly has made even as much as a short step forward toward the goal in view, the efforts of the delegates will not have been in vain.—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Old age pensions are now operative in British Columbia. When is Ontario going to fall into line?

So far the chess match between Capablanca and Alekhine has been fought out without any complaints about a long count.

According to the head of the Master Plumbers, the bath-tub is civilization's greatest boon. The Russian reaction to this statement has not yet been reported.

Pittsburg pitchers, no doubt, are hoping that Babe Ruth has burned himself out in breaking his own home run record.

The problem of traffic accidents is to be discussed at an inter-Provincial conference, which ought at least have no difficulty in deciding that something must be done.

The charge that politics interferes with the work of the Mothers' Allowance Board should be thoroughly ventilated. The Minister of Health has the floor.

DAILY EDITORIAL BY DR. FRANK CRANE

INTERNATIONAL FOLLY.

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)

By the time this article is published it may seem out of date. And yet the general principles of it are true all the time.

If the Geneva conference does not arrive at some satisfactory agreement among the three nations, Japan, Great Britain and the United States, for the limitation of armanmets on sea, it will be an instance of almost incredible international folly.

As has been repeatedly pointed out, the matter of international armamnent is after all one of ratio and not of an absolute amount. If all nations would agree, each one could have 200 battleships as well as 1,000. The trouble comes when one nation has a preponderance of arms over the other.

Previous to the great war there was a spirit of rivalry among the nations. England and Germany were pitted against each other, both striving to build the largest ships.

There is no end to this. Every nation in the world is trying to be the most perfectly armed. Not only is the United States and Great Britain, Japan and France struggling, but they compel the other and poorer nations to take part in the contest.

Preparedness is economically almost as disastrous as war.

In Italy at present the conditions are alarming and there is much unemployment, the exports are steadily dropping off in value and the debts are enormous.

Things are not much better in other countries. There is a vast horde of unemployed in England, France is complaining about her debts to the United States and Germany is groaning und her burdens.

And now they propose to increase all this trouble by adding to the cost of armament.

What for?

No nation can be prepared against all the world and nothing but national pride, tradition and stubbornness prevents the nations from getting together and all agreeing to a reduction all around.

Mutual agreement is a much better preparation against war than individual armament. Every country should protect itself, but it secures better protection by world agreement than it ever can secure by independent bellicosity.

Every war, every strike, every lockout is a blow to business. Everybody is injured.

CATTLE GRAIN, AND PRODUCE

LOCAL HOG MARKET PRICES

Live hogs, thick, smooth, $9.75 cwt; select graded $10.25; dressed hogs, head on, $18.00; head off, $19.00.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Ont., October 1. — The cattle market this week has shown the same good and active demand for choice, well finished butcher cattle as for the past few weeks. The runs have included the same heavy proportions of poor quality unfinished stock, and this has been a drag on the market, resulting in heavy carryovers and easier prices on the commonest grades.

The week's receipts again included from 50 to 60 cars of Western cattle, mostly of the stocker and feeder type. Many cars billed through direct to feeding points in Ontario.

The feature of the market for the past couple of weeks has been the exceptional active demand for stockers and feeders. Although receipts in this class have been heavy, prices have held steady to firm for the best offerings. Early this week there was a slight easing off noticeable in the demand for the stocker heifers, and shippers were advised not to go too heavy in this class.

Local packing houses received cars of killing cattle from the West, billed direct through to the plants. The market closed steady on the best grades, with a little easier feeling on the common.

The hog market weakened, following a decided slump in bacon prices in the Old Country. Closing prices were 50 cents lower than Monday's opening, and packers are bidding another 25 cents lower on next Saturday's loadings.

General run of prices as follows:

Choice butcher steers active from $8.25 to $8.75, with extra choice up to $9.00. Light steers, $8.25 to $8.50, and choice butcher heifers, $8.00 to $8.25.

Baby beeves, firm; choice, $12.00.

Common steers and heifers, $5.00 to $5.50.

Choice butcher cows, $5.00 to $6.00; medium, $4.25 to $4.75.

Bulls, choice, $4.50 to $5.00; choice butcher, $4.50 to $5.00.

Springers and milkers, quiet and steady prices.

Stockers and feeders active, selling from $6.75 to $7.25; heifers, $5.50 to $6.75; delivery country points.

Lambs, choice, easiner at $11.00 tops, best ewes and wethers.

Calves, choice, strong, at $14.00 to $14.50.

Receipts.

Union Stock Yards. — Receipts for the week, 6,893 cattle, 1,286 calves, 3,671 hogs, 6,371 sheep and lambs.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Oct 1 (Canadian Press).—Only a moderate amount of business in wheat was reported in the Montreal market yesterday. There was some demand for Manitoba Spring wheat locally and sales of several loads of Tough No. 2 Northern now here in store was made on a c.i.f. basis, and odd loads of No. 3 Canadian Western barley at 12¼c per bushel over the Winnipeg October option, c.i.f. Montreal, and also some No. 4 barley at p.t.

There was no improvement in the demand from local or country buyers for car lots of grain in the domestic market and trade on the whole was quiet.

There were no new developments in the local flour situation, the undertone to the market for Spring wheat grades being steady. The export trade was reported quieter and the demand from local and country buyers for supplies was only moderate.

The milfeed market was unchanged, prices being steady at the late decline noted under an increased demand.

Baled hay was steady and prices were unchanged.

A firm feeling prevailed in the butter trade, prices unchanged. A fair volume of business was done. Receipts were 1,806 packages.

Trading in cheese was quieter with no actual change in the condition of the market taking place. Receipts were 7,116 boxes.

The undertone to the egg market was steady with a fair volume of business taking place. Receipts were 1,050 cases.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 (Canadian Press). — Tension over month-end settlement of grain contracts sparkled up a bit at the finish yesterday in the rye pit. Traders who were short of rye and needed to deliver before September expired found it necessary to bid as much as five cents a bushel advance as compared with earlier prices yesterday. As a result, September rye jumped to $1 a bushel, but closed at 95 to 96.

Wheat closed irregular, 2¾ net lower to ¼ advance; corn varying from ¼ decline to ¼ gain; oats a shade to 1c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Scantiness of stocks of rye here and prospects of export business in that breadstuff added giner to the brief flurry yesterday which lifted September rye to the dolla- m--k. It was current comment after the close that the first heavy movement of rye in the United States this season has been well placed.

Nervousness pervaded the wheat market, owing mainly to wet weather likely to delay Canadian threshing. Reports at hand indicated that practically all wheat in the Prairie Provinces of Canada has now been cut and that good weather for threshing is at present especially required. Trade estimates of the wheat yield in Australia were reduced yesterday 16,000,000 bushels and the official estimate of yield in France was 43,000,000 bushels less than a recent private report.

Corn values went lower early as a result of 1,670,000 buseis being delivered here yesterday on September contracts. It developed later, though that all of this corn had gone into strong hands. Rallies ensued and there was increasing talk that because of good feeding value on farms new corn will not move to market at present prices. Oats were influenced for the most part by scattered liquidating sales in the September delivery.

Provisions reflected the upward trend of hog values.

A Thought For To-day

THROUGH THE NIGHT MIST

I have just heard the far-away sound of that great tower-clock bell. It tolled twice and now I am going to turn in.

But before saying, Good Night! to my young friends, let me tell them how it seems to be past sixty at two o'clock in the morning.

Perhaps I can lead up to the last paragraph in this article which is probably worth more money to any young man than anything else said in this Magazine this month.

When one approaches the "three-score years and ten" class, how like leaves in winter weather the old friends fall!

Almost every day the news reaches me that another friend has gone and when one is nearing that signal how the deaths seem to multiply.

No! I am not complaining, neither am I despondent. If I should be left all alone to-night to sit at the banquet-table where once my friends had feasted—left to sit there alone and in silence (in that silence of the departed dead)—the sentiments would almost crush my heart.

Not that I would wish Frank," the blind boy friend, to live it all over again. Not that I want to see "Tom", the unfortunate, or "Lute", the lame boy, back again.

The thought that makes such silence so terrible is that one has outlived such fine fellows and that, with all the years that he has had at his command, he cannot write in a way that will save younger men from making the same mistakes he has made.

Young man, listen! Save your health, your time, your money, for these are the three things that can make or break you.

If you get that last paragraph, you will get it all.—The Silent Partner.

Ontario Highways beckon you now

See the Province in its Tinted Autumn Glory

There's nothing quite so colorful as the Ontario landscape in the autumn. Nature splashes reds and yellows and browns and greens in a truly extravagant manner. Mile after mile, on hill and in valley, the spectacle is a constant delight.

Make it a point to see the Province this year when leaves are turning. No more beautiful or harmonious panoramas can be found than those from Ontario's hilltops.

Use the good roads to get out where Nature exhibits her most artistic handiwork. The highways are yours. You contribute towards their cost and upkeep. Provincial highways stretch across the Province in every direction and beyond them good county roads will take you almost anywhere.

But when you go out into the country to refresh body and mind by feasting your eyes on autumn tints, remember you owe it to yourself and to others on the road to show common sense and courtesy in driving.

DO NOT SPEED. Because the road is good and free from traffic there is no excuse for reckless driving. You will reach the highest points of enjoyment of rural beauty if you drive with moderation.

WATCH YOUR HEADLIGHTS. See that they do not glare. This is the time of year with longer nights and more night driving. You can prove your headlights by means of simple instructions this Department will gladly supply.

BE SURE OF YOUR BRAKES. See that they are in good condition so that your car will always be in control.

BE COURTEOUS. Obey the rules of the road. Remember the other driver has rights. When the exercise of your rights will create danger, don't insist. Legal redress is a poor price to secure for bodily injury to yourself or others.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"Men," Faith reflected, after Bob had hurried back to the office that Friday morning, "are so different from women." She knew now that in the back of her mind, or rather deep in her heart, all those long, unbearable hours that she had been estranged from Bob, had lurked the promise of joy that would come to her in reconciliation.

She had told herself, even when her misery was the blackest, that when at last he understood and forgave her, although there was nothing really to forgive, he would kiss her again as he had kissed her during the early days of their marriage. Kisses whose memory she had hoarded like a miser; kisses which still had the power to make her cheeks blush like a girl's. He would tell her again, with boyish ardor, that he loved her, loved her; pay her extravagant compliments—

And now they were reconciled. Or—she supposed they were. And Bob had hurried away, after going into details of their financial straits with her, with a kiss that was hardly more ardent than his usual good-bye touch of the lips. She had asked him to stay and have luncheon with her, just the two of them alone, like honeymooners, but he had made a hasty excuse—

"I suppose all women in love are gluttons for sentiment," Faith confessed to herself ruefully and a little sorrowfully. "I could have spent the whole afternoon in his arms, assuring him of my love, being reassured as to his. Women never get tired of kisses, but a man only wants them when he is giving himself up to—love. And a man wants to close a subject as soon as possible, whether it is pleasant or unpleasant, while a wife wants to go over and over the details of it, telling the man her littlest thoughts, as well as her obscurist feelings in regard to it. I wonder," she sighed, as she moved slowly toward Cherry's room in answer to a sudden shrill summons from the baby, "if men and women—husbands and wives—ever really understand each other. Is Bob thinking of me now, as I am thinking of him? And what is he thinking? How does he see me? What characteristics of mine does he love—which annoy him? Is it my eyes or my mouth or my hair or my nose—but it could not be my nose!—that he recalls with a smile of tenderness when he thinks of the woman who is Faith, who is his wife? Oh, what is he thinking of now? I've got to know, somehow? Is he just relieved that I didn't weep all over him and reproach him, or is he holding the thought of me precious right now? And who is the Faith that Bob knows and loves so quietly? Is it the Faith that I really am, or does he know me at all?"

The force of the thought stopped her in the hall. Cherry's baby cried on shrilly, but Faith, for once in that small despot's life, did not hear the summons.

"Who am I?" she asked herself, awed and a little frightened. "Am I Bob's Faith—and if so, what kind of woman is she? I don't know her! Am I the Faith that Dad and Joy and Cherry and Hope depend on? They think of me as good and dependable and sweet-tempered and patient; they are horrified, incredulous when I 'rip loose,' as Dad says. But am I that Faith? No, no! I'm me—a Faith that no one knows! Not even Bob, whom I love better than my life! That Faith that is me has passion and anger and power and brains that no one suspects 'good old Faith' of having! Maybe it will be better if nobody ever knows the real me. But, oh, I wish I knew the Faith that Bob loves, even if it is just a little! I'd try to kill all the other Faiths, make her so glorious that he would love her wholly! . . . Faith's coming. Hope darling!" she sang out soothingly.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND UM'S UMBRELLA

One day, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping past the eleven and twelve cent store, he happened to hear voices. One said:

"Well, madam, I will gladly sell you an umbrella. But when you have no hands to put it up or take it down, I don't see what good it is going to do you."

"Still, I must have an umbrella," said a second voice. "It isn't because I mind the rain, of course. Being made of wood, as I am, rain can't hurt me. But I want to be stylish and carry an umbrella."

"That's just it," said the first voice. "How are you going to carry an umbrella when you have no hands."

"I should think, if you sold umbrellas, you might also tell your customers how to carry them, even if they have no hands," and this time the wooden voice was quite snippy, so to speak.

"Dear me!" murmured Uncle Wiggily to himself as he heard this. "There is going to be trouble here. Perhaps I can help. I think I know who it is that wants an umbrella. It is Um, the little wooden wife of Boppy, who lives with the Wogglejigs in the Bungleump."

And it was Um in the eleven and twelve-cent store, trying to buy a pink umbrella from the little mousie girl clerk.

"Perhaps I can be of some help here," said Uncle Wiggily as he politely bowed with his tall silk hat in his paws. "What is the matter?"

"This lady," said the mousie girl clerk, "wants an umbrella. I will gladly sell it to her, but she has no hands, so how can she put it up?" And it was true—Um had no hands or feet, nor did Boppy, though the Wogglejigs had four legs and a tail each.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, I am so glad you hopped along!" exclaimed Um. "You will hoist my umbrella for me, won't you?"

"Gladly," answered the rabbit gentleman. "But, my dear Um, it isn't raining now."

"I know, but I want to practise carrying it so I will be ready when it does rain," said the cute little wooden woman.

"I would hoist the umbrella for Mrs. Wogglejig," offered the mousie girl clerk, "but without hands or paws how is she going to carry it?"

"Couldn't you tie it around me by the handle with a piece of string?" asked Um.

"Ha! That's a good idea! Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "To be sure! Give me a bit of string, my dear," he said to the mousie girl, "and I will hoist Um's new umbrella and tie it on her. Then when she is out in the rain she won't get wet."

"Well, don't blame me if anything happens," squeaked the little mouse. "But I say wooden ladies, without hands, should not carry umbrellas," though she said this last very low so no one heard her. But she got the string for Uncle Wiggily and it did not take the rabbit gentleman long to hoist Um's umbrella and tie it, by the handle, around her wooden body. Then Um looked very stylish, indeed, with the open pink umbrella held over her funny little wooden head.

"Now I will hop along, thank you," she said, jiggling herself up and down in front of the counter to shake money out of her pocket to pay for her umbrella. For, having no hands, it was only by jiggling up and down, and shaking money out of her pocket, that Um could pay for what she bought.

So with the umbrella tied fast to her and spread over her head to keep off the rain when it fell, Um bobbed along. For, having no legs, she could only get from place to place either by rolling over and over like a barrel on its side, or else by bobbing up and down like a ball.

"Mark my words, something will happen," muttered the mousie girl clerk. "I oughtn't to have tied that umbrella to her, Uncle Wiggily."

"Didn't I ought?" asked the bunny, in his excitement talking crooked like the little mouse. "What was I should of been?"

But the little mousie girl clerk had to tell some talcum powder to the pop gun just then so she couldn't answer.

So Uncle Wiggily thought he would hop down the street after Um to see that she was all right and that nothing happened. He could see the little wooden woman, with the pink umbrella over her head, bobbing along in front of him.

And then, all of a sudden, something happened. The wind blew hard, got under Um's umbrella, and not only hoisted that into the air, but also raised the little wooden woman and carried her away.

"Oh, this is terrible!" cried the bunny. "I must save Um and her umbrella!" And he hopped fast after her.

And how he saved Um will be told in the story soon.

THIN, WATERY BLOOD ALWAYS DANGEROUS

If Not Corrected Serious Results Sure To Follow.

In no trouble is delay or neglect more dangerous than in anaemia—thin, watery blood. It is very common in young girls and in persons who are overworked or confined within doors. It makes its approach in so stealthy a manner that it is often well developed before the trouble is recognized.

But taken in time the tonic treatment through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so enriches the blood that good health and strength is speedily regained. The correction of anaemic conditions by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is as certain as anything can be. Miss Teresa Heafey, Dunraven, Que., is one of the many anaemic sufferers who has found new health through the use of this medicine. She says:—"I cannot express too warmly my thanks for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I was suffering from a badly run-down condition. I was very nervous, had little desire for food, and would feel tired out at the least exertion. In this condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before using them very long found my health gradually improving, and under their continued use was completely restored. For this reason I earnestly advise all weak girls to take these pills, feeling sure that they will do for others what they did for me."

Send your name and address to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will mail you free a useful little book on "Building Up the Blood." The pills can be obtained through any druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rev. D. R. Dewdney of Toronto, a former curate in the Anglican church here, was in town for a day or two this week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilkinson.

The rain on Tuesday night was most welcome as many cisterns in the village were practically dry, almost no rain fallen during September, and many farmers could not proceed with their fall plowing the ground being too hard for this work to be completed.

Mrs. Salisbury, of Victoria, B.C., is the guest of her brother, Dr. H. A. Turner, this week.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The necklace and earrings are of amethysts, surrounded with tiny pearls. The bracelets are of amethysts set between bands of gold with green enamel.

Ever since a few weeks ago, Jean Patou of Paris suggested long chains of amethysts and topazes as substitutes or alternatives for the overworked pearl beads, women here and there have been delving in old boxes of knick-knacks and jewelry to see whether they could bring to light any of these once-popular violet or yellow stones. Quite a number of really good amethyst pieces have been come upon in this way; some of them even taken to the jewelers to be cleaned and somewhat altered in setting; and here and there among the jewelry shops you will find a collection of amethyst brooches or chains, rings or earrings placed there no doubt as a result of Patou's dictum.

The fact that amethyst is one of the so-called semi-precious stones and is in fact merely violet-colored quartz or crystal ought not to bring it down in the estimation of a generation of women who have so long been content to wear "pearls" made from beads of blown glass, lined with an extract of fish scales and filled with wax.

There ought to be considerable satisfaction when wearing amethysts in knowing that they are at present smart, always beautiful and perfectly genuine.

NEW INVENTION MAY AFFECT CANADIAN FLAX PRODUCTION

Dr. Pritchard's Process Will Reduce Time and Cost of Preparation.

COMPANY FORMED.

Expected To Revolutionize the Linen Industry in Northern Ireland.

LONDON, Oct. 1 (United Press).—The production and export of flax in Canada may be affected seriously by the formation of a new company with Lord Askwith as chairman and a capital of 1,000,000 pounds for exploiting Dr. Pritchard's flax invention.

By the new process it is claimed that the time and cost for preparing flax is drastically curtailed, and it is possible that linen will again compete with cotton for manufactured clothing goods. If successful sponsors of the new invention declare it will revolutionize the linen industry, particularly in Northern Ireland.

Patents are being purchased for 500,000 pounds, payable in shares.

Under the new Italian penal code driver and owner of an automobile are alike liable to fine and imprisonment in cases of avoidable accident.

MUSICAL PROGRAM GIVEN AT LYCEUM

Pupils of St. Mary's Convent Honor 14th Anniversary of Elevation of Bishop O'Brien.

A delightful programme was presented in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum last evening, in honor of the fourteenth anniversary of the elevation to the episcopate of His Lordship Rt. Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough, when a number of the music pupils of St. Mary's Convent, under the direction of the Sisters of St. Joseph, arranged a brief concert. About two hundred people, comprising the relatives and friends of those taking part, with a number of the clergymen from the city, were present. At the conclusion of the programme, His Lordship spoke briefly in congratulation of the talent shown by the pupils and the excellent program presented by them, speaking in special terms of commendation of the ability of the players in St. Peter's High School Orchestra, which gave several numbers, and which is distinguished by a clear, buoyant tone, and a careful attention to rhythm and tempo which makes their music extremely attractive.

The programme opened with an orchestral rendition of Gounod's "Ecce Sacerdos," followed by a "Greeting Chorus," given by about fifteen of the girls of the music classes, and a pianoforte duett, "Danse den Hanneton," played by the Misses Helen Archambault and Hilda Sullivan. A flag drill, interspersed by patriotic folk dances, was the contribution of the High School girls and a boys' sextette sang in tuneful voice a rousing nautical number, "Go to Sea," with members of the sextette in Frank Deforge, James Collins, Gerald Duffus, Roderick Mackenzie, Wilfred LeBarr and Harold Snider. A "Festival Overture" was another attractive orchestral number and a second pianoforte duett was Von Suppe's "Poet and Peasant" overture, played by the Misses Mary Reynolds and Veronica Scollard. An exceptionally well-played violin number was Drdla's "Souvenir," played by Joseph Nolan, and the next offering was a little, dainty playlet entitled "The Fairies' Gift," based on the story book tale of the fairy who gave three gifts and was visited at the end of the year by the little friends on whom she has bestowed her largesse. Beauty (Kathryn Corkery) and Gold (Isabel Duffus) wished to return their gifts to their benefactress, on account of trials endured through them, but Goodness (Peggy Reynolds) had made good use of her gift. The Fairy Queen was enacted by Marjorie Miller, whose four small attendants were Barbara Hickey, Teresa Perdue, Jean Quinlan and Ella Maher. Little girls taking part in the Fairy Dance included several other small maidens: Thelma O'Donnell, Dorothy Young, Frances McLaren, Edith Guiry and Josephine Collins. Johanna Perry played for the Fairy Dance.

Rosewig's chorus, "Ave Maris Stella," was sung later, and a very cheerful and spirited orchestral number was the "Victory Overture."

The arduous duties of accompanist for the entire programme fell to the lot of Miss Mary Reynolds, who proved herself very proficient in fulfilling the task.

Many Gains Registered Railways Make New High

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (Canadian Press). — Week-end profit-taking failed to halt the upward swing of prices in to-day's brief session of the stock market. Gains in the active issues ranged from one to nearly five points with motors, public utilities, eastern rails, bakery and store stocks giving best demonstration of group strength. With railroad average in new high ground since 1909, operators for the rise bought stocks freely on the theory that another major upward swing was in progress. The rapid advance in such high price specialties as United Drug, Commercial Solvents and Woolworth indicatetd scarcity of offerings around current levels. Realizing sales were most effective in Houston Oil, Texas Gulf Sulphur, and Erie Railroad Common, which were unable to absorb large volume of offerings except at concessions. The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Wheat Remains Strong Much Aggressive Buying

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 (Canadian Press).—Aggressive buying on the part of speculators ran wheat prices up today after a downturn at the market. Declines were due to bearish construction when in some quarters was placed on Canadian crop estimate. Starting unchanged to ⅛c off, wheat sagged a little more and then rose to well above yesterday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions also developed firmness, corn opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, and continuing to display strength.

Opening prices: Wheat, December 130½, March 133¼ Corn, Dec. 95⅝, March 98⅝. Oats 48⅛, March 50½.

Many Substantial Gains Recorded On Exchange

TORONTO, Oct. 1. — (Canadian Press.)—Some moderately substantial gains were recorded in heavy trading on the standard mining exchange this morning when sales went over the 1,300,000 mark. New-Bec, again an active leader, climbed to 120 and at the close of 105 was 8½ higher than yesterday. Kirkland Lake was 19 higher at 2.71 and Teck Hughes 35 higher at 11.05. Wright Hargreaves went to 8.30 and at the close of 8.25 was 19 cents higher than yesterday. Heavy trading in Barry Hollinger and Amulet resulted in point gains by those issues while Bidgood after a heavy turn-over, was unchanged at 55.

Dominion Stores Reach New High Market Record

TORONTO, October 1 (Canadian Press).—The week closed on the Toronto Stock Exchange with one of the strongest markets of the recent upturn. Dominion Stores and Brazilian both both reached record highs at 99¾ and 203 respectively, and consolidated Smelters climbed 16 points at 262. Brazilian held its 2½ point gain at 203 at noon, but Stores eased again to 95½, net gain of 2. Canadian Pacific Railway advanced 4½ at 197, and Alberta Pacific Grain climbed 1 5-8 at 37. Asbestos was more than a point higher at 36¼, and Industrial Alcohol a point better at 38. Unlisted leaders moved fractionally, Imperial Oil easing to 61, and Carlings, British American Oil and Gooderham gaining slightly.

CANADIAN SENATOR DIES IN ENGLAND

Hon. Robert A. Mulholland, of Port Hope, Dies While Visiting Old Country.

TORONTO, Oct .1. — (Canadian Press.)—Hon. Robert A. Mulholland, of Port Hope, Ontario, a member of the Senate of Canada, died suddenly in London, England, this morning following an attack of angina, according to a private cable received here. Senator Mulholland was visiting the old country with Mrs. Mulholland and Mr. and Mrs. Angus McMurchy, Toronto. The Senator was 67 years of age.

He was a member of the Senate for nearly ten years. The death of Senator Robert Mulholland removes a figure well known in the capital. His death creates the fourth vacancy in the Senate. There are now two vacancies in Quebec representation and two in that from Ontario. Senator Mulholland, who was a Conservative, received his Senatorial appointment in 1918.

FIRE DESTROYS DORMITORIES

Roman Catholic Seminary is Partially Gutted By Flames This Morning.

AT ST. HYACINTHE.

ST. HYACINTHE, Oct. 1 (Canadian Press).—The Roman Catholic seminary of St. Hyacinthe was threatened with total destruction by a fire which broke out in one of the students' dormitories this morning. All the pupils managed to escape without injury.

The fire is believed to have started in the dormitory. It spread with great rapidity and soon consumed the dormitories and library. A call for assistance was sent to the Montreal Fire Department while a volunteer force assisted the local fire fighters. The building accommodated three or four hundred students.

The wind, blowing away from the newly constructed part of the seminary, helped the firemen to confine the fire to the older structure and away from the industrial section of the city. Later in the morning, the fire department was able to report that the fire looked to be under control. The damage is expected to be heavy. A number of victims managed to save part of their belongings but it was feared that the contents of the library was destroyed.

THIEF TRIES TO TAKE CAR

Strikes Several Cars in Attempt at Rye's Pavilion Friday Night.

INVESTIGATING CASE.

An attempt to steal a car at Rye's dance last night was ill-starred for the burglar, or more appropriately called bungler.

The breaks were against the thief, as were also the gears of the car, which was a McLaughlin model equipped with a winter top owned by Charles B. Adam. The car was parked on the east side of Lock Street, a short distance from the entrance to Rye's boat house. The attempt was made at about ten o'clock, when there were a great many cars parked along the road. According to witnesses the culprit never got the engine started, but, stepping on the started, found the car to be in reverse and, taken by surprise as the car jumped backward, was momentarily stunned.

His confused senses refused to function, and the car careened backward on its crazy, unguided course, running wild amongst the other cars parked on the west side of the road. Robert Wright's car was badly smashed, Ray Bacon's was hit, and one driver coming up the road, although he tried to swerve aside, was caught also. On striking a car almost at the door of the pavilion, the course of the run-away was changed, and it made a right-angled turn out King George Street, where it was finally brought to a halt in a ditch on the north side of the road. The witnesses, taken by surprise, thought it was someone who had had little experience with a car, but as they watched they saw the driver leap from the car and flee along King George Street.

Immediately suspicions were aroused, and several started in pursuit, but he had made good his escape taking full advantage of his lead, and disappeared in the labyrinthian maze of back yards and alleys in the vicinity. The car was removed from the ditch in a short time, and all trace of the wild dash was removed from everything except the damaged cars.

Provincial Constable N. F. Maker and County Constable Smith are investigating the "accident."

LAWN BOWLING

One of the largest crowds of the season was on hand for last night's lawn bowling tournament. The bowling was for grapes, and as one bowler remarked, "put a rather sour aspect on the tournament."

Walter Oke was the winner with three wins plus 12, Joe Bennett second with two wins plus 11, Harold Freeman third with two wins plus 7, and George Cairns with two wins plus 7.

POLICE COURT.

In the County Police Court yesterday, Magistrate O. A. Langley convicted a Young's Point resident of being in illegal possession of a still, and imposed a fine of $200.

The case was heard on Saturday of last week, when the Magistrate reserved his decision.

W. F. Huycke acted for the prosecution and Col. J. Keiller McKay conducted the case for the defence.

RUTH ELDER TO FLY TO-DAY

American Girl To Take-off For Paris This Afternoon.

WEATHER SUITABLE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.— (Canadian Press.)—The trans-Atlantic air line lane was open to-day for the take-off of Miss Ruth Elder, comely Dixie pilot of the Paris bound monoplane 'American Girl.' After Dr. James Kimball, of the weather bureau, reported only a small low pressure prevailed over the path charted for the American Girl, T. H. McCardle, one of the backers of the flight, set two o'clock this afternoon as the time of the probable hop-off from Roosevelt Field.

"I'm so happy," the young aviator said. "We have had to wait so long. Ever since September 15, when we arrived here from Wheeling, we've been hoping the weather would clear sufficiently to let us take off."

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (Canadian Press).—Dr. James Kimball, weather bureau meteorologist, today sounded the unofficial knell of further transatlantic flying this year, just as Miss Ruth Elder and George W. Haldeman were making final preparations to take off for France in the monoplane American girl.

"I wouldnt want to say," he told the Associated Press, "that there won't be any good flying weather in October, but the chances are against it. Right now atmospheric conditions are so much worse than the very worst experienced by any of the past season's fliers that there is no comparison. I don't know what Miss Elder may decide to do but I am printing on the weather map today that conditions are decidedly unfavorable.

As Dr. Kimball was making this report, word came from Curtis field that Miss Elder and Haldeman were moving the American Girl from its hangar to the Roosevelt Field runway from which Lindbergh, Chamberlin, and Byrd took off for Europe.

They said the task of fueling and provising was to be begun immediately and that if they considered conditions favorable at two o'clock they would hop off at that time. A southwest wind favored take-off from the mound on which the Old Glory perched so long before despairing of a west wind and going to Old Orchard for its take-off.

HAND-LOOM WORK IS AMONG EXHIBITS

Vogue For Home Weaving Has Grown of Recent Years.

The vogue for hand-loom weaving that has arisen of late years has proven to be a permanent and popular occupation for many women, the residents of the lower provinces taking this up as a means of livelihood and making their wares of interest to other sections of the Dominion.

At the Kiwanis Fair in the Armouries this month, demonstrations of the art of hand-loom weaving will be given by two exponents of the accomplishment. Many Canadians think of this art as being mainly of machine origin, and but for the enterprise of artistic women this would have fallen into the category of neglected handicraft.

The Women's Art Association has been responsible here for the interest taken in the weaving, and two of the craftswomen from Quebec will illustrate their work at the Fair, with plenty of examples of the lovely work that can be made in this way.

OLD SKELETON IS UNCOVERED

Indian Was Buried Near Prince Ruper 325 Years Ago.

IN REFUSE HEAP.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Oct. 1.—After reposing for several hundreds of years buried under ancient shells and refuse and covered by the stump of a huge cedar tree, the stump of which indicates an age of at least 325 years, the skeleton of one of the earlier British Columbia residents was partly uncovered yesterday by the Dominion Archaeologist, and is being removed for placing in a museum as a relic of Canada's early native peoples.

For some time the archaeological party has been exploring on the property of the Seal Cove Lumber Co. in the northern part of Prince Rupert. An ancient refuse heap is in the process of being cleared away. On top of the heap stood a huge cedar tree whose rings show an age of 325 years. With the removal of this stump and of the upper layers of the heap the skeleton has been brought to light. It is probably that of a large adult man.

Only one skeleton from the Tsi Shian area is known to be preserved in any museum in the world. This, however, is a modern one which is in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago. It was uncovered at Port Essington in 1897 by Dr. G. A. Dorsey and Dr. Harlan Smith. The skeleton now being uncovered at Seal Cove is at least 200 years older than this. It is reported that some twenty skeletons were found in the same refuse heap when the Grand Trunk Pacific, now part of the C.N.R., was being built but none of them were scientifically excavated and little was learned of them.

The discoveries being made at Seal Cove are being closely watched as it is thought they may indicate an earlier race of people on the British Columbia coast than so far discovered, and also they indicate that the Tsi Shians were not always given to cremating their dead as had been believed previous to the arrival of the white man.

BEAVERS BUILD DAM FIVE TIMES

Refuse To Stop Blocking Outlet of Pyramid Lake, Jasper Park.

OTHERS BLOWN UP.

JASPER, Alta., October 1. — Even in the Jasper National Park, where all the wild animals are freehold tenants, and have no trouble to pay, there may sometimes be difficulty about leases.

Take for example the colony of beavers which lives in the horseshoe shaped Pyramid Lake, at the foot of the Pyramid Mountain. It has been there for some years and has felt reasonably sure of remaining there, and raising generation after generation of young beavers; but, unfortunately, man has some rights, too, and when the rights of beavers and men clash it is not hard to say who will be the losers.

This spring the humans who dwelt in the bungalows at the lake noticed that the water level was rising. At first they put it to the higher water of this year but they soon found out that there was another reason. The channel which runs under the C. N. R. line became flooded, and trouble was in the offing. The trouble was traced to the beavers, who had dammed the outlet of the lake to make deep water for themselves.

The Game Guardian liked the beavers but he decided that they had better be more discriminating in their choice of quarters. He ordered the dam blown up. The beavers were somewhat surprised—but beavers are famous for their industry. They fell to work, gnawed trees, patted them over with their tails, and dragged them to the dam, and began rebuilding. There was another explosion and water poured through the dam again.

Now, for the fifth time, dynamite has made a breach in the dam and the beavers are still stubbornly rebuilding.

All honor to them for their courage and insistence, but they will have to lose in the end—man has spoken.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ALWAYS IN THE HOME

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she always keeps a supply on hand, for the first trial convinces her there is nothing to equal them in keeping children well. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers, and making teething easier. Concerning them, Mrs. Saluste Pelletier, St. Dumas, Que., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past ten years and am never without them in the house. They have always given the greatest satisfaction and I can gladly recommend them to all mothers of little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HASTEN RELIEF TO VICTIMS

of homeless again last night were cared for in National Guard armories and fed from field kitchens placed in service by the Red Cross disaster force. Downtown hotels were filled to capacity in some instances. No demand was made for tents and apparently all the homeless had found temporary roofs.

Soldiers to Relief

With St. Louis police force of 1,500 men fatigued by 24 hours and 36 hours of constant duty, relief for them came last night, when 550 soldiers of the Sixth United States Infantry were ordered into the district from the Jefferson Barracks. Major General W. N. Lassiter, Commander of the Sixth Corps Area, came from Chicago to direct the army's relief work.

American Legionnaires, Boy Scouts and civilian volunteers directed traffic and mounted guard in the devastated areas yesterday along with the St. Louis members of the state militia.

President Neun of the board of aldermen, announced yesterday he would call a special meeting to appropriate emergency funds. L. E. Christopher, building commissioner, whose estimate of the property damage ran from $10,000,000 to $100,000,000 after a hasty survey, said $50,000 was needed immediately to pay for razing walls threatening to fall.

Lists Lengthen

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1 (Canadian Press). — Hospital lists of tornado victims, rechecked early today, indicated the number of injured would almost double yesterday's highest figure and reach 1,152. The dead numbered 89 with the certainty that this number too would mount higher, drawing its increase from the injured list and possibly from debris which still provided hunting grounds for searchers. House to house canvasses gave 5,50 as the approximate number of buildings destroyed or damaged. It was this large number than gave pause to the counters, who last night computed the injured between 550 and 600. The collapse of that many buildings, it was pointed out, might reasonably be expected to catch a greater number of victims.

That more than a million dollars worth of automobilcs were destroyed was another reason for checking earlier hospital lists Survey of the entire storm area showed that the bulk of the serious storm damage was done to residence houses, apartment buildings, small stores, small factories, and churchcs. H. M. Bixby, President of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, expressed the opinion that the total loss would be close to a hundred million dollars.

Re habilitation, already started, has its bright side. Work for skilled and unskilled labor its promised in abundance. The effect of this announcement is seen in the fact that between forty and fifty thousand mechanics have been idle here this summer. Bricklayers, carpenters, roofers, and plumbers in great numbers were at work on new work or repair today.

WESTWOOD UNITED CHURCH

WESTWOOD, Oct. 1.—Rally Day service was held in the United church Sunday school on Sunday morning. The programme issued by the Board of Religious Education was followed. The superintendent, G. A. L. Humphries led the service, and the pastor, the Rev. S. H. Moyer delivered a fine address. A recitation, "We would see Jesus" was given by Ruth Cardwell.

About thirty of the younger members of the school filled the choir chairs, while other classes sat in the front rows. Special singing was given by the scholars.

A baptismal service was held prior to the address, when the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clysdale was christened.

Numerous bouquets of cut flowers and autumn foliage decorated the pulpit and the interior of the church.

LEAMINGTON WINS PLACE IN FINALS

Will Play Off With Deloro—First Game Set For Tuesday.

LEAMINGTON, Oct. 1.—Leamington qualified to meet Deloro in the finals of the O.B.A.A. intermediate series by scoring in every inning and defeating Copper Cliff, 24 to 2, here yesterday. The visitors scored one in the first inning and another in the second, but were unable to solve the delivery of Haven, Leamington's youthful hurler, for the remainder of the game.

After getting away to a two-run lead to open the first inning, the locals appeared able to score at will, and piled up a big lead. Smithson, the Leamington centre fielder, besides playing a nice game in the field, hit a home run with none on, while Malott hammered out a three-bagger. Every player on the Leamington team succeeded in getting a hit, while Clifford got four singles and two walks, and was safe in his other turn at bat on an infield error. Malott also got four hits, one of which was a triple.

Cloutier, who started for the Northerners, was wild, and when forced to groove the ball was batted to all corners. Herrick, who relieved him in the fifth, fared little better. The feature of the game was the hurling of Havens. After being a little unsteady in the opening frame he settled down and pitched an excellent brand of ball, retiring nine batters on strikes. He was given perfect support by the team. Leamington will meet Deloro in the first game of the finals at Deloro next Tuesday. The return game is to be played here on Saturday.

Canadian Champion Again Wins Ladies' Golf Title

MISS ADA MACKENZIE DEFEATS MRS. WHITTINGTON FOR HONORS

Canadian Champion Retains Title With 8 and 6 Victory.

FINAL ROUND.

Victor Plays Her Irons and Putts With Perfect Confidence.

TORONTO GOLF CLUB, Oct. 1.—Deviating only thrice from par and picking that up by a brace of birdies, Miss Ada Mackenzie of the Toronto Ladies' Golf and Tennis Club defeated Mrs. E. W. Whittington of the Toronto Club 8 up and 6 to go, yesterday afternoon to win the Canadian ladies' closed golf championship for the second consecutive year. Miss Mackenzie's golf, played through a wind that swept from treacherous angles all over the course, was sound throughout and Mrs. Whittington was able to win only one hole, the second, and secure two halves. With a blazing finish the champion annexed 8 holes in succession, playing them in 1 under par.

First Hole, 350 Yards, Par 4

Miss Mackenzie poked her drive 195 yards into the teeth of the squall, while Mrs. Whittington, who had the honor, tipped one off the end of her club, very short. Her brassie was still short and Miss Mackenzie made sure by banging her second mashie approach almost dead. Mrs. Whittington, who was over in her third, conceded the hole after pitching too strong. Miss Mackenzie 1 up, 4 to 6.

Second Hole, 380 Yards, Par 5

After the gale had swept both tee shots into the tangled rough to the right, Mrs. Whittington mashied to the fairway while Miss Mackenzie "took a peek" and topped her from second. Miss Mackenzie, who was "just off" in 3, failed to gobble a 3-foot putt, and Mrs. Whittington cinched it with a two footer, after a chip from the bunker side, winning 5 to 6. Match all square.

Third Hole 440 Yards, Par 5 .

Mrs. Whittington booted out a courageous brassie third after her second had been smothered, but it caught a bunker. Unrelenting as the wind, Miss Mackenzie sailed a brassie and then an iron straight down. But the Toronto Golf Club lady got on the inside by a powerful mashie niblick from the sand. Miss Mackenzie needed 3 from the greens edge. Halved in 6's. All square.

Fourth Hole, 162 Yards, Par 3

Both gauging the cross breeze perfectly two soaring irons dropped close to the flag at the short "colt" hole. Both putts had a chance but the cup was not hungry and refused to swallow. Five threes. All square.

Fifth Hole, 440 Yards, Par 5

Mrs. Whittington's drive caught the grassy top of a trap and her second was scuffed into the rough. Straight down the centre Miss Mackenzie nearly had her birdie 4, but her five was good enough. Miss Mackenzie one up.

Sixth Hole, 360 Yards, Par 5

Once again the defender was 5 yards longer from the tee which she left 230 yards behind her. Her mashie second with the wind had brakes on it and was only nine feet from its goal. Mrs. Whittington pushed her second iron and was short with a bunker to cross. Two putts won for Miss Mackenzie with a birdie 4. Miss Mackenzie 2 up.

Seventh Hole, 170 Yards, Par 3

Miss Mackenzie defied the following wind and held the green with a hushed iron. Mrs. Whittington, with a like club, pushed her ball short into the grassy gulley at the right. Her recovery mashie was strong and Miss Mackenzie became 3 up when her opponent once again pitched into the gulley and conceded the hole to a par 3.

Eighth Hole, 430 Yards, Par 5

Miss Mackenzie strove for too much distance when her brassie second from the right hand rough, and pulled across the course to the opposite tall grass. Mrs. Whittington scorced a brace of woods down the centre, and her mashie third was home. Her putt was so strong it ran clean off the green and Miss Mackenzie, who had chipped up close, got down in two strokes for a win, when her opponent missed a two-footer. Miss Mackenzie 4 up.

Ninth Hole, 440 Yards, Par 5

For the first time Mrs. Whittington outdrove the champion, but Miss Mackenzie sounded the bugle with her brassie which glided just short of the green 220 yards away. Two tapped shots by her opponent gave the latter a 51 hole deficit to face. Miss Mackenzie holed a 4-footer to go out in 41 strokes, remarkable under such conditions.

The score by holes for the first nine was:

Mackenzie . . . . . 466354364—41
Whittington. . . . . 656365576—49

Tenth Hole, 310 Yards, Par 4

A six foot putt for a par 4 by Miss Mackenzie came at the wrong time for her opponent, who missed her third two-footer of the match, after she had played to the green perfectly. Miss Mackenzie six up.

Eleventh Hole, 340 Yards, Par 5

All Miss Mackenzie needed for her second was a mashie which she cut to the green, while Mrs. Whittington topped her iron second. A par 5 gave her her 7th hole in succession. Miss Mackenzie 7 up.

Twelfth Hole, 310 Yards, Par 4

Out for a win to keep the match alive, Mrs. Whittington smashed one ten yards past her opponent from the tee, but her next shot was topped and her third was caught by the deep trap just in front of the green. Miss Mackenzie was just over in two and close with her chip. After she had missed her putt, Mrs. Whittington conceded the hole and the championship to Miss Mackenzie, who finished 8 up and 6 to play.

The approximate scores for the last three holes were Miss Mackenzie, 4, 5, 4; Mrs. Whittington, 5, 6, 6

Suspense Prolonged In National Race

NEW YORK, October 1 (Canadian Press). — Suspense over the definite settlement of the National League championship was prolonged again yesterday as the Pirates tumbled in the opening clash of a Cincinnati series while the Cardinals were idle, returning Pittsburgh's lead to two games. The Giants were pushed out of the pennant picture mathematically by a defeat from the Robins.

The Standing.

Team.	Won	Lost	Aver.	Games to Play
Pittsburgh	93	59	.610	2
St. Louis	91	61	.599	2

A victory for the Pirates or a defeat for the Cardinals in either of the clubs' two remaining games will clinch the flag for the Corsairs. The best the St. Louis club can expect would be to tie for first place by winning two while the Buccaneers dropped their contests.

E. S. Barnard, president of the Cleveland Club, who is mentioned to succeed Ban Johnson as head of the American League, is the son of a Baptist clergyman.

The Southern Bleachery baseball team of Greenville, S.C., travelled 2,500 miles to play a single game with the Defiance Bleachery nine of Attleboro, Mass.

RED TWIRLER HOLDS PIRATES

2 to 1 Defeat For League Leaders Prolongs National Pennant Race.

TWO DAYS TO GO.

NEW YORK, October 1 (Canadian Press).—Checked in all but one inning by the brilliant twirling of Red Lucas and the sensational defensive work of Hughie Critz around second base, the League leading Pittsburgh Pirates lost at Cincinnati 2 to 1 yesterday, thereby prolonging the settlement of the super-heated National League pennant race, with only two days to go.

Lucas, ace of the Reds' twirling staff, held the Buccaneers to six hits, two of which were bunched in an eighth inning rally that fell one run short of knotting the score after the Cincinnati clan had fallen on Vic Aldridge in the sixth and seventh frames for the tallies that turned out to be the deciding margin.

Two-Game Lead.

The set-back left the Bucs "dormie two," to borrow a golfing phrase, on the St. Louis Cardinals. Pittsburgh holds a two-game lead and each club has two more to play. One victory for the Pirates will clinch the pennant today or Sunday in the closing games with the Reds here, while a defeat for St. Louis in either remaining game with the Cubs would put the Cards out of the battle.

While the pitching slants of Lucas were poison for the usually heavy-hitting Pirates yesterday, Critz was also constantly annoying to the League leaders. The crack little sacker was all over his side of the field dazzling particularly with running stops that choked off Grantham in the fourth and Aldridge in the fifth. Hughey also shone at bat, getting a pop fly double in short right centre in the sixth inning that brought Allen over with the first Red run after Allen and Ford had singled in succession.

Aldridge yielded the second run in the seventh inning on Dressen's double and successive sacrifice flys by Walker and Pipp. He was replaced by a pinch hitter in the eighth and Miljus twirled against the Reds in their final turn at bat.

The only successful Pirate sortie in the eighth was started with a walk to Joe Harris. Brickell, batting for Gooch, forced him, but Earl Smith, batting for Aldridge, singled to centre. Brickell scored on L. Waner's force out of Comoresky, who was running for Smith.

Ruin Giants' Chances.

The lowly Robins ruined what remained of the Giants' pennant chances at Brooklyn by hitting hard in two innings and beating New York 10 to 5.

Vance, pitching his 16th victory of the season, held the Giants to five hits, and all the New York runs were due to fielding errors. Henry started on the mound for the visitors, but was batted out in the fifth. Barnes and Fitzsimmons failed to stop the Brooklyn attack. Four runs were scored in the fifth and six more in the seventh.

Had the Giants won yesterday they would have been within two games of the top, with a slim chance of earning a tie at the finish, as the Pirates were beaten by the Reds.

Boston fell upon the offerings of Tabor and Scott for 18 hits at Boston, and the Braves took the second game of the series from Philadelphia, 12 to 2. Brown's three doubles featured the Boston attack. Neither team made an error.

Inside Sportin Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

The long count, Mac, that Mister Tunney is said to have got from Referee Barry in the recent fracus ain't nothing to the long count them Hamilton Oskies and the Windsor Em Gees is getting from the O.B.A.A. Already them birds has been 2 weeks trying to get a winner, and if the M.G.'s cop the game this Sat. they'll hafta pull another battle to decide the serious. When it gets down to the end of Sept., Mac, the O.B.A.A. oughta step on the gas. Many a village team has been ordered to play about 3 games in 4 days to rush things along, but when it comes to Hamilton and Windsor they don't seem to be no hurry. At the rate things is going we'll be lucky to get the boys outa dugouts before Christmas. Looks like now as if the Petes might be battling in the finals along about Thanksgiving Day.

But anyway, Mac, the lads put the Toronto gang outa the running, and there's a heap of satisfaction in that, especially since the last game was played in the Queen City and the fans hadda sit and take it. The way Mister Swanston's gang smeared everything Mister Verrall and Mister Gillespie threw at them all over the landscape made it a happy affair for them what went up from Peterboro. Just after Mister Holyman spilled his triple in that 2nd inning rally, putting the Petes ahead, Mayor Holloway was heard to murmur something that sounded like, "Them fences and grandstands at Riverside Park will only come down over my dead body," and Mister Ald. Phelan yelled, "Me, too."

It was something new for the gang to win 1 of them old fashioned knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out battles. The Petes for the last 8-9 years has win their games mostly by good pitching and fielding, and when it come to a slugging match, they was generally outa luck. But Sat. they stood up and swopped punches all the way with the Saints and made Mister Buck McKenna's lads say "Uncle."

Tues., Mac, I went over to see them Hamilton Linkerts show us how this softball should really be played. This bird Mister Webb what pitched for the invaders certainly showed me some speed. The way them first few balls he throwed come in I decided right then that if the Belmonts got a couple fowls off of him they could call it a batting rally. But the home talent managed to bust through his service, as our tennis friends sez, for a bunch of hits and 5 runs, which wasn't two bad considering. Linkerts got 10 markers themselves, and if they don't win the 2nd game I could lick Gene Tunney. They play this baby baseball about as well as it can be played, and the home lads'll be satisfied to hold the score down against them.

Well, Mister Sporting Editor, until them Western teams produce a winner the Petes will do what they hadda do all summer—sit round and wait for some opposition. Surely it won't be long now.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SWAT KING HITS HIS 60TH HOMER

Creates New Major League Record For Circuit Blows in Season.

DEFEAT SENATORS 4-2.

NEW YORK, October 1 (Canadian Press).—Babe Ruth's sixtieth homer of the season, creating a new major league record, carried the New York Yankees to a 4 to 2 win over the Washington Senators yesterday.

With the score tied at 2-2 in the eighth, Koenig tripled with one out and came home as Ruth shattered his hold of 59 homers with a full-blooded shot into the seats of the right-field stand. Ruth also hit two singles and scored three of New York's runs.

Tuning his pitchers for the world series, Manager Miller Huggins worked Pipgras and Pennock in relay yesterday and the pair held Washington to five hits.

Win Double-Header.

The Sox took both games of a double-header from Detroit at Chicago by scores of 5 to 4 and 4 to 1. Bib Falk's batting was the winning factor for the White Sox. He broke up the first game with a single in the 13th inning which enabled Tommy Thomas to register his 18th victory of the season.

Falk's single in the third inning of the second game drove in two runs, putting the locals in front. The game was called in the sixth because of darkness.

Heilmann's batting featured for the visitors.

St. Louis and Cleveland divided a double-header at St. Louis, the Indians winning the first, 5 to 4, and the Browns taking the second, 9 to 4. The games were played before only 200 persons, largely as a result of the inclement weather and Thursday's disaster.

J. Sewell's homer in the sixth with two on was the feature of the first game. In the second game Wright held the visitors to five hits while his team-mates were garnering 13.

"TWO-TIMING" WATCH.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(United Press)—"Two-timing" instrument, designed to prevent inaccurate timing in football, has been invented by J. J. Lipp, western conference football official. The watch consists of two separate mechanisms within the same case.

One records the time which has passed, and the other records "time out." The watch also gives officials notice of the duties at the intervals in the game, such as warning "two minutes to play," etc. It is really an auxiliary watch coupled with a stop watch.

The western conference football committee has recommended the use of the instrument in Big 10 games this fall.

BISONS LOSE FIRST GAME TO MUD HENS

International League Champions Forced to Take Short End of Score.

LITTLE WORLD SERIES.

Jess Barnes, Toledo Twirler, Hold Bisons to Five Hits.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 1 (Associated Press).—The Toledo, champions of the American Association, upholding the honor of their circuit in the junior world's series for the first time in 26 years, defeated the Buffalo Internationals, 5 to 2, yesterday in the twist-postponed inaugural of the series.

It was almost a personal victory for Bobby Veach, who drove in three Toledo runs with a fence-clearing homer and Jess Barnes, the Toledo twirler who held the Bisons to five scattered hits. Veach opened the attack with Toledo's first hit, a long triple in the second inning, and two following singles gave the Mudhens a two-run lead. Leberveau led off Toledo's third inning with a single; Marriott was safe on an error; and Veach, a former veteran of the Detroit Tigers, picked out a good one and drove it over the left-field wall.

Squeeze Across a Couple.

That settled the ball game, the way Barnes was turning back the Bisons, but the International League title-holders managed to squeeze across a couple of runs. In the fourth inning Fisher and Bisonette opened up with singles and Fisher dashed home when Maguire threw wild to first on Andy Cahen's grounder. In the eighth Devine began the inning with a single, Chester Falk, pinch-hitting for Stryker, was walked, and Devine came home on Tyson's scorching grounder over second. Maguire dived to catch the ball and tossed it to Cote for a force play at second, but both Toledo players were flat on the ground and there was no chance to head off the Bison's second and last run.

The official attendance was 9,890. At midnight last night the two teams and about 500 Toledo rooters left on special trains for to-day's and Sunday's games at Buffalo. They return here Tuesday to resume the series until one team has won five games.

The retirement of Bill Clarke, for twenty years varsity baseball coach at Princeton, marks the passing of one of the outstanding figures in the college game.

RADIO OWNERS TO MEET AGAIN

Club Will Resume Meetings This Month—Plans Interference Committee.

TO IMPROVE RECEPTION.

President H. O. Fisk of the Peterborough Radio Club will call a meeting of that club this month to discuss plans for the coming season.

During the winter of 1926-27 meetings were held each month and the members, numbering more than one hundred, enjoyed them besides getting an insight into this invention which has grown to be one of the world's leading industries.

These meetings were of an instructive nature, but an even greater endeavor has been suggested and that is to form an interference committee which will go into complains and try as far as possible to eliminate these annoyances and make reception better.

Notice of the meeting will be published later and members and those interested in radio are invited to attend and make suggestions.

HARVEST SERVICE HELD AT WESTWOOD

Members of All Saints' Church Choir Attend St. Michael's.

All Saints' Choir at Westwood

Several members of All Saints' Church Choir motored out to Westwood on Thursday evening to assist with the Harvest Thanksgiving Service in St. Michael's Church, this being the 50 years' Jubilee of the Westwood Church.

In spite of the very sharp thunder showers the beautiful and artistically decorated little church was filled to overflow.

The service was in charge of Rev. J. T. O'Conor-Fenton and the two Scripture lessons were read by his son, Nigel O'Conor-Fenton, who is a teholagical student in McGill University, Montreal. The special sermon was preached by Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, who used the appropriate text, the last verse of the 150th Psalm, enlarging on the virtue of praise and thanksgiving and also the significance of St. Michael, the Prince of all Angels.

The service was fully choral and the surpliced choir formed a procession through the church during the first hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past." The special music used by the choir including Simper's Magnificat, was the 'Harvest Thanksgiving anthem, "O Lord How Manifold Are Thy Works,' by Sir Joseph Barnby and "Break Forth Into Joy," by Caleb Simper.

At the close of the inspiring service the visitors assembled at the home of Mrs. Cardwell, where they enjoyed very dainty and bountiful refreshment. At this time the Rev. J. T. OConor-Fenton graciously thanked the choir and friends for coming out, as did also Colonel R. E. Birdsall.

The choir was transported through the kindness of Rev. J. D. Paterson, Mrs. Elliott, Mr. Gatfield, Mr. Waudby, Mr. Dobbin, and others.

Boutot Wins First Professional Battle

NEW YORK, October 1 (Associated Press). — Fighting his first professional battle, Rosy Boutot, amateur heavyweight champion of New York State, scored six knock-downs and a technical knockout over Tony Clifford, New York, in one round and one minute of battling on the Tom Heeney-Jim Maloney card at Madison Square Garden last night. Boutot, who hails originally from Fort Kent, Me., weighed 211¼ and Clifford 189.

No less than six knock-downs marked the first round, Boutot going down himself for two of them. Both took full advantage of the count. After Clifford went down twice for nine counts in the second round, the referee stopped the bout, which was scheduled for four rounds.

In a second four-rounder, Lew Warshaw, New York, 176¼, won a decision over Francis Goodwin, St. Louis, 176½, piling up a big lead in the last round when he had Goodwin groggy with uppercuts.

ALL STAR COMPANY IN MILLION DOLLAR FILM

Ronald Colman Heads Cast of Two Thousand in "Beau Geste."

One of the most carefully selected motion picture casts and one that contains many "big" names, has been brought together for "Beau Geste," Paramount's most important screen undertaking which comes to the Capitol on Monday

Ronald Colman plays the title role, that of Michael or "Beau," the eldest of the three young brother English aristocrats who sacrifice all for each other. Neil Hamilton is the second brother, "Digby," and Ralph Forbes, playing his first screen role in America, the youngest, "John."

Alice Joyce, one of the screen's most beautiful women, and Mary Brian, are the two—and the only two—principal feminine players.

Noah Beery was assigned to what critics declare to be one of the finest character roles in the history of motion pictures, that of the brave, brutal sergeant of the French Foreign Legion with whom the three brothers got the Sahara Desert to appear in one of the strangest, most dramatic and tragic of real life exploits.

Of scarcely less importance are the roles played by Norman Trevor, a major in the Legion, and William Powell, George Rigas, Victor McLaglen, Bernard Seigel and Donald Stuart as enlisted men.

Four of the most important child screen parts of the year are enacted by Maurice Murphy, Philippe de Lacy and Mick McBan, who portray the three brothers in an early sequence, and Betsy Ann Hisle, appearing as Mary Brian.

Herbert Brenon directed this huge production for Paramount at an encampment of 2,000 men on the desert, southwest of Yuma, Arizona.

Major Percival Christopher When is the author of "Beau Geste." John Russell and Herbert Brenon adapted it for screen use and Paul Shofield wrote the continuity.

AT THE REGENT.

"THE MAGIC GARDEN."

There are no pictures awaited more eagerly by the fan world than those which are made from the books of the late Gene Stratton-Porter. The newest of these to be released by F. B. O is 'The Magic Garden,' which is coming to the Regent Theatre next Monday, when it begins a three-day run. This beloved writer concerned herself chiefly with human nature; the hopes, happiness, griefs, and faith of men and women. It is for this reason that her appeal is so universal; she understood the fulness of life, the glory and heartaches that go into the making of every day. In this particular story the attention is centered upon a boy and girl who meet in their childhood in the boy's magic garden. It is there that the lad plays on his violin for the little girl, and together they pledge their youthful love. With the memory of this, the boy goes abroad for years of study, and his sweetheart meanwhile waits for the glorious day when his genius shall be proclaimed. The struggles, heartaches, beautiful dreams and hopes that befall the lovers during these years forms a theme that is filled with human interest and poignant realism. J. Leo Meehan, Mrs. Porter's son-in-law, is the director as well as the adaptor, while Charles Kerr wrote the continuity. The cast includes many noted players, such as Marga et Morris, Raymond Keane, Joyce Coad, Philippe de Lacey, Charles Clary, William V. Mong, Walter Wilkinson, Alfred Allen, Cesare Gravina, Paulette D and Hedda Hopper.

CAMPBELLFORD FAIR

hot-dog and fair taffy ballyhoos, a little trip in the air was a welcome relief.

The Horse Races.

The main attraction, as always, was the speed events for which there were so many entries that classes had to be sub-divided into smaller divisions. George Tice, as starter, kept the drivers well lined up ,and familiar with what scope his authority embraced. Time and aagin he rang the bell and sent them back to try again. There was no room for argument. He had been installed as official starter ,and he intended to make the starts as correct as he possibly could. Among the judges were W. H. Nelson of Warkworth and Clayton Tucker fo Sterling, while there were also seen on the stand C. S. Gillespie, veteran turf man, J. N. Stone, Campbellford, and others.

The racing was carried on under the Canadian National rules. According to these ,the times for the different events is not allowed to be published. The horses were divided into three classes, A, B and C. The latters class was subdivided into section (a) and (b) on account of the large number of entries. In spite of the heavy rain of the previous evening and night, the track was in excellent condition, only two small soft spots nearly in front of the grand stand to remind those concerned that the weather had been bad.

In Class A there were four entries. The race was run in good time and the judges' decision gave the victory to Arm Dexter, owned by Mr. Bowes of Port Hope. The horse performed the remarkable feat of winning first place in all three heats. The other three horses were 2nd, Alfred Elk; 3rd, Jim Todd; 4th Minnie Hal.

Class B drew five entries and Hal E, owned by Arthur Elmhirst of Keene, captured the honors. Della J. was second, Doris Patch 3rd, Rene Hal fourth, and Alta Silk fifth.

Class S, section (a), claimed five entries, but only four horses finished the race. These were Riverside Hal, who won first money and is owned by Steven McQuaig of Havelock, Silent Todd, second; Bobbie Patch Jr., third, and Jack Moore, fourth.

Class C, section (b), had four entries, and the winner was a Carleton Place horse, Hal Miller. Hal Direct came in for the second money, with Butcher Girl in third place, and Flossie Pointer bringing up the rear of the ride.

After the comparatively professional drivers had had their hour of glory, the green racers took the field. Whether it was by good luck or good management, is not known, but they only made one false start before the starter bawled "Go," and they were off for the ride of their lives. Of the four that started only three finished, and the winner had a wide margin.

Music is Good

Between heats the Northumberland Regimental Band furnished music for the entertainment of the spectators, and the accompaniment of the trapeze artists who were the main attraction opposite the grand stand. They were the Stubblefield Quartette and held the attention of the crowd for their entire performance. After the first two actresses had completed their part of the program, Frances Elliott did a solitaire act that seemed to outshine the preceding exhibition. The spectators showed their appreciation by their hearty applause. Frances is a very attractive young lady of not quite sixteen years. The show business has been the family calling for at least three generations, for George Stubblefield, who is the manager, is her grandfather. One of the actresses who precedes her is her mother. This may partially explain her skillful grace when performing in mid-air. She has only been with the quartette for about two years, and during that time her grandfather has been her coach and instructor.

This year the society had taken the precaution to have the grounds properly fenced between enclosures and was very diligent in keeping the track clear of pedestrians as well as motor cars. The result was that the day passed without a single accident which would otherwise have been almost certain with such a huge crowd. Special police directed traffic and would-be trouble makers soon learned to respect their word. This precaution eradicated much of the usual milling and aimless wandering that usually is in order when large crowds gather for such events.

Motor Row.

The General Motors occupied the point of vantage in the space allotted to this particular branch of exhibition. Their display was mostly if not entirely of closed models and their marquee was very attractive indeed. With a fine closed model Buick as a background, the management had built up a pleasant show room with carpeted floor, music and comfortable seats for visitors. They were careful to explain that their first desire was to display and compare and that sales were, for the day, placed in a secondary place of importance.

Hudson and Essex motors were prominent members of motor row and the Gillespie Garage of Peterborough showed some of the latest Chryslers. While few makes were on display, those manufacturers who did exhibit their cars made a worth while effort which, from their reports, repaid them well.

In the evening the midway was the main attraction for those who had not yet had enough. The various games and pleasure contraptions were kept busy till closing time. The merry-go-round was loaded to capacity for every trip and the chair and plane did not have to wait long for its full compiement of passengers. Apparently the fortune teller's fame had been noised abroad for she was striving for several hours to get to the end of a long line of waiting people. The famine of soft drinks which came about late in the afternoon had not yet been relieved and the thirsty ones were forced to find solace in coffee from the booth under the judge's stand which was operated by the Girl Guides of St. John's Church. The coffee was of an excellent brand, but when something cooling is indicated, it is unfortunate to have to drink something hot or remain thirsty.

The Stubblefield Quartette repeated their act of the afternoon and the electric lights, though vastly different from the spotlights of the stage, set off the scene wonderfully well. The wind having gone down may have made some difference as well.

When spoken to toward the end of the evening, some of the directors were of the opinion that, successful as the fair had been, it would be bigger and better than ever next year. They were very enthusiastic about everything and highly pleased with the success which had attended their venture. In every way, this year's fair has eclipsed all other fairs ever held in the community. Every prize was contested by larger numbers of competitors. The attendance was far in excess of previous years and the weather was ideal. There were no accidents other than the usual minor affairs and no trouble of any kind within the grounds.

The largest entry list that has ever been recorded here has made it impossible for the prize list to be properly arranged and ready for the press for another twenty-four hours. At a late hour last night the staff was merely beginning to accomplished their objective. They expect to complete their task shortly after noon today.

APPEAL DISMISSED.

Dominion Steel Asks Permissions To Go To Privy Council.

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 1.— (Canadian Press.)—The Supreme Court of Nova Scotia divided equally on the appeal of the Dominion Steel Corporation from the decision of Mr. Justice Chisholm ordering the winding up of the corporation. The appeal is therefore dismissed without costs. Counsel for the Dominion Steel Corporation immediately asked for leave to appeal to the Privy Council.

Performance Proves Kolster Radio

THE true test of radio superiority is what you hear. Technical claims are confusing—they mean nothing. Appearance is no test at all—because most radios look good. It's what you hear that counts.

And, when you listen to a Kolster, you realize immediately that in distance—hair-line selectivity—tone quality and ease of control—the Kolster is indeed superior to any set sold at within one hundred dollars of its price.

Kolster Radio is a Canadian-manufactured product. It was developed and perfected by Dr. Frederick A. Kolster, internationally famous radio scientist. In its superiority of performance—something you can prove by listening and comparing—it establishes a new standard of "value-per-dollar" in radio.

Hear a Kolster. Compare its performance with that of any other set. Then compare prices. We know what your judgment will be.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS MEET

Marmora Scene of Meeting of District Association.

PROGRESS REPORTED.

MARMORA, October 1. — (Special.) — Stirling, Rawdon and Marmora Sunday School Association, consisting of sixteen schools in the territory covered, held its annual convention at Marmora United Church on Thursday afternoon and evening. Delegates were present from each school represented.

At the afternoon session following devotional exercises by the Rev. C. J. Beckley, and President Fred Hulin's capable address, the roll call was responded to with a report from each school delegate. A ladies' quartette having rendered an appropriate selection, the department superintendents gave their reports.

J. F. Baker the energetic secretary, gave an interesting statistical report showing 170 superintendents and teachers, 1144 pupils, 140 cradle roll members, and 92 home department members in fourteen of the schools embraced. Holy Trinity and Zion schools, Marmora are new units. Mr. Baker also stated that the association in session was of one hundred per cent. standard, leading the other three in Centre Hastings. Hev. H. P. L. Seymour, Provincial Representative, in demonstrating the teaching of the lesson, Elijah on Carmel, drew forth a helpful discussion.

At the meeting of the executive the following officers were nominated:

President F. Hulin; First Vice-President, S. Meiklejohn; Second Vice-President B. C. Tucker; Secretary-Treasurer, J. F. Baker; Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, W. Warren.

Department Superintendents: — Children's Work, Miss Hazel Bateman; Boys' Work, W. Warren; Girls' Work, Mrs. George Eastwood; Young Peoples', T. McMullen; Adult Division, A. Brown; Home Department, Mrs. C. U. Clancy; Teacher Training, Miss Freda Matthews; Missionary, Mrs. William Potts; Temperance, F. S. Pearce.

A delightful supper was served by the ladies' aid of Marmora. At the evening session devotional exercises were taken by Rev. P. F. Gardiner. The Marmora Male Quartette furnished two appreciated numbers.

The banner was awarded by President Hulin to Bethel. Mount Pleasant was decided upon as the next place of meeting.

The officers having been installed by Rev. F. G. Joblin, an address was given by the provincial representative. He dealt first with teacher training and temperance. He then paid tribute to the splendid inter-denominational spirit he had noted from the township chart. Referring to cradle work and that among the young, he said, "Boys and girls, are the way the Lord made them. The problem in dealing with them was that of interest. It should be the biggest business in the busiest of lives. We should capitalize on the intensity of interest we find displayed in them. There should be an intimate touch of the teacher with the individual scholar."

Rev. C. W. Barrett said the closing prayer.

The Man Who Had No Use For Life Insurance

THIRTY years ago, he was a prosperous merchant with a business worth $50,000.00. His ambition was to develop it to a value of $100,000.00.

For months, he resisted all arguments to buy life insurance, but, finally, signed an application and received a thirty-year endowment policy for $3,000.00.

At the end of thirty years he wanted to retire. But times had changed. His business had not grown, as he expected. Instead of the $100,000.00 of his early ambition, he salvaged only $11,000.00!

Accumulated profits had brought the total payment he received on his $3,000.00 endowment to $5,200.00.

Thirty years ago he had little or no use for life insurance. Today he says insurance is like an anchor in the cross-currents of life.

CHRYSLER cars are designed and built for people who want that extra something which makes all the difference between performance and value that are merely satisfactory and performance and value that are truly distinctive.

Pick-up, power and speed that amaze as much as they exhilarate —instant responsiveness to steering wheel—brakes that positively insure safety—most unusual riding comfort—marked freedom from mechanical cares—alluring smartness of line and color.

There are four great lines to meet the four great divisions of the market—"52," "62," "72" and the Imperial "80." See them. Among them you are bound to find the car that exactly fits your needs—the car that actually provides that "extra something" at a price unbelievably low. 986

WOOLLEN MILLS NOT BEING SOLD

Secretary of Canadian Woollens Declares Rumors Unfounded.

EATONS MENTIONED.

Canadian Woollens' Auburn and Bonnerworth Mills will remain in the hands of their present owners. This statement was given out this morning by W. Tinker, Secretary-Treasurer, when approached with a question as to the truth of a rumor which rapidly gained currency in the city, to the effect that these factories would shortly pass into the hands of the T. Eaton Company of Toronto.

"There is not a single grain of truth in the assertion," was Mr. Tiner's emphatic denial. "The whole thing is unworthy of the slightest attention."

Questioned as to the possibility of a reorganization of the company, Mr. Tinker said the only thing contemplated along that line, was referred to in the annual financial report to the shareholders, where mention was made of the purchase of the Milton and Otonabee Spinning Mills, which for the present are being operaed as separate units, but may at a future date be incorprated with Canadian Woollens Limited.

LABOR PARTY WANTS PEACE

Weapon of Force in Industry to Go Into the Discard.

CONFERENCE MONDAY.

LONDON, Oct. 1 (United Press).—Labor's platform for the next election in Great Britain will be hammered out at the Labor Party conference in Blackpool, which opens next Monday.

Whether a special surtax of investment incomes of over 500 pounds a year or the old levy on capital shall be advocated will be one of the most important questions dealt with, while the conference will also consider what is to be done about unemployment and whether the subject of birth control should appear in the party's programme.

Opinions are divided on all these problems, but they are apparently united in desiring industrial peace and in renouncing the weapon of force for power which might come with the next election.

The curious spectacle of the Labor Party advocating peace in industry for which Robert Williams, last year's chairman, lost his seat on the Executive because he urged it a year too soon, is affording no little amusement to Conservatives and Liberals, but Labor is evidently undaunted by their taunts.

AROUND THE CITY

Quite a crowd collected before the window of Boyle's Grocery this morning, when a young lady was demonstrating the cleansing power of Diano. A horse-shoe crooked glass about half an inch in diameter was suspended in an upright position above a white porcelain pail. In one of the crooks of the tube a deposit of hair and grease was lodged, as might happen in any drain pipe. When the pipe became clogged the Diano was applied and amidst bubbling and boiling the deposit was eaten away and dislodged while the solution, apparently did no damage to the porcelain pail.

During the demonstration cards were held up to the view of the audience, explaining the action of Diano.

At 3.52 this morning a fire alarm was sent in from box 17 at the corner of Park and Townsend street.

When the brigade arrived there was no fire and no one in sight who knew of a fire. One person said he had seen an inebriate meddling with the box and later go away singing lustily. The drunkard, who was hatless and coatless, proceeded up Park street, but could not be located although the chief threw a cordon of men out to scour the district for about three blocks. The chief claims that the man must have shaken himself rapidly out of his drunken stupor or he could not have disappeared before the brigade arrived. The probability is that he lived somewhere in the vicinity. The culprit if caught, will be hailed into the police court.

STUNT CONTEST

Local Club Took Second Place Last Year and Will Try Again

LONDON, Ont., October 3.— (By Staff Reporter.)— Peterborough Kiwanis Club is well represented at the Ontario-Quebec District Convention which opened here with a Church Service last night and is continuing to-day and to-morrow, and Peterborough Kiwanians are taking a prominent part in the business and entertainment features.

One of the best Club displays is that of the Peterborough Club, prepared by John A. McKone and the Secretary. It is made up in hexagon form, of blue and white cards bearing photographs of Kiwanis activities and samples of Club notices and bulletins, with a large centre panel on which is pasted two copies of the full page advertisement for the Produced in Canada Exhibition, donated by The Examiner. Included in the display also are photographs of President Isaac P. McNabb and Vice-President John I. Allen. The latter is being much talked of as a prospect for the next Lieutenant-Governorship of the Central Division of the Ontario-Quebec District.

The splendid hotel accommodation in London is taxed to capacity, with upwards of a thousand Kiwanians in attendance. Most of the members brought their wives, for whom special entertainment has been arranged.

The following were registered from Peterborough: Mr. and Mrs. John I. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Boyle, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Heron, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Huffman, Rev. J. D. and Mrs. Paterson, Messrs. I. P. McNabb, C. Elliott, Jos. John, M. Bredin, W. Oke and Dr. E. H. Wood. Many others will arrive later in the day, and to-morrow, to participate in the "Stunt" to be given on Tuesday night in the Patricia Theatre. Some of those in the cast are: Martin B. Chenhall, Director; E. Vernon Morphet, H. McCannan, Ivan T. Lillico, H. J. Boyle, J. J. Turner, John I. Allen, Joseph John, C. Elliott, I. P. McNabb, John R. Heron, M. Bredin and H. C. Huffman. There is a trophy given to the winner of the "stunt" contest, and last year the Peterborough Club took second place. There are ten clubs entered this year.

To-day's programme includes conferences for Secretaries, Presidents and District Trustees, and sections of these have been allotted to the three Peterborough representatives. There will be a general business session, followed by a formal dinner at which Past International President John H. Moss will speak, and the Governor's Ball, the leading social event of the Convention. It is expected that the day's activities will end in the early morning with an informal dance at Port Stanley.

The official delegates from the Peterborough Club are President McNabb and Secretary Heron.

Yesterday's Sermon.

Kiwanian Rev. William Beattie, D. D., C.M.G., opened the Convention yesterday when he addressed a great gathering at First United Church on the subject, "Kiwanians as Breakers and Builders."

"Kiwanis is an outward expression of an unwritten creed of Brotherhood and essential equality," he said. "Get behind a man's "Mr." or "Dr." or "Professor" or "Colonel," get behind his "position" in industry or finance or profession and you may capture the boy who a few years ago played ball in the old cow pasture and ran a circus in the woodshed. And if to-day at a Kiwanis luncheon he schemes to "raise" his comrades into ecstasy by electrifying his chair he is showing himself to be just a grown up edition of the boy who twenty or thirty years ago used, at school, the pin-in-the-toe-of-the-boot method."

"To break down the ancient walls of prejudice and cast among men, is no less the task of Kiwanis," said Dr. Beattie, "than the avowed object of building."

"A speaker from India, addressing the London Club recently referring to the fine fellowship and Brotherhood of Kiwanis in contrast to the cast system of India, remarked, 'A Kiwanis Club in India would be an impossibility. Why, asked Dr. Beattie, "because Kiwanis breaks down the wall that separate man from man, youth from staid mid life and tradesman from professional man and declares itself a Brotherhood of essential equality. As Builders, Kiwanians recognize as a first essential the wrecking of these old walls of religious, racial, social and political prejudice and the laying thereon of foundations of mutual trust and good will.

To the task of Building better business, industrial, civic and international relationships, this Service Club has set its hand and from it, please God, they shall not turn back. Would you look upon her finest product? Look into the faces of thousands of under-privileged boys who have been helped over the difficult places of life, and read in them the expression of new hope and determination.

Prominent delegates including the Rev. T. S. Roy of Boston, Mass., assisted Dr. Beattie in the service.

The Kiwanis chorus of the London Club, which achieved international fame at the Montreal Convention in 1926, replaced the church choir for the occasion and greatly delighted the congregation with their exquisite rendering of several anthems.

Nine Persons Injured When Train Derailed

EDWARDSVILLE, Olls., Oct. 3. —(Canadian Press).—Nine persons were injured when three coaches of the Peoria limited train on the Illinois Traction system were derailed here and crashed into the porch of the Vanze Hotel.

Two of the passengers, Miss Mildred Mitts, of Decatur, Ills. and Miss Callie Farrers of Springfield, Ills., were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital at Venice, Ills., for treatment of severe injuries.

Motorman W. Wave, who was bruised said the brakes failed to function when the train reached the curve near the hotel.

INQUEST DATE IS NOT YET SET

Fire Marshal Has Not Completed Investigation of Explosion.

SURVIVORS RECOVERING.

TORONTO, Oct. 3. — (Canadian Press.)— Pending completion of the investigation by Provincial Fire Marshal Heaton into the deaths of C. R. House, his wife and infant daughter, killed in the explosion which wrecked their home here on Saturday, no arrangements have yet been made for the inquest.

The four young survivors of the family, John, six, Adrienne, ten, Joan, eight, and Victor, twelve, are all out of danger. John is in hospital suffering from burns and was reported in better conditions to-day, while the other children, suffering from bruises and shock, are in the care of their grandparents at Niagara Falls.

The cook and the nurse maid of the ill-fated household were reported in good condition in the General Hospital's emergency ward to-day. Esther Kallio, the cook, is suffering from burns and scalp wounds received when she was blown out of the kitchen, while Lulu Histakki suffered hip injuries when the force of the explosion blew her from an upper storey window.

Marshal Heaton's tentative opinion that the use of gasoline in a washing machine in the basement caused the explosion brought the comment that this was quite probable from J. W. Bain, professor of chemical engineering in the University of Toronto. His theory was that using gasoline on the curtains in the washing machine vaporized it very quickly, giving in the basement much the same condition as in the cylinder of a gas engine. Any red hot object, fire or even the friction produced by rubbing the curtains, he said, would produce an explosion capable of doing even greater damage than was the case. A single gallon of gasoline, vaporized, was enough to blow up a house

Funeral To-morrow.

The funeral of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. House and their three year old daughter will likely be held to-morrow from a local funeral parlor. Dr. M. Crawford, chief coroner, will probably endeavor to bring to light the details of the purchase of the gasoline which caused the explosion.

SHORTHORN SALE RULES ALTERED

Association Decides That All Animals Must Be Inspected.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough County Shorthorn Breeders' Association was held in the office of the Department of Agriculture on Saturday, with the President, Walter Bowles, in the chair. The following officers were elected:

President—Walter Bowles.
Vice-Pres.—M. Pimmett.
Secretary—Beecher Matchett.

It was decided to hold the annual sale again this year. The time set was the first week in March. For this year's sale all animals must be inspected and passed. It is hoped by this means to improve the quality of the shorthorns offered. To make this inspection possible it will be necessary for all entries for the sale to be in the hands of the secretary by the middle of January. Already about 25 head have been entered.

BRITISH AND CANADIAN PREMIERS OPEN ATLANTIC 'PHONE SERVICE

Mr. King and Mr. Baldwin Talk From Respective Offices.

HEAR DISTINCTLY.

Service Will Be Link, Drawing Countries Closer, Both Believe.

OTTAWA, Ont., October 3 (Canadian Press). — "Hello!" "Are you there?" "Is that Mr. Mackenzie King?" "Yes, is that Mr. Baldwin?"

Premier King sat in his room at the east block, 'phone to his ear. About him were gathered officials of the Bell Telephone Company and newspapermen, each with an extension receiver. Away at Number 10 Downing Street, London, Premier Baldwin sat in the old room where successive Imperial Conferences have sat to discuss the problems of the Empire.

In Ottawa, the clock in the Peace Tower broke the conversation with the boom of ten. Big Ben at Westminster was striking three. It was the official inauguration of the trans-Atlantic telephone service between points in Great Britain on one hand and Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, and Quebec on the other.

Mr. Baldwin's voice, as it came over the extension receivers, was at times indistinct, but the two Prime Ministers evidently heard each other with facility.

"I hear you distinctly, Mr. Baldwin; do you hear me?" questioned Mr. King.

"I hear you as though you were in the next room," said Mr. Baldwin.

Mr. Baldwin continued: "I want to thank the people of Canada again for our very pleasant visit to Canada. We carried away the happiest memories of it."

Mr. Baldwin said he felt confident that the telephone service between the two countries would bring Canada and the Mother Country closer to each other.

Mr. King replied, "There is no doubt that this will be a link drawing us closer together. May I repeat, on behalf of Canada, how delighted we were with your visit and the visit of the Royal Princes. I should like to say that we hope this new bond between the Old Country and Canada will have a unifying effect similar to that which radio broadcasting had in Canada on Confederation Day."

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, chatted over the 'phone with Mr. Leash, Director of Telephones for the British Government. There were conversations between officials of the telephone services, pictures both still and movie were taken, and the party repaired to an adjoining room where a film showed how the voices were carried across the sea.

AVIATION IN CANADA.

No country provides a better field for air communication than Canada. The distances between the cities are great and the climate is favourable for flying. Experience shows that with the suitable equipment, winter presents no insuperable obstacle to the continuous operation of air routes.

DOMINION'S NICKEL PRODUCTION.

The nickel production of Canada constitutes 85 per cent of the world's output. This is derived from the Sudbury district, Ontario, supplemented by the nickel recovered as a by-product from the treatment of the silver-cobalt-nickel ores of the Cobalt area.

Unmasked Men Get $2,500 In Spectacular Daylight Bank Holdup at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3 (Canadian Press).—Seven unmasked men, armed with revolvers, sawed-off shotguns, and a machine gun, renewed the wave of daylight robberies Saturday by staging one of the most spectacular bank holdings in the city's history, escaping with between $3,500 and $5,000 in currency and silver.

While the South Broadway Branch of the Merchants National Bank was filled with customers seeking to transact business before the closing at noon, six men, rushing forward under cover of a machine gun mounted on a tripod in an expensive stolen automobile, cowed employees and patrons while currency and silver was scooped into satchels.

Five employees on duty were forced to lie down in the rear of the bank while customers numbering fifty were herded into a corner. One of the robbers stood in the doorway with a sawed-off shot-gun with which he menaced the shrinking customers. Another robber remained in the automobile behind the machine gun, mounted in such a way that it commanded the street.

Other members of the gang scooped up all the money in sight. Most of the robbers appeared to be between 25 and 35 years old.

As the gang rushed out of the door, R. C. Elliott, manager of the bank, was felled with a blow from a revolver butt. The bandit machine left at fast speed along Broadway. No trace of the men had been found last night.

KIWANIS CLUBS GIVE COTTAGE TO BOWMANVILLE BOYS' FARM

Peterborough Club Well Represented at Ceremony on Saturday.

PREMIER CHIEF SPEAKER.

Value of Farm Training and of Service Clubs' Work is Stressed.

Five members of Peterborough Kiwanis Club, J. J. Turner, J. A. McKone, John I. Allen, John Chadwick and Art Moffat, represented the local organization at the ceremony on Saturday afternoon, when in the presence of a distinguished gathering, including Premier Ferguson and Hon. Lincoln Goldie, "Kiwanis Cottage," the gift of the Kiwanis Clubs of the province and of the Provincial Cottage was formally handed over to the executives of the Boys' Training Farm at Bowmanville. The formal presentation was made by W. R. Cockburn, of Toronto, Governor of Ontario - Quebec district of Kiwanis International, who spoke of the aims and objects of the Kiwanis Clubs, and responding to a suggestion made earlier in the afternoon by the Prime Minister, assured Mr. Ferguson that Kiwanians did not regard their work as complete when they had helped underprivileged children to secure a position.

Peterborough Kiwanians contributed nearly $700 to the cost of the building.

Premier's Speech.

The Prime Minister's speech in the school-room preceding the handing over of the cottage was a splendid address.

The supreme value of the Boys' Farm, he [illegible] that it was diverting young [illegible] all, he added, to legitimate channels, all gravitated to it as a boy, Thomas Canning their [illegible] had been allowed to follow his own personal bent, he did not know where he would have ultimately landed. Certainly he would not have become Prime Minister of Ontario. (Laughter).

He had seen some of the activities of the school and there was no question as to their usefulness. Leadership rather than coercion was the purpose of the school. By inculcating the boys with right ideals, by placing them in a proper atmosphere and, above all, by appealing to that self-respect that was never far away from any boy, the school was developing them into good citizens.

He knew that service clubs like Rotary and Kiwanis were intensely

Windsor City Police Make Further Raids

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 3 (Canadian Press).—With 90 per cent of the downtown bootleggers and gamblers out of business or moved elsewhere, Windsor and Provincial Police turned their attention to the residential areas in a series of week-end raids. More than twenty persons, including three women were arrested.

Ten men were arrested and a large quantity of beer and whiskey was seized by Provincial officers in a raid at 1230 Langlois Avenue. A selling charge was preferred against the reputed proprietor, Paul Kaniwaki, wrestler, of local prominence.

The same squad arrested Mrs. Annie Burnett at 1154 Drouhillard Road, Ford. Beer and whiskey was found in the garage. She will be charged with sale of liquor. Two patrons were released on bail. George, Taylor, 36, arrested at 957 Langlois Avenue was also charged by provincials with sale of liquor.

CITY SUFFERS SE VERE LOSS IN THE DEATH OF R. B. ROGERS

Was One of Leading Citizens and Man of Wide Interests.

BUILT LIFT-LOCKS.

Had Turned Attention To Farming Since Retirement From His Profession.

Death has claimed one of the best known and respected citizens of Peterborough in the person of Richard Birdsall Rogers who has been all his life practically a resident of Ashburnham now known as East City. In 1916 he moved to Beechwood Farm in the Townshop of Douro, just on the outskirts of the city.

He was the son of Robert David Rogers and Elizabeth Birdsall Rogers, and was born on January 16, 1857. In profession a civil engineer and Provincial and Dominion Land Surveyor, until 1884, when he was appointed superintending engineer of the Trent Valley Canal, and retained the position until 1905, when other activities claimed his personal attention owing to the organization of the Northumberland Paper and Power Company developments.

He was educated at the old Union School in Peterborough, and afterwards at Trinity College School, Port Hope, in 1872 to 1878, at McGill University Montreal, graduating in Civil and Mechanical Engineering. He also qualified as a Mining and Assaying Engineer, obtaining several degrees in recognition of his abilities and proficiency. He was a member of the Ontario Land Surveyors' Association, and a Charter member of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers (now the Engineering Institute of Canada.) He was for several years on the Council of that body and was nominated for the Vice-Presidency, but deferred contesting the position, giving place to a Toronto nominee. He was a member of the Institute of Civil Engineers of London, Eng. He gained at McGill University the degrees of Bachelor of Applied Science in all departments of study.

In this city, as well as abroad he was known and will be remembered as the professional man who suggested the use of the hydraulic lift locks, erected in after years on the line of the Trent Canal, in the Midland district, making the suggestion to the then Minister of Railways and Canals in the year 1895, Hon. John Haggart. The idea impressed the Department, and he was commissioned to go to Europe and ascertain the facts and methods made use of in constructing two locks with such a function. He left Canada in February of 1896 and inspected the lock at LaFontinette, in Southern France, at Labouvinere, in Belgium, and at Northwich, England. The latter lock was a small affair, built to serve the purposes of a salt works in the neighborhood. All were small structures, in comparison with the size and capacity of the locks at Peterborough, and at Kirkfield, Ont., on the line of the Trent Canal, beyond Balsam Lake. He was afforded all information, the European engineers being fully convinced that there would be no professional skill available in Canada to undertake such design and construction.

On his return to Canada he was instructed by the Department to prepare the plans for the letting of the contracts for construction. Eventually, the steel work was handled by the Dominion Bridge Company of Montreal and the concrete work by subcontractors for the Department. The Peterborough lock was officially opened on July 9, 1904, when a large gathering of governmental officials

EXPLOSION KILLS THREE AND INJURES SIX IN TORONTO HOME WHICH IS WRECKED BY BLAST

Ice Wagon Damages Car While Passing

Passing along George Street en route for Bowmanville for the opening of Kiwanis Cottage at the Boys' Farm on Saturday about 12.30 p.m., the car of J. J .Turner was struck by a motor truck belonging to the Allin Ice Company, which came up from behind, the driver evidently misjudging the distance between the two vehicles as he endeavoured to overtake and pass Mr. Turner.

Mr. Turner, who had just started his car after leaving a place of business on George Street, was travelling south between Brock and Hunter Streets, when the mishap occurred. The force of the impact raised the left side of Mr. Turner's car nearly a foot from the ground, and damaged the running board. The right mud guard of the truck was also badly buckled.

None of the occupants in either car or truck was injured, and both vehicles were able to proceed to their destinations.

LONGER TERMS BEING IMPOSED

Drunken Drivers Go To Jail For Ten and Fifteen Days.

MANY CASES TO-DAY.

Fifteen days for driving a car while intoxicated was the sentence given Hector Smith this morning by Magistrate O. A. Langley when the accused pleaded guilty to driving a car on Saturday night on Downie street while intoxicated. Chief Constable Newhall said that Mr. Smith at 7.00 p.m. on Saturday while driving his car north on Downie street drove around the bridge at the William Hamilton Company and into the creek. When officers arrived they found Mr. Smith sitting in the car in the midst of the creek very drunk.

His Worship in passing sentence said: "It is a very serious offence to be driving a car while intoxicated, and I am determined to put an end to it. You understand you are not only taking your own life in your hands, but that of hundreds of other people. The penalty is from one week to a month in the common jail and it will be increased until this thing is stopped.

David Taylor, an Indian of the Curve Lake reserve, was given ten days when he pleaded guilty to a similar charge of driving a car while intoxicated in the township of Smith.

Tayor, who is leader of the Indian band at Curve Lake, was in a very unfortunate predicament, as his band is to play at the fair there this week, but His Worship said that the band would have to get along without the drummer for ten days. He thought it was a case for the Indian agent to investigate as an Indian cannot get a permit and it is a serious thing to give an Indian liquor. "In giving you ten days I am considering that you are an Indian and have not as much understanding in regard to the effects of liquor as a white man," he remarked. Taylor was arrested by High County Constable Pearson on Saturday night.

A local resident pleaded guilty to being intoxicated on the market square on Saturday night and was fined $15.00 and costs.

Thomas Winn pleaded not guilty to reckless driving on Armour road yesterday and will come up for trial on Friday morning. William Langford, of East City, pleaded guilty to throwing glass, injurious to cars, on the street, and will be sentenced on Friday morning. At the time of the arrest he was in the car with Winn and it was alleged by the police, who were following the car, that glass was thrown on the street in front of their car.

Two women, one from this city, who is out on suspended sentence and one from Millbrook, pleaded not guilty to being vagrants and will come up for trial on Friday morning.

A local resident was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and was remanded until tomorrow

PLOWMEN SET DATE OF MATCH

County Association Will Hold Annual Event on Oct. 20.

ON O'CONNELL FARM.

The Peterborough County Plowmen's Association held their regular meeting on Saturday at two o'clock in the office of J. J. Duffus, with the president Sidney Bennett, in the chair. In the place of F. C. McRae, the former secretary, who has moved to Glengarry County, J. B. Nelson was elected secretary.

The reports of the various committees in connection with this year's plowing match were received.

The annual plowing match will be held about October 20 on the farm of J. T. O'Connell on the Keene road.

It was decided again this year to assist in the transportation for members of the Association who are intending to plow in the International Plowing match this year; it was decided that the Association would foster a bus trip for Thursday October 13th. An announcement regarding this trip will be found in another section of the paper.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one and things look very well for the annual plowing match for this year in the opinion of the officers.

WOMAN HURT IN CAR CRASH

Mrs. Alfred Fielder of Hamilton is suffering from a fractured shoulder as a result of an automobile smash at the corner of Monaghan Road and Charlotte Street this morning. Mr. Fielder and the other three members of the party are suffering from shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Fielder, their daughter, stepson, and a Mrs. Smith were coming into the city from the west when a car driven by James Conlin was proceeding north on Monaghan Road. As the two cars neared the intersection, Mr. Fielder saw that a collision was inevitable, so he swung his car to the north to try and miss the other car and in doing so he struck the electric light post on the northeast corner, throwing the occupants out and smashing the car badly.

Mr. Fielder's car was equipped with four wheel brakes.

Mrs. Fielder was also bruised on the right side of the head. The ambulance of D. Bellhuem and Sons was called to the scene of the accident and it rushed Mrs Fielder to the hospital, where an X-ray was taken. Constable Naples investigated for the police department.

RECALL OF RED AMBASSADOR TO FRENCH CAPITAL BY SOVIET LIKELY TO OCCUR DURING WEEK

Insisted in Paris That No Rupture With Russia Desired

PESSIMISM SHOWN

Feared that Negotiations for Soviet's Debt Will Be Abandoned

PARIS, Oct. 3 (Associated Press).—The recall of M. Rakovsky, Soviet Ambassador to France, by the Moscow Government, is regarded here in semi-official circles as likely to occur during the week. This follows the presentation of M. Tchitcherin, Soviet Foreign Minister, Saturday of a note drafted by the Council of Ministers at Rambouillet, Friday. It is, however, insisted in Paris that no rupture with Moscow is desired, the Rakovsky affair being a personal one, as he is now persons non grata.

Nevertheless, it is feared that the negotiations for the settlement of Russia's pre-war debt to France, begun by M. Rakovsky, will be abandoned and that new negotiations must be initiated by direct dealings between the two governments.

(M. Rakovsky is charged by the French Government with having interfered in the international affairs of France by inciting workers to rebel against the Bourgeois Governments and calling upon soldiers to disobey their chiefs).

Pessimism Shown.

MOSCOW, Oct. 3 (Associated Press)—The French Cabinet's decision to demand the recall of M. Rakovsky, Soviet Ambassador at Paris, though coupled with a declaration of the French Government's desire to continue negotiations for the settlement of Russia's debt to France, has given rise to decided pessimism in official circles, not only concerning the fate of the debt negotiations, but with regard to the diplomatic relations of the two countries.

The Soviet authorities and press appraise the decision as a victory for the British "die-hards" led by Sir Henri Deterding, who is generally believed here to have chosen Paris as a strategic point for fighting Soviet oil.

(Deterding is director-general of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company and director of the Shell Transport and Trading Company, Limited).

The newspaper Pravda says:

"Deterding cannot and does not desire to abandon his monopoly of the French oil market, and has representatives continue lobbying in the Paris editorial offices, buying the mercenary pens of French journalists. The Black Hundred—the French military group headed by Millerand, Coty and Foch—continue their program policy. The British 'die-hard' government let loose all means of political and economic pressure to push the French Government to steps embroiling France-Soviet relations."

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Man., October 3 (Canadian Press). — Trading on Saturday was pretty much of an evening up over the week-end by speculators with very little export trade in evidence. Wheat finished with October at 1¼c down, November 1⅛c lower, December 1⅛c, and May ¼c.

The market displayed a decidedly weaker tone, partly due to bad weather conditions over the West. All coarse grains showed corresponding declines although this section of the market was uninteresting. There was nothing new in the cash grain situation.

TORONTO PAPER CHANGES HANDS

Mail and Empire Newspaper Sold to Montreal Man

NEW DIRECTORS

TORONTO, Ont., October 3 (Canadian Press). — Official announcement was made last night of the sale of the Toronto Mail and Empire newspaper to I. W. Killam, president of Royal Securities of Montreal. The transaction was completed on Saturday, and Mr. Killam was elected the new president, with Messrs. John Scott, formerly managing editor of the Montreal Gazette, Claude A. C. Jennings, chief editor of the Mail and Empire and George E. Scroggie, its business manager, as directors. Mr. Scott is appointed managing director, and assumes charge immediately.

With the announcement the statement is made that the Mail and Empire, under its new ownership, will maintain the traditions of the newspaper and advocate and support the same national principles.

The Paper's History.

The history of the Mail and Empire, which dates back more than half a century, has been interesting and eventful. Originally the newspaper was the Toronto Mail, which began publication in 1872 and continued with the same character and title until 1895, when the Toronto Empire, another Conservative morning newspaper, which came into being in 1867, was amalgamated with the Mail under the present name. Establishment of the Toronto Mail originated in the mind of Sir John A. Macdonald, who was chronicled as making the proposal to Sir David Macpherson in 1869. In 1921 another Conservative morning daily was absorbed when the Toronto World was taken over. This left the Toronto Conservative newspaper field entirely to the Mail and Empire.

Charles Riordan, the retiring president, occupied that position 59 years. Associated with him as general managers were the late Christopher Bunting, W. J. Douglas, and more recently J. W. Douglas, who succeeded his father and directed the Mail and Empire until Saturday, when he retired from active business life.

Native of Yarmouth.

The new owner of the Mail and Empire is a native of Yarmouth, N.S., and is 42 years of age. He began his career as a clerk in the Halifax branch of the Union Bank, where he remained until 1895, when he joined the Royal Securities Corporation as a salesman, and has been continuously with that organization, with the exception of a three-month period at the end of 1908, when he carried on a personal investigation of banking service in the city of

MINE OPERATORS SIGN AGREEMENT

Illinois Mines will Resume Operations After Being Idle Six Months

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (Associated Press). — Illinois bituminous coal operators and miners Saturday reached an agreement whereby the mines will resume operations after being idle six months. The agreement ended the longest suspension in the history of Illinois and one of the longest in the history of the coal industry.

The settlement in Illinois will be followed by a resumption of relations in other states which suspended on April 1 after the failure to renew a contract which expired on March 31 John L. Lewis, international president of the miners, predicted. Lewis mentioned Indiana, Iowa and Missouri, but would not express himself regarding Ohio and Western Pennsylvania where many mines have been operating under open shop conditions.

Although the operators accepted the proposal for negotiations offered by the miners' representatives, many of them expressed their dissatisfaction with the terms. The settlement was forced through by the large producing companies of Illinois, executives of smaller companies declared. Under the agreement, the mines will resume operations as soon as possible, paying the old and disputed Jacksonville wage scale, while a commission of four studies the Illinois mine situation.

HINDENBURG GIVEN OVATION

Great Tribute Paid German President on Occasion of 80th Birthday

POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Von Hindenburg was first in the hearts of his countrymen yesterday as never before. Not since William I. led the German armies through the Brandenburger Gate in 1871 on their return from the Franco-Prussian war has Berlin witnessed an ovation like that showered on Paul Von Hindenburg yesterday on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

It was primarily a tribute to Von Hindenburg the man ,that found an outlet in the veritable drumfire cheering which echoed and re-echoed along the route which he traversed, but its political significance is set down as a tangible asset to the German republic, for the president's natal day was the signal for a political truce in which his services to the new Germany found free acknowledgment from friend and foe alike. The colors of the Republic predominated in the display of bunting throughout the city.

A warm autumn sun beamed on the octogenarian president as he leisurely motored through a 12-mile lane flanked with guards of honor, back of whom men, women and children were massed until the house fronts formed unyielding barriers.

Estimated Outlet

Veteran police officials were inclined to estimate the turnout which applauded the president on the drive to the Stadium at not less than one million. Another hundred thousand greeted him in the huge ampitheatre. Among them were 40,000 singing children.

Attends Church Service

The president began the day by attending a harvest thanksgiving in his favorite church, a modest chapel in the heart of the city.

Mgr. Pacelli, Papan nuncio, conveyed felicitation from the diplomatic corps.

The president's reply to Chancellor Marx, who voiced greetings in behalf of the government and German people and eulogized the president's devotion to duty and Christian citizenship, was a fervent plea for national unity and reconciliation with the new order of things in Germany.

"My most sincere thanks to you and the government, also applies to the entire German people," said President Von Hindenburg, alluding to praise for his services to the Fatherland in war and peace. "It was my duty, my life's work, always devoted to the Fatherland, and I shall continue to serve this end for the span of life still alloted to me, not for party or group, but to serve, and with God's help, to benefit all Germany.

TARIFF REPLY SENT TO UNITED STATES

Nature of France's Rejoinder Expected to Be Made Public To-day

PARIS, Oct. 3 (Associated Press).—The French tariff question is again to the forefront. France's rejoinder to the United States memorandum seeking an equitable re-arrangement of the tariff schedules having been sent to Washington Saturday.

France's note was handed to Sheldon Whitehouse, the United States Charge d'Affaires, but by agreement between him and M. Bokanowski, the French Minister of Commerce, the nature of the rejoinder was not divulged.

The text of the United States reply to the French Government was presented by Charge Whitehouse on September 21 and since then the French experts have been engaged in a consideration of the whole question. The French Cabinet met at Rambouitte Friday, with President Doumergue presiding, and approved the terms of the note which was ordered sent to Washington.

It is expected that the contents of the note will be made public to-day.

COUNTS CHICKENS BEFORE HATCHING

OSAGE, Ia., Oct. 1.—In front of the home of Mrs. William Soy worked a township road gang. Day after day, with charges of dynamite, they blew out rock and earth to cut the road to a lower level.

Worried, Mrs. Soy watched her large incubators, from which 400 baby chicks were due to appear. The day came and not an egg shell was broken. Several more days and still no chicks. Mrs. Soy went to court, demanded damages of 10 cents each on the 400 eggs which did not hatch.

The explosions of dynamite, she contends, produced vibrations which killed the unborn chicks. Poultry experts agree with her. But attorneys on neither side have been unable to find precedents in court decisions.

Mr. Black's car was turned completely over, pinning Mr. and Mrs. Black beneath it. Their three small children were thrown several yards by the force of the impact. Rural Dean Spence Preaches Fitting Sermon For Occasion.

SOWING AND REAPING.

Special Music By Choir Adds To Service — Church Well Decorated.

The annual Harvest Festival services held at St. Luke's Church on Friday evening were very successful and were well attended. The sacred edifice was decorated with a profusion of autumn flowers, grains and fruits, the musical service rendered by the choir was especially appropriate to the occasion, and a very impressive sermon was delivered by Reverend Rural Dean Spence of Apsley.

Evensong was sung by Rev. G. J. Bousfield, and the lessons were read by Rev. Rural Dean Spence and Rev. J. L. Hughes of St. George's Church. The choral music included a fine rendition of the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittus, also Maunder's anthem, "O Worship the King." The decorations of the church were under the supervision of the Chancel Guild, in charge of Miss Margaret Calcutt. Mr. Thompson led the choral music. The solo in the anthem was sung by Mrs. W. Davies.

Taking his text from the sixth chapter, seventh verse, of St. Paul's Epistle to the Galatians, "For whatsoever a man soweth, that also shall he reap." Rev. Dean Spence spoke of the harvest and its garnering as one of the most important events of the year in every part of the world, becoming more important each year as the population increases in numbers. People of late years, viewing life from the unnatural point of view, solely in relation to the cities and their existence, have lost sight of the vital part played by the harvest in the life of the nation. Only when its garnering time approaches, the startling fact is forced on the consciousness that without it, starvation would face the world.

A thrill of romance follows the history of the harvest, dating back, as it does, to the first ages of mankind. Wheat was cultivated in Egypt before the building of the Pyramids, and wild wheat growing in Mesopotamia produced the seed which now gives life to the greater part of the world. Sixteen hundred million people depend for existence on the wheat harvest, and it is for this reason that Harvest Thanksgiving services should assume an important part in the religious life of the people.

The laws that govern the harvest in its natural order are similar to the laws governing the spiritual harvest, and the words of the text may be taken literally: "Whatsoever a man soweth, that also shall be reap." What man sows in the spiritual order, that shall he garner when the harvest time approaches. An illustration is given in the action of Pharaoh, when he refused to let the Israelites go, with later disastrous results to himself. We read that God hardened the Pharaoh's heart and caused him to act thus, but we know that God, when Pharaoh set up obstacles to the working of Divine grace in his heart, gradually withdrew His opposing influence of grace and Pharaoh became more and more hardened. He sowed obstinacy and he reaped obstinacy that finally led to his own destruction. It is the same with the impenitent man. He destroys himself through his own nature, simply working out the natural law.

With regard to the next life, the same truths hold good. The Apostle refers to this world as the sowing time, and the life to come as the reaping time. The sinful man who persists in evil is sowing his own punishment and makes himself his own destroyer in inevitable fashion.

It is not necessary for the punishment of the ungodly that God should create special modes of torture. The man who becomes hardened through being left to himself will be punished by being left to himself in eternity. "Picture a soul eternally consigned to the mastery of lust, unrestrainedly indulged in during this life, but which eternally cannot be gratified and one has a literal illustration of the worm which dieth not and the fire which is not quenched. Such a soul might well give utterance to the words that Milton puts into the mouth of Satan when approaching to the survey of Paradise, 'Whichever way I fly is hell. Myself am hell'."

After applying the same principle, with slight variations, to the sowing of righteousness, the preacher concluded with a passionate appeal to his hearers to sow in the Spirit that they might reap a great and glorious harvest in the Spirit.

FIRE DESTROYS BIG MOTOR BOAT

Gasoline Fumes Ignited By Lamp When Craft Being Launched.

AFTER REPAIRS.

A large yacht which had been put into dock at Rye's boathouse, for repairs, was badly burned Saturday night.

It is said that as the boat was being launched someone stepped into it with a lighted lamp and the gasoline fumes leading to the interior immediately ignited.

The fire department was called, and on arrival at the scene found the boat in mid-stream. The chief immediately ordered it brought to shore and small boats were commandeered for the purpose. After much effort it was brought to the street railway wharf but it was completely burned to the water line, and as it was beached, sank, when the water rushed into the hold through a gap in the stern.

The boat belonged to W. H. Winnet, 150 Grenadier avenue, Toronto, who was en route here when the fire occurred.

The reflection of the gasoline flames could be seen for a long way, and caused much speculation in the city.

LEGION NOTES.

Members of the Legion and all ex-service men in the city are invited to attend the lecture of Bishop Taylor-Smith, Chaplain-General of the British Forces for nearly 25 years, in the Grand Opera House on Thursday night. Further particulars will be given as to a parade.

GRANDSTAND IN RUINS

Here is all that if left of the historic old grandstand of the Hamilton Tiger Football Club at Hamilton, Ont. It was ruined by fire. Nothing but a few brick, charred boards and twisted girders were left of the stand. The loss will reach between $75,000 and $100,000, covered by insurance.

AROUND THE CITY

The Fire Department was kept busy on Saturday ,getting four calls in the afternoon.

At 12.26 p.m., they had a call to 417 Driscoll Terrace, and at 5.45 p.m. to 277 Stewart Street, where leaves were being burned. The next one came at 5.56 p.m. for 198 Simcoe Street, where wires were burning. The department did not answer this call, but informed the Utilities Commission department of the affair.

At 6.40 they had a call to Rye's boat house, where a yacht was fired by a lighted lamp igniting gasoline fumes.

There will be a meeting of the City Council tonight at 7.30 p.m.

Announcement was made at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday that the annual parade of the Holy Name Society will be held next Sunday. The bazaar to be held in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital will commence on November 28th.

HARRIERS' CLUB.

Paper Chase Along Canal Featured By Swim Across.

The Harriers' Club had a fine paper chase on Saturday over approximately a five mile course. The course was laid east of the Lift Lock and the hares given a six-minute start. One of the "bright lights" of the race was when three of the hounds swam the canal in an attempt to cut off the hares coming down the opposite bank.

The next run will be tomorrow night at 7 o'clock.

LINKERTS WIN ONTARIO TITLE

Beat Weakened Belmonts Easily in Return Game at Hamilton.

FINAL SCORE 22-2.

HAMILTON, Ont., October 3 (Canadian Press). — Linkerts, Waddy Laing's great collection of softball players, captured the Ontario title at Scott Park on Saturday afternoon by easily defeating Peterborough by a 22-2 score. About 800 fans turned out to see the slaughter, expecting to see a close battle. The reports brought back from the Lift Lock City were to the effect that the Petes were a real smart team, and would take a lot of beating in the return game. It appears, however, that the five of the regulars play on the hardball team that will oppose the Oskies for the championship this week, and the management requested them to stay at home and wait for the hardball game, not wishing to take a chance on the players getting hurt. They acceded to the request, with the result that the softball team was greatly weakened, being but a shadow of the one that played such good ball in the game at Peterborough. Manager King, of Linkerts, was quite peeved at the weak display of the visitors ,and told them so after the game.

Bobby Webb, the speed ball king, was the hero of the win. Bobby allowed but two scratch hits and with a little faster fielding behind him might have scored a no-hit game.

"Doc" Green, the fleet footed centre fielder for the Petes, beat out a hit to Dynes, when the latter forgetting about the speed of the batter, took plenty of time getting the ball over to first. Batten got the other safety when he punched out a Texas Leaguer that landed between Dynes and Fowler.

The Petes were dolefully weak at the bat, fourteen men carrying their clubs back. Though considerably weakened by the absence of their stars it is doubtful whether had their strongest line up been present, there would have been much difference in the score.

Webb was burning them across in rarer form and when he is right there is no team playing the game to-day able to do much with him. The score:

Linkerts	45110173x	22	23 1
Peterborough	000010001	2	2 7

Batteries — Harrison, Carruthers and Haskill. Webb and Wade

Umpires—Jackson and Lightheart.

FEW DUCKS NOW.

Black Ducks Gone and Later Varieties Still in North.

The ducks are coming in very slowly at present, according to C. G. Graham. The flocks of black geese have been pretty well depleted by this time or frightened out of the district, and the mild weather prevailing has caused the fall ducks to stay longer in their northern feeding grounds.

RUGBY NOTES.

It is expected that the Junior rugby team will have a game with Oshawa this Saturday, and some strenuous practices are anticipated this week to finish the conditioning process of the team.

AMERICANS "WOLF" FOOD, SAYS CHEF

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—America is becoming a one-armed lunch room, a place where people "wolf" their food and give little thought to the serious business of eating.

So says George Rector, once the proprietor of one of New York's most famous restaurants of yesteryear. After making what he called a "cook's tour" through the capitals of Europe, he declares himself surer than ever that he will not open another restaurant in unappreciative America. Rector says that prohibition has made impossible the preparation of piquant and tasty sauces by its banning of sherry and port.

French cooking technique, he believes, is supplanting other methods all over Europe. He admitted interviewing all the famous chefs of France and obtaining their choice recipes.

NEW JUDGES TAKE OFFICE

Oath Administered By Chief Justice at Osgoode Hall To-day.

GREETING EXTENDED.

TORONTO, Oct. 3. — (Canadian Press).—The Hon. W. E. Raney and the Hon. J. M. McEvoy, the newly appointed Justices of the Supreme Court of Ontario, took the oath of office and assumed their seats on the bench at Osgoode Hall to-day. The ceremony took place before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith of the High Court Division and Justices W. N. Ferguson and H. T. Kelly. Hon. N. W. Rowell extended on behalf of the Ontario Bar greetings to the new members of the bench, speaking of the high esteem in which they had always been held by the legal profession.

Mr. Justice Raney, in reply, declared himself unable to put in words his feelings at the manifestation of confidence placed in him and the great duties which he now assumed, and thanked the Bar for their kind words. Mr. Justice McEvoy voiced his determination always to do his best in the administration of justice.

LADY GRENFELL TELLS OF WORK

Interviewed As She Conducts Party of Labrador Young People.

NEW BUILDINGS.

(St. John Telegraph Journal).

A special car on the Boston train last Sunday night carried Lady Grenfell, six of the volunteers who had been working in the Grenfell Medical Mission in Labrador during the summer, and a group of young people from Labrador going to the United States to receive special training in different subjects, and fit themselves for more useful service in their own country.

Lady Grenfell, wife of Sir Wilfrid Grenfell, M.D., joined the party in Saint John, having been in Canada for the last fortnight. The others had come through from Nova Scotia on Sunday and had only a few hours in the city.

The work of the mission has been advanced greatly during the last season, and Lady Grenfell told of the opening of several new buildings, among them the new St. Anthony's Hospital, which is a thoroughly modern and fully equipped hospital, replacing the former one which had become so dilapidated that it has had to be torn down and could not be made use of for any other purpose, being unsafe.

A new school at North West River, which is called the Yale School, because it has been built with funds chiefly raised by Yale University, has been in use for the first time this season, and there Dr. Paddon is in charge. A new nursing station has been opened at Mutton Bay, in Canadian Labrador, in connection with the Harrington Hospital, and another nursing station has been established at Conch, in connection with St. Anthony's Hospital from which it is about 60 miles distant.

The season in Labrador has been very wet, as it has been in many parts of the world.

Speaks of Loss.

Lady Grenfell spoke of the loss of the yacht Maravall, which had blown up in the harbor in Sydney recently, some unexplained engine trouble being the cause of the catastrophe. The yacht had been the gift of a New York lady, and had been promised to Dr. Paddon for use in travelling from his summer hospital to the different winter stations along the coast.

Dr. Paddon had greatly needed a vessel of this type and its loss would be a severe blow to the work, as there is nothing to replace the vessel in that service. The Maravail was not carrying the main shipment of supplies for the mission, Lady Grenfell said, as a 400-ton, four-master had brought in the great bulk of the food and drug supplies earlier in the season.

Dr. Grenfell will not be coming out of Labrador until next month, and will join Lady Grenfell for a lecture tour in Canada and the United States in the coming winter. They will not be going to England until the spring, Lady Grenfell said.

The party of volunteer workers included Miss Dorothy Lawrence, of Boston, daughter of Bishop Lawrence; Miss Elizabeth Soule, of Brookline; Miss Helen Stokes, of New York, whose family has been closely associated with Yale University for many years; Gibb Sherrill, son of General Sherrill, of the Olympic committee; Mr. Dorman, whose father is the professor of medicine in the college at Beirut, Syria, and Mr. Terry, of New York.

The Labrador young people, going to the United States for training, included five going to the Berea College in Kentucky to study nursing, industrial subjects and the full academic course; three going to Bedett Business College in Boston, some going to the Wentworth Institute in Boston to study mechanical engineering, and others going to International College in Maine.

A number of the Labrador young people, who are taking special courses, remained in the United States during the summer time and will resume their studies this fall.

With reference to the support of the work, Lady Grenfell said that it was natural that the needs must be greater as the work extended, and the International Grenfell Association with head offices, one in Canada, two in the United States, one in Newfoundland and one in England, is charged with the responsibility of providing the funds for maintenance.

CATS OF QUALITY.

Although the Kiwanis Produced-in-Canada Exhibition does not take place until next week, it has already had one important development; it has occasioned the organization of a Cat Fanciers' Club and in the decision to hold a Cat Show in connection with the Exhibition.

This, of course, is to be an affair for classy cats; the back-yard-fence musicians are not expected nor will they be welcome.

Outside felines are coming to add quality to the show, and there is a surprising number of local cats de luxe whose existence was barely suspected before the announcement of next week's competition.

In short, Peterborough's cats are not to be judged from the wandering minstrels who make the night air hideous and display uncanny ability to dodge the hair brushes and other missiles hurled at them from bedroom windows.

On exhibition will be the aristocrats of the cat world, and we rather fancy the show will be an eye-opener to the many individuals in whose minds a cat appears chief as a shadowy target that disappears just when the range has at last been accurately estimated.

WHY ACCIDENTS OCCUR.

The Orillia Packet and Times tells of an Orillia motorist who had occasion to drive to Toronto recently, and who decided to make a test on his own account of the observance of the speed limit.

Accordingly, he ran his car for practically the whole distance, save when going through towns and villages, at the legal speed limit of thirty-five miles an hour.

"Twenty-two cars passed me between Barrie and Toronto," he told The Packet and Times, "and many of them made me feel as if I were standing still."

There is no reason to believe that this experience is an isolated case; it could be duplicated any day on any highway.

Nor is the speeding confined to the highways.

There is entirely too much fast driving within the limits of Ontario municipalities.

Here in Peterborough the newly-paved section of Water street was thrown open for traffic last week, and the thoroughfare has apparently been adopted by many drivers as a new speedway constructed for the benefit of those who like to step on the gas.

Many school children have to cross this section of Water street each day, and the sudden growth in traffic and the marked increase in speed that has followed the completion of the pavement makes the process full of danger to these children as well as to older pedestrians.

If good roads are to develop into speedways a lot of people will soon come to the conclusion that it might be better in the long run not to be too hasty about improving driving surfaces.

"GIFTS OF THE YEAR."

A most enjoyable contribution to Canadian poetry is the little volume, "Gifts of the Year," just published by the MacMillan Company and containing a number of poems from the pen of Molly Bevan, a young Toronto girl, whose verses have appeared for some years in "The Blue Bell," the magazine of the Bell Telephone Company's employees.

Miss Bevan, who is employed on clerical work in the Toronto office of that company, has written many of these delightful little poems for "The Blue Bell," and they have been so widely reproduced in Canadian newspapers and have been received with so much appreciation by the company's fourteen thousand employees that they are now produced in book form.

The young poet's verses cover a wide range of subjects, but they are chiefly Canadian in their locale and viewpoint, and they will be read with a good deal of enjoyment, The Examiner believes.

We quote a portion of "A Camper's Song," a poem that is indicative of Miss Bevan's style:

"Did you ever greet the morning from the shelter of a tent
With the nearest house a dozen miles away,
When the grass was still a-sparkle and the birds were all awake
And the little winds of dawn were all at play?

Did you ever come back glowing from your early morning swim
To smell the bacon sizzling o'er the fire?
Did you wonder as you ate from a battered old tin plate
What more on earth a mortal could desire?

If you've ever camped at all you will understand my rhyme;
If you haven't, then my singing has been vain,
For you've lost such joys as these—the kindliness of trees
And the fellowship of wind, and sun, and rain."

A NEW MOTOR HIGHWAY.

During a conference between the Orillia Board of Trade and Peterborough representatives of the Trent Waterway Development Association last week the very interesting suggestion was advanced that the Trent Waterway Association should take the lead in promoting a motor tourist route through the Trent Valley from Trenton to Orillia.

There is much in this suggestion that deserves consideration.

The famous Blue Water highway brings into Orillia a very large amount of tourist traffic.

A similar highway through the Trent and Kawartha Lakes district would naturally result in large numbers of tourists who travelled north over the Blue Water road deciding to return via the Trent highway.

The Orillia Packet and Times dislikes the proposal, and thus discusses "The Iroquois Trail":

"There seems no reason why the success of the Blue Water highway, which has enormously increased the motor traffic entering Ontario at Sarnia, should not be duplicated in the other direction, and a stream of ... brought into this part of Ontario from the east as well as from the west. Energetic co-operative advertising in the Eastern States, the most populous and wealthy portion of the States, would bring an enormous number of motorists in this direction. The country is a beautiful one, and now that the Government has definitely undertaken the construction of a highway through North Ontario to Orillia, there would be no trouble in locating a route with roads that could be heartily recommended to tourists. Already the road between Orillia and Brechin, which has been the chief highway to motorists approaching Orillia from the east, has been put in passable condition. Motorists who have been over the road between Peterborough and Trenton declare it is one of the prettiest runs in the Province, particularly the section along the shores of Rice Lake. As the route would follow the line of march usually followed by the Iroquois, in the days when they used to invade Huronia, "The Iroquois Trail" would be an apt and picturesque title, supplementing the title of the southern motor highway, "The Algonquin Trail." When the proposed bridge is built across the St. Lawrence doubtless a great impetus will be given to motor travel from the Eastern States. Meantime the business can be worked up by the ferries at Gananoque, Brockville and Prescott, and "The Iroquois Trail" given an established place as one of the recognized highways of the Province."

AT $100,000 PER MINUTE.

Now that the big fight is over—

Waiving the inherent right of any newspaper to make a hypocritical apology for contributing its share to the news in which great numbers of individuals unquestionably were interested, and remembering that those who paid toward the Tunney-Dempsey-Rickard Endowment Fund knew what they were doing and were not unsuspectful that all might not be as the ballyhoo set forth, let a few moments be spared to analyze the why and the wherefore of all these phenomena.

Why could two bruisers, one an absentee from the nation's recent army of sacrifice, turn Chicago's shrine to its hero dead into a $3,000,000 turnstile for themselves, their hangers-on, their promoters, and the associated loafers and gamblers? Why was it possible for a place which a year ago was appropriately the altar on which the Roman Catholic world of America offered up its faith, to become the most sordid of prize-rings? Why was it possible to sift the country for the most prominent and most highly-placed and draw them to the ringside for 30 minutes of pugilism at approximately $100,000 per minute?

For the sake of the reputed sanity of the American people look the thing over and, if possible, justify it. If it can't be justified, explain it In the name of common decency, what is the answer?

The answer is to be found simply in the neighbors who first gathered excitedly to see two male members of the primitive community try to knock each other's block off. It is to be found in the quick crowd which surrounds a pair of quarrelsome newsboys. It is the atavistic impulse, carrying along the oldest and toughest of man's instincts, originally an unbridled passion, today technically refined into a merchandised sport.

The philosopher, if there be any in such pastimes, will reflect that the dramatized prize-ring with its glittering millions may furnish the thrill inseparable from all mammoth undertakings, but, essentially, it lacks the spirit which invested the early battles between two angry men, or those contests of the prize-ring days when a John L. Sullivan could stride, two-fisted, across the land, meeting all comers for any purse or for no purse, but just for the love of it.

It is a day of grand spectacles and huge massing of the human race for all its major events; one of the inevitable results is a stage management which not only compels all prize fights to move a little artificially, but does give to tens of thousands of followers more than a vague suspicion that everything is not on the level.

The fact is that the world is populated largely by primitive children. But new modes of living have made us soft and self-indulgent. No longer able or ready to express our every-day resentment at this or that by an instant scrap, men still like to think they could do so, if only nature had given them height commensurate with their girth, or if only this or that were different. Therefore we embody ourselves temporarily in especially trained men who are to feign and sum up our angers and be our proxies. Dempsey's victory over Sharkey was the knockout blow many a man has delivered, with his head on the pillow; and Tunney fighting back and painting Dempsey's face as red as the map of the British Empire is the desperate courage Everyman firmly believes he has somewhere under his belt; if only his wind was not so short and ... so troublesome.

Atavism modernized into spectacle by proxy is the story of the prize-fight. The good citizen, his mind surging a little dizzily as he ruminates on the knock-down, brings down the fly-swatter with a vicious triumph. —Detroit News.

We are sorry that we are as yet unable to guess the name of the new Conservative leader. It looks like a race to the stretch.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., October 3 (Canadian Press). — There was some demand from English importers for grain in the Montreal market on Saturday, and a moderate amount of business was accomplished in Manitoba grades of wheat.

Owing to the break of three cents per bushel in the October options at Winnipeg on Saturday a weaker feeling developed in the local market for Canadian Western Oats, and prices were reduced two cents per bushel.

The demand from the United Kingdom and the Continent for the spring wheat grades of flour continued good, and a fair trade was done. The local trade was fair and prices were unchanged. Winter wheat flour was quiet.

The millfeed market was moderately active and firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats continued good and values were steady.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained under a good demand fro mall sources. The receipts on Saturday were 704 cases.

An active business was again transacted in butter, and prices closed firm. The receipts were 1,604 packages.

The cheese trade was fair and prices were unchanged. The receipts were 6,054 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (Canadian Press).—Grain values took a decided swing downward at the last on Saturday, influenced largely by seeming substantial fresh confirmation of a large wheat harvest in Canada. Besides, talk was current that forthcoming unofficial estimates of the new corn crop in the United States will suggest a material increase of yield compared with the Government forecast a month ago.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ⅞ and 1c to 1¼c net lower, corn 2c to 2½c down; oats ½c to ¾c off, and provisions varying from 15c decline to a rise of 10c.

At first a sharp conflict of opinion developed here in regard to Canadian grain dealers' figures, indicating that wheat production of the Prairie Provinces for 1927 would aggregate 408,000,000 bushels. This total was 16,000,000 to 24,000,000 bushels less than other recent estimates. It developed later, however, that the grain dealers were raising their estimates on 1,500,000 less acres than computed by the Canadian Government, and that the yield per acre used by the grain dealers would mean a crop of 439,000,000 bushels judged by the official acreage report.

Contributing to the late reaction from temporary returns in wheat prices was slowness of export demand on Saturday for wheat from North America. Announcement was also made that a European authority estimated the world's wheat crop at 4,227,000,000 bushels, against 4,173,000,000 bushels last year. Meanwhile big country deliveries in Canada more than counter balanced for at least the time being the effect of rains as a wheat market influence.

Tumbling down of corn values in the late trade came about chiefly from assertions that monthly private crop reports due on Monday would indicate a yield of corn above 2,500,000,000 bushels.

ABOUT DRAWING CONTESTS

Editor, Examiner,

Dear Sir: I wish to say a word or two in condemnation of these drawing contests at the exhibitions. I am a lover of a good horse, one of man's most faithful friends. Now, why should these poor dumb animals be abused to please a few who have no feeling for the poor brutes? At the Peterborough Exhibition hundreds on the grandstand moved out when they brought on the drawing contest. Some people say it doesn't hurt them. Well I can prove it does. I remember my father had a good horse drop dead while drawing a stick of timber. I also lost a horse myself drawing a threshing engine; it dropped dead. Also another horse went stone blind drawing on a threshing engine which was stuck in the mud. Time enough to draw your horses when you have got to, without drawing them to please a certain crowd. Where is this Agent for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He would have a man arrested for working his horse with a sore shoulder or not shod. Why not have a stone weighing 600 pounds and give a prize to the man who could lift it? Not many would try it. Some say it is no worse than trotting a horse. It is a thousand times more. No man who has any feeling or is a Christian who would have anything to do with it. Cut it out next Exhibition and I and the good old horse will give thanks.

R. N. SCOTT, Smith.

LOSSES FROM SMUT.

Smut diseases cause heavy losses wherever cereal crops are grown. In Canada careful estimates of smut losses are available only for the last few years, and these show the average annual loss to the Canadian farmer from this source as over $12,500,000. Government departments, agricultural colleges, and technical agriculturists are all engaged in the effort to reduce this loss.

Believe it or not—A man in Enfield, N.C., declares that his grape vines bore a crop of pecans this summer.

CORNS

Quick safe relief

The most painful corns cease hurting the instant Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads are applied. They strike at the cause of corns—pressing and rubbing of shoes. That's why they are permanently healing. If new shoes cause irritation, a Zino-pad stops it at once.

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads are thin, medicated, antiseptic, protective. No liquids, no risk, no bother. Safe, sure, quick results guaranteed. At your druggist's or shoe dealer's.

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads

Put one on—the pain is gone!

WHY DO THEY WEAR SUCH FACES?

Take a walk any time of the day and study the faces of folks you meet and pass, then decide how many in the procession carry countenances that reflect a glad heart.

You will see lips drawn tightly, brows that are knit, and faces that are firm. Almost all of the people you meet and pass will look worried, bothered, or bored.

They will seem to be carrying around all of the sorrow of yesterday, to-day and to-morrow. They appear to be packing all of the childish fears and childish tears of the coming years. They seem so sadlike when they might just as well be gladlike.

On a beautiful day, the majority of men you meet look like slaves on their way to the cave of despair.

Oppression, depression, dejection, instead of cheerfulness, geniality, and a gratitude-look for the gift of life.

One would think that the people you meet and pass think this life is a hell-hole and humans mere furnace fuel, that is, if the grave faces are to be figured in the grand total.

You say this picture is overdrawn, and I say: Go out and see for yourself.

But when night comes on, in the gay and festive hours, we see the free and easy, the sparkling and sportive crowd, the jolly, jovial, hilarious humans, and their faces look as frisky and as frolicksome as the cat that swallowed the robin.

Now what I would like to know is this: Why do people put on a croaker countenance during business hours?

—The Silent Partner.

'Y' RALLY NIGHT GREAT SUCCESS

Boys and Men of City Crowd the Building to Capacity.

SPLENDID PROGRAM.

Friday night was the big night of the year at the local Y.M.C.A.. All the boys and men of the city were invited to participate in the evening's activities, and it seemed as though most of them availed themselves of the opportunity, and everyone seemed well satisfied. Every department of the institution was thrown open, free of charge, and all were utilized every minute of the evening.

Three hundred small boys were assembled before the scheduled hour, anxiously and expectantly awaiting the start.

At 7.15 the leash was slipped and a mad dash made for the locker rooms to prepare for the swim and what a swim! G. H. Roper swears that the tank was never so full before. The water, and a witness declares that the only time he could see any of it, was when it overflowed into the drain—was a perfect maelstrom of twisting, turning, squirming, wiggling boys, and the noise!—well it was indescribable and inconceivable that it could find birth in human throats.

The plunge was finally cleared and all repaired to the "movie show" where a fine selection of pictures was shown. After the show J. F. H. Wallace, chairman of the Social Committee, spoke to the boys before the refreshments were served.

At about 9.15, tired, but happy and well fed, they finally started for home and bed.

In the Senior department the programme commenced at about eight o'clock. In the lobby the Junior Boys' Department's orchestra, rendered splendid music in spite of the clamor about them, while in the reading room a fine Kolster radio, kindly loaned by J. J. Duffus Ltd., entertained a large troup of ardent fans.

In the bowling alleys much interest was taken in the tournament under the direction of John Ashmore, Gordon McGregor and H. H. Graham.

There were forty three competitions in the contest, and Johnny Dundas had the high singles with a score of 238. The "sealed score" prize was won by J. E. Smith.

The pool and snoker tables were in great demand and did not have an idle moment all evening. In the gymnasium a regular class program was carried out under the direction of Doug. Loomis and Hec. McLeod, after which a basket ball game was played. The hard ball courts were also in constant use, and amidst all this spectators and prospective member were taken to all parts of the building and acquainted with the various activities of the association.

At 10 p.m., refreshments provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary ,were served in the dining room and a sing song brought the evening to a close.

The event was successful in getting this season's activities away to a good start and much credit is due Bert Grannick, chairman of the committee re arrangements, and his assistants, Aubrey Adams, Ron Fleming and other, in charge of special arrangements .

If sometimes the tea you are using does not taste as good as it used to—just see what kind of a package it is in. No chances are taken with Red Rose. It is packed in clean, bright Aluminum. ST

THE MARKETS

Noranda and Barrie Feature Mine Market

TORONTO, October 3. Canadian Press. —The climb in Noranda and the heavy dealings in Barrie-Hollinger, which took the market leadership, were the outstanding features of the hectic session of the Standard mining exchange to-day, when the turn over neared the million and a half mark. Noranda reached a top of 28.00 and held it for a gain of 1.30 while Barrie sold up to 98 and at noon was 6½ better than Saturday at 95. Dome Mines' slump of 45c at 11.00 was about the biggest drop. Teck Hughes and Kirkland Lake both gained somewhat in active trading.

Wheat Makes Gains While Corn Weakens

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. — (Canadian Press.)— All deliveries of corn sold down to-day to a new low price record for the season. Better weather conditions and a general belief that private crop estimates would indicate larger yields of corn than suggested a month ago were chiefly responsible. Starting at ¼c. to 1¼c. drop, the corn market continued weak. Wheat opened at 3-8c. decline to 1-8c. advance and subsequently showed gains all around. Oats were easy. Provisions tended upward.

Opening prices were:

Wheat, December 129 1-8, March 132 1-8. Corn, December 92, March 95 1-8. Oats, December 48, March 50 1-8.

Stranger Appreciates Mining Areas Best

(Special from The Financial Post Syndicate)

Sometimes a stranger can grasp a situation much more clearly than those who are close to it all times. In this connection we quote an extract from an article by A. B. Parsons, associate editor, Engineering and Mining Journal, New York, written after a visit to Northern Ontario mines with the Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress. He said of the Congress: "It has visited the Sudbury District (source of 90 per cent of the world's nickel); Cobalt and South Lorrain silver areas: Kirkland Lake (fastest growing gold camp in the world), and Porcupine (second only to the Rand among the gold mining districts of the world). In these few brief words, he gives a concise view of Ontario's main mining section." He says the plans and equipment of the operations proved an equal surprise to the visitors.

Some interest is again being taken in shares of Mining Corporation of Canada. South Lorrain operations continue to open out good silver on the lower diabase contact on Frontier group and the success here makes it look much better for the Keeley to the south. Mining Corporation is now working south on a vein which runs an inch and a half width of 3,000 to 5,000 ounce material. Drifting north has not given the same good silver content, but on the whole the work is encouraging.

A cross-cut west cut the Woods vein at the 1,425 level, showing six inches of vein matter. It was in the diabase and showed no silver values but will likely carry values in the Keewatin. Upper levels of Frontier, above the diabase sill, continue to provide good shipping ore but there have been no developments recently which would change the situation of some time ago; that is, more ore is being taken out than is being put in sight.

Quarterly reports have prepared the public for this condition in South Lorraine, as well as for that in the Cobalt Mines. In Cobalt a good production continues with first rate profit, considering the silver market, but ore resources are diminishing and the limited around of remaining favorable ground is becoming even more restricted.

McIntyre Porcupine Mines report for the quarter ending June 30 showed marked declines as compared with the previous quarter and declines from the corresponding quarter of 1926. Gross recovery was $984,167, compared with $1,056,505 in the quarter ended March 31, 1927, and $999,568 in the quarter ended June 30, 1926.

Net earnings before plant depreciation amounted to $379,259, compared with $9,525,700 in March quarter and $487,836 in the June quarter of 1927.

Coniarurum Mines, Porcupine, has started clearing a site for its 500-ton mill and it is hoped that progress will be at a rate that will see the building well advanced before winter sets in. Production will come probably in the late spring of 1928. In preparation for going on a producing basis the shaft is being rushed from 1,500 to 2,000 feet. It is already 1,750 feet, where a level is being established. Lateral development will not be attempted on the new levels until shaft sinking is completed. At the 1,500-foot level, work continues in ore.

Wright Hargreaves in Kirkland Lake reached an output of $225,000 in August an increase of about $60,000 over July. A new tube mill is being set in now and the mill capacity will be around 650 tons, with 750 tons if the grade declines.

Teck-Hughes is now drifting on the 14th and 15th levels. Values are holding about as indicated when shaft sinking cut the vein. There will be, of course, no crosscutting to learn the veing widths for some little time. In the course of sinking and station cutting at the 15th level last winter, a 12 foot width of high grade running between $40 and $50 was secured. There is an additional 20-foot width of lower grade. Fourteenth level results were also good and shareholders will be eager to know how well drifting bears out the shaft sinking returns. No values can be very well announced, however, until considerable footage is obtained.

Drifting on the 16th, 17th and 18th and 19th levels should soon be under way which will give the mine six new levels making ore.

The second unit of the first half of the new mill (which brings the new mill tonnage up to 300 tons and the aggregate mill tonnage to 550) is operating.

Howey Gold Mines, the principal operation in the Red Lake Camp, expects to reach its present objective of 500 feet before the end of this month. A station is now being cut at the 75-foot level. Once the present objective is reached crosscutting will begin simultaneously at all four levels in both directions. It is stated that the surface showing on the Howey has been extended 800 feet by trenching, making a total length of 1,800 feet.

Minister of Health's Gibe At Premier Rebounds On Himself to Crowd's Delight

Endeavouring to remove the mote from his brother Minister's eye on Saturday at Bowmanville, the Hon. Lincoln Goldie discovered a beam in his own . In attempting to convince his audience that the Prime Minister of Ontario did not know the last line of the Doxology, Mr. Goldie discovered that he himself did not know the first.

In his previous address, Premier Ferguson had conculsed his hearers by relating an experience during his term of office in the Department of Mines. At the successful termination of a meeting he had held with a number of striking miners in Cobalt, in the endeavour to persuade the men to resume work, he had suggested that a fitting climax of the meeting would be the singing of the National Anthem. "I waited for someone to start," said Mr. Ferguson, "but either none of them knew 'God Save the King' or they did not feel very enthusiastic about singing it. So I resolved to lead off the singing, but in my excitement I started off with 'Praise God from Whom all blessings flow.'"

Alluding to this incident later in the afternoon, Mr. Goldie declared he was sure that if challenged, Mr. Ferguson could not repeat the last line of "From God all blessings flow." Somehow or other, this line did not seem correct, and Mr. Goldie, after an effort to recollect the exact wording, gave up in humorous despair while the audience roared.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"Where's Mrs. Lundy?" Bob looked up from his morning paper to ask in surprise, as Faith came in from the kitchen, bearing a platter of country sausages and poached eggs on toast.

It was the Monday morning following the expiration of Faith's two weeks notice to the middle-aged woman who had served her so efficiently and faithfully for the entire six months of her married life. Faith had told no one, not even her husband, that the general servant had been dismissed, for reasons of economy.

She flushed now, and her hands trembled a little with nervousness as she served the breakfast she had cooked for her family.

"Mrs. Lundy won't be with us any more, Bob," she said quietly.

"Good Lord! What did she quit for? I thought you two got along famously together. What was the trouble? Did she want more money?" Bob demanded, irritation contracting his brows.

"On the contrary, dear, she offered to stay for two dollars a week less, but I had made up my mind that we couldn't afford a servant for a while."

"Rot!" Bob exploded violently. "I'm not going to have you killing yourself. God knows you've got enough to do as it is—taking care of the baby all day and sewing for Joy and Cherry and yourself, and doing part of the housework. Tell Mrs. Lundy you've acted like a blessed little idiot and beg her to come back."

"She can't come back, Bob." Faith's voice trembled, but her eyes were steady and determined. "She has another place. I helped her to find one. And there's no use arguing about it, darling. I'm used to hard work; I've done it all my life. And I love to cook."

"Oh, let her try it, Bob," Cherry cut in cheerfully. "Faith is the type that enjoys being overworked. She was born to be a martyr."

"Thanks, Cherry!" Faith cried, her usually soft voice sharp with anger.

"Oh, Lord! Don't let's have another fight!" Bob groaned. "You'd better keep out of this, Cherry. It strikes me that no one has benefitted quite so much as you from Faith's willingness to let herself be overworked. I'll stop at the employment agency on my way downtown this morning and have them send up a woman," he added, in a gentler tone, to Faith.

She did not answer, but her mouth set firmly. When Bob was ready to leave for the office she followed him into the sun parlor, where he was packing his brief case with work he had brought home over the week-end.

"Listen, darling," she pleaded, a hand quivering on his arm. "Would not a saving of at least eighty dollars a month mean a great deal to you right now?"

"Your father is paying ten dollars a week for Joy, isn't he? And I thought the understanding was that Cherry was to pay twenty-five a week for her board and room and the care of the baby. Chris is paying fifteen a week alimony for the baby's support, and I pay Cherry thirty-five dollars a week salary. That leaves her twentyfive a week for her clothes, amusements, etc. She certainly ought to be able to manage on that. She never had more than that before she married Chris, did she?"

Faith swallowed twice at the lump in her throat before she could go on in a reasonable, quiet voice: "Joy's fall and winter clothes alone will cost her board money for weeks dear, and Cherry—Cherry hasn't paid more than fifteen a week since her divorce was granted. I'm going to get along without a servant for a while, Bob. Please let me help you! I do so want to help!"

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

To-day's Bedtime Story

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BEAR

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was searching around in the woods near his hollow stump bungalow, looking for an adventure, he saw Wumple Wogglejig, the little yellow wooden boy, frisking around among the bushes. At first the rabbit gentleman thought Wumple was a bush himself. But when the queer little Wogglejig chap took off his wooden head, tossed it into the air, and caught it, coming down, on the end of his tail, then Mr. Longears really knew who it was.

"You are up to some of your tricks, I see, Wumple!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, that's nothing to some I can do!" boasted the queer little fellow who lived with Boppy and Um in the Bungleump not far from the rabbit gentleman's home. "Look here!" cried Wumple.

With that he gave himself a shake

"I am going to nibble you," growled the Bear.

and his head, which was stuck on the end of his tail, made from a wooden peg—his head rolled off on some green moss.

"Be careful!" warned Uncle Wiggily.

"Pooh! You haven't seen anything yet!" laughed the Wogglejig boy. He gave himself another shake, and off dropped his tail. Then his neck peg dropped out. Another shake and off tumbled his four legs.

"That's enough!" cried Uncle Wiggily. But Wumple was not yet finished.

"Look!" cried his head, off to one side on the green moss. Wumple's body was made of two egg-shaped pieces of wood, joined together with a peg. Giving himself a shiver and a shake, the two parts of Wumple's body came apart and all that remained of the Wogglejig boy seemed to be some bits of wood on the ground.

But Uncle Wiggily wasn't in the least worried for he knew the Wogglejigs could take themselves apart this way and put themselves together again. Often when three or four of them did it there was a grand scrambling time for heads, legs, tails and bodies would get mixed among the six children. Then Boppy or Um would unscramble them.

"Well, now you have done that trick, you had better put yourself together again and come adventuring with me," invited Uncle Wiggily.

"All right, thank you, I will," answered Wumple's head, though it was off to one side from his body. "What sort of an adventure do you think you will have today, Uncle Wiggily?"

"It is hard to say. I can't tell you," answered the bunny. And just then a voice from behind a spice bush growled:

"Well, I can tell you, Mr. Longears. You are going to have an adventure with a bear, that's what you're going to have!"

With that a great big black Bear stalked out from behind the bush and lumbered toward the rabbit.

"You are going to have an adventure with me!" growled the Bear. "But, hello! You were talking to some one as I came up!" went on the shaggy chap. "I heard some one ask you what kind of adventure. Where is he? Who was it?"

Now it was Wumple's head that had spoken, though on account of being all apart the Wogglejig boy did not look like anything that could ever be alive.

"Who was it spoke?" asked the Bear crossly.

"No matter," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Not wishing to be impolite, but I am not going to tell you."

"Suit yourself," growled the Bear. "I am going to nibble you anyhow. You are here all alone, and no one can help or save you. At last I have you."

"Dear me!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I am in a fix! I wish Wumple had not been so tricky as to take himself all apart. If he had not he might have run for the Police Dog who would drive the Bear away. But it is too late to think of that now. Wumple cannot help me and the Bear will nibble me!"

Indeed, looking at the jumbled pieces of wood that had once been a Wogglejig boy, any one would have said he could do nothing to help the rabbit gentleman.

"Yes! At last I have you!" chuckled the Bear shuffling up close to the rabbit. He reached out one paw with its long claws and was just going to grab Mr. Longears and hug him very tight and hard when all of a sudden, something happened. And what it was shall be told soon.

Washes, Carries Coal, Woman Gains 18 Pounds

"I wash, iron and carry coal and don't get tired since taking Vinol. Also, I have gained 18 pounds."—Mrs. S. Cortese.

Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver peptone, iron, etc. Nervous, easily tired, anaemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. The very FIRST bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Tastes delicious. McDermid & Jury, Druggists, E. L. Payne, McDermid Drug Company.

TRAVEL STILL HAS ROMANCE

BABY BORN ON TRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 1.—In the days of Charles Dickens, the means of transportation overland was the stage coach, and out of the stage coach, with its plunging horses cantering through all weathers, its cheerful horn, its bundles and boxes, its humorous driver and its odd assortment of passengers, a writer with the senses and the symypathy of a man like Charles Dickens was able to collect a large store of laughter and pathos. The stage coach has clattered to its last inn and now the locomotive thunders from station to station with a romance of its own. Is there pathos to be gathered out of the modern railway train? Plenty of it, as Charles Dickens would find if he could walk through the coaches of a train to-day.

On September 13th, little Johnny Unwin, eight years old, has come come to his daddy in Winnipeg. He travelled all the way from Glasgow alone. He was alone, but he had plenty of friends. Officers, stewards and passengers of the steamer which brought him to Canada, the Doric, and the train crew of the Canadian National train "The Continental Limited," as well as Johnny's fellow travellers, were more than kind to him. It was because he was a little chap traveling many hundreds of miles alone, but it was also because Johnny had a story behind him. Last spring he and his mother started off gaily for a visit to relatives in Scotland together. On the way over the Atlantic, the mother died, and Johnny was left to go on alone.

One touch of nature makes the whole world Kin. Here is another story. One day recently a young woman of Hubbard, Sask., Mrs. Helen Fesuij, boarded a Canadian National train at Ituna, on the way to Saskatoon. When the conductor came for the tickets, she complained to him that she felt ill and asked for a berth This was prepared for her at once Between Jasmin and Kelliher, the porter came to the conductor and told him that the passenger was very ill The aid of a lady passenger who had been a nurse was obtained and the train was held thirty minutes at Kelliher for a doctor In the meantime the patient was made more comfortable Dr Whitmore, of Kelliher said that she could not be moved from the train and offered to accompany her to Saskatoon The child came into the world at Leross, the station beyond Kelliher, and now, in Saskatoon, both the happy mother and the bouncing boy are doing well There is no doubt about the mother's belief in human nature, and the world is still full of little stories.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Plain and open weave linens in one of the becoming new light brown shades, called maple sugar.

There is an almost infinite variety to the browns offered for the season. Reddish browns with the warm tones of California redwood, cinnamon brown, copper, bronze and rust.

Warm golden browns that suggest crisp hot toast, the darker grains of cedar, the glowing tone of polished walnut, the rich tones of Russian sable.

One of the fashionable shades is said to be like "the shadows in sand dunes," another is a "yellow beige with the warmth of gold," another the "warm tan of the hot desert sand," and another the "earthy brown of ploughed loam."

One can really wax poetical over these new browns that Fashion has launched for winter and quite offset the arguments of those who object to brown simply because it is the color of mud and potato skins.

Unless you have a large dress allowance I would advise you to choose right to start with whether or no you are going in for brown this season. For with brown the keynote of your new wardrobe you should have a pair of the new brown shoes, with a brown handbag. And if you have furs they should be of the brown rather than the gray sort.

Remember, too, that a brown coat demands stockings and gloves of a brownish beige or light brown shade while gray coat demands gray stockings and gloves, and gray is almost as popular as brown and every bit as smart. One thing is certain—you cannot hope to mix your brown tones and your grays if you want to look well dressed.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Evil stars are supposed to rule this day, according to astrology and for this reason it is a time to be exceedingly cautious.

Political ambitions today come under a sinister direction making for unfounded optimism.

It is not a day for seeking men or women who have power to confer benefits, as they are likely to be critical and unresponsive.

There may be an inclination toward deceit and double-dealing while this configuration lasts.

Mars is in a place causing irritability and a desire to quarrel on small provocation. It is wise to be patient and even-tempered.

Many schemes may prove impractical while this configuration prevails, since it may cause promoters to be changeable.

Saturn frowns on the aged at this time when young men and young women will be affected by ambition to supplant old employees.

Russia has the possibility of mercial relations that will be of greatest benefit.

The Pacific coast is to attract attention by projects of far-reaching importance, it is prophesied.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of a year of perplexities that will be in the end fortunate.

Children born on this day probably will have pleasant and successful careers in which friendships play an important part.

Pirates Clinch The National League Pennant

PIRATES ARE CONFIDENT OF WINNING SERIES

Pitching Corps Will Be Deciding Factors, Says Pittsburgh Pilot

CAN STOP SLUGGERS

Yankees Rated by Critics as Greatest Team of All Time

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 3.—(A.P.)—The momentum that has carried the Pittsburgh Pirates to victory in one of the closest and most exciting races of National League history, plus the skill of a pitching corps that has performed brilliantly over the last month with few exceptions, will be the deciding factors, if the Corsairs beat the New York Yankees in the world's series starting Wednesday at Forbes Field.

This at any rate is the opinion of Owen (Donie) Bush, aggressive little pilot who steered the Pirates to a pennant in his first season.

There are not a few critics, even among the home town experts, who believe the Pirates "staggered" into the pennant. The reaction of their hard fight will be a detriment rather than an aid and that the Yankees, anyway, pack entirely too much punch for the National Leaguers to check.

Full of Confidence.

But if there is any lack of spirit or of confidence in the Pirates, it wasn't evident in the remarks of Bush shortly after his club had won the deciding game in Cincinnati. Neither was it noticeable in the enthusiastic band of 10 regulars who came back to Pittsburgh yesterday, foregoing the final battle in Cincinnati.

Bush and his men are not over confident. They do not under-estimate the Yankees. But neither are the Pirates awed by the fact that the Yankees, coasting into their own pennant, are rated by many competent critics as one of the greatest teams of all time, an outfit that will unquestionably enter the series favored to win by a majority of experts and be backed in betting at probably odds of 7 to 5.

The Pirates are jaunty enough to believe that any club emerging at the top of such a hectic pennant battle as the National League has had this year will take care of itself on any field.

"The Yankee sluggers can be stopped," Bush declared. "That has been demonstrated before. Maybe we won't check them all, but we will stop half of their attack and slow up the rest."

Which half Donie is confident of "stopping" he didn't say, but unquestionably it is his hope, as well as the prayer of Pirate fandom and pitchers that it will be the Ruth-Gehrig "half of the Yankee steam-roller.

Kremer for Opener

Kremer, the 200-pound hurling ace from Oakland, Calif., is slated to twirl the opening game for the Pirates, with Waite Hoyt as a probable opponent.

"Ill pitch to Ruth and Gehrig," Kremer declared. "You can count on that. But I won't make it any easier, for them than necessary."

Vic Aldridge, the Hoosier schoolmaster, who has been hurling consistently fine ball, likely will be Manager Bush's choice for the second game.

Their First Battle

This will be the first New York-Pittsburgh battle in history for premier baseball honors. Most of the Pirates have never seen the Yankees in action. They talk of Babe Ruth with admiration, almost akin to awe. They know that the American League champions have flattened everything in their path this season. But any club that has been through as strenuous a pennant fight as these Pirates can't be overawed or licked by a reputation. They have got to be shown.

"The Yankees may outclub us when it comes to distance," said one of the Pirate regulars, "but they won't outhit us. We may not put as many balls out of the par, but we will put more men on bases and land the punch to bring them home."

The Pirates count on their all-around hitting ability, their phenomenal speed on the bases, plus good pitching, to pull them through to another world's championship. These assets, they are confident, will offset the greater driving power of the Yankee attack.

If it comes to a knockdown and drag-out battle, Bush believes his club's gameness under fire will pull it through.

"Nobody can say this club isn't game after the way it overcame obstacles to win the pennant," declared the manager.

COCHRANE RETAINS BALKLINE TITLE

Chalks Up an Average of 99 Points to Win

1500 POINT MATCH

CHICAGO October 3. — Overcoming a long lead by a sparkling brand of billiard genius, Walker Cochran of Hollywood, Calif., successfully defended his world's 18.2 balk line championship in the final block of a 1500 point match with the German challenger Eric Hagenlacher, Saturday night.

The final match score was Cochrane 1500; Hagenlacher 1474.

Cochrane, who started last night's final 500 point block 292 points behind, chalked up an inning average of 99 points to win.

His largest gain was made in the 34th innings when he checked off a run of 407, which lacked only 25 of tying Jake Schaefer's all time match record.

By his victory Cochrane retains the championship medal and wins a purse of $1000, in addition to the net gate receipts.

Cochrane who won the championship at an international tournament in Washington last March, must by the terms of the National Billiard Association, meet Jake Schaefer for the title within the next 60 days. The match probably will be held here.

Cochrane's play last night marked a sensational reversal of form.

During the first two blocks of the match he seemed to lack confidence, and missed many comparatively easy shots. With with his championship almost out of his reach he played like a real champion, making many long line nurses, difficult masses, three and four cushion shots and some hard line follows.

His long run of 407 instead of "chilling" the German challenger, caused Hagenlacher to steady for a 232 point run in the 45th inning, which put him in the lead once again. From that time on the strain on the players was terrific but Cochrane came back for the final run, snuffing out Hagenlacher's only chance.

Harrisburg, winner of the New York-Pennsylvania League pennant this year, finished at the bottom of the column last season.

The Wichita Falls Spudders, winners of the Texas League pennant this year, held first place in the race throughout the entire season.

REDS WIN OUT IN FINAL TILT

Cincinnati Twirler Holds Pittsburgh Pirates for 1 to 0 Victory

CARDS IN SECOND

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(Canadian Press).—The Reds won the last game of the season with Pittsburgh at Cincinnati one to 0 yesterday. The Pirates had but one regular in the lineup at the start Lloyd Waner in centrefield. All other regular players returned to Pittsburgh after the Pirates cinched the pennant Saturday. The only score in the game was not earned as Hughey Critz tripled to the bleachers in the seventh inning, but scored on a passed ball. Peter Jablonowski pitched a good game for Cincinnati, allowing but four hits, three of which were made by Waner. Cvengros, who started for Pittsburgh allowed two hits in five innings while Lee Meadows permitted as many in the three innings. Lloyd Waner was the only visitor to get as far as third base of Jablonowski.

Jackson's single in the tenth inning scoring Lindstrom, who had doubled, gave the Giants a 5 to 4 over Philadelphia in the closing game of the season at New York.

Harder, former Philadelphia outfielder, was the big gun in the New York attack. He drove out two home runs, the second tying the score in the ninth inning.

Augie Walsh, recruit from Pittsfield of the Eastern League, pitched a nice game for Philadelphia.

Brooklyn finished at Ebbets Field with a 5 to 3 victory over the Boston Braves. Bill Clark, the Robins' recruit southpaw, pitched effective ball and was not scored on after the second inning. Brooklyn errors were responsible for all Boston runs.

Kent Greenfield started in the box for Boston but was hammered hard and gave way to Goldsmith in the seventh.

Butler hit a home run inside the park in the second with the bases full.

Cards in Second.

With the Cardinals leading 6 to 4 in the eighth inning with the Chicago Cubs at St. Louis yesterday, rain assured the retiring world's champions of second place in the National League standing by preventing completion of the first contest and washing out the second, ending the season.

There was a question as to whether the score would stand 6 to 4, including the home run made by Stephenson, Cub's centerfielder in the eighth or revert to the end of the seventh inning which would have made the score 6 to 3. The official scorer decided to send the box to President Heydler with the score 6 to 4, including play in the eighth.

Rain drizzled on the players from the start. The Cubs were at bat in the eighth and Stephenson had hit a homer to rightfield. One had walked and Sherdel had replaced Haines and retired Grimm on a pop fly when Umpire Hart called time. After waiting the customary half hour while the drizzle turned to a downpour, the game was called off, bringing the final curtain on the season here.

Hamilton Will Meet Peterborough in First Game of O.B.A. Finals.

Hamilton by defeating Windsor 9-7 in the O.B.A. semi-finals on Saturday will meet Peterborough in the James Stevenson Park on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This is the first time Peterborough has been in the finals in seven years and at that time the Hamilton "Plowittes" was the opposing team. Home and home games will be played, with the Petes travelling to the Ambitious City on Saturday.

Middlewest Teams Will Fight It Out

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (Associated Press). — The four admittedly dangerous teams that are figured to fight it out for the western conference football championship—Minnesota, Michigan, Northwestern and Ohio State—appear more dangerous last night as the result of victories in the opening games of the Big Ten season Saturday against "warmup" opponents.

This quartette, generally rated as having the best pre-season championship possibilities, vindicated the judgment of the prophets by rolling up lopsided scores. The defeat of Chicago by Oklahoma furnished the only upset, but the defeat may have done Coach Stagg's Maroons more good than harm.

In defeat, the Maroons appeared to have more and better material than last year, when six games were lost in a row. The Oklahoma eleven is a veteran aggregation, must too strong a team for Chicago to meet so early in the season. With such teams as Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin to be played "the old man of the Midway" has a tremendous task on his hands to whip his squad into shape in an attempt to wipe out the dismal season of a year ago. WORLD SERIES COMPARISONS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., October 3 (Associated Press). — There is little to choose in the relative offensive and defensive strength of the Yankee and Pirate inner cordons, although the American Leaguers hold perhaps a slight edge on form, such as it is, revealed by the latest unofficial records.

Where the Bucs are strong on the left side, with Glenn Wright at short and Captain Pie Traynor at third, the Yankees appear considerably stronger on the other side, with Lou Gehrig at first and Tony Lazzeri at second.

Traynor and Gehrig are the outstanding pair. The Pirate captain, generally rated the best third sacker in the game, has a big margin over his veteran rival, Joe Dugan, in every department of play Gehrig also has a record of achievement, especially at bat, that outshines the performance of Joe Harris.

The Keystone combinations are pretty well matched, although Lazzeri and Mark Koenig, the Yankee pair, boast slightly better marks than George Grantham and Wright, both at bat and afield. Lazzeri is steadier than Grantham on the defence, but both are dangerous long distance clouters. Tony has hit more homers, but Grantham has walloped more doubles and triples.

Koenig and Wright are a good deal of the same type, occasionally erratic but often brilliant.

Here are the latest unofficial averages of the infielders:

ARGONAUTS TIED WITH OTTAWAS

Stage Sensational Fourth Quarter Attack to Tie Score 10 to 10

OPENING RUGBY MATCH

OTTAWA October 3. Canadian Press. — A sensational fourth quarter attack, coupled with a complete temporary collapse of the Ottawas, earned Toronto Argonauts a tie in the opening big four rugby game played here on Saturday afternoon and gave them an equal division of the league points with the home team. The final score was 10 to 10 and the sensational finish was put on by the visitors in the opening seven minutes of the final period, in which space of time they twice forged the ball across the Ottawa goal line to come up even with the Senators, who had held a ten point lead going into the final 15 minutes

For three periods the home team were complete masters of the situation The Ottawa line held argos almost in their tracks; the wings were having the best of the argument along the outside lanes and Tubman was outkicking the dual efforts of Sinclair and Munro. Gradually the visitors were forced on to the defence and five single points were recorded in the Ottawa column at half time A touchdown in the third session brought the Ottawa total to ten, and with only 15 minutes remaining to play, they looked like certain winners.

Change in Line-up.

However, just before the end of the third period a change was made in the Argonaut line-up. "Pee Wee" Chantler came into action in place of Ray Roadway, and here was the key to the subsequent Argonaut success. Chantler swung right into line with a 25-yard gallop, and in the next few minutes he was the medium of a line charge that gave Argos yards for the first time during the game. Prior to this they had not been in a position to score.

Early in the fourth period Chantler again broke away for a lengthy run and that started Argos on the march to an even break. As a result of this last run, Armour Munro went over for a touch when he recovered a loose onside kick, and Bill Miles tied the score with another touch a few minutes later following two more dashing runs by Chantler.

With the score tied Argos fought stubbornly and although Tubman was sent back into action, and the entire Ottawa team stepped into the argument with all that they had they could not get within striking distance of the oarsmen's goal.

McInenly placed the home team in a position to score nearing the close of the first period, when his 45-yard dash brought the ball to Argos 2-yard line. Set back for ten yards on the second down, as a result of a penalty the home team had to kick. Lynch's attempted onside going to Broadway for a rouge Ottawa 1; Argos 0. This was the only score of the first quarter.

A fumble on an Argonaut end run put Ottawas inside in the early moments of the second quarter, and Tubman kicked a rouge to Munro. Ottawa 2; Argos. 0.

A short kick by Munro into touch at the Argo. 25 yeard line, gave Tubman another chance, and he made it 3 to 0 when he booted a rouge to Sinclair.

Tubman circled and gained 25 yards on a return kick from Munro, and from the Argo ten yard line, Lynch tried another onside. It went far back and rolled over the deadline for the fourth Ottawa point. A mammoth punt, following a smart bit of headwork on Tubman's part gave the Senators another point just before half time. Munro kicked to Tubman, who returned it on the run, and when Munro gathered it in behind the Argo line he was downed, leaving the score at half-time Ottawa 5; Argos 0.

Fighting their way up the field from their own end, the Senators were in a scoring position soon after half time. Tubman ran forty-five yards on a fake kick and put the ball on the Argo 20-yard line. Kealey and Connell made yards, and Emerson's subsequent 8-yard plunge put the ball two yards from the Argo goal line. Wright went over for a touch, which was unconverted, raising the total to: Ottawa 10, Argos 0.

Then came the Argonaut storm. From the Ottawa 25-yard line, Keohoe kicked high and short to Chantler, who took the leather on the run. He squirmed along for forty yards, and on the next down made twelve more. Held on two bucks, Park kicked an onside. Young touched the ball but could not hold, and from the ensuing scramble, Armour Munro came out with the ball and scampered the remaining ten yards across the line. Park missed the convert. Ottawa 10, Argos 5.

Tubman had been taken off, with Kehoe doing the kicking, but the entire home team seemed to crack. Argos were down on their own fifteen yard line, and after taking yards, Park broke tnrough the centre for thirty yards, passing to Munro when tackled, and the latter made ten more, carrying the play to the Ottawa 25. A Chantler-Sinclair run took the ball to the Ottawa 2-yard mark, and Miles went over on the next down to tie the score. Ottawa 10, Argos 10.

Tubman was rushed out again, but it was too late. Argos, playing like an inspired team, held the Senators safe for the remainder of the game. In the last five minutes, Connell charged through to block Sinclair's kick, but the ball flew into touch off the Ottawa man, and Argos regained possession, killing off the Ottawa chance.

The game was hard fought, but cleanly played. Wilson and Miles shone on Toronto line, with Sinclair and Chantler starring on the backfield. As the game progressed the visitors improved ,particularly their line which had been held in complete subjection by the homesters throughout the first half. Tubman gave a wonderful exhibition of booting on the Ottawa half line and was steady with his catching. Young Bert McInenly was a star in his first Senior star, while Ted Smith, another new man, played a great game at middle wing. Young and Herbert starred, as did Lynch.

Featuring the opening of the local rugby season was the flag-raising ceremony prior to the game. Hon. Hal. B. McGiverin hoisting the Ottawa pennant to the top of the new flag-pole.

The kick-off was taken by Tom "King" Clancy, former Ottawa star, ex-president of the local clug, and ex-president of the Interprovincial Union.

HAMILTON AND PETES MEET IN FINALS AGAIN

Two Cities Represented in Last Stage of Senior Race Seven Years Ago

A GREAT SERIES

Four of This Year's Petes Played Against the 1920 Plowites

History has repeated itself in the clashing of the Hamilton Oskies and the Petes in the final series for the Ontario Senior championship.

Seven years ago Hamilton and Peterborough teams fought it out for the senior title and this is the first occasion since that time that either city has been represented in the last stage of the provincial competition.

The Plowites carried the Hamilton colors in 1920 and the series between the two clubs was hard fought and full of color. Hamilton won the first game at home by 5 to 4 but in the second battle of the series at Peterborough a week later the Petes evened things up by grabbing a 2-1 victory after eleven innings of exciting baseball. The Petes had led 1 to 0 until the ninth when an error by Micky Murray, now of Galt, gave the Plowites a chance to tie the score. The homesters won out in the eleventh through daring baserunning by Roy Cherett, who scored the winning run from second base on an infield tap by Murray.

The play off took place at Guelph and Hamilton, staging a fierce assault in the sixth inning, scored seven runs in that frame and eventually won out by 9 runs to 4.

Ivan Miller, the big speed ball pitcher, who twirled all three games for Hamilton in that series, will likely be here to report the game. He is on the staff of the Hamilton Spectator.

Of the Peterborough team which participated in the memorable 1920 clash four are members of this year's Petes. Manager Max Swanston, "Hap" Harrison, Ray Rose, and Tommy Holyman are the quartette. Swanston, of course, did the catching seven years ago, Holyman played second, Rose covered left field and Harrison played first, pitching the last couple of innings of the third game. Others on the squad of 1920 were: Lornie Rose and Howard Kirn, pitchers; the late Roy Cherrett, shortstop; Mick Murray, third base; Jack McCarney, Bob Ross, Stan Lowe and Walter Jackson, outfielders.

Only one of the winning Plowites is with this year's Hamilton Oskies. Pilgrim, now hailed as one of the best outfielders in amateur ball, played the first game of the 1920 series against the Petes but was not in the line up during the other two fixtures.

Swat King Has 13 In Lead of Gehrig

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. — Canadian Press. — The great home run marathon between Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the Yankees' heavy hitting twins, ended on Saturday with the homer king 13 in front of his junior rival. Gehrig clouted his 47th circuit swat off Pitcher Burke of the Senators on Saturday with two on base.

Ruth with his new record of 60 home runs, was hard pressed by Gehrig right up to the first of September. During last month the Babe turned out 17 homers, which stands as his great average for home runs in a month for his career.

The final standing:

	Games played.	Homers.
Ruth 1921	154	59
Ruth 1927	154	60
Gehrig 1927	154	47

In the season of 1912 Joe Wood, of the Boston Americans, set up a major league pitching record by winning 34 out of 39 games.

Walter J. Travis, one of the greatest golfers of all time, never played the game until he was thirty-five years old.

BISONS SLAM OFFERINGS OF THE MUD HENS

Visitors at Buffalo Given 8—2 Beating by International Champions

USE FOUR TWIRLERS

Little World Series Now Stands 2 to 1 in Favor of Toledo

BUFFALO, N.Y., October 3 (Canadian Press). — The Bison production department swung into full motion yesterday for the first time during the Little World Series with the Toledo Mudhens ,and as a result 14,000 baseball fans saw the visitors get the choicest beating of the series when they landed in the small end of an 8 to 2 score.

Bullet Joe Bush, of World's Series fame, felt the full fury of the Bison attack, and was slammed from the hillock after facing four batters. Ryan shortly afterwards suffered the same fate, but Milstead and Wisner, who appeared on the scene later, managed to hold the Bisons fairly well in check. The series now stands 2 to 1 in favour of the Mudhens as the clubs prepare to move back to Toledo for games on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. The game was played under perfect midsummer weather conditions ,and the stands and bleachers presented a solid array of coatless and hatless fans.

Eurie Profitt, sterling southpaw heaver, worked beautifully behind the big advantage given by his mates, and held the visitors' swingers to well scattered hits.

Featuring on the offence for the Bisons were Tyson and Brainard, who smacked out three hits each. Fisher hit a home run over the right field fence in the first inning with a man on base to give the Bisons a lead, and it was never close thereafter.

BROWNS WIN FINAL GAME

White Sox Defeated 8 to 3 in Last Game of American Season

BUNCH THEIR HITS

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(Canadian Press).—The American League season came to a close in Chicago yesterday with an 8 to 3 victory for the St. Louis Browns over the Chicago White Sox. The Browns won the game by bunching their hits, one of which was a home run by Kress with a man on base. Neis led the attack for the White Sox with four hits in as many times up, but Beck pulled out of several close places. Manager Schalk gave several of his rookies an opportunity to display their wares.

The Tigers completed their baseball season at Detroit with a double victory over the Cleveland Indians, 11 to 5 and 5 to 4, while Harry Heilmann slammed out two home runs, three doubles and two singles in nine times at bat to win the Major League batting championship for the fourth time.

Washington and Philadelphia closed the season at Washington, the Senators winning 9 to 5. Heavy long distance hitting coupled with five Athletic errors turned the trick. The teams divided the season series, 12 to 10, with Philadelphia having the edge.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

AN OLD, OLD MAN

I gave an old, old man a ten
Today—I often do.
One ought to do it now and then,
A five or ten or two.
I often give that old, old man
A ten—well, anytime I can:
Because, when days of age arrive,
He needs a two or ten or five.

A man can't work the way he could,
When one's as old as he;
The eyesight isn't quite as good
As once it used to be.
A fellow needs some money then;
It's always so with old, old men:
When payday comes I always plan
To help a certain old, old man.

I didn't put it in his hand
(I couldn't, I suppose),
But in the bank, you understand,
The place where money grows.
In fact, I've never really seen
This man, this old, old man I mean,
For he's (perhaps I ought to say)
The old, old man I'll be some day.

"THE MAGIC GARDEN."

A story of youthful sweethearts who sacrifice everything in order that the boy may develop his genius for the violin, is told in "The Magic Garden," an F.B.O. production now playing at the Regent.

"The Magic Garden" is from the pen of the late Gene Stratton-Porter, the woman who knew and understood the heart of humanity as few people have ever done. In this, her last story, she has told of the romance of a boy and girl who meet by accident in a beautiful garden, and of the love which comes to them and changes the course of their lives. The boy develops into a musical genius, and the girl, unwilling to stand in his light, bravely encourages him to go abroad for many years of study. What transpires during their separation, and their final enthralling reunion, is told in a beautiful fashion on the screen. The picture was made under the direction of J. Leo Meehan, the son-in-law of Mrs. Porter, and who has to his credit the filming of several other of the authoresses' books. The distinguished cast includes: Margaret Morris and Raymond Keane as the girl and boy, William V. Mong, Joyce Coad, Phillippe de Lacey, Charles Clary, Walter Wilkinson, Alfred Allen, Cesare Gravina, Paulette Duval and Hedda Hopper. The adaptation was written by Mr. Meehan and the continuity by Charles Kerr.

The National League Park in Boston has the largest playing field of any of the major league baseball grounds.

QUAKERS WON SOCCER GAME FROM DE LAVAL

De Laval Aggregation Made the Winners Travel All the Way to Win

FOUR GOALS TO THREE

Quakers' Ten Men Had to Work Hard All the Time to Gain Decision

Ideal weather prevailed on Saturday afternoon for the Quaker versus De Laval soccer cup game for the Phelan Trophy, which was won by the former, four goals to three. Credit must be awarded to the loser for the splendid showing against the more experienced eleven. No less than five juveniles of previous years making their debut in senior company and came out with a full measure of success. Time and again, H. Coleman, the custodian, received ovations from the spectators for his spectacular plays, while his brother George filled a hard position at right back. These two boys were in the team that won the Public school championship a few years ago for Central school. Queen Alex school is now school champions. Dyer, Jones and (Young) Downer are products of the juvenile league.

FIRST HALF.

At the outset a series of "throw-ins" for the De Laval kept play in their opponents' quarters, but H. Curtis finally cleared in front of goal. Then the Quakers retaliated with nine men to finish very poorly when in a position to score.

Ward Scored From Penanty.

From the goal-kick, Dyer trapped the ball in mid-field when Jones and the former dribbled their way up against the one full-back defence who handled inside the dreaded area, thereby given the De Laval the opening counter when Ward scored from the spot-kick. Another hot Quaker attack brought forth two flag-kicks in succession that were frustrated by the Coleman brothers. Ferguson arrived on the field of play to make ten men against De Laval's eleven. He made his presence known by two low ground left footers that the De Laval custodian handled with precision when hard pressed. In succession, Carmichael and Foster, through unwise, selfish tactics, lost the ball and Evans severely tested Curtis with a long drive. Then Jones missed by inches. The Quakers turn came next, and from a strong driver by Robb, the De Laval custodian picked up smartly to send his forwards up-field.

T. Wilson Equalized.

The Quakers right winger returned the ball and was always alert to make progress that eventually caused the defeat of Coleman when T. Wilson intecepted his cross, to land the ball in the net. As time rolled on, both elevens tried hard to gain the lead. This success came to the Quakers through Robb, who beat three men by dribbling methods and driving the ball into the corner of the net. Half- time: Quakers 2, De Laval 1.

HALF-TIME.

By the time the second half was entered upon, the sun had gone down in the horizon, which was the result of the toss in favor of the Quakers. The first incident of note was an individual effort by Ferguson when he slammed the ball across the goal-mouth to go abegging.

Foster's Timely Goal.

On a movement from the right wing, the Quakers increased their lead. As the ball came towards T. Wilson ,he let it go through his legs purposely to Foster who broke away quickly to give Coleman no chance to stop his parting shot. No player was more conspicuous on the field of play than Hodgson, who certainly demonstrated that he can show the spectators that he is more than a "Die-Hard" but still a live issues without any training facility.

Dick Evans Headed Goal.

To the surprise of all, Dick Evans, the son of one of the pioneer soccer players in the city, changed positions with Jones at centre forward and from a beautiful centre by Williams, he headed the ball into the net to make it three-two. No sooned had this excitement died down, then Alf Wilson broke away on the wing to land a dropping ball into the net to make his team mates four-two.

Real Cup Tie Finish.

After this success, the Quakers relied too much upon their lead, to get a fight when the De Laval responded with more pep than ever in the closing stages, and did a lot of shooting for goal, but the Quakers were equal to all the remaining calls except one when Evans made it three in De Laval's favor but the referee adjudged a penalty kick instead because H. Curtis had handle on the line in his endeavor to prevent a count. From the spot-kick John Ward made it a positive count that ended, Quakers 4, De Laval 3.

Goal scorers—Quakers: T. Wilson, Robb, A. Wilson and Foster; De Laval: Ward 2, and Evans.

De Laval—H. Coleman, goal; G. Coleman and Hodgens, backs; Evans, Warde and Warne, halves ;Williams, Dye, Jones, Downe and Watkins, forwards.

Quakers—W. Curtis, goal; H. Curtis and S. Maker, backs; A. Maker, Robb and Downer, halves; A. Wilson, Carmichael, T. Wilson, Foster and Ferguson, forwards.

Referee—Alex Anderson.

Smith and Sarazen Win $2,500 Golf Prize

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(Canadian Press).—MacDonald Smith and Gene Sarazen yesterday defeated Tommy Armour and Johnny Farrell at Lakeville Country Club, 5 to 4, in a 72 hole best ball match for a purse of $2,500. The first 36 holes of the match were played yesterday at Washington, D.C. and the players were all square as they started off today.

Seven birdies and an eagle by Smith on the first nine to-day constituted too fast a pace for Armour, the national open champion, and Farrell, winner of a large number of open championships this year.

Smith sank a 20 foot putt on the 14th hole in the afternoon round to insure the victory with a birdie three.

BAN JOHNSTON BERATES SOX

Accuses Them of Deliberately Attempting to Embarass the League.

PRAISES OTHERS.

CHICAGO, October 1 (Associated Press). — President Ban Johnson, of the American League, trained his guns on the Chicago White Sox and Commissioner Landis yesterday, berating them for lack of co-operation, and accusing them of deliberately attempting to embarrass the league.

The former "czar of baseball," who refused to say when his resignation as head of the league would become effective, praised the seven other members of the American League for "their commonsense and business judgment in maintaining their ordinary relations with their presidential office."

"The only club which has given evidence of deliberate intent to embarrass the league, as conducted from headquarters has been the Chicago organization, which might have been expected to grasp at such an opportunity since it has been almost continuously out of step with the majority of the league for a period of years," the statement declared.

"The childish spite and rebellion on the part of the Chicago club has been matched, even outdone, by the petty action of the office of the Commissioner of baseball."

"Nothing to say, nothing at all," said Landis. "I have a copy of his statement."

Fugazy Is Restored To Graces of Board

NEW YORK, October 1 (Canadian Press). — Humbert J. Fugazy, metropolitan boxing promoting rival of Tex Rickard, was restored to the good graces of the State Boxing Commission yesterday after one of the briefest "indefinite suspensions" on record.

Fugazy was suspended on Tuesday for alleged failure to return to Charles Cardic ,manager of Red Chapman, Boston featherweight, $2,500 forfeit money posted for a fight which never took place. Yesterday he explained to the Commission that the money, less about $1,400 he claimed Cardic owes him, will be available whenever the Boston fight manager cares to call for it. The explanation was accepted.

ROSENEATH Y.P.L. REGULAR MEETING

Interesting and Educational Program is Given by Members

ROSENEATH, Oct. 3.—About fifty young and some elder folk met together in the former Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, and took part in making the Young People's League a beneficial and social meeting. The president, Mrs. Reg. Crego, conducted the meeting which opened with the singing of a hymn. Rev. R. R. Brown led in prayer. Mrs. George Ingham read the first scripture reading, Mark 7, 24 to 37. Miss Elva Sandercock continued the reading from Luke, tenth chapter. Mrs. M. Davey then read a short commentary on these two passages. Another hymn was sung and the business discussion held. The secretary gave the roll call when the members responded by naming their favorite poets.

Mrs. Albert Tucker, of Lindsay, was present and contributed several of her humorous recitations, giving everybody a hearty laugh. Her recitations were thoroughly enjoyed and she cheerfully responded to the encores.

Mrs. R. Crego gave a paper on the lives and works of Dr. Ryerson and Sir William Osler, which was exceedingly interesting and educational.

A solo by Mrs. (Rev.) Brown, "In the Garden of My Heart," was beautifully rendered.

The meeting then closed with singing a hymn and the Mizpah benediction.

After the meeting, a most enjoyable social hour was spent in various games, some brain twisters, etc., and closed with a delicious and appetizing lunch of hot weiners, pumpkin pies, and coffee.

Henri Cochet Favored To Win Autumn Cup

PARIS, October 3. — Henri Cochet, French Davis Cup star, and conqueror of Tilden and Johnston, was extended to the limit yesterday to gain the finals of the singles on the racing clubs hard court for the Autumn Cup, from 17 year old Christian Boussus. The score was 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Cochet, with the Davis Cup in charge, arrived last week just in time to enter the contest. His play was rather shaky throughout the tournament, and he dropped a set in each match from the first round to the finals.

FALL RALLY BIG SUCCESS

Over 300 Present at Y.W.C.A. Last Night—Interesting Programme Given.

EXHIBITION GIVEN.

Over three hundred people were in attendance Friday evening at the annual Senior Fall Rally of the Young Women's Christian Association, when an excellent programme was presented, with an interesting exhibition of various aspects of 'Y' life and work. The big gymnasium was crowded with an audience that appeared to enjoy every minute of the programme presented in the hall and later in the swimming pool, where members of the swimming classes gave a demonstration of their proficiency in water sports.

In the gymnasium, which was decorated very attractively with a profusion of autumn flowers, maple and sumach leaves, there were exhibits by various classes and clubs, at tables arranged with blue and white paper. A large 'Y' triangle made a background for a small platform where the Spirit of the Association was represented by Adelle Milburn, while there were facilities for an exceptionally interesting demonstration in Home Nursing and First Aid Work. On the walls were descriptive posters outlining in decorative style the various activities of the Association, and small tables were covered with the handicraft of the several Clubs, the Pollyannas, the Wohelo and the T. M. T. M. (The More the Merrier). A section demonstrating the 'Y' work in India, a Bible study literature booth, and one devoted to English literature, an exhibit by girls who have attended 'Y' week-end camps and conferences, a demonstration of wood carving and basketry, in skilful and dainty work by the members, a Junior Story Hour section, and one showing the proficiency, in toothsome examples, of the Junior cooking classes, also a corner for the Ukumtu Club composed of Old Country girls and exhibits by the Girls' Auxiliary, the Sunshine and Ever Bright Clubs, comprised the gymnasium attractions. A display of silver trophies was also on view.

Programme.

The devotional exercises were taken by Rev. J. E. Todd, and words of welcome were spoken by Miss Margaret Hamilton, president of the Y. W. C. A., who referred to the high ideals and purposes of the association and asked all to do their part in making the coming year a real success. An outline of the classes for this year was given by Miss L. Brownscombe and the opening of the gymnasium season was announced by Miss C. Littlefield.

The building was then thrown open for inspection, class and club exhibits were visited and a programme of gymnasium drills and interpretive and folk dances given by the classes. A tour of the residence department followed and the evening closed with the service of dainty refreshments, the table being arranged with flowers and lighted candles in silver holders, while the hall and reception-rooms were bright with autumn foliages and blossoms. The service of refreshments was in charge of the social committee and a group of assistants. Coffee was poured by Mrs. E. E. Harvey and Mrs. A. Moir.

THE DANGER OF GAS

We read a great deal about the injury caused by sewer gas, and about poisoning from carbon monoxide gas. A few deaths are also reported each day from the inhalation of natural or artificial gas from cooking stoves or gas jets. Many people deliberately commit suicide by turning on the gas and inhaling the fumes. Hundreds more are dying each day from the mechanical effect of unnatural gas pressure against their hearts. Millions more are slowly developing functional or chronic disorders because of the continued irritation of stomach or intestinal gas.

Most people are literally walking gas factories, and many do not understand that dietetic indiscretions not alone produce excessive gas but also, at the same time, create a faulty chemistry in the body from which most diseases originate. Get rid of the cause of flatulence, and you get rid of the chemical poisons and the mechanical gas pressure at the same time.

The one suffering from any form of heart derangement will always have a large amount of stomach gas. Sometimes this is not easily belched up, and only a careful examination will discover its presence. The X-ray is an invaluable aid to the diagnosis of heart trouble, and with such cases so diagnosed, a large pocket of gas, sometimes as big as a toy balloon, is discovered at the top of the stomach just under the heart. The chief cause of asthma is this same gas pressure against a tight diaphragm which is rendered still more immovable by the crowding of flatulence.

Many pelvic disorders of women are aggravated or entirely caused by the distensionof the intestines with poisonous gases which force the intestines against the sensitive pelvic organs. Periodically painful periods can often be relieved at the time by a day's fast and the use of two or three enemas to get rid of the feces and gas from the lower bowel.

The thousands of sudden deaths occurring each day may be laid to flatulence. The heart fails simply because it cannot do its work and continue to resist the pressure of gas from the stomach or intestines.

More people of North America will die this year from the effects produced by flatulence than the number of America's fatalities in the World War.

Questions and Answers.

Question: T. J. B. asks: "How is it so many of my friends have gout? I thought it was caused by drinking alcoholic beverages, but since prohibition that cause should be almost entirely removed."

Answer: Gout is one form of rheumatism and is caused by the rheumatic toxemia which comes from over-eating, over-drinking, using wrong kinds of food, and in improper combinations.

Question: Ann R. writes: "I read in your column that milk should not be taken with sandwiches. When should milk be used?"

Answer: Never use milk with sandwiches or with regular meals. Milk should be taken by itself, or combined with one kind of fruit, or with only non-starchy vegetables.

Question: Mrs. Grace W. asks: "Where can I get the new sport dress material which permits the ultra-violet rays of the sun to penetrate to the skin?"

Answer: You probably refer to the material called celanese, a cellulose acetate product which some manufacturers have been experimenting with. So far as I know, none of this material has been put on the market.

Question: Mother asks: "Do you think it is bad for children to use scooters? A doctor at the Chiropractic Convention said that they caused one leg to be shorter than the other."

Answer: If a child can be made to change from one foot to the other while running a scooter, it should be a very beneficial exercise, but one-sided exercise for children encourages a faulty position of the pelvis, and spinal curvature.

What Every Girl Should Know

By GISA PRUCHONE.

Copyright, 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"WHAT EVERY GIRL SHOULD KNOW," with Patsy Ruth Miller, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

CHAPTER I

The darting quicksilver loveliness of Mary!

"Thirty Love!"

A quick scurry of white slippered feet, a swoop upon the ball before it touched the sun-hardened ground, and over the net the white sphere sailed with the grace of a bird.

Oh, the beauty of Mary with the sun coaxing forth dizzying sparks from her flaming head as she whirled and darted and leaped. A red-headed mediaeval flapper playing tennis at Camelot, with Lancelot in the minute person of Bob astride a broomstick. The small heart of Bob filled to bursting with the pride of possession of Mary—too large a load for small Bob. What succor in clenching the end of the broomstick till it shot from his moist grasp? What mitigation of the load in straddling fiercely the somewhat grimy white charger and galloping madly in place? Young Robert longed for ease. Young Robert wished passionately to transfer a portion of the load that filled his heart to bursting. Young Robert was commanded to "Sit quiet there you jumping flea or I'll sock yuh!" and the overcharged dam burst.

"She's my sister."

"Yeh?" Mild interest. "Which one?"

"The red-headed one," said young Robert, and his honest blue eyes shone. "The red-headed one's my sister." Words rushing out with the eagerness of long restriction. "The one with the red hair you can see is my sister, Mister, because you can see I got red hair. We all got red hair, even my brother Dave's got red hair because my Dad had red hair and my grand-dad had—"

"Yeh, I know, kid. Your grand-dad had red hair," dryly.

Young Robert beamed. "How'd you know?" whereat the long youth ducked Robert's head in the sand and laughed. "You're a good kid. What's your name, son?"

"Bob Sullivan, only today I'm Lancelot, and Mary's Elaine because she's tanned."

Nice teeth this long youth revealed when he threw his head back and laughed. "Whaddeyemean, kid—Elaine because she's tanned?".

Young Robert ceased clutching the white charger and burrowed close to the stranger's side while he gazed out upon the hills of his vision tipped with purple and majesty and gold and mouthed the words as though partaking of their beauty before giving them over, "You know—'Elaine the fair, Elaine the lovable, Elaine—the lily maid of Astolat.'"

The long youth put his arm about young Robert's shoulders and held him tightly, then toueled his red head. "Come back, son! Elaine's walking away with the game."

Young Robert resumed his seat upon the white charger and shouted, "Ho, ho!" as he galloped madly. The beautiful clipped perfection of Mary's strokes, the leap of her body at the ball overhead, the swoope, the swirls, the darts and light, scurrying feet—"That's my sister Mary," shouted Bob to the rows of interested parents and variegated relatives, and they smiled in amusement at the pride of possession shining on the face of this young male.

Hearty applause greeted the end of the game. It had been a good set and the players had been well matched, although the red-headed girl did seem to walk away with it. Well—they had heard about this Sullivan girl. "Playground champion of the city, isn't she, Betty?"

"Yes, Mother, she is, and she's a marvel, too, everyone says, and now winning this game from Emily Bill puts her in the champion class. Isn't she beautiful, Mother?"

"Well—beautiful—well, now, if you like the type—"

"She's a lovely type and she's my sister!" Thus young Robert, while the long young man laughed and pulled him away. "I see 'Elaine' coming and by the light in her eye you're going to catch it, Son!"

"I never catch it, I never—"

"Well, but this time, Young Robert!"

Nemesis in the glowing person of Mary with racquet under her arm. "Bob, I heard you! Oh, Robert, why do you talk so much? You're a little talkative girl, that's what you are, young Robert, and tonight I shall tell Dave all." Dramatically. "Do you hear? All!"

The long young man stood with arms folded and thought. "She is beautiful, but I doubt that she knowe it. I like the way her hair awings against her cheeks and the straight cut across her forehead. Green eyes. They seem to swim. Beautiful mouth. Tan and freckles. Elaine, the lily-maid of Astolat!" The young man grinned.

"Are you laughing at Robert?" Mary turned her eyes to the tall young man. "Has he related the family history to you? And if he hasn't, how old is your friendship?"

"Not as old as I intend to make it, and he has told me nothing that might not have been heard by you."

"Well." Mary dismissed that topic with a shrug. "He will talk, I suppose. Robert, I won!" Young Robert kicked himself free from her grasp. "Mary, I gotta introduce my friend. Permit me to introduce my friend," and waited courteously for his friend to contribute his name.

The long young man held out his hand. "I'm delighted to meet the tennis champion of Garden City, Miss Sullivan. My name is Wally Mason."

Mary smiled ruefully as she placed her hand in his. "Just how conventional is this, Mr. Mason?"

"Just how conventional is this, Mr. Mason?"

"What does it matter, Miss Sullivan, when your eyes are green, and green eyes in all the world of eyes are my favorites?"

"Interesting," murmured Mary, and both laughed.

She walks delightfully, he thought. He attributed it, the swing from the hips, the tilt of it, to the years of tennis probably. As a matter of fact, it was rather more than that. The tilt of Mary's soul that stood on tip-toe. This desire within her to walk the tops of mountains. Mountains that touched the clouds. To live in the soul's high places, that was the urge within her. "My life will be beautiful," sang Mary. "I will make it beautiful. It will be a matter of heights—loftiness—beautiful spaces under the blue heavens, where other kindred spirits such as I have walked. I will have nothing to do with the valleys of despair. I will have nothing to do with the chasms in which sorrow lies buried."

Nights with the moon washing in through the window Mary lay awake to hear the message whispered to her by the silent flood. "You Mary," it rippled and sang. "You Mary! What will you do with life? For it must be, what will you do with Life, Mary, and not what will Life do with you. You must never permit that, Mary. Never permit it the upper hand, or it will softly beat you and down you till you are a mass of nothingness without even the capacity for suffering. Think of lacking the capacity to suffer, Mary."

"No, no! I shall rise above everything."

Steadfast stream of ghostly light injecting strength into her quicksilver body.

You remember your mother, Mary?

Her mother. Pallid little mother with the life beaten from her. Beaten from her with whips. You shall not enjoy your rightful heritage of happiness. You shall not! Beaten and downed and scourged, only to rise again. "You were rather wonderful, Mother." She had said that to her, whispered it from between pallid lips on that last day. Why hadn't she waited until Mary could have helped? Why had she gone? That pain beneath Mary's left breast that ate and gnawed. "Oh, mother! You were so brave! But I shan't ever let Life get a chance at me, mother, never, never I shan't!"

EXPLOSION KILLS

He and his sister Joan are in the care of the Langleys.

Lulu Histakki, aged 25, maid in the House home, suffering from shock and bruises, in General Hospital.

Esther Goldie, aged 24, cook, shocked and bruised. In the General Hospital.

The bodies of the victims were removed to the Morgue, pending the opening of the inquiry by Chief Coroner Crawford ,at a date yet to be set.

The House home was purchased three years ago for $14,500. The furnishings are estimated to have been worth anywhere from $6,000 to $10,000. Damage to the Ross home and the home of Arthur Twigg, 175 Douglast Drive, has not yet been estimated. The Ross domicile seems to have suffered the most, as it is burned and blackened from the basement to the roof, one part of the latter having been burned or blown away. One side of the Twigg home is badly scorched and there was some damage done to it by the falling bricks and timbers. The only part intact in the House home is a two-storey rear portion, used as bedrooms. In one of these rooms is still to be seen the bed upon which Victor House was lying when the blast which destroyed his home and robbed him of parents and sister smote his startled ears.

A Terrific Explosion.

The explosion occurred shortly after 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Miss Histakki, the maid, was upstairs in the bathroom, dressing Baby Jean, ready to take the child for a walk, when the explosion happened. Miss Goldie, the cook, was in the dining-room, cleaning windows. Victor was lying in bed at the rear of the house, suffering from a cold, and the other children were playing in other parts of the house. Mr. and Mrs. House were in the basement, engaged in cleaning curtains. A large amount of gasoline had been poured into the washing machine, it is said, and in this the curtains were soaking, taking out stains. In another part of the cellar, it is understood, a Ruud heater was heating water for the washing which was to follow the cleaning of the curtains.

Just how the first which caused the deadly blast came into being is not known definitely, but it is thought that a spark from the dynamo which operated the machine may have ignited the gasoline fumes.

The explosion was both deafening and devastating. Miss Histakki said that she was stunned by the detonation. Coincident with the explosion there came a terrific rush of air, which lifted her completely from her feet, carried her through the air for a distance and landed her amid a conglomeration of debris in the ruins of the house. Miss Goldie's graphic account told of a similar experience. One moment she was standing on a ladder cleaning the windows of the dining-room; the next moment she was catapulted through the atmosphere, to fall, shocked and burned and bruised upon a pile of smashed furniture and scattered brick. Miss Histakki, when asked about her youthful charge, replied that the child was wrenched from her grasp and thrown she knew not whither.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

CCCVII— Science in the World War—Lv Rallying to the Flag Scientifically.

by MAX HAHN

SPEEDY MOBILIZATION OR TRANSFORMATION OF CIVILIANS INTO SOLDIERS IN THE WORLD WAR WAS ONE OF THE FIRST SIGNS OF ADVANCING MILITARY SCIENCE. ON MANY A STREET CORNER IN FRANCE ON AUG. 1, 1914, THE MOBILIZATION ORDER WAS READ TO THE CITIZENS BY GENDARMES.

THIS CALL TO ARMS HAD BEEN ARRANGED AT THE END OF THE FRANCO-PRUSSIAN WAR BY THE MILITARY LEADERS. SOON AFTER THE MOBILIZATION STARTED, FRANCE'S FINEST YOUNG MEN WERE ABOARD CATTLE CARS ROLLING TOWARD THEIR BARRACKS.

AS THE FRENCH HUSBANDS LEFT HOME THEY ENTRUSTED THE PROTECTION OF THEIR FAMILIES AND LIVESTOCK TO OFFICIALS OF THEIR HOMETOWN. WITHIN 16 DAYS THE ENTIRE ACTIVE ARMY OF FRANCE WAS MOBILIZED.

THE GERMAN MOBILIZATION WAS SPEEDIER. AIDED BY MOTOR TRANSPORTATION, 12 GERMAN REGIMENTS WERE MARCHING THROUGH BELGIUM ON AUG. 4, 1914. IT WAS THE HOPE OF GERMANY TO CONQUER FRANCE IN 36 DAYS. BUT THE RAPIDITY OF FRENCH MOBILIZATION SPOILED THAT DESIRE.

"Woman's Work is Never Done"

"Man works from Sun to Sun, but woman's work is never done" says the old adage. This was perhaps first said by a weary housewife when washing up the dishes for a large family in the evening. If she had been using Gillex in the dish water she might not have been quite so disgusted, because Gillex makes dish-washing a much easier job. True—washing up the supper dishes is work—but it's work that must be done and you might as well have it as easy as possible. Try Gillex. It really does help a lot.

interested in the institution. He wished to point out, however, that a great field of activity lay beyond that. He reminded members of such clubs that it was not enough to launch the boys into the world and leave them to their own resources. The interest ought to be maintained during their later career, and they should be guided and assisted until they were stabilized, till they were placed in positions and the sponsors of their welfare should see to it that the boys got fairplay after they were placed.

Immigration.

Passing to more general topics, the Premier said the problem of populating this country was not solved merely by attracting newcomers. Immigrants had to be assimilated. A heritage of British institutions and ideals had been handed on to Canadians, and Canadians were determined to maintain those traditions. For that reason they wanted periodically new infusions of British blood. But even if they transported the whole 46,000,000 inhabitants of the British Isles to Canada, there would still be left great empty spaces in the Dominion. They could not therefore have an exclusively British Canada and people of other races had to be admitted. These newcomers had to be taught our language and had to be leavened by the atmosphere of the country and assimilated into its life. In this direction splendid work was being done by the correspondence schools of the Department of Education.

Ethics and Culture.

He thought that insufficient attention was being paid to the cultivation of ethics in the schools; he doubted if they were instilling sufficiently ideals of deference to age and authority. In this respect he believed there was room for improvement.

To give boys a chance, to show the stuff that was in them, was to go a long way towards solving the problem of reclamation. He believed that the future holds great things in store for the school and for many of the scholars. Mr. Ferguson concluded his speech by asking Dr. Reaman in charge of the school to give the boys at the first opportunity all the ice cream they could eat and to send the bill on to him.

H. Scolfield presided over the meeting in the school-room.

After the speeches the visitors were entertained by a boys' choir and by exhibitions of physical training.

At the execution of Robert Goodale in England, November 30, 1885, the drop severed head from body—the only accident of the kind on record.

were present, as well as structural engineers from all parts of the continent. The Kirkfield lock was opened some two years later. These structures were affirmed in the governmental reports to be "the greatest work of the kind in the world."

During his engagement as Superintendent of the Trent Canal, much other important work was constructed under his supervision. His early advocacy of the use of concrete resulted in the adoption of such material at important points on canal construction.

As a citizen of Peterborough Mr. Rogers took a prominent part in furthering local activities of a varied character. In the early days when sports" were something that earnest young men furthered, he was a member of the four-oared crew, composed of his brother, George Rogers, Alfred Belcher, W. B. Shaw, and himself, rowing in the Canadian Championship regattas at Lachine, Toronto and Barrie. Also at regattas at Hamilton, Ont. The crew was never less than second, and at Barrie won first place with a field of several notable crews. On their return home a fine public reception was given to the crew. For years Mr. Rogers has had in his special care the four-oared rowing shell used by crews of the club.

Among local activities in which he was interested were the Civic Association formed in Ashburnham for the direction of improvements in, at the time, village. His example gave an impetus to tree planting and the improvement of the appearances of the premises. 1916 he was selected by the Department as Registrar for the East Riding of Peterborough, in handling the details of the registration of the population. This work was carried on, by others, all over Canada, and resulted, at large, in locating all aliens in the country, a very material matter in the critical war years.

He was a member of the organization formed in Ontario and Quebec, with the object of fostering a better state of feeling between the two provinces and he devoted considerable time and effort to the project, with good results. He founded the first branch of the Farmers' Clubs in 1918, and was elected president for a number of years. The local club was one of the largest in the province and a source of much interest and help to the farming community.

The family traditions had inculcated among the Rogers the idea of practical military service, ever since the days of the United Empire Loyalist; incoming to Canada with which his forbears had been identified, and participated in.

The celebrated leader of "Rogers' Rangers" is only three generations removed. His father, (R. D. Rogers), was one of the forlorn hope detailed to capture the American steamer "Caroline" at Navy Island, on 29th December ,1837. The vessel was scuttled and destroyed, crippling an attempt by the Americans to foment an insurrection in Canada.

During the war years he was the chairman of the recruiting committee of five citizens, and materially aided in the work. His son, Heber Rogers, went to the war with the First Contingent (2nd Batt., 1914), was taken prisoner at the Battle of Ypres, and held in the hands of the Germans until the end of the war. His son, Harry Rogers, enlisted in October of 1915, with the 8th Can. Mounted Rifles, and was badly wounded and taken prisoner, and not heard of for nearly three months, eventually being released on exchange.

On the 24th of February, 1881, he married Clara Mina Calcutt, daughter of the late Henry Calcutt, brewer of Peterborough. Other children were two sons, who died in infancy, and George Norman, Superintendent of Public Works, Edna Isabella, widow of Ivan Fairweather, of Sussex, N.B., Lillian Kate Rogers, Mrs. Herbert Geale. His wife predeceased him some four months ago, thus severing the family associations of many years.

He was a member of the Masonic Order and a valued one of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, of this city. The funeral will be held under Masonic auspices on Tuesday at two o'clock, from the family residence, Beechwood Farm (on the river road, north of the Nicholls' Oval) to St. Luke's church and to the Little Lake Cemetery where the body will be interred in the family plot.

HAD TO COUNT LOOT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Five policemen, answering a call saying that three young men had broken into a penny arcade at Coney Island, arrived in time to catch the youths as they staggered away under the weight of 18,350 pennies. It is known that there were exactly that number, for the policemen had to count every one in making their report of the arrest.

MORE IMPORTANT THINGS IN LIFE THAN BUSINESS

Rev. W. Harold Young Discusses Some of Them in Rotary Talk.

MANY INNOCULATED.

Dr. A. W. McPherson Reports 484 Children Already Treated.

The Peterborough Rotary Club had the pleasure at its weekly luncheon to-day of hearing a characteristically inspiring and eloquent address from Rev. W. Harold Young, of Toronto. Mr. Young, a former member of the local club, has on a number of occasions delivered most enjoyable addresses to the organization and he was heard at his best to-day.

President A. L. Killaly stated that Rotarians had supplied transportation to some 39 children last week in connection with the diphtheria inoculation and Dr. A. W. McPherson stated that with one school still to be visited 484 children have received the first dose of toxoid.

It was decided that next Monday's meeting of the club should be held at the armouries in connection with the opening of the Kiwanis Produced-in-Canada Exhibition by General Sir Arthur Currie.

Rev. Mr. Young, the speaker of the day, who was introduced by Rotarian C. G. Graham, based his address upon a passage from the writings of Robert Louis Stevenson in which that author pointed out that through too much absorption in business other things that were of more real value than the things we call business, were lost.

Mr Young proceeded to suggest some of these things for the benefit of Rotarians, stress the importance of the development of the latent possibilities in every person's soul and of the extension of personality. The ideal to be aimed at he thought was a character of granite and tenderness, a granite that would enable one to withstand the forces tending to tear down and destroy, and a tenderness that would echo the sorrows and sufferings of those around us. There was nothing more tragic or pitiable, he said, than a man who was his own circle and circumference, who had no thought or care for the troubles of other people, and he suggested to Rotarians that there was much that was more important than success in business.

COUNCIL MEETING IS SHORT; ROUTINE BUSINESS ON SLATE

Aldermen Make Rapid Time at Regular October Session.

DISCUSS SAFETY

Plan to Spend More Money on Sanding in Endeavor to Avoid Accident Claims.

Last night's meeting of the City Council was the shortest regular meeting of the year, lasting from 7.35 to 9.25. The discussion was limited to routine matters except for a little debate on the matter of accidents on the street. The City's policy expired on Sunday noon and a meeting of the Legal Committee is called for next week to consider the matter.

Ald. Fife urged co-operation with a motto of "safety first", asking that the citizens help prevent accidents on the streets, as the City now carries its own risks.

Ald. Ackerman pointed out that there has been a great increase in the number of such claims because people have learned that there is an easy chance to get money.

Ald. Fife replied that his contention was that the city should spend more money on sand and try to prevent these accidents.

Ald. Denne recalled that last year calls for sanding were not acted on because the engineer had no money to spend on it. He thought that the sand could be stored in the summer when dry and would give less trouble. He would try to prevent accidents and let the city carry its own risk.

Ald. Phelan reported that every committee is within its appropriations but that the Board of Works would have an overdraft if more work were piled on it. Ald. Denne suggested that the $500 returned by the insurance company be turned over to the Board for this purpose.

Aldermen Denne and Macdonald simultaneously addressing questions to Ald. Fife regarding the Board of Works, the Mayor asked for order and called attention to the fact that Ald. Fife had "got" neither query. As he paused Ald. Greene seized the opportunity to fire a third question at Ald. Fife, asking for repairs for Frederick avenue. He was promised consideration.

The Mayor informed the Aldermen that one of the main items to be taken up at the meeting of the Ontario Hospital Association will be to ask the government to raise the minimum rate to $2.00 a day, claiming that it costs $3.14 a day for each patient.

The City Solicitor remarked that he and the Relief Officer had discussed an amendment to the residence clause. Both are to be considered at a meeting of the Legal Committee next Monday.

Grant For A.Y.P.A. Asked.

Cecil Hope, representing the Anglican Young People's Association, asked for some assistance in entertaining the delegates to the Dominion Conference. He stated that from 250 to 300 delegates would visit the city and suggested $75 as a possible sum.

Ald. Greene expressed his support for the work among the young people but thought that it would create a precedent in that similar conventions would ask for assistance.

Ald. Phelan suggested engaging some cars for the purpose of taking the visitors around the city, while Ald. Greene objected on the ground that it was creating a precedent.

The Legal and Reception Committee was given power to deal with the request.

Bowlers State Needs.

J. H. Sedgwick, president of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, headed a large delegation to set out the wishes and plans of the club in connection with the making of a green at James Stevenson Park.

There is room enough for all in the park, he said, and the bowlers had considered the section between the steps from Hunter street and Burnham street, where the skating rink has been but the surface soil has been removed. Consequently they would like now the section on the river bank next the river. The area the club will require, he pointed out, will be 135 feet by 275 feet.

J. T. Braund explained that the club is anxious to get to work on this property as it will take one or two years to fix up the green He remarked that the city could expect some revenue from the club, which can get a great many more members if it had more accommodation. He complained that Mr. Sedgwick had asked for hardly enough ground.

The Mayor pointed out that some of the Aldermen had proposed making a clubhouse under one of the arches of the bridge. The complete removal of the mattress factory will leave more space for this purpose. He advised the formation of a committee from the club to confer with the Parks Committee on the grounds.

Ald. Denne urged haste in considering what is to be done, while Ald. Cotton stated that the city is not looking for revenue and would

TO EXAMINE EMIGRANTS IN ENGLAND

Canadian Doctors To Be Stationed in Larger Cities.

LESS EXPENSIVE.

Cost of Returning Unfit Persons High—Good Results Expected.

LONDON October 4. — United Press. — The new scheme of examining intending emigrants from Great Britain before they embark for Canada, will probably be in operation by the end of the present month, Dr. H. B. Jeffs, chief Medical Advisor here for the Canadian emigration authorities, told the British United Press to-day.

"Canadian doctors who are experienced in handling emigrants; are now on the way over," said Dr. Jeffs, "and the moment they arrive and settle down the scheme will begin. Each doctor will be given a special area, operating from Bristol, Birmingham, Liverpool, Glasgow, and other places; and they will travel to where the booking agents have assembled the emigrants for examination.

"We found that only such a system can end the expensive hobby of returning deported emigrants who cannot pass the Canadian examination when they reach Canada"

The value of examination here is shown by the fact that out of 20,000 applicants, who because they were receiving financial assistance, had to be examined for embarking, twenty times as many proportionately were rejected than those examined at the Canadian ports, where figures for 1926 show that out of 115,000 persons, only half of one per cent. were rejected because of mental defects, disease or physical defects.

It is argued therefore that the new system will result in a higher type of emigrant physically.

When the examination is thorough it is only when the applicant shows signs of latent trouble that it becomes an investigation into the emigrant's medical history.

SINGER'S HOBBY IS DEVELOPING SCHOOL MUSIC

Says Encouragement May Uncover Great Musician in Canada.

TELLS OF PROFESSION.

Talent Opens Many Doors Closed To Wealth, He Finds in Journeyings.

Disappointment in not being able to come last week was expressed by Edward Johnston in an interview to-day but being only a human being, he said, he was subject to colds as others, but he has fully recovered and is glad to be in Peterborough.

Mr. Neale, the accompanist, is also a Canadian, from Nova Scotia, and he also is very much interested in the development of musical talent in this own land.

Mr. Johnston believes that the people of cities which are not large numerically should not be deprived of the advantages of larger cities, and is endeavoring to bring to them the class of entertainment for which they would have to travel to Toronto or other large cities, under ordinary circumstances. Playing in Windsor, last night, to a full house, Mr. Johnston was surprised, for the people had been accustomed to going to Detroit for their amusement and entertainment, whereas they came from Detroit for the concert. On his Canadian tour he has visited most of the cities in the province, and will take in Cobourg and Hamilton after he has left here. There was some rumor that as the opera had re-opened in New York, Mr. Johnston would be recalled and that was given as the reason for his postponement, but this is not true as he will not return to the Opera till his tour is completed in December.

Mr. Johnston has not been much in Ontario since his tour through the United States and Europe and notices a great improvement in the roads, towns and cities of the province. He sees many cars on the highways, and says that this is a fine indication of the prosperity of the country, as people do not buy cars unless they can afford them. The great future of the country is in the northern mines, though. This was particularly brought to mind when, on visiting them, he recalled that he had been offered stock in a mine, which has since become a fine paying proposition. Not being interested in that line of commerce the opportunity was lost and now he has cause to regret it, says the singer, his smile belying the words.

Singing is also a matter of commerce. It has developed from an attainment of small girls to a business proposition, and is as commercial as any other business or profession. Until he was nineteen years

English Teachers Marry In Haste To Forestall Ban On Marriages

OLDHAM, England, October 4 (Canadian Press Cable). — There was a decided rush of women school teachers here to marry during the past week-end in anticipation of the Town Council of Oldham passing a resolution at its meeting to-morrow refusing to allow the appointment of married women as teachers in future, but permitting married women teachers already employed to remain in their positions.

The Council's decision to pass such a resolution was announced a week ago, hence the hasty marriages at the week-end with a view to forestalling the new regulation. The majority of the marriages took place on Saturday, and nearly twenty brides were back at their school desks yesterday, happy and smiling.

The ban on married women as teachers is becoming somewhat general among educational authorities in England because of the glut of young graduates who are unable to obtain appointments as teachers.

PRESBYTERY MEETING HELD AT ST. PAUL'S

Rev. James Greer, of St. Andrew's, Campbellford, Holds Chair.

INTERESTING SERMON.

Indorse Plans of Committee For Raising of Budget Funds.

The Presbytery of this district met in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church last night, at eight o'clock, with the Rev. James Greer of St. Andrew's Church, Campbellford, in the chair.

The choir was in attendance and the service opened with the singing of a hymn. The Rev. William Allan led in prayer: "Help us to be lifted above our circumstances, that we might be as the Christians of old who said, 'We would see Jesus.' Help us with an understanding heart and open ear, that we might get a vision through the medium of the human voice; lift us out of our self-centered ways. We pray for a large harvest as a result of the speaker's efforts bless the Presbytery, and we ask that we may go forward with boldness and spirit of adventure, bless the meeting beyond what our eyes see, and may each church go forth to its appointed task strengthened as a result of this meeting."

The Rev. John Riddle of Millbrook and Centreville read the Scripture from Psalm forty-six: "God is our refuge and strength." After the Scripture reading, the chairman explained that the routine business had been transacted during the afternoon, at the adjourned meeting. Dr. A. S. Grant, the superintendent of Home Missions, had delivered an address on the budget of the Church and a recommendation had been passed endorsing the plans of the Assembly's committee for the raising of the budget funds of the Church. There was not much change in the plans, which had been in force previously, but, whereas they had been carried out in a loose way, the speaker pointed out that this would be remedied and in future the matter would be treated more seriously. This matter will be brought before the various congregations by the pastors.

Speaker of Evening.

After the singing of a hymn, Dr. Grant, the speaker of the evening, was introduced. He is engaged in visiting forty-two presbyteries, as superintendent of Home Missions, and greatly deplores the conflict which is sometimes evident with reference to the relationship with other religious bodies. The Presbyterian Church is still on the map of Canada, and carrying on business in the same old stand. It has its object clearly in mind, the preaching of the Cross, the power and wisdom of God. Presbyterians are not ashamed of the Gospel for it is the power of God to salvation to all who believe it. The speaker prays that they may not lose their objective, slip from the mooringa amid the din and strife of the world's entanglements. They decided, as Presbyterians, to continue the fight against sin with the weapons that they were accustomed to, not to forsake their self-determination, civil and religious determination, the great inheritance from their fathers. It was not an organic union that was proposed but a turning aside from the form of their fathers. The Presbyterian Church was saved, so far as it was saved by the exercise of the Divine right of franchise, by the people. To be of the best spiritual aid in a community the necessity of living in the proper spiritual atmosphere was emphasized, not vitiated by a spirit of estrangement and jealousy. The gathering was exhorted to love

MINE CAVES IN TAKING TRACK AND BUILDINGS

Mond Nickel Property at Worthington Ruined By Disaster.

NO PERSON HURT.

Traffic on Sault-Sudbury Mine Diverted—Cause Not Known.

SUDBURY, October 4. — Canadian Press. — The Worthington mine of the Mond Nickel Company, to-day is totally in ruins, with a yawning cavity in the earth's surface, already four hundred feet square in area and constantly growing.

At 6.05 this morning a tremendous cave in occurred. The mining town was rocked with a series of vibrations accompanied by a terrible grinding noise as the earth's surface gave away.

The company officials, aware of the danger, last night ordered all the employees to leave the mine, with the result that there was no loss of life.

The power plant vanished into the bowels of the earth with the cave in, along with one house, a number of ore cars, and several hundred feet of railway track. It is believed that the cavity is about one thousand feet in depth.

A miner named Pickoski, with his his wife and child, were in the dwelling house which tumbled into the cavity, coming to rest after a slide of about forty feet. All three survived the experience without mishap.

At 11 o'clock this morning it was feared that the Canadian Pacific Ry. depot would also fall into the hole, now almost on the verge of the cavity. The earth about the platform is cracking and may give way at any moment. Other buildings are also in danger.

The Sault line of the C.P.R. from Sudbury, runs alongside the mine, and it will be a month before traffic will be restored at Worthington. All trains are now being routed via the Algoma Eastern Railway and cut off at Turbin from Sudbury.

The Worthington mine has been in operation on a big scale since 1910, and is one of the oldest nickel properties in the district. It has been mined to a depth of about sixteen hundred feet.

While the cause of the cave-in has not been confirmed in official sources, it is believed to have been due to deterioration of the earth's surface through mining operations.

English Adventurer Seeks Part In Movies

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 4 (Canadian Press).—Having shot his lion and "rhino" in Africa and ibek and bear in Kashmir, Sir Michael Duff, 20-year-old Englishman, arrived in Vancouver Sunday night en route home to England via Hollywood.

"Why Hollywood?" he was asked.

"Well," explained Sir Michael, "I've heard so much about the place, I thought it would be a pity, now that I'm here, to cross the continent without seeing it. I'd like, if I could, to get a small part in the movies, just for the novelty of the thing."

AIR CLUB MEETING TO BE HELD TO-NIGHT

Organization To Be Effected To-night—Good Attendance Asked.

A meeting for the purpose of organizing an air club in this city is caled for to-night in the Board Room of the Chamber of Commerce at 7.30. All persons interested in the forming of this club are asked to attend. Peterborough to-day has one of the best flying fields in Canada and with the Canadian Air Services Company already here there is no reason why this city should not be one of the leading aviation centres in the Dominion.

The meeting will not last more than an hour, permitting those who wish to, attend the Johnston concert afterwards.

GUELPH ALDERMAN WANTS TERM CUT

Council is Too Large, He Also Asserts in Motion.

GUELPH, Oct. 4. — (Canadian Press.)—Notice of motion was made at the meeting of the city council last night by Alderman Harvey Mahoney that the system of electing aldermen revert to the old method whereby they were selected annually for the term of one year. The present system of electing six new aldermen each year for three year terms has developed several undesirable features and has lost favor with many electors. The notion of motion also suggested reducing the size of the council from eighteen to eleven. A by-law supporting the change will have to be submitted to the electors and later confirmed by the Legislature before it could be made effective.

JAIL OVERCROWDED.

ST. CATHARINES Ont., Oct. 4. —(Canadian Press.)—Lincoln county jail is overcrowded as a result of the activity of the police in the strict enforcement of the Liquor Control Act. Already there are thirty-seven prisoners confined in the local institution.

REPORTS STATE MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN MEXICO CITY

Three Companies of City Garrison Take Field as Revolutionists.

RAILROADS SUSPENDED.

Forty Known Supporters of Presidential Candidate Comez Been Arrested.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(A.P.)—Mutiny of several army units in Mexico City has brought the Mexican government, under Plutarco Elias Calles, face to face with a revolutionary movement, mutterings of which have been heard from time to time of late.

From the Mexican capital at four o'clock yesterday morning came word that three companies of the twenty comprising the Mexico City garrison had marched out at midnight and taken the field. Their destination was believed to be Puebla.

Efforts to reach the Mexican capital by telegraphic and telephonic communication up to last evening were without avail, owing to reported interruptions of the lines beyond the Texas border— whether by censorship or disrupted facilities is not known.

There were late reports, coming by way of Nogales, Arizona, that martial law had been proclaimed in Mexico City, that aeroplanes had been sent in search of the mutineers and that additional officers and men had joined their ranks.

Train Service Suspended.

From Vera Cruz it was announced that all train service in the Mexican and Inter-Oceanic Railways, connecting Vera Cruz with Mexico City as well as all branch lines had been suspended. Reports from Vera Cruz also intimated that risings had occurred at several places and that federal forces had been dispatched to various points by the chief of the military operations.

Underlying the present movement is the fight for the presidency, elections for which will be held in 1928. President Calles, despite his public declaration of neutrality in the campaign, is said to favor General Obregon, former president, and by act of legislature accorded the right to become a presidential candidate for the second time.

The military elements are led by General Arnulfo Gomez, military commander of the federal district during the Huerta revolt, and General Francisco Serrano, both candidates for the presidency, the latter the candidate of the anti-re-electionists, or anti-Obregon forces.

Recent events in Mexico of a political nature have shown trend toward Obregon, and at the same time less and less has been heard of the candidacies and activities of Serrano and Gomez.

Troubles Are Manifold.

The trouble confronting the Mexican government are manifold and are not confined to the internal situation. Foremost within the Mexican boundaries is the religious conflict, with its countryside ramifications. There is also the revolt of the Yaqui Indians in Sonora—a smouldering affair.

Another important matter is the oil situation, with its confiscatory angles to which the United States has offered objections. In this connection thousands of oil workers are idle in the Tampico oil region ,and many companies are dismantling their equipment.

First Shots Fired.

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 4.—(A.P.)—Dispatches to the Nogales Herald yesterday told of first shots being fired shortly after noon yesterday in the mutiny in the ranks of the federal troops of the Mexico City garrison.

Several aerpolanes of the two squadrons sent out early yesterday morning hurled bombs into the ranks of the rebelling troops, marching from Mexico City in the direction of Puebla. The bombs caused an unknown loss of life and created havoc in the ranks of the followers of General Ignacio Alameda, former chief of staff of the capital garrison and accused of leading the mutiny.

Four thousand federals, despatched in pursuit of the mutinous three regiments yesterday morning, were expected to engage Alameda's forces momentarily, but up to a late hour yesterday no report of an encounter had been received here.

Between 10,000 and 15,000 soldiers are reported patrolling Mexico City following Slunday night's mutiny. At least forty known supporters of General Arnulfo R. Gomez, presidential candidate, opposing the election of General Alvaro Obregon, former president, have been arrested. All dispatches from the capital unite in ascribing the revolt to Gomez and the opponents of the Obregon "re-electionists."

BOND SELLERS GIVEN BANQUET BY KIWANIS

Dr. Cameron Tells of a Day at Camp for Underprivileged Children.

EARLY HISTORY

Club Assists Health Association in Financing Jackson Park Work.

Fifteen girls and the committee in charge of the bond selling for the Made-In-Canada Exhibition were present at the weekly banquet held in the Downeyflake last night. The girls were all entered in the contest and in the first week over 1,000 bonds have been sold.

Dr. Cameron of the Peterborough Health Association gave a short address in which he told about the work of the Association and how that work would be helped by the girls getting out and selling more bonds for the Kiwanis Club backs the work of the association in its summer camp at Jackson Park for the underprivileged children. Dr. Cameron told of how sometimes children are brought to the camp who are too weak to walk and of how they are taken care of and made strong.

Harry Dickin, head of the bond selling contest, acted as chairman, and Dr. J. J. Craig told the girls of the features that were going to be present at the Exhibition.

Dr. Cameron, in commencing his address, traced the history of the Peterborough Health Association from its formation in 1911, when a little band of workers organized in this city to fight that dreaded disease at that time known as tuberculosis. The Association had considerable difficulty for some time in securing money. There were many people who were too poor to pay for treatment and at that time there was no legislation which enabled these poor people to be treated. Lectures were given which were well attended, and in June, 1912, the first summer fair was held which proved a huge success and netted the organization $4,000. A nursing service was then introduced and the association soon found that it would have to spread out and help other kinds of sickness and disease so a second nurse was added to the staff. The tuberculosis patients were supplied with a nurse, given plenty of fresh eggs and milk, proper clothing for living outdoors and in every way it was tried to make the life of the patient just a little more comfortable and more happy.

Camp Organized.

The nurses in making their visits found many underprivileged children, so a camp was organized at Jackson Park in 1913. During the war years this was closed, but in 1917 it was reopened. Out there the Kiwanis Club has built a dining-room which will seat 100. There is a kitchen in which food for 100 can be prepared. The De Laval built a store house for the keeping of supplies, and a few ladies collected the money to buy lumber to build a bungalow which has room for 35 cots. This bungalow was built by the public school boys.

Dr. Cameron then explained how the children who needed attention were discovered in the city. The doctors' nurses report to the Health Association, the churches report, the school nurse reports and the doctors themselves report needy cases.

A Day At Camp.

Children between the ages of 6 and 14 are allowed at the camp. At eight o'clock every morning two 'buses cover the city visiting various places and gathering the children up. Between 50 and 60 children are looked after at once. The children first when

BUILD NEW BARN IN SIX WEEKS

S. G. Meiklejohn and Sons Lose Little Time After Fire.

NEW BUILDING UP-TO-DATE

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Oct. 4.—In six weeks from the time of the disastrous fire which destroyed their barn and most of the season's crop, Messrs. S. G. Meiklejohn and Sons have a fine new barn erected and everything completed but some of the stable fittings.

The large barn, 48 by 87 feet, is of plank frame construction, with board sides and metal roofing. The contract was let to Irvine Eggleton, of Stirling, the barn being erected in less than two weeks' time. The stable plans were prepared by an expert from a leading firm of supply manufacturers, working on a plan supplied by Mr. Meiklejohn. With a blue print showing exact measurements, the work of laying the cement floors was materially lessened.

The floor construction was supervised by Charles Watson, local contractor, and with the assistance of several neighbors, the whole job took only two days. Messrs. Meiklejohn were fortunate in having high-class gravel and sand for the construction of the concrete job right on their own farm.

The barn, when complete, will be one of the finest in the community, and Messrs. Meiklejohn are being congratulated on the speedy manner in which the work was finished following the disaster of August 18.

FRANCE SEEKS RECIPROCITY

Interpretation Placed on Decision of France on Tariff Matter.

NOTES MADE PUBLIC.

PARIS, October 4. — There must be reciprocity. This was the interpretation placed on the decision of the French government on the matter of tariff—which has compelled the attention of diplomats, merchants and manufacturers on both sides of the Atlantic during the past two months.

The aides' memoirs exchanged recently between the United States and France on the subject were made public yesterday. They showed, commentators said, this attitude of the French government:

France asks a durable treaty to cover United States commerce.

France, while not wanting to be discriminated against, does not complain of discrimination but desires that the interests of both the United States and France be safeguarded.

New customs schedules must come into operation of the trade of France with the United States must in no time be placed in danger.

Refuses any Comment.

The tariff notes have been exchanged through the regular diplomatic channels and the French foreign office refuses to make any comment upon them.

The French notes are viewed in some quarters as a challenge to the traditional United States policy of protectionism and as expressing a willingness on the part of France to negotiate a temporary agreement of benefit to the United States exporters.

The French newspapers are giving the matter a great deal of space and commenting extensively on the question.

Le Temps says:

"It appears that the French note must bring the United States government to realize that discussions of principle are idle, and it must enter into technical negotiations in the most amicable spirit and sincerest hope to arrive at the most favorable statute between the two countries.

OLD MASTERS

I know a thing that's most uncommon
(Envy, be silent and attend!)
I know a reasonable woman,
Handsome and witty, yet a friend.

Not warped by passion, awed by rumor;
Not grave through pride, nor gay through folly;
An equal mixture of good humor
And sensible soft melancholy.

"Has she no faults then (Envy says), Sir?"
Yes, she has one, I must aver:
When all the world conspires to praise her,
The woman's deaf, and does not hear.

Business District Threatened By Fire

PORTLAND, Maine, Oct. 4.—(Canadian Press.)— Preparations were being made early last night to send a special train to the town of Gray, 16 miles from here, when reports were received that fire was sweeping the business district, three buildings already having been burned and others being in flames. Portland fire apparatus already had left for the scene.

Deaf worshippers in a Fulham church are now supplied with earphones so that they can hear and join in the service by means of a microphone.

C.N.E. PAGEANT TO BE GIVEN HERE

Arrival of New Canadians Will Be Shown By Children.

One of the most interesting features of the grand stand performances at the "Produced in Canada" Exhibition will be the pageant entitled "The Arriving of New Canadians"—a musical pageant introducing sixteen boys and girls representing nations which are sending new citizens to Canada. Aboard the S. S. Canada the quaint figures arrayed in costumes of many lands are grouped around "Miss Canada."

"It is well that we remind ourselves during this year of Confederation Jubilee that the new Canadians, whom we yearly welcome to our country, bring with them many gifts of hand, heart and mind. Gifts in the art, music, handicraft, song and dance. Some of the oldest arts the world has known," says Kiwanian Dr. Craig in commenting on this feature.

Miss Betty Kinsely represents "Miss Canada," and Miss Ida Krehur is pianist for the pageant. A lovely little Chinese girl, Miss Mary Lee, born in Toronto, will sing and play.

Other nationalities appearing in the pageant are from Poland, Holland, the Ukraine, Finland, Armenia, Italy, while England, Ireland and Scotland will be characteristically represented.

Pupils of the Birdsall School of Dancing will contribute to the successful presentation of the "Arriving of New Canadans," which will be given in front of the grand stand Friday and Saturday, October 14th and 15th. The party will be chaperoned by Miss Dickens, superintendent, Women's Institute Building, Canadian National Exhibition, Mrs. McIntyre and Mr. McCann, of the Canadian National Exhibition staff.

NORTHERNERS DRAWING BACK

Reports State That Marshal Chang Has Been Driven Back 20 Miles.

RUSH REINFORCEMENTS.

PEKING, October 4. — The forces of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, Manchurian war lord and head of the Northern Alliance, have been driven back 20 miles by Shansi province troops.

The Northerners have rushed up reinforcements, but the latest reports though vague because of the censorship state that the Northerners having evacuated Kalgan, are withdrawing to the Nankow pass, about thirty miles north of Peking.

In the meantime the Northern forces stationed at Fengehen outside of the great wall of China in Northern Shansi, have made a fairly stiff fight against the Shansi troops. It seems to be a foregone conclusion here, howeved, that their surrender is inevitable.

Airplane liners in Europe frequently carry cargoes worth millions of dollars—one such cargo of gold bars transported from London to Cologne was valued at $2,500,000. In order to be able to protect those cargoes against robbers, chiefly in the event of a forced landing in some out of the way place, the pilots and mechanics are now heavily armed.

MOSQUITOES ARE FOUGHT WITH BATS

STUTTGART, Texas, Oct. 4.—This city is making provisions for accommodating a million bats within its limits. Not that the bat is attractive or makes a good pet, but he is considered valuable as a foe of mosquitoes.

An old structure near the city has been purchased and will be converted into a steeple-like building to serve as a bat roost. It is southwest of town, an ideal location since bats usually fly with the wind and the wind usually prevails from the southwest.

They start out at nightfall, catching any insects they pass in the air. At midnight, it is said, they turn back as regularly as if they carried an alarm clock, reaching their roost by dawn the following morning.

Bait will be placed in the old building to lure visiting bats to make their homes here.

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN.

Harvest Festival services were continued at St. John's church, both morning and evening services being conducted by the Rev. R. J. Shire's of Bowmanville.

The nave and chancel were tastefully decorated by the ladies of the C.W.A. and Chancel Guild and gave abundant proof of the bountiful harvest. Too much credit cannot be given these workers who in such a short space of time can effect such a beautiful scheme of decoration.

Holy Communion, which was celebrated at the morning service, was fully choral, the setting used being Adiam in F, which is most tuneful and was rendered very effectively by the choir, under the direction of F. G. Mann, organist and choirmaster, whose work was augumented with violins played by Mrs. M. B. Hoyland and pupils.

As an offertory number the choir rendered Maunder's anthem, "Sing to the Lord of Harvest."

Mr. Shire's sermons were particularly appropriate, conveying messages of thankfulness and praise. Taking as his text in the morning, the words, "Cast thy bread upon the waters and it shall return after many days" he explained fully the meaning of the passage of scripture and drew and analogy of the manner in which this exhorbation is followed in our daily life.

In evening his text was "Whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap." He drew attention to the fact that while people are expressing pleasure at the profit derived from a bountiful harvest too often they are insensible as to the part of the Giver. While it was true that much depended on the effort of man yet without divine aid nothing would materialize.

"How often we would criticize our neighbor's gardens and the brambles and weeds therein, but what of our lives, do we endeavor to eliminate the weeds as we ought", he asked.

He pointed out that sowing and reaping was not confined solely to the fields but that the human mind was a very fertile plain wherein might be sown seeds of discontent and jealously and if such be sowed how could a harvest of happiness and love be expected.

Just as surely as we rejoice that God's law operates our harvest so may we rejoice that God's law operates things spiritual, he concluded.

As special harvest festival numbers the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis as set by Smart in D were rendered by the choir and Mr. Mann's anthem for St. John's Centenary, "I Will Give Thanks", was rendered as an offertory number.

Both services were well attended.

ST. PAUL'S PREBYTERIAN.
(Contributed.)

Rev. Mr. Allan preached to two inspiring congregations on Sunday. In the morning he dealt with the subject, "The Danger of the Study of Prophecy", from the words found in II Timothy 5, 16-17. He said the Bible is not a history of creation, although it tells a lot about creation. It tells much about the world, but it is not a history of the world, nor yet a history of the human race; it says much that concerns the human race in its beginnings, development, and destiny.

It is a history of redemption—the redemption of the race and of the earth. Before it could be history it was prophecy. It is well to recognize the large place occupied by prophecy. Its importance, judged by the place it occupies, is indisputable. The first advent, the second advent, Israel's future, development and destiny of the Gentiles, the new heavens and new earth are all identified with the prophetic programme, and we cannot know too much about them, but in their study is danger.

Relation to Word of God.

There is a two-fold approach to the Word of God—intellectual and inspirational. There is danger of finding the head and starving the heart in the study of prophecy. Jesus is the light and life of men!

Relation to Person of Christ.

Danger lies in being so taken up with the programme of Christ as to forget the Person of Christ. Satan tries, and will do anything, to take our eyes off Christ. When he succeeds he brings bareness of soul, he stultifies growth in grace, he paralyzes our energy, and he weakens our testimony, said Mr. Allan in conclusion.

The Evening Prelude.

At the evening service the prelude is looked forward to by many, and Sunday evening's answers were fitting and to the point.

At the conclusion of that part of the service, Mr. Allan dealt with the special subject prepared for the first of the monthly messages to young men and women.

"The Meanest Man in Peterboro. .

Taking as his text, "Take counsel and receive instruction that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end" (Proverbs 19, 20) Mr. Allan dealt at length, and interestingly and thoughtfully with this character, met with at the present day. It is always well, he said, with those who are wise in the latter end. Three illustrations were used by Jesus to prove this: The wise virgins, the wise builder, the wise stewards. These were commended by the Master for making provision for the future. During our youth we must be prepared to receive instruction and be taught. "Theer are several things in the words of the text which I will endeavour," said Mr. Allan, to drive home to the conscience of every man.

He Is to Be Found Today.

Who is the meanest man in Peterboro? Perhaps any one might be able to lay a finger on the particular man he thinks as such, and say "Here is the meanest man in Peterboro." We may or may not know, but God knows who it is.

What makes him the meanest man? He has been well-born; he has a good position; he has a comfortable home; he has a fine circle of friends—good, clean, temperate in all things, has a fair salary and likes his work, and any of his friends would be willing to help him at any time. There are few so fortunate in these days as he. Abraham Lincoln was the son of a shiftless, drinking carpenter. He is the recipient of the benefits of the finest modern civilization. The British people are the freest of any nation—it might have been otherwise with you, proceeded Mr. Allan.

Have you been the originator of any of these advantages? You had nothing to do with the selection of your ancestors. Perhaps you deserve credit for the position you hold. Your home comforts may also, to some extent, be due to you, but I have an idea some wise feminine influence has at least had quite as much to do with it. And the part you have played in getting your circle of friends has by no means been so important.

Greatest Civilizing Power.

The civilization to which you are so greatly indebted for all these things was here before you came. That same civilization is the product of Christianity. Identified with Christianity is the Word of God and the Christian church. The church is a divine institution—spiritual in its nature, and glorious in its destiny. With its faults, follies and weaknesses, it is the greatest civilizing force in the world today.

Within the church the Word of God is proclaimed. It deals with, in its pages, the fact of sin, the fate of sinners, the love of God, the cross of Christ, the bestowal of spiritual life, the resurrection of the body, re-union and recognition after death, new heavens, a new earth, and a new race on the earth—all these well-established facts. The greatest intellects have recognized the supreme worth of the Bible as a divine revelation, and bowed in humble submission at the feet of Him Who is the Lord and Saviour of mankind.

"What does all this mean to you? Perhaps for all its influence upon you it might never have had any existence in fact, or fancy. Sunday comes—you sleep most of the day, you loll around and read some printed trash, or raise dust with an automobile, play golf or tennis or cards. What do you care for the Bible? What care you for God? The church means little or nothing to you—you may use it when you get married, or for the christening of your children, or when death overtakes you!

You are the meanest man in Peterboro. If you live like a dog and die like a dog, you should be buried like one. These may seem severe words, but the merest dog will jump all over you for joy, showing its appreciation if you are kind to it, yet you take all the good that life has to offer, and either you don't know that you owe it all to the Giver of every good and perfect gift, or you don't care, for you show no sign of gratitude.

"Do some thinking tonight", concluded Mr. Allan. "If death should overtake you tonight, what then? The wages of sin is death, and after death, judgment. Quit your meanness, and turn your life over to God."

The musical part of the service was also very pleasing, consisting of a solo, "The Penitent" (Van de Water) by Miss Greta Lebarr; anthems, "How Lovely Are the Messengers" (Mendelssohn's St. Paul), and "The Righteous Cry" (Wolstenholm), and male quartette (Clarke, Snelgrove, East, and Anderson) "Remember Me", with choir. Martin B. Chenhall at the organ.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

"And He went down with them and came to Nazareth and was subject to them," a text taken from the second chapter, fifth verse, of the Gospel according to St. Luke, was the basis of the sermon preached at the Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning by Rev. K. Corkery.

"Each and everyone of us has an obligation to fulfill, not only to Almighty God but to our neighbor as well. The Ten Commandments given to Moses were the rules and regulations that everyone must follow in order to gain eternal life," said the reverend speaker, who went on to outline the duties of children with regard to their parents, in following out the Fourth Commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother." The example of Christ was an outstanding one in this connection, His obedience to His mother and foster father leading Him to subject Himself to their wishes through the whole of His hidden life on earth.

To revere and honor their parents was the prime duty of all children, also to respect and love them "Respect without love is of no avail, but when respect and love are combined, peace and harmony are brought to the home. 'Honor thy father and thy mother, and thy days shall be long in the land.'"

CAMPBELLFORD TOWN COUNCIL SUPPORTS PETITION SEEKING BEER WAREHOUSE FOR TOWN

Business Men Ask For Support, Claiming Loss in Trade.

PEOPLE GO ELSEWHERE.

Many Matters Dealt With at Regular October Meeting of Board.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct 4. — The Campbellford Town Council met in the council rooms, Carnegie Library Building last evening. There were present: His Worship Mayor Kingston, Reeve Bygott, Deputy Reeve Davidson, and Councilors MacDonald, Stone, O'Sullivan, Abernethy and Cole. J. A. McGregor, Clerk, and D. J. Lynch, Solicitor for the town, was also present.

There being no communications to be placed before the Council, the matter of purchasing oil for the purpose of patching the Tarvia roads of the town was the first topic for discussion On motion of Bygott and Abernethy, the Clerk was instructed to order twelve barrels of oil for this purpose.

During this discussion a petition had been handed to the Clerk. It was addressed to the Mayor and Councillors and requested them to pass a resolution requesting the Government Liquor Commission to establish a warehouse in this town. The petition consisted of the names of one hundred and forty-three names of the business men of the town, and was headed by that of Ad. Linton.

Robert Lowery, in support of the petition, said he had been asked by the business men of the town to make inquiries regarding the action. As a result he had the names of nearly all the business men of Campbellford on the petition. Mr. Lowery reminded the Council that he had had experience in this sort of business for many years under local option, the O.T.A. and now under government control. The latter, he claims, had ruined his business, as there was no longer any sale for light beer.

He also claimed that the other business of the town had suffered as people took advantage of their presence in other towns to buy other things besides beer or liquor. In support of his statement he cited the case of the friction between Cobourg and Port Hope regarding the location of a Government warehouse in those towns, and was very careful to explain that in the warehouse only beer would be for sale, not spirituous liquors. The warehous would be the same as before the O.T.A. came into being. He further stated that there would be a store in the near vicinity before Christmas and that it might as well be in Campbellford as anywhere.

Mr. Linton, whose name appeared at the top of the list, also spoke in behalf of the petition. He considered it necessary that the town take some such step in order to retain the present amount of business in its stores. The amount of trade was decreasing daily. A business man in Trenton whom he had interviewed, claimed that his business had increased ten per cent since the opening of the store there. Mr. Linton suggested that the moral side of the question be set aside for the time being and the business side considered. Ninety-five per cent of the business men of the town had signed the petition, he claimed, so that they must believe that the establishment of a store here would help them.

Councillor MacDonald asked the solicitor what could be done when the town had been a local option community before the O.T.A. Mr. Lynch replied that there was no restriction on warehouses. The ban had been in connection with the government stores. When asked by Reeve Bygott what steps it would be necessary for the Council to take, Mr. Lynch replied that it would only be necessary for them to submit an application to the government commission. Mr. Lowery again reminded the Council that the warehouses were a separate and distinct organization from the liquor stores and that many places had only a warehouse.

It was moved and seconded by Councillors Cole and MacDonald that the Council accept the petition and act upon it as requested by those who had presented it. In making the motion, Councillor Cole said that he was aware that business had suffered, and felt that the lack of a warehouse had been in some measure responsible for the loss.

Mayor Opposed.

Mayor Kingston stated that he was opposed to the resolution. He considered that the motives behind the proposal were of the right kind and that the men who were promoting it were good temperance men and were acting in the interest of temperance. It was, however, in his opinion, the thin edge of the wedge, with something more to follow. His Worship then asked that any of the Council who wished to do so would express their opinion on the matter.

Reeve Davidson was the first to speak. He reminded those present that Campbellford was the second largest town in the county and that a large portion of the town's business was going to Peterborough and other towns where there were liquor stores. Tourists in particular, he said, were making their purchases elsewhere, and did not attempt to conceal the fact that they would gladly patronize the merchants of the town if there were a warehouse here. Mr. Davidson expressed his belief in what Mr. Lowery had said, and while he was not a man who drank, would support the motion.

Reeve Bygott stated that he had not the slightest liking for beer, but knew through his position that the town was suffering from a business point of view. The establishment of a warehouse would be a good business proposition, and he thought the town ought to strive to get one located here and see that it was kept under control. In the interests of the progress and welfare of the town he would support the motion, he said.

Councillor Stone was the first to follow what he termed the big guns of the Council. He claimed that he had followed the operation of the L. C. A. very closely, and while he had not supported it in the beginning, believed that it was his duty now that it was law on the statute books of the Province. He further asserted that he believed that Campbellford might as well reap any benefit that a warehouse might bring about. In closing, Mr. Stone asked the solicitor if the Liquor Control Act was so based that it was proper for the town to make such a request of the Government. Mr. Lynch replied that it was.

Mayor Kingston then asked what respect the new Act had for local option, could it override a local option town? The solicitor said that it could, but in all probability it would not do so.

Some uncertainty arose regarding the methods and amount of purchases that could be made from the warehouses, and Councillor MacDonald explained the legal procedure. "Are you ready to vote?" asked the Mayor. But Councillor O'Sullivan wished to know where the beer was to be drunk. He was given his information by the town solicitor, who explained that it must be consumed on the premises of the purchaser, and that there was a penalty for an infringement of this law. It could not be consumed on the street.

The motion was then voted on and carried.

A. L. Riendeau approached the council regarding lights on the River road running north of the town on the west side of the river from lock 13 to the corporation. He explained that the poles were already in place and that the township council was willing to pay for the power consumed. In reply the mayor cited the agreement with the township council in connection with the lights on the Hastings road. In it the Seymour Council had agreed to pay all expenses and assume all responsibility for a period of ten years in return for free power. Mr. Riendeau said that the request was not for free power but that it would be very acceptable. After a brief discussion it was moved by Councillors Stone and MacDonald that the council enter into a similar agreement with the township as that of the Hastings Road, and that the matter be left in the hands of the water and light commission.

Joel McArthur approached the council on the matter of a portion of the house belonging to Mrs. J. A. Frederick, which was on the street, and which would be in the road of a sidewalk past his property if it should be built. He understood that after property of this nature had been in the possession of a private individual for ten years it became a legal possession. He was advised by the mayor that the period of time was 60 years, and that Mrs. Frederick had expressed her willingness to pay a nominal rent for the property on which that portion of her dwelling had been built.

Ned Frederick complained that the ditch in front of his house was not properly constructed and that the water was washing away his land. Because of the raising of the road in front of his house, the water in the spring of the year made his front door inaccessible for days at a time. When asked by Councillor MacDonald if the water had ever bothered him before the roadway had been altered he claimed that it had not. On motion of Davidson and Stone the matter was left in the hands of the Road and Bridge Committee

The mayor then notified the council that there was a flaw in the dog tax bylaw. It had been pointed out to him by the magistrate and certain alterations in the wording were recommended. The clerk read the amendment to the old bylaw, and it was accepted, being Bylaw No. 879.

New Fire Hose.

Reeve Davidson re-opened the question of fire hose, stressing the point that the cold weather was approaching when the fire hazard increased considerably. He said that the hose they had purchased previously from the company which he represented had given satisfaction but that he thought the order ought to be divided between himself and D. W. Douglas, who was representing a company from whom they had never purchased hose. Mr. Douglas suggested that the matter be left entirely in the hands of the Council. After a lengthy discussion, Councillors Sullivan and Cole moved that the matter be left in the hands of the committee previously appointed for attending to such matters.

Councillor Abernethy said that he had inspected the Charles Kier corner and that a catch basin was required to care for the water running off the hill in wet weather. Councillor Stone reminded the meeting that there were some very nasty low spots on the south side of Bridge Street and that merchants of that section had complained to him. He suggested that a few loads of gravel be spread along that section so as to fill these holes.

The Lorne Scott accident at Market and Front Streets was discussed and a strong recommendation passed to make such alterations to the corner as were necessary to make it less dangerous. The removal of the sign boards and a stop street were two of the methods suggested.

Councillor O'Sullivan described the condition of the sidewalk on what is locally known as Petticoat Lane. He thought it should be torn up and drawn away, and put his thought in the form of a motion. It was seconded by MacDonald and the motion carried.

The Mayor then informed the Council that the early closing by-law was not in conformance with the statutes of the province and that as the matter stood, no conviction could be made by the police. According to the Provincial and Dominion law, merchants may remain open till the hour of seven o'clock in the evening. After some discussion it was decided to lay the matter on the table but to instruct the police regarding same.

On motion of Deputy-Reeve Davidson and Councillor Cole, Reeve Bygott, Mayor Kingston and Councillors Wiggins and O'Sullivan were appointed a committee to attend the court of revision to be held on Monday, October 17.

On motion of Bygott and Stone, the pay-sheet was passed. Just before adjournment, Councillor O'Sullivan asked what was to be done with the steam roller when it was returned and if he should have it placed in storage for the winter season as usual. He was instructed to do so.

CYCLIST HURT BY MOTOR CAR

Accident Occurs at Intersection of Campbellford Street.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 4.—As the result of being struck by a motor car shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon, Lorn Scott, thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, Inkerman street, is suffering from a fractured left leg and several bruises about his body.

The accident occurred at the corner of Market and Front streets, just as the High school was being dismissed. The injured boy was riding his bicycle along Market street toward front. The view of Front street at this corner is obstructed by high bill boards and neither the boy nor the driver of the car saw each other till they were right out on the inter-section.

SEYMOUR COUNCIL PAYS FOR SHEEP

Dogs Cause Expense To Municipality—Lights Approved.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 4.—The regular meeting of the Township Council of Seymour was held in their rooms in the Ferris block at one-thirty yesterday afternoon. As well as transacting the usual business of the township, the Council paid claims for several sheep which the owners swore had been killed by dogs. A deputation of three approached the council with a request for lights on the River Road as far as lock thirteen. The Council expressed its approval and the matter was referred to the Town Council.

CAVAN PERSONALS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 4.—As a result of a motor accident in Hastings yesterday, Mrs. Charles Black and two of her children are confined to their beds.

The High school field day will not be held on the agricultural grounds as previously announced. The officials of the athletic society and the school staff have found it to their advantage to hold the programme of athletics on their own grounds, Ranney street.

Miss Rose Lazier, who underwent a serious operation at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, is recovering rapidly. The surgeon who performed the operation expressed his entire satisfaction with the results.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1927.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS.

Magistrate Langley continues to impress upon motorists the fact that attempting to drive motor cars while under the influence of liquor is a serious offence that will not be treated with leniency in the local Police Court.

Two men were sentenced to fifteen and ten days, respectively, for this offence yesterday, and His Worship left no doubt in the minds of those who heard him that future offenders are likely to be greeted with longer jail terms.

Under present-day traffic conditions a drunken man at the wheel of an automobile is almost as great a menace to the public safety as a maniac running wild with a loaded revolver would be.

The punishment meted out to those found guilty of such conduct must be drastic enough to convince everybody that it does not pay to take chances.

The public must understand that while it is legal under certain conditions to drink liquor, and it is also legal to drive automobiles, the two operations cannot be safely combined.

THE TORONTO TRAGEDY.

The terrible tragedy in Toronto in which three people were killed, six others injured and a nine-roomed residence was completely destroyed, should be an impressive warning to the many people who persist in using gasoline for cleansing purposes.

The Toronto tragedy was caused, it is said, by an explosion resulting from the use of gasoline to clean curtains.

Fire Marshall Heaton, describing the accident as the worst in his experience, points out that people have been continually warned against the practice of cleaning with gasoline, and declares that there is more of this cleaning going on in the country than in the larger cities.

Even used in small quantities for this purpose, gasoline is most dangerous; a gallon, it is estimated by J. W. Bain, Professor of Engineering at the University of Toronto, would be sufficient to blow up a large house.

People who have taken chances in this regard in the past and escaped without an accident should take warning from this tragic demonstration of what a gasoline explosion can do.

NO PERIOD OF GRACE.

The amendment to the Highways Traffic Act, providing for horse-drawn vehicles to carry lights at night, is now in effect.

The regulations which require all vehicles on any road or street in the Province to carry a light showing white to the front and red to the rear came into force on Saturday, and is to be enforced forthwith.

The Department of Highways has intimated that no period of grace will be allowed, inasmuch as the public has had sufficient time to become familiar with the law.

This legislation is long overdue, and should be cheerfully accepted by those whom it affects as a very material contribution to safer conditions on the roads of the Province.

Motorists have for years complained of the unlighted horse-drawn vehicle as a menace, and they have been entirely justified in view of the number of accidents which such vehicles have been involved.

The law is in force, and those who have not yet secured the necessary equipment had better do so at once in view of the fact that violations of the regulation will result in substantial fines for the offenders.

Once again it should be understood that there is no period of grace.

R. B. ROGERS.

The Peterborough Lift Lock stands as a monument to the engineering genius of Richard B. Rogers whose death occurred on Sunday, but in the hearts of many old residents there is a memory of Mr. Rogers' many good qualities that is even more impressive than the wonderful structure for which he was responsible.

He was one of the best known citizens of this district, a man of many activities who will be long remembered for his interest in the progress of the community in which his life was spent and for his kindly personality.

As an engineer Mr. Rogers won fame for his suggestion that a hydraulic lift lock be used instead of a series of ordinary locks in the canal system here, and for the success with which he prepared the plans for this immense undertaking and superintended the construction of the lock that will remain as a lasting testimony to the vision and ability of a native son of Peterborough.

In a host of ways he played a prominent part in the development of this community. Older citizens recall his prowess as an oarsman, and his ability as a cricketer in the days when Rogers was a name to conjure with in the realm of sport.

His services during the war years and the military record of his family, too, are recalled; his interest in the betterment of agricultural conditions should be gratefully remembered; his anxiety to promote more friendly relations between English and French-speaking Canadians should be appreciated.

A useful life, full of service, was that of R. B. Rogers whose passing is mourned in many circles.

THE GRAIN CROP AND THE WEST.

The period of uncertainty in respect for the grain farmer is now over. With threshing well under way throughout the country, we can begin to count what this year's crop means to the country. The Dominion Government report, issued last week, estimated the wheat yield as the second highest in the history of this country, being exceeded only in the record year 1923. An estimate announced on Monday last by the "Manitoba Free Press," and covering the Prairie Provinces, is nearly the same.

In the past few years, good as the crops have been, the farmers have had to devote a large part of the proceeds to making payment of debts, for they had got behind in the years just after the war, due to some crop failures and to the drop in prices. Thus capital went back to the lenders, i.e., to the mortgage lending institutions, the banks, and the wholesale houses. With relatively little demand for new loans, it accumulated in their hands and has been a factor in decreasing interest rates. By 1926, however, the position of the farmer, on the average, had greatly improved, and the harvesting of last year's crop was followed by a real recovery in business in the West. This year with a still greater yield and with good prices prevailing, it is only reasonable to suppose that the effects will be still more noticeable. Without doubt the farmers will want better homes, more cars and better cars, better clothing and other comforts of life.

It is also clear that conditions of prosperity must attract settlers. This year there has been a good flow of immigrants, and the balance between country and city has been turned in favor of the country. A renewed movement to the unsettled lands of the West should alter the present situation in farm credit, which is hardly normal. Instead of capital being paid back to the lenders, there should be a steady increase in the amounts loaned to the farmers of Canada. Every year hundreds of millions of dollars of capital accumulates in Canada and is invested here. Of late years these vast sums have been going into public works, and into power plants, mines, factories, and urban development generally. The very institutions that specialized in farm loans have been obliged to find an outlet for their funds in other directions. All that is needed to reverse this trend is a few hundred thousand new settlers, with enough means or experience to make them good risks; and a renewal of confidence on the part of farmers in their own business, so that instead of aiming to pay off their debts and get their own capital out of it, they will be ready to expand their operations. The 1927 crops should go a long way in this direction.—Monetary Times.

A NATION—AGAIN.

An Irish patriot once wrote a ballad, entitled "A Nation Once Again." Some Canadian patriot should write one called "A Nation Again, and Again." For hardly a week passes now, let alone a year, without some blessed thing happening somewhere that makes us a nation—again. Sir Wilfrid Laurier kept making us a nation year after year. No sooner had he given up the job than Sir Robert Borden took it on and nationhood came to us with bewildering regularity. And now, not satisfied with the work of his predecessors, Mr. King is busy every month or so making us a nation all over again.

The Winnipeg Tribune, which has painstakingly gone into the statistics of the matter, put down the following occasions on which we became a nation:

"When Canada signed the Treaty of Versailles and became a member of the League of Nations.

"When Mr. Lapointe signed the Halibut treaty without the accompanying signature of the British ambassador.

"When Mr. Fielding signed the Franco-Canadian treaty.

"When the last Imperial Conference passed resolutions defining existing political relations between Canada and Great Britain.

"When Canada created an embassy in Washington in charge of Hon. Vincent Massey."

And now, not satisfied with all of that, we have just been made a nation—again. Said Mr. Ernest Lapointe the other night, speaking of our admission to the League Council:

"Canada has come into full nationhood."

Well, let us hope that the nation builders will call it a day. For they're confusing us. More than that, they're suggesting that they weren't quite sure of their work before—and may not be quite sure yet. All the more so, seeing that Sir George Foster, who knows all about the League, has just observed this about our admission to its Council:

"In thus electing Canada, the League affirmed a like status for all Overseas Dominions, but it leaves the status of these Dominions in all their international relationships exactly as it was before."

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 4 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Canadian grain here yesterday was extremely dull which was attributed to the sharp rally in prices in Winnipeg which threw all foreign bids out of line.

The trade in the cash grain market was also slow but the undertone was steady.

The demand for Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour was of a limited character and values were unchanged.

The millfeed market continued active and firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and prices ruled steady.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained but the demand showed a decrease. The receipts were 827 cases.

A firmer feeling prevailed in the butter market and prices were ½c to ¼c per pound higher. The demand was somewhat limited. The receipts were 1819 packages.

In sympathy with the lower prices for cheese at the country boards at the close of last week and yesterday, an easier feeling prevailed in the local market and prices were reduced ¼c to ¼c per pound. The receipts were 8,581 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, October 4 (Canadian Press).—Corn and wheat achieved a substantial late advance yesterday, notwithstanding that earlier the corn market tumbled to the lowest prices yet this season. Corn led the advance with buying based on assertions that increased private estimates issued yesterday relative to the 1927 probable yield of corn are likely to prove misleading, final crop results depending much upon the weather from now on.

Closing quotations on corn were unsettled, ¾ to 1¾net higher; wheat ¼ to 1¾ up; oats unchanged to ¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20 cents.

Wheat owed a good deal of its strength to the fact that the average of unofficial forecasts of domestic spring wheat production this season was 290,000,000 bushels compared with the government September estimate of 308,000,000 Wet weather advices from Canada pointing to further threshing delay acted as a further bullish influence, more than offsetting the 3,157,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply total. Talk was also current that 4,200,000 bushels of wheat had been taken Saturday for October export from Duluth and Fort William.

Private reports on cats yield averaged 1,169,000,000 bushels, against the government September estimate of 1,191,000,000 bushels. Accordingly, oats developed firmness in line with other grain.

Provisions were responsive to an upturn in the value of hogs and to indications of a continued decrease in stocks of lard.

JOLLY JINGLES By Graham Hunter

COUNCIL MEETING

prefer to see the club's finances expended on the grounds.

F. T. Webster submitted his account for work done up to date, $144 of which was for money he had paid out. Ald. McIntyre asked what portion of the work has been completed and the Mayor suggested that the city might be compromised in regard to the share of the other municipalities.

Ald. Macdonald favored paying him as the city had hired him and as City Solicitor Joseph Wearing thought the city could collect any share from the other municipalities, the Mayor and City Engineer were instructed to interview him and pay such sum as they thought best.

No Advertising.

In regard to the proposal for advertising in "Canada" and "Canada Today", the first a weekly and the second an annual, Ald. Ackerman pointed out that there is a great dearth of information in the Old Countries about Canada. The literature is available only to those who seek it, but in view of the way these publications are to be distributed he thought it would be good advertising.

Ald. Denne said he couldn't see anything to it, as many other municipalities will be included.

The letter was received.

Ald. Cotton moved that two 300 watt lamps be put in the block from George to Aylmer street, but on suggestion of Aldermen McIntyre and Phelan the wording was changed to read "the necessary lights."

Will Lay Sidewalk.

James Brown asked for consideration from the Council in building a sidewalk on the north side of Charlotte street west of the Monaghan road.

Ald. Fife pointed out that a surface drain is needed on that street and thought it could be done at the same time. He thought that it could be done before the legal 21 days was up because all the property owners had signed the petition. The work will be done.

By-law 2738 was passed authorizing the construction of sidewalks on Monaghan Road from Walnut street to McDonnel Street and on Walnut street from Monaghan road 100 feet easterly.

Permission was granted to J. D. O'Dette to double the size of his boathouse which enroaches on that part of Water street north of the C.P.R. bridge. The rental he pays will be increased from $15 to $16 a year and Mr. O'Dette will agree to remove his building at any time.

The Mayor explained that Mr. O'Dette's principal need is storage room and will be able to hire two more men for boat building.

The Council confirmed the action of the Township Council of North Monaghan in closing the south eight feet of Lansdowne street and leasing it to the Exhibition Board.

Ald. Fife reported for the committee appointed to deal with the corner of Charlotte and Park streets, that it was planned to eliminate the corner outside the street railway tracks to eliminate a sharp turn. Ald. Stocker called attention to the need of the thinning out of the trees in the rest of the area.

Mr. Smith asked for a right-of-way over the incinerator property to property leased by the C.P.R. from the city, where he is installing some oil tanks.

Ald. Fife had viewed the situation. He saw no reason for refusing the right-of-way, but thought it an opportunity to straighten up various matters in connection with the property.

A committee will look into the matter.

J. Howland's request for the use of the city's lots at the east end of the C.P.R. bridge for a garden, subject to sale of any of the lots was left to the Property Committee. Ald. Fife objected that the lot might be left in worse state than it is now. The Property Committee will deal with the matter.

J. Conway and Mrs. E. Skipper were granted eating house licenses and D'Arcy Windsor will get one if the Sanitary Inspector makes a suitable report.

There were present His Worship the Mayor, and Aldermen Phelan, Cotton, Stocker, Fife, McIntyre, Hancock, Macdonald, Ackerman, Greene, and Denne.

BISHOP OWEN TO SPEAK HERE

Lord Bishop of Niagara To Attend A. Y. P. A. Conference.

WILL PREACH SERMON.

One of the most outstanding events in the program of the Dominion Conference of the Anglican Young People's Association, to be held here from Thursday to Sunday, October 20 to 23, will be the opening service. This service, which will be attended by about three hundred delegates from other points and members of the local branches, will be an impressive and inspiring event. The Right Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Lord Bishop of Niagara, will be the preacher, while other prominent clergymen and leaders in Young People's Work in the Church of England will take part.

The service will be held in All Saints' church on Thursday, October 20.

Many Are Injured When Train Derailed

SASKATOON, Sask., Oct. 4 (Canadian Press).—While rolling eastward at a fair rate of speed yesterday Canadian Pacific Railway train No. 52, Edmonton to Saskatoon, left the rails, ten miles east of Evesham, Sask., near the Saskatchewan-Alberta boundary, while a number of persons are reported as badly shaken up, no serious injuries resulted from the derailment. The locomotive fireman, it is said, was badly cut about the face. Passenger cars remained on the track.

The passenger train, which is the main all-night C.P.R. service from Edmonton, carried the usual equipment of mail and express cars, day coaches and sleepers. The engine left the rail and fell crosswise into the ditch. The tender, mail and express coaches followed.

Railroaders give the cause of the derailment as due to a soft roadbed rendered treacherous by recent rains.

The average person has only eleven minutes of actual sleep each night, according to Dr. Alfred P. Haake, of New York.

U. S. INTEREST IS NAVIGATION SAYS MINISTER

Hon. William Phillips Explains Limitations Imposed By Constitution.

POWERS OF CONGRESS.

Twenty-two States Seeking Outlet Not All Interested in Power, He Adds.

TORONTO, October 4.—(Canadian Press).—The purposes of United States in declaring its readiness to undertake with Canada the St. Lawrence waterway project were explained yesterday by the Hon. William Phillips, Minister from the United States to the Dominion before the Canadian Club of Toronto yesterday. Inaccurate references were being made regarding these purposes, said the Minister.

"These ideas are founded on a palpably erroneous conception of the powers of the Federal Government," Hon. Mr. Phillips said. "I refer to the statements that my Government is in fact interested in power development rather than in navigation. The constitution of the United States provides 'congress shall have the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States.' This has been interpreted by our courts as follows: 'This power to regulate commerce includes the power to regulate navigation and, to the extent necessary, applies to all navigable waters of the United States which are accessible from a State other than those in which they lie.'"

Explaining that twenty-two States have a deep interest in navigation on the Great Lakes and the improvement of the waterways and canals, Mr. Phillips declared that perhaps half of the inhabitants of the United States are seeking an outlet from the Great Lakes to the Alantic. The task of the Federal Government is two fold, including on the one hand necessary negotiations with Canada and on the other the appropriations required for the joint enterprise.

"The twenty-two States who want an outlet to the sea are not directly interested in the electric power that can be developed. I wish to make it clear that the navigation aspect is the primary object to be attained by the Federal Government in this project. In view of the vast resources in the northwest of the Dominion still to be opened to development, my countrymen have thought it likely that Canada would have a similar interest in this great project. We have asked our friend and neighbor of the north to consider joining us in a discussion of ways and means to the end that this waterway may be realized in our generation. This is the only purpose of the United States", Mr. Phillips said.

DISTRICT CHURCHES

MILLBROOK UNITED CHURCH.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 4.—Rev. Arthur W. Lochead, B.A., B.D., for twenty-three years a missionary in North Honan, China, gave an inspiring address in the United Church on Sunday morning, Rev. Joseph Wilks assisting in the absence of the pastor, who was preaching anniversary sermons on the Camborne circuit.

After a general review of the progress being made in the foreign mission fields, and sounding a note of triumph regarding all the work of the church, instancing such facts as that 278 mission stations have become self-supporting during the past year, the speaker urged the need of each church being essentially missionary in its character, "because the self-centred church has neither grace nor growth."

An optimistic spirit regarding the present situation in China was evident as Mr. Lochead declared that the revolutions in discovery, in religious thought and in various other respect which Christendom had had five hundred years to assimilate, had come upon China in fifty years, and "who can tell what will come out of the ferment? But God rules, and surely there is such a thing as Christian hope?

"Probably 6,000 out of the 8,000 missionaries have been driven out of China, but God works by ebb and flow; twenty-six years ago the Boxer uprising drove the workers out, and thousands of the native Christians were put to death, yet how splendid has been the opportunity since for preaching the gospel!

"Giving is an essential part of Christianity, and if the church is to advance steadily in the great work God has given her to do we must use good sound business methods in carrying on the business of the Kingdom."

A Thought For To-day

THE WAY TO HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

Eat less, wear less, scold less, worry less, talk less, preach less, practice more.

Chew more, walk more, sleep more, smile more, read more, think more, and you'll live longer and be much happier while you live.

And the interesting thing about these suggestions is this: They cost much less money. If they were all expensive plans or extravagant ideas, you would probably adopt them, pay the price, and call the advice cheap at any cost.

Any poor business man can cut prices but it takes a powerfully good business man to put prices back where they belong after they have been butchered.
